VOL. 84. No. 91. PART ONE. ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 6, 1931. PAGES 1—18A  PRICE 10 CENTS

DETECTIVE ACCUSED OF TAKING $5 AS A BRIBE

Harry Huffman Charged With Accepting Money From Man, Often Arrested in Liquor Raids, Who Complained.

CAUGHT WITH MARKED BILL

Held Under $1000 Bond for Trial — Suspended With Frank Tozer, Who Waited Outside. Pending Police Board Action.

City Detective Harry Huffman was suspended, arrested and released under $1000 bond yesterday afternoon, on the charge, made by Inspector Walton and Angelo Licavoli, that Huffman accepted $5 from Licavoli in his cigar store at 1231 North Broadway, which has been the scene of several liquor raids.

Detective Fred Tozer, who was in a police automobile outside Licavoli's store while Huffman was inside, was also suspended, pending investigation. He denied knowing anything of Huffman's errand. The Police Board will consider both cases. Huffman's bond is returnable in the Court of Criminal Correction.

Licavoli complained recently to Inspector Walton that detectives were attempting to get money from him, and that Huffman had called and said he would be back for money. The inspector, after consulting Chief Gerk, furnished Licavoli with a marked $5 bill. Then Walton, with another policeman, waited in Licavoli's store.

When Licavoli informed Walton that he had just paid Huffman the $5, the inspector arrested Huffman, taking the marked bill from him.

Licavoli has been arrested 11 times in the last three years but has escaped conviction under the State bone-dry law. In a raid made in October, a pint of liquor was found in the place. A year before, a raid was made after Chief Gerk received a letter complaining of the place, and 23 half-pint bottles of liquor were taken.

Huffman is 37 years old, lives at 3545 Iowa avenue, and has been on the police force since 1925 and in the Detective Bureau since last January, serving at Carr Street Station. Tozer is 41, has been on the force since 1919 and in the bureau since 1925, and lives at 3643 Fair avenue.

'HUNGER MARCHERS' TO BE FED AND LODGED IN WASHINGTON

Police Will Guard Them From Entrance to Departure; to Present Demands Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Food and shelter were made ready today in preparation for the arrival tomorrow of 1200 unemployed demonstrators with demands for Government relief.

They will be met at the District line and will be under the close supervision and protection of an augmented police detail from that moment until they leave the city.

The "marchers" will be sheltered in an abandoned church and Salvation Army quarters. Those who can pay will be directed to boarding houses and inexpensive hotels.

Police tonight stationed a guard at the homes of Senator Oddie of Nevada and Congressman Fish of New York in response to reports they had received threatening letters. Both denied having received threatening letters.

The demonstrators will hold a mass meeting Sunday night to complete drafting their unemployment insurance bill and plan a march to the Capitol Monday to present the measure to Congress. Placards may be carried in the parade, but have been forbidden at the Capitol by Vice President Curtis.

The paraders will march also on the White House in an effort to see President Hoover. Fourteen advance demonstrators were arrested there last week.

HOOVER TO ELIMINATE AID FOR RAILWAYS IN MESSAGE

Revising That to Be Delivered Tuesday—Others on Taxes and Moratorium to Follow on Succeeding Days.

LEADING issues in the coming Congress, and the men who will handle them are discussed in an article by Charles G. Ross, chief Washington correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, published on page 1, section I of this issue.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The President's annual message to Congress is in printed form tonight with figurative blue-pencil marks through sections dealing with specific aid for the railroads.

Word was passed through authoritative quarters that the President had decided to withhold recommendations for helping the railroads at least until the effect of relief measures already in progress could be measured. If these fail to remedy the situation, it is said, Mr. Hoover will address a special message to Congress.

Three Messages Under Way.

The President's annual message will go to the Capitol Tuesday by messenger, and will be read from the rostrum of Senate and House. On Wednesday he will follow this up with a special budget message, outlining plans to revamp the revenue-raising laws and Government expenditures for the coming year in order to meet the Treasury deficit now approaching $1,000,000,000.

Announcement has been made previously that the President will deal with the war debt moratorium in a special message, to be delivered next Thursday after the annual and budget messages have been disposed of. An effort will be made to have it placed first on the order of legislative business.

Throughout the day the President worked steadily on his regular message refusing to see callers, with few exceptions. He worked much with a pencil on a printed proof of the document.

Finance Corporation.

Mr. Hoover is reported authoritatively to have decided to recommend the creation of a vast Government finance corporation. It would resemble in some ways the War Finance Corporation, and, in the President's words of two months ago, would be capable of answering any legitimate call for credit. Speculation has placed its capitalization at $1,000,000,000 or more Whether Mr. Hoover has worked out details of this plan to a point where it can be incorporated in the coming message is not definitely known.

What was considered a possible hint was dropped by Ogden Mills. Under-Secretary of the Treasury, who was one of the few who talked today with the chief executive. Asked whether the conference had touched upon the finance corporation proposal, he said, apparently in reference to the coming message, expected to be completed by tomorrow: 'You will know all about it within 24 hours."

The extent to which the tax problem will be discussed in the regular message is uncertain. "How about taxes?" Mills was asked. "They're all settled," he replied, but would answer only with a smile all questions regarding just how they had been settled.

Points Likely to Be Covered.

No matter what else is deleted, however, it is virtually certain that Mr. Hoover will embody in the first message a discussion of the economic situation, both world and national; that he will speak of unemployment, of agriculture and of legislation to accelerate home building.

It was considered more than a possibility that the World Court, the Manchurian situation, Muscle Shoals and the St. Lawrence waterway project also would receive a mention or more.

As usual, White House officials have made every effort to surround the document with secrecy, even as to its length. Theodore Joslin, one of the President's secretariat, reported that "it won't be long," but added immediately, with a smile: "It won't be short, either."

BRITISH NAVY DEMOCRATIZED

Enlisted Men Now May Become Commissioned Officers.

By the Associated Press.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Dec. 5.—The highest ranks in the British Navy have been opened to the rank and file in what is hailed as the most democratic step ever taken by the Admiralty.

Twelve ablebodied seamen recently were promoted to sub-lieutenants, and next June 12 engine room artificers will be made officers. Thereafter selected men will be commissioned each half year. It is now possible for a youth to enlist as a common sailor and rise to become First Sea Lord of the Admiralty.

AIR LINER CRASHES IN SLEET, WOMAN KILLED, 4 INJURED

Passenger Plane Hits Tree Near Kewanee, Ill., and Falls Into Barnyard—Pilot Unhurt.

By the Associated Press.

KEWANEE, Ill., Dec. 5.—A woman passenger was fatally injured tonight and four others were hurt, one seriously, when a Braniff Air Lines passenger plane crashed in a farm yard near here while attempting to land in a sleet storm on a nearby emergency landing field.

Mrs. Myrtle Messenger of Denver, Colo., died two hours after the crash, regaining consciousness only for a short time. She suffered a broken arm and leg and internal injuries.

Another passenger, Miss Elma Duncan of Kansas City, Mo., was reported near death from internal injuries.

Pilot Jack Ayres, who was not injured, said he attempted to land the plane for the night because the sleet storm was lowering visibility and ice was forming on the wings. The plane was en route from Kansas City to Chicago.

He said he piloted the plane over the field to get his bearings, but was unable to see clearly. The plane hit the top of a tree, the impact sending it against the farm buildings. It crashed into a corn crib. The plane was demolished and the passengers were trapped for a time in the cabin.

The other injured, all expected to recover, are C. A. Kimball, Lake Forest, Ill.; F. E. Quinby, Chicago, an Illinois aeronautical inspector, and Mrs. Chris Gunderson, Chicago.

MODEL SOVIET CITY PLANNED

Government to Spend $33,000,000 in Improving Leningrad.

By the Associated Press.

LENINGRAD, Dec. 5.—The Government has announced a plan to spend about $33,000,000 next year to make Leningrad the model Soviet city.

The plans call for increasing housing accommodations fourfold, building new trolley lines and a new water supply system, increasing the park area and extending paved streets.

Farm Exports Rush Upward.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Agricultural exports—sagging for months—shot upward with a rush in October. The index kept by the Agriculture Department rose to 139 from 86 in September and 53 in August. A year ago the index was 137 and two years ago, 166.

C. M. HAY AGAIN ENTERS RACE FOR MISSOURI SENATOR

Announces Third Candidacy for Democratic Nomination in Primary Next August, to Succeed Hawes.

ECONOMIC REMEDIES IN HIS PLATFORM

Urges Shorter Working Day, Against Sales Tax, but Is for Rise in Levy on Big Incomes.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.

Charles M. Hay, Democratic nominee for United States Senator in 1928, yesterday announced his candidacy for renomination in the August, 1932, primary to succeed Senator Hawes. He outlined a platform dealing principally with economic issues.

Hay, personally and politically a dry, will have as opponents Charles M. Howell, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and Bennett C. Clark, personally wets, but whose public prohibition views as candidates are yet to be enunciated. It is also probable that James W. Byrnes, president of the Missouri Association Against Prohibition, will seek the nomination as an avowed wet.

In his platform, Hay gave scant mention to prohibition, though he stated his opposition to repeal of the eighteenth amendment, discussing it from the standpoint of the effect of repeal on economic conditions.

"With all countries, regardless of their liquor policies, in the throes of an economic crisis," he said, "it cannot be fairly claimed that our particular liquor policy is anything more than incidental to the general economic situation. Personally, I do not believe that a change in the present policy would assist in the solution of our economic problems.

For Shorter Working Week.

"While I do not favor a change in the laws declaring our national liquor policy, I am in favor of improvement in their administration and enforcement by the proper action and co-operation of the Federal Government and the respective state governments."

Asserting unemployment to be the problem which transcends all others, he insisted that it would not be solved merely by renewed business and industrial activity. He said that in the 10 years preceding the stock market crash, production in the United States increased 42 per cent over the previous decade and that employment decreased 7 per cent. In 1929, he said, value of production exceeded the value of 1919 by $6,000,000,000, and 500,000 fewer men were employed in the increased production.

As means tending to relief, Hay advocated the establishment by industry of the shorter week and the shorter working day, the increase of working shifts from three to four per 24 hours, and the placing of the normal supply of labor on a permanent basis.

Government, he said, could do much to improve conditions by promoting public improvements, by using as far as practicable a maximum of human labor and a minimum of machinery, by putting in force the Wagner unemployment measure, by using the power of government not only to help labor find employment, but to protect it against unsocial labor contracts, against improper exercise of administrative or judicial powers, and against unfair burdens as a result of occupational disease and accidents and old age.

"Men unemployed or underemployed, he said, "cannot furnish adequate markets for the products of the farm or the factory."

How He Would Meet Deficit.

Stating an unalterable opposition to the proposed sales tax, Hay proposed that the necessary tax increase to meet the deficit and expenses of the national Government come through an increase in the higher brackets in the collection of income taxes, an increase of the inheritance tax with a re-enactment of the gift tax, a revision of the tariff downward "to the point most stimulating to foreign trade and most productive of revenues therefrom," and reduction of armaments of all nations.

"During the last 10 years," he said, "we have expended more for military and naval purposes than we expended for such purposes in the 52 years between the Civil War and our entry into the World War. In the last 10 years we have expended more for naval purposes than we expended for such purposes from the founding of the republic to our entry into the World

YOUTH IN STOLEN CAR THAT KILLED MAN IS PAROLED

William Webb, Under Two Five-Year Sentences for Manslaughter and Larceny, Escapes Both.

PREVIOUSLY FINED FOR AUTO THEFT

Judge Mulloy of Clayton Says This Was Not Known to Him When He Granted Clemency.

Circuit Judge Mulloy, at Clayton Friday granted a parole to William Webb, 22 years old, who stole an automobile, ran down and killed a young man, fled from the scene and had a second accident in which a man was injured. Webb pleaded guilty to chaarges of manslaughter and grand larceny, and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment on each charge, but through his parole, he escapes without serving any part of the terms, which would run concurrently.

Webb stole an automobile on another occasion, but this was not known to Judge Mulloy when he granted the parole. Associate Prosecuting Attorney Noble, who made no recommendation as to parole, asked whether Webb had been in trouble before, and Charles Kick. Wellston contractor and former Deputy Sheriff, who was with Webb as his bondsman, replied, "No, sir, nothing like this." The record shows that Webb last September pleaded guilty of the theft of an automobile—the case being made petit larceny because of the small value of the car—and was fined $5.

Judge Can Revoke Parole.

Because of this misrepresentation of the facts, it would be possible for Judge Mulloy to revoke Webb's parole. Judge Mulloy, when asked about the case, said no information as to the previous offense had reachd him officially.

John Chrisman, 21, while changing a tire on his car on the north side of Manchester road, near Geyer road, at 1 a. m., May 25, was struck by a passing car and died of his injuries. The driver, Webb, and a companion, were arrested after a second accident, in which the same car sideswiped the machine driven by Ben Doody of East St. Louis, injuring Doody severely. Webb admitted the two accidents and the theft of the car, which he stole when it was standing on Ridge avenue, near its owner's home.

Judge Mulloy, in telling of his understanding of the case, said:

"The facts as disclosed to the Court by the Prosecuting Attorney's office and others were that Webb, in company with another young man, procured some liquor, used some of it and became intoxicated to some degree; that while in this condition they took the car in question and were traveling on a highway in St. Louis County, Webb doing the driving at night when it was very dark and a heavy rain falling. It further appeared that the man who was struck had been operating his car on the same highway in advance of Webb, that he had stopped his car on or very close to the edge of the traveled part of the road and was working on one of the wheels when struck.

Ground for Granting Parole.

"Webb's statement was that, because of darkness and rain, he did not see this man until too late to avoid the collision. On this condition of facts, Webb was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary, the five-year terms to run consecutively. His application for parole was supported by the fact that he was never previously involved in law violations, and statements by those who have known him for years that he was steady in his habits and of good demeanor.

"The parole was granted on condition that he report at stated intervals and implicitly obey the law, bond being taken to assure his appearance. In my judgment, the case warranted judicial clemency."

FRANCE ADOPTS ARMY "TAPS"

Gen. Henri Gouraud Liked A. E. F. Bugle Call.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—"Taps," the American army's heart-touching salute to the dead, has been adopted by France.

The famous bugle call which puts the American army to bed every night and is used for the last long sleep, made a deep impression on French officers in the World War. The chief proponent of the call has been Gen. Henri Gouraud, who has twice visited the United States.

DYNAMITE LEVELS TOWERS OF GREAT MOSCOW CHURCH

Cathedral to Celebrate Liberation From French Makes Way for Palace of Soviets.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—The Cathedral of the Redeemer, one of old Russia's proudest churches, was blasted into a heap of ruins today to make way for the Palace of the Soviets.

Demolition of the great stone edifice, which has been going on for some time, was completed by dynamiting which continued after dark.

It was a difficult job, for the walls of Moscow's largest house of worship—it had a capacity of 10,000—resisted stubbornly, and it was necessary to use small charges because of the close proximity of dwellings.

By nightfall only two of the structure's five domes were left standing over the wreckage, and the whole building, which previously had been stripped of its priceless art objects and interior furnishings, looked as if it had felt the fury of wartime siege guns.

The wrecking of the Cathedral, which met the fate of hundreds of other churches as a result of the Government anti-religious campaign, was carried on behind a 20-foot board fence lining three sides of the park of which it was the center.

All traffic within an area of several blocks was suspended throughout the day. Tramcar schedules were disrupted and motor cars were required to take long detours.

The Cathedral was erected to commemorate the liberation of Moscow from the French.

PRINCE NICHOLAS' MORGANATIC MARRIAGE NOT YET ANNULLED

Report That Decree, Expected Soon, Had Been Issued, Is Denied in Rumania.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 5.—The morganatic marriage of Prince Nicholas, brother of King Carol, and Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, had not been annulled tonight.

A report published abroad that the Rumanian Supreme Court had promulgated an annulment of the marriage was found to be incorrect, although a decree of annulment is expected within a few days.

King Carol, meauwhile, has left Bucharest for a week-end hunting trip.

RADIO DEBATE ACROSS SEA

Harvard and Oxford Compete in First Event of Kind.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Debating teams of Harvard and Oxford exchanged arguments on the cancellation of war debts by radio tonight in the first trans-Atlantic university debate. The voices of the Harvard team came in good strength, but the Britishers none the less had some difficulty in understanding what the Americans said. The rapid diction of Paul C. Reardon, first Harvard speaker, was puzzling to the Englishmen and they wrote off part of his speech as unintelligible to them. The Americans spoke from a New York station, the Britons from one here.

The debaters were divided without regard to university affiliations, two Harvard men being teamed with one Oxford man against two Oxford men and one Harvard man.

LOWELL R. BAYLES KILLED IN FLYING FOR SPEED RECORD

Springfield, Mass., Aviator Crashes at Detroit, When Traveling About 300 Miles an Hour.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 5.—With the record he had persistently sought during the last month almost within his grasp, Lowell R. Bayles, Springfield (Mass.) flyer, was killed in the crash of his plane at the Wayne County airport this afternoon when he was traveling at a speed estimated at 300 miles an hour.

Bayles was only 75 feet above the ground, streaking over the 1.8-mile course "like a yellow flash," as one observer described it, when the plane started to spin, dived in a short arc and struck the ground, landing on its back. The motor broke loose from the plane and rolled 500 feet across railway tracks to crash into a fence.

The plane burst into flames as it truck. Bayles' body, wrapped in his overcoat, was found several feet from the wreckage, a column of smoke rising from his clothing. Apparently he had been killed instantly.

The wreckage of the plane, strewn along the course, burned for several minutes. The propeller was found 200 feet away from the blazing debris.

Three theories of the possible cause of the tragedy are advanced. One is that Bayles was overcome by carbon monoxide gas in the closed cockpit; one that the ship caught fire in the air; another that the three previous attempts Bayles had made, together with other unofficial tests, may have weakened a wing of the plane. An air speed indicator tube which was attached to one of the wings was found on the course 500 feet from the point where the plane fell. This gave rise to the theory that a wing may have broken up.

Tried to Beat French Record.

Bayles was trying to better the world land plane mark of 278.4 miles an hour made by Warrant Officer Bonnet of France. To gain recognition of a new mark he had to register an average of 283.3 miles an hour four times over the measured course. He came close to the mark on Dec. 1, when he averaged 281.9. At the time he said he was sure he could get his Gee Bee monoplane up to 290 miles or more. Unofficially he had been timed at more than 300 miles on one of his trial dashes.

Official observers probably will claim for Bayles an American record of 281.9 miles an hour, which he averaged during his attempt last Tuesday. Immediately after that flight Ray Cooper, chief observer, asked Bayles whether he wanted to claim the American record. Bayles declined, saying he was sure he could travel faster. The mark of 281.9 miles an hour is 15.4 miles an hour faster than the American record, held by Lieut. Al Williams.

Under the rules for timing international records, Bayles had to fly

RULES SENATE CANNOT OUST CHAIRMAN OF POWER BOARD

District of Columbia Court Holds Upper House Had No Right to Change Mind After Confirming George Otis Smith.

CASE TO BE TAKEN TO HIGHER TRIBUNAL

Test of Authority Developed When Hoover Refused to Return Commission at Request of Legislative Group.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—A court decided today the Senate had no right to change its minds after confirming the nomination of George Otis Smith of Maine as chairman of the Power Commission.

In upholding Smith's right to the office, Justice Gordon in the District of Columbia Supreme Court gave President Hoover the victory in the first judicial test of the case.

Before the suit is over, it is expected to clarify the Senate's power to reconsider a presidential appointment after voting to approve it. Senator Walsh (Dem.), Montana, leader of the Smith opposition, said the case would be taken to a higher court.

Justice Peyton Gordon ruled that under the circumstances Smith could not be removed except by a presidential order.

The circumstances were as follows:

Smith was appointed to the office by President Hoover. He was confirmed, with other commission members by the Senate just before the Christmas recess. During the holidays the new commission reorganized the personnel of the old commission and dismissed several employes.

Senator Walsh asked for a reconsideration of the nominations on the grounds that the Senate had such a right under a rule allowing reconsideration on the next legal day of the Senate meeting. The next legal day was the first day after the holidays and upon Walsh's motion the Senate asked President Hoover to send back the nominations. During the recess, President Hoover had issued Smith's commission. He refused to return it or those of the other members under fire.

The Senate reconsidered the nominations, anyway and reconfirmed all but Smith's. The Senate then employed John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential nominee, as counsel and instituted suit to oust Smith from office.

Justice Gordon said it would be illogical to construe the Senate's message to the President informing him it approved Smith's nomination "merely as a message of encouragement." He says:

"Constitutional theory, parliamentary usage, Senate rules, precedents and considerations of practice and procedure alike lead to the conclusion in the instant case that when the Senate in conformity with its own rules unanimously ordered notice of consent to be sent to the President, it once and for all surrendered its control of the matter and its rights to reconsideration and left the executive free to make a constitutional appointment."

JACK BRITT JURY DISAGREES, DISMISSED AFTER 57 HOURS

Second Mistrial for Man Accused of Part in Lincoln, Neb., Bank Robbery.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 5.—The jury trying Jack Britt of East St. Louis for participation in the $2,500,000 Lincoln National Bank robbery, failed to reach a verdict tonight and was dismissed after 57 hours' deliberation. Another jury disagreed on the case last month.

Britt was in high spirits and asked leave to "thank the jury for their services" but Judge Fred Shepherd said he didn't think it necessary. He added that Britt would be held for another trial. County Attorney Max Towle had said he would ask a third trial this month, but commented tonight he didn't know whether or not it would be worth the money.

Members of the jury said the count stood 10 to 2 for acquittal from the first ballot until the last.

Thomas O'Connor and Howard Lee, both seized in a raid at East St. Louis, have been sentenced to 25 years in prison for the robbery. This is the maximum sentence. Gus Winkler, a lieutenant of Al Capone, is out on $100,000 bond pending trial.

DECLARES CHINA READY TO FIGHT TO HOLD CHINCHOW

Dr. Sze Tells League Council at Paris It Will Not Withdraw From City as Japanese Demand.

GETS SMALL SUPPORT FROM OTHER NATIONS

Unconfirmed Rumor Mikado's General Has Ordered Chang Hsueh-liang to Remove Troops Forthwith.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Dec. 6 (Sunday). — A Rengo dispatch from Mukden today said there was an unconfirmed report from a Chinese source at Peiping that Gen. Honjo, Japanese commander in Manchuria, had served final notice on Chang Hsueh-liang to withdraw his Chinese troops west of Chinchow immediately.

There was no confirmation of such an ultimatum at the Japanese War Office.

The Mukden dispatch said the deposed Governor of Manchuria had been warned to withdraw his troops on the ground that massing of Chinese east of Chinchow signified an aggressive attitude against the Japanese.

The dispatch appeared to have been censored and several sentences deleted, which was taken here as an indication that it had been referred to military headquarters for approval before it was forwarded to Tokio.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—China will not evacuate Chinchow, but will "fight and die there if necessary," Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate to the Council of the League of Nations, told Council leaders today.

After he had made this statement Dr. Sze conferred with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes for the purpose of determining the attitude the United States Government would take should Japan occupy Chinchow. What Dawes told him was not made public.

Meanwhile Nobumi Ito, legal expert of Japan's League delegation, informed the Council's Drafting Committee that Tokio was unalterably opposed to intervention by a third party, either through a commission of inquiry or through neutral observers, in the Manchurian conflict.

Deadlock Continues.

The upshot of these interchanges was that the deadlock over the Far Eastern quarrel seemed tighter than ever.

Dr. Sze, it was understood, received no hope from members of the Council that China would be assisted in retaining Chinchow. The Chinese delegate, it was said, was urged to tell Nanking to do everything to avoid renewed hostilities, even to withdrawing behind the Great Wall.

Ito was reported to have told the Council's committee that Japan would not be satisfied until the Chinese Army and perhaps even the Chinese civil Government, were removed from Chinchow and established behind the Great Wall.

Dr. Sze revealed that at the request of President Chiang Kai-shek he had withdrawn his resignation as China's League spokesman. He explained he submitted his resignation under pressure from a Chinese group in Paris that was dissatisfied with his management of the case of Nanking before the Council.

Withdraws Resignation.

A statement issued in his behalf said:

"Certain representatives of the Chinese colony in France expressed at a meeting last night their extreme dissatisfaction with the weakness of the League, especially with the project of a neutral zone entailing the withdrawal of Chinese troops from their own territory, and demanded China's immediate withdrawal from the League of Nations.

"At their request these views were forwarded to Nanking by Dr. Sze.

"Dr. Sze at the same time notified the Government that he was ready to make way for a better man at any time public opinion throughout China was dissatisfied with his representation of China in Paris.

"A reply has been received from the Government that they would not consider the idea of his resignation."

Tokio Foreign Office Fears It Cannot Hold Army in Check.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Dec. 5.—Japanese authorities announce today that a new campaign will soon be launched against bandits in the vicinity of Hsinmintun. The new military operation was decided on after reports had been received of bandit activity along the Peiping-Mukden Railroad. Hsinmintun is west of Mukden on the road to Chinchow, toward which a Japanese offensive was started last week, but was withdrawn on orders from Tokio.

Nanking reports today declared that negotiations between Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Foreign Minister, and Japanese Minister Shigemitsu concerning the setting up of a neutral zone at Chinchow had been broken off. Fears were expressed by a spokesman at the Tokio Foreign Office that the Japanese Government might not be able to keep the army in check.

"Dr. Koo's announcement that the Chinese will not evacuate Chinchow was most unfortunate," an authoritative source said. "The Japanese army was bound to take it as a challenge. Army circles already were much aggravated, as they felt the army was tricked into a withdrawal a week ago by apparent promises of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang that he agreed in principle, at least, to the evacuation of Shinchow and now, like a slap in the face, comes a definite opposition to the entire plan for a neutral zone and other plans of the League, as well as Japan, to prevent a serious clash."

Foreign Minister Wellington Koo Resigns His Post.

NANKING, China, Dec. 5.—The resignations of Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Foreign Mniister, and Dr. Alfred Sze, the nation's delegate to the League of Nations, were submitted today. President Chiang Kai-shek in a personal interview urged Dr. Koo to reconsider, but it is thought the Foreign Minister will stick by his decision.

(A Paris dispatch said Dr. Sze had agreed to remain as China's spokesman on the League of Nations Council in response to the President's request.)

News of the resignations, which had not been expected, gave rise to much speculation in Nanking.

Dr. Koo, a graduate of Columbia University and former Minister to Washington and London, accepted China's Foreign portfolio Nov. 23. He represented China at the Paris Peace Conference in 1919 and at the Washington Arms Conference in 1921.

LOWELL BAYLES KILLED IN FLYING FOR SPEED RECORD

over the measured course at a height of not more than 164 feet. To gain the maximum speed he started his flight today at a point five miles from the starting line and at an altitude of about 1000 feet. A mile from the starting pylon he began the dive that was to bring him down to the required level at full speed.

Going 320 Miles an Hour.

Bayles had leveled off nicely and was nearing the end of the course on the first dash when the crash came. Charles Spiess, a pilot at the airport, estimated Bayles' speed at the time at about 320 miles an hour. "It seemed to me," he said, "that Bayles saw the plane was going into a roll and grabbed the controls suddenly, throwing the plane off balance."

Bayles, 31 years old, was born in Mason, Ill. He learned to fly in Chester, Ill., in 1923. He won international repute when he captured the Thompson Air Trophy race at Cleveland last September, beating some of the world's best known pilots.

Banker Sentenced, Paroled.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 5.—George T. Guernsey Sr., 73 years old, former president of the defunct Commercial National Bank of Independence, Kan., was put on probation today because of his age after he had been sentenced to three and one-half years in the penitentiary on each of eight counts of violating national banking laws. The loss in the Guernsey bank was $674,000, in addition to $303,000 in doubtful paper.

STOREKEEPER ROBBED OF $1000 IN CASH AND CHECKS

Says Armed Man Entered When He Answered Rear Door and Took Money From Desk.

Anthony Sieloff, proprietor of the Sieloff Food Mart, 5752 West Florissant avenue, reported to police last night that he was robbed of between $1000 and $1100 in cash and checks as he was about to close the store. He declined to say how much was in cash.

Sieloff said, according to a police report, that he answered a knock at the rear door and that when he opened the door, an armed man, about 30 years old, pushed his way in and took the money, which was lying on a desk. The man fled out the back door and escaped in an automobile driven by a companion.

SETS ONE-WAY SPEED RECORD

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 5.—Lou Reichers, who set a speed mark on his southbound trip Wednesday to Havana, returned here late today but failed by a few minutes to excel the northbound record of Capt. Frank M. Hawks.

Reichers flew from Newark to Havana in six hours and 47 minutes or 16 minutes faster than Hawks' mark. From Havana to Newark his time was seven hours and 17 minutes, 18 minutes slower than Hawks' mark.

BORAH IS READY FOR SENATE VOTE ON WORLD COURT

Senator, Leading Opposition to U. S. Adherence, Willing to Have Issue Settled.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The leader of the fight against the World Court, Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, today announced his willingness to have a vote taken on the issue at this session.

He proposed that the Senate debate and dispose of the question of American adherence after "pressing domestic matters are out of the way." He issued a statement denying printed reports that he would seek to defer the whole issue.

There is a growing conviction among opponents of the court that their strength in the Senate is gaining. They make no predictions yet. Advocates of adherence are confident, also. A two-thirds majority is necessary for ratification.

The Senate, five years ago, voted overwhelmingly to enter the court with reservations. Not all of those reservations were accepted by the other nations and entry on a new basis is now proposed.

This new arrangement was worked out by Elihu Root and representatives of European nations. It provides that the United States may withdraw from the court, if the tribunal without its consent should take up some question affecting American interests.

One of the original Senate reservations, to which other nations would not agree, provided that, without American approval, the court could not consider a question in which the United States had or claimed an interest.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will take up the protocol of adherence at an early meeting and a quick report to the Senate is in prospect. There is every indication that it will be favorable. Action by the committee, however, before Christmas is unlikely.

"I have assumed all along," said Senator Borah in his statement, "that as soon as pressing domestic matters were out of the way, the question of the World Court would be taken up and disposed of. I can assure you that is entirely agreeable to me."

French Position.

A French authority tonight outlined his country's position thus:

1. Reparations, as public debts, have priority over private debts, and in any case unconditional reparations amounting to 600,000,000 marks must be paid first since France considers it immoral to let war victims be sacrificed to post-war speculators.

2. The purpose of this Advisory Committee is to devise a plan to replace the Hoover moratorium, and this purpose is a direct result of the conversations between President Hoover and Premier Laval.

3. The committee's task is clearly defined in the Young plan and it cannot treat with unconditional annuities or make recommendation relative to private debts.

4. The French budget situation is serious but France will not refuse to do her part. She proposes an increase in payments in kind to replace specie payments, suggesting that this would aid relief of German unemployment.

5. There is a direct relation between reparations and inter-allied debts, and his relationship is recognized in the Hoover moratorium.

The German attitude was outlined by a person close to that delegation as follows:

1. There must be a complete examination of Germany's financial and economic structure, including payment of unconditional annuities and private debts. The committee will be asked to declare itself competent to do this.

2. It is impossible for the German Government to assure payment of reparations before payment of private debts, because it is impossible to forbid a citizen to pay his debts.

48 JACK RABBITS PROVE A PROBLEM AT COUNTRY CLUB

Animals Brought From Kansas for Coursing Meet Are of No Use Now.

Walter Pfeffer, president of Westborough Country Club, is seeking someone who will take off his hands 48 Kansas jack rabbits that are making inroads into the supply of alfalfa hay at the club's barn.

The rabbits were imported from Kansas for the coursing meet held at St. Louis Country Club a week ago in which Pfeffer was interested, but arrived too late to be schooled in escaping from the coursing pen, and were not used.

When not eating hay the rabbits keep in trim by attempting to leap over the six-foot walls of two box stalls in which they are quartered, Pfeffer reports. There were 50 rabbits in the shipment, but two solved part of Pfeffer's problem by escaping from the barn and are shifting for themselves on the Westborough golf links.

There is some talk among sportsmen of a second coursing meet here soon, in which case the rabbit problem would be solved. If the proposed plan does not materialize, Pfeffer probably will present the inmates of some institution with jack rabbit stew.

L. J. TICHACEK, ELDEST OF NINE BROTHERS, DIES

Louis J. Tichacek, oldest of the nine brothers who were encouraged to marry servant girls who had been trained for five years in their mother's kitchen, died of a complication of diseases last night at St. Anthony's Hospital. He was 53 years old.

Tichacek, a member of the firm of Tichacek Bros. Painting Co., established by his father, the late Louis J. Tichacek, lived at 3726 South Grand boulevard. Seven brothers will be pall bearers at the funeral Wednesday at St. Pius' Catholic Church. L. J. Tichacek's widow, two sons and a daughter also survive.

The eldest son was the first to follow the advice of his mother in selecting his wife and 31 years ago married Miss Marie Hampil, after she had served her apprenticeship in his mother's household. Several other brothers followed his example and others married servant girls who had worked at the homes of friends. Their mother believed this policy would assure them good cooks and housekeepers as wives.

Gasoline Tax Receipts Increase.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—Gasoline tax collections for October to date total $843,904, a gain of $30,893 over the October, 1930 collections, Henry A. Perriguay, state oil inspector, announced today. Perriguay said total October collections would be increased about $8000 when delinquencies are collected. Collections to date for the first 10 months of 1931 total $8,001,405, an increase of $576,160 over the corresponding period of 1930.

GARNER TO BE CHOSEN SPEAKER TOMORROW

Texan Assured of Unanimous Vote—Milligan of Missouri Assistant Whip.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Democrats forgot their factional differences today in determination to seize House control Monday through a united and harmonious organization.

Rounding up 218 of their 219 members at their caucus, they agreed on Congressman Garner of Texas as their speakership candidate, and unanimously elected Congressman Rainey of Illinois their floor leader.

The Republicans mustered only 198 of their 214 members at the conference Monday when Congressman Snell of New York was nominated for the speakership. The most Snell can hope for is 213 votes, vecause Congressman Taylor of Tennessee will be unable to attend on account of illness.

Garner expects his entire force of 219 to vote Monday. The only member missing today — Percy Stewart, elected from the Fifth New Jersey District Tuesday—sent word he would be here Monday.

The caucus adopted a plan to liberalize the rules to permit a vote on prohibition at the coming session. It agreed to support a rule, similar to that adopted by the Republican conference, providing that a bill could be taken from a committee for a direct House vote on petition of 145 members.

An effort was made to place the number of petitioners at 180, but was defeated by wets and drys.

Rainey immediately appointed Congressman McDuffie of Alabama as party whip. McDuffie was whip under Garner in the last Congress. Congressman Milligan of Missouri and Greenwood of Indiana were named his assistants. No effort was made to create a steering committee or a committee on committees.

The caucus elected seven members to the Ways and Means Committee. In the Democratic organization this group constitutes an advisory council for leaders and designates committee assignments of party members. The majority party controls 15 of the 25 places on the committee. Eight Democrats are holdovers.

Those elected were Dickinson of Missouri, Eslick of Tennessee, Sanders of Texas, Lewis of Maryland, Sullivan of New York, McCormack of Massachusetts and Vinson of Kentucky.

Minor House officers nominated were South Trimble, former Congressman from Kentucky, House clerk; Kenneth Romney of Montana, sergeant-at-arms; Joseph Sinnott of Virginia, doorkeeper.

6 WOMAN REPRESENTATIVES, A SENATOR IN NEW CONGRESS

Reception on Senate Steps When Mrs. Caraway Arrives for Session Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The first active woman Senator and six woman Representatives made ready today for their appearance Monday in Congress. A reception on the Senate steps has been planned when Mrs. Hattie Caraway, appointea to the Senate from Arkansas, arrives.

Mrs. Caraway has had 18 years of political background. Of medium height and build, she is of the type called motherly.

No feminine debuts will be made in the House—all are seasoned politicians. Three women came in by widowhood but later represented their districts in their own right—Florence P. Kahn, Edith Nourse Rogers and Effiegene Wingo. Three have arrived, Mary T. Norton, Ruth Bryan Owen and Ruth Pratt.

Mrs. Kahn, California, is a former educator and when she speaks Representatives listen. Mrs. Rogers keeps three secretaries going at top speed. She has curly gray hair, brown eyes and a ready smile. Mrs. Wingo is willowy, kind, cultured. Mrs. Norton knows political wards and their ways. She is brown-eyed, brown-haired.

The drama that went with the name of William Jennings Bryan has not been lost in his daughter, Ruth Bryan Owen. Personal charm, high intelligence and humor make her an ever-colorful figure.

Extremely wealthy and most aristocratic in appearance, Mrs. Pratt has won praise for her quiet efficiency and practical ideas.

ITALIANS "BLACK OUT" TAX

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Dec. 5.—A general protest throughout Italy this week against the Italian Government's imposition of a heavy tax on store signs has aroused the country's attention as the first widespread objection against taxation since the Fascist regime began.

Merchants protested against the tax by covering their signs with black paper, painting them out in black or turning them down altogether. Milan, Rome and Naples acted simultaneously. The Government hastily postponed for 10 days the date for filing the tax returns. The Government moved too late, however. Policemen then, under an old ordinance, prohibiting the placing of ladders on sidewalks without permission, arrested and fined persons who did so in order to erase their signs. Others were fined under the "aesthetic ordinance" on the ground that singless shops were "anti-aesthetic."

HEIR TO $100,000 HELD IN TWO DEATHS

Arrest at Kalamazoo, Mich., After Four Months' Investigation.

By the Associated Press.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Dec. 5.—Howard Miller, 28 years old, w arrested late today at his home Battle Creek and placed in jail a result of a four months' investigation by Kalamazoo authorities the deaths of two persons wh left him sole heir to a $100,000 estate.

The estate was that of Mi Rachel Arvilla Parker of Kalamazoo, who died Jan. 31, 1931, i Florida, apparently from the effects of a fall in which her leg wa broken. She left a will namin Miller and Charles Hazard of Kalamazoo, her nephew, joint heirs the survivor to inherit the entir estate. Hazard, a roofing contractor and Spiritualist minister, ha died in November, 1930, in a hospital here.

Miller, who first came here i August, 1930, represented himsel as a nephew of Miss Parker, th natural son of a dead brother. This claim was attacked in a suit filed here today by Mrs. Grace Brown, Hazard's daughter, who asked that probate of the will be set aside.

Prosecutor Paul M. Tedrow and Sheriff Charles W. Struble said that their investigation was started four months ago and that the body of Hazard was exhumed in September. They stated that a report of an analysis of the vital organs indicated the presence of poison. Tedrow said that he plans to seek exhumation of Miss Parker's body which was buried here.

Miller will be questioned tomorrow by the prosecutor and Sheriff.

Miss Parker died in St. Petersburg, Fla. Miller, the prosecutor said, was with her at the time.

Miller, the official said, came to Miss Parker's home to present his claim of kinship after having served in the navy. He was informed, he said, that Miller served a term for desertion from the navy.

RULING TOMORROW ON BAIL APPEAL IN BERG KIDNAPING

Circuit Judge Ryan to Pass on Application of Paul A. Richards, Agent of Kidnapers.

STATE PRESENTS PRIMA FACIE CASE

Wealthy Fur Dealer and His Attorney, Morris G. Levinson, on Stand—Counter Arguments.

Circuit Judge Ryan will rule tomorrow on the application of Paul A. Richards, attorney and self-declared agent of the kidnapers of Alexander Berg, for his release on bond pending his trial on a charge of kidnaping for ransom, a capital offense.

Judge Ryan took the case under advisement yesterday after two sessions of court had been devoted to presentation of the State's prima facie case against Richards, and of the counter arguments of his counsel in favor of his release on bail.

The State's case was given in the testimony Friday afternoon of Berg, a wealthy fur dealer, and his attorney, Morris G. Levinson, and in the statement yesterday of John T. Rogers, Post-Dispatch reporter assigned to the kidnaping case.

Under questioning by Circuit Attorney Miller, Rogers told of being assigned by the city editor to keep in touch with Levinson for news developments in the case. On Monday morning, Nov. 9, the third day of Berg's captivity, he was in Levinson's office when a special delivery letter was received there.

Questioning of Rogers did not make clear that the letter had been written by Berg at the dictation of his kidnapers, although Berg previously testified that was the case. It directed Levinson to get in touch with Richards and "pay him about $1000" as a preliminary to negotiations for Berg's release on $50,000 ransom.

Rogers testified that Levinson handed him the note and told him to open it. He read it aloud to the lawyer, who asked him if he knew Richards. Rogers replied that he had met him in Clayton and at the Post-Dispatch office in connection with a previous case at Clayton in which Richards was attorney, and agreed, at Levinson's suggestion, to get in touch with Richards. He called Richards on the telephone at once from Levinson's office.

"I told him I had an important matter to discuss with him," Rogers continued, "but said I would prefer not to discuss it over the telephone. He said he did not want to discuss it, either. I said, 'Can I see you in your office right away?' and he said I could.

"I got there about 1:30 or 2 o'clock in the afternoon. We went into his private office. He closed the door and we leaned against his desk. I said, 'Well, Paul, I suppose you know why I'm here.' He smiled but said nothing.

"I said, 'We have a letter from the kidnapers and Mr. Levinson wants to talk to you.' Before I could go on, he said, 'I had a telephone conversation last night and I also have a letter.'

"He took a letter from his pocket and handed it to me. I read it and handed it back. (This was a $50,000 promissory note, written by Berg at the direction of his kidnapers and made payable to Richards).

"He said, 'This is no good to me.' Then he told me he would rather not talk to Levinson but would talk to me. I said, 'All right, talk to me.' Then I asked, 'Who's got Mr. Berg?' He replied that it was a man he had got out of trouble in the county.

"I said, 'What do they want?' He said they first wanted $75,000, then had come down to $65,000 and now wanted $50,000. I asked, 'Will they let Mr. Berg go and take the money later? Will they trust you?' He replied, 'Yes.'

"I asked, 'What would they do if they let Mr. Berg go home and then did not get the money? Are they really desperate men?' He said they would shoot Mr. Berg if they didn't get the money.

"I said, 'Would you be willing to take your fee of $1000, stand aside, and let me hook them?' He said if he did that he would be shot.

"I asked him if he was going to get any more out of the case than the $1000 and he replied, 'I am going to get $11,000 more out of it.'

"Then he said, 'If I handled any of this money I might get burned. Now in the Kelley case (the kidnaping last April of Dr. I. D. Kelley Jr.) the family said no ransom was paid. How about that?' I told him I didn't care to discuss the Kelley case and said, 'I think you have said enough. I think I ought to report our conversation to Mr. Levinson.'

"He said, 'All right, if you think Levinson is all right.' I answered, 'Morris Levinson is all right.'

"I went back and reported the conversation to Mr. Levinson and then went to my office and reported to Ben Reese, city editor of the Post-Dispatch. Mr. Reese imme-

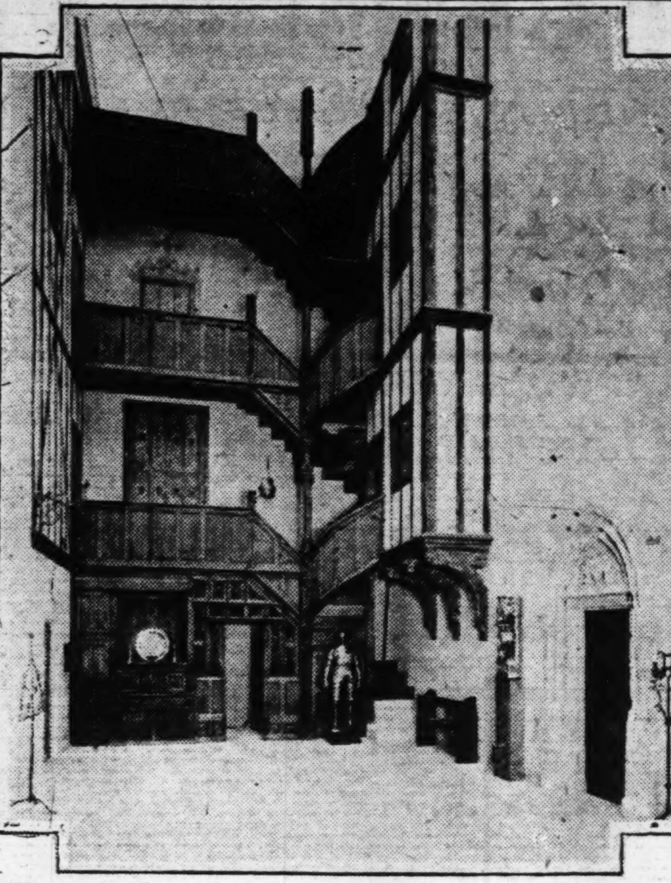
New Gothic Room at Art Museum



THE new Gothic courtyard at City Art Museum, showing the Sixteenth Century carved staircase removed from a house at Morlaix, which is considered the finest example of its sort.

Formal Opening Tuesday Of Museum's Gothic Court

Evening Program to Include Commemorative Ceremony for William K. Bixby and Promenade Concert by Symphony.

The new Gothic courtyard at City Art Museum in Forest Park, in which are assembled the most important objects of medieval art in the museum's collection, will be opened formally to the public Tuesday night.

The courtyard is the latest expression of the museum's policy of creating sympathetic settings for its works of art, to enable the spectator to recapture something of the flavor of the time which produced them. The period rooms installed two years ago were the first illustrations of that principle at the museum.

Ceremonies at the opening will include memorial exercises for the late William K. Bixby, president for many years of the museum's Board of Control, and a concert by an orchestra of symphony players under the direction of Scipione Guidi, concertmaster of St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. The musical program will begin at 8:30 o'clock. The Park Department will operate a bus between the museum and the University-Olive street cars at De Baliviere avenue, from 8 to 10:30 o'clock.

Winding Staircase.

The courtyard, 20 by 40 feet, has been installed in the eastern third of the large gallery at the left of Sculpture Hall. Its floor is of flagstones and on all sides half timbered gables, stone doorways and windows suggest that it is surrounded by buildings. Indirect lighting is employed so that the ceiling simulates the sky.

Dominating the scene is a carved oak winding staircase, 40 feet high, at the north end of the court. This, taken from a house at No. 14 Grand Rue, Morlaix, a town in Brittany not far from Brest, is generally considered the finest of a number of such structures peculiar to that locality. It was originally constructed in the early sixteenth century.

Morlaix, subject to attack from across the English Channel, sought protection within its own walls, and as building space was limited, houses of four and five stories developed. In these there was usually a stair court, used as a living room, protected from inclement weather at first by awnings or wooden shutters at the height of the roof, later by skylights.

Statues of Saints.

The staircase at the museum was from a three-story house, and at three levels balconies lead off to the right and the left.

The most striking feature of the staircase is the long newel post, cut from one piece of timber. It is carved with high relief statues of St. Barbara, St. Catherine, The Blessed Virgin and Christ. Above the carved linenfold panels of the balconies are niches within which are small sculptures of St. Peter and other saints.

On the ground floor there is a screen of pierced and traceried panels of great delicacy and beauty. Adjoining it is a built-in buffet of the later Renaissance design.

Setting for Tapestry.

Opposite the stairway is a worn stone French Gothic doorway from a church at Chefboutonne, Dues-Sevres, carved with an elaborate coat-of-arms and grotesque animals common to the period. Nearby, on the same wall, is a stone window case of the early Sixteenth Century which frames a small niche in which is shown a Madonna.

The main entrance to the court, on the west wall, is a late Gothic doorway of the pinnacle type, bearing the coat-of-arms of the owner or donor on the lintel. Across from it is a simpler stone doorway of the late Fifteenth Century, from the neighborhood of Cosne, Nievre.

In addition to these recent accessions, the court affords a setting for the museum's large tapestry of "Daphne at the Temple of Latona," and the monumental "Virgin of Meaux," a Fourteenth Century Madonna and Child stone statue acquired a year ago.

Gothic Chest.

Other objects which have been placed in the gallery are the Fourteenth Century Gothic chest purchased last year from the Figdor collection; two carved oak doors which have long been in the museum's possession; a fine example of early Renaissance paneling, which has been placed on the first balcony, a small polychrome statue of Santiago, a suit of armor and other less important examples of the work of the period.

The program for the opening ceremonies:

DRIVER OF TRUCK, WHICH KILLED TWO, IS REFUSED BOND

John Bagy Rearrested on Coroner's Order After Gaining Release Because of Clerical Error.

John Bagy, whose truck swerved into a safety zone, killing two persons and injuring three others, was rearrested last night when Coroner Dever learned he had been freed a few hours earlier on a $500 common law bond, which should have been for $10,000. The Coroner ordered that he be held without bail for an inquest tomorrow.

The bond, furnished by John J. Keegan, a professional bondsman, was approved by Judge Butler of the Court of Criminal Correction, and signed by Deputy Coroner John J. Hurley, both of whom said they had given it but a cursory inspection, thinking it to be a bond calling for $5000 for each of the two persons killed. After Keegan obtained the signatures of Judge Butler and Hurley he presented the bond at the Carondelet District station, where Bagy, a heating contractor, had been held since the accident Friday night, and obtained his release. Bagy furnished also a $500 bond to answer to a charge of careless driving in police court.

Judge Didn't Read It.

Inspection of the first bond later disclosed it was for $500. Both Judge Butler and Hurley ascribed the omission to a clerical error. Judge Butler said he signed the bond while on the bench without reading it, since it was presented by a bondsman who furnished a qualifying affidavit about two months ago, showing the possession of real estate valued at around $40,000. Such an affidavit is required every 90 days, he said.

"Such bonds are a matter of routine form," Judge Butler said, "the figures written in by one of the clerks about the court. It is apparently a clerical error. There would have been no reason for it to be otherwise."

Hurley said he signed the bond as soon as he observed it had been signed by Judge Butler. He said he did not read it carefully, assuming it called for $5000 for each of the two fatalities.

Arrested Once Before.

In causing the re-arrest of Bagy, who is 35 years old and lives at 4044 Shaw boulevard, Coroner Dever said he was actuated not only by the discovery that the bond was for only $500 but that he thought he should be held without bond since two persons were killed in the accident.

Bagy was arrested for careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident in May, 1928, police records show, but they do not indicate the disposition of the case.

The accident Friday night occurred when Bagy's truck swerved into an unlighted painted safety zone at Broadway and Bates street, striking a group waiting for a street car. Mathias Kauten of 5339 West avenue and Mrs. Alice Stephenson, a widow, of 4465 Wilcox avenue, were fatally injured.

Mrs. John Custer, 5301 Gilson avenue, wife of a patrolman of the Carondelet District, suffered cuts about the face and knees. Mrs. Theresa Dowling, 5346 West avenue, was cut on the right leg and 13-year-old John Whaley Jr. of 5357 West avenue, suffered a shoulder injury.

Bagy explained he was driving north in the street car tracks when he became confused at approach of a southbound automobile with blinding headlights, causing him to swerve to the right without observing the persons in the safety zone.

CLERK, FIRED ON, KILLS ROBBER IN GROCERY HOLDUP

Allen Hester, Negro, Shot at Twice by Dead Man's Companion in Store at 3201 Franklin.

Allen Hester, Negro clerk in Harry Rubin's grocery at 3201 Franklin avenue, last night shot and killed a Negro holdup man whose companion had fired twice at Hester before he could reach a revolver under a counter. The slain robber has not been identified. His companion escaped.

Hester, Rubin and Rubin's son, Arthur, were in the store when the Negroes entered at 8:30 o'clock. The shorter one went to the meat counter and asked to see some meats. The other walked toward the rear of the store, drew a revolver and said "Stick 'em up."

"When I heard that," Hester related, "I looked up from behind the counter where I was packing milk bottles. The fellow that said it shot at me and I ducked. Then I looked up again and he shot again. By the time I could grab my revolver he was running out the door. I shot just once and I guess I hit the one that hadn't fired at me."

With Hester's shot, the shorter robber stumbled, then ran north on Compton avenue, turning east into an alley. A few minutes later he was found by police in a yard in the rear of the 3100 block of Franklin avenue. He was wounded in the back and held four one-dollar bills in his hand.

$5 Taken, But Recovered.

He died soon afterward at City Hospital No. 2, where Hester and Rubin identified him as one of the robbers. A checkup showed $5 had been taken from Rubin's cash register. A dollar bill was found on the floor of the store.

Hester said Rubin's store had been held up several times recently. "I got tired of seeing a gun in my face," he said, "so I told Mr. Rubin I'd get me a pistol and shoot the next man that tried to hold us up." Hester is 45 years old and resides at 909 North Compton avenue, only a few doors from the grocery.

The slain robber was about 30 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighed about 160 pounds. He wore a cap, blue coat, gray trousers, tan shoes and gray stockings. He and his companion are thought to be the same pair who have held up several merchants in the same vicinity recently.

Medical Student Records His Own Fatal Illness

Knowing End Is Near, He Studies and Catalogues Symptons—Autopsy Shows He Was Right

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—A mother today told the story of her son, a Harvard medical student who, suffering from an incurable ailment, catalogued his symptoms and reactions during the closing days of his life and then requested an autopsy to be performed after his death to find if his conclusions were correct.

Alfred Zymour Reinhart had been graduated from Harvard with highest honors and had just completed his third year in the medical school when he discovered symptoms of a heart trouble which indicated that he had not long to live. Turning to his brother, he said: "I'll be dead in four months."

He spent a last few days at home and then entered the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital where he watched the progress of his affliction and studied similar cases. Later he transferred to the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory of the Boston City Hospital.

As life waned, he fought off the pain of his disease and made notations of his observations. Four days before his death he called in a stenographer and dictated them to her.

Death came, but there was one more phase of his work to be enacted. He had ordered an autopsy on his body and had told physicians just what they might expect to find.

Two hours after he died Dr. Soma Weiss of the Harvard Medical School performed the autopsy while classmates of Reinhart stood in silent rows around the City Hospital amphitheater. Reinhart's predictions were found to be correct.

"FOUR HORSEMEN" BEATEN FOR CONTRACT BRIDGE TROPHY

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—A team of New Yorkers upset predictions in the fifth annual National Bridge Tournament tonight by nosing out the well-known "Four Horsemen" to win the national contract team championship, the last event on the week's program.

The winning team is composed of Commander Winfield Liggett Jr., Mrs. Elizabeth B. Banfield, Mrs. Norman Newman and George Unger.

They won 46 of 76 matches, one more than the "Four Horsemen," P. Hal Sims of Deal, N. J.; Willard S. Karn, Oswald Jacoby and David Burnstine, all of New York. The victory of the winning team was considered by players a triumph for the "official" system which they use. Commander Liggett is chairman of the advisory council of the "official" system.

When the tournament started last Monday Middle Westerners held five of the championships at stake and Easterners one. Tonight the Mid-Westerners hold one and the Easterners six—counting the contract team-of-four trophy to which hitherto no section had laid claim. It was won last year by Ely Culbertson and John Rau of New York; William Barrett of Augusta, Ga., and W. James Carpenter of Cleveland, O.

The four championships the Westerners lost are the women's auction pair, contract pair, men's auction team and men's auction pair. They were won, in order, by: Mrs. J. S. Jones Jr. and Mrs. H. L. Peterson of Philadelphia; Sims and Willard Karn of New York; Sims, Baron von Zedtwitz, Jacoby and Burstine; and Sims and Baron von Zedtwitz.

Democrats' Tribute to Longworth.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The high regard of political opponents for the late Nicholas Longworth was shown today when the Democratic caucus adopted a resolution of regret at his death. The resolution was prepared by Representatives Warren of North Carolina and Lanham of Texas.

MAN, TWO DOGS AND BIRDS ARE FOUND DEAD FROM GAS

Russell H. Liter, 38, Victim of Asphyxiation; Had Been Drinking Heavily.

Russell H. Liter, 38 years old, was found dead in his home at 2411 Hartland avenue, Overland, yesterday afternoon. The house was filled with gas escaping from opened burners of the kitchen stove. A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned. A dog and a puppy of the Boston bull breed and two canaries in various rooms also were dead.

A laundry driver, calling at the house, noticed the odor of gas and called for officers. Deputy Sheriffs Newbold and Lewis entered through a winodw. Liter's body, clad in underwear, was found on a bed. His wife, Gertrude, who operates a restaurant at 8005 North Broadway, told the deputies her husband had informed her several days ago that he was through with the restaurant business. She said he had been drinking heavily.

$1,500,000 Museum Dedicated.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The $1,500,000 Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago was dedicated today by Dr. James H. Breasted, founder and director of the institute. The museum consists of five large halls, each devoted to the history of an early civilization of the Near East, Egyptian, Assyrian, Babylonian, Hittite and Palestinian.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN KILLED, 7 INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. William Sullivan, 4333 Delmar Bl., Fatally Hurt on Highway 11, Near Troy, Ill.

Mrs. William Sullivan of 4333 Delmar boulevard, was killed and seven persons were injured at 6 o'clock last night in a head-on collision between two automobiles near Troy, Ill., 17 miles east of St. Louis on Highway No. 11.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Mary Potts, of 1811 South Newstead avenue, with whom Mrs. Sullivan was riding, attempted to pass a long transportation truck loaded with automobiles, and struck a sedan driven by Eugene Coiles of Greenville, Ill., in which five persons were riding. Coiles' car caught fire and was destroyed.

Mrs. Sullivan's daughter, Mary Ellen, 5 years old, who was riding in Mrs. Potts' car, suffered a fractured skull and is in a serious condition. Mrs. Sullivan was pinned in the wrecked car, a light roadster. Mrs. Potts suffered a fracture of the left leg.

The others injured are: Mrs. C. E. Coiles, Bern Redfern, Eugene Coiles and Augusta Beckfelder, all of Greenville. They were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at Highland, Ill.

High School Boy Killed When His Motor Cycle Hits Auto.

Montague Becker, 16-year-old high school student of Freeburg, Ill., was fatally injured last night when his motor cycle collided with an automobile going in the opposite direction at a turn on Highway No. 13, south of Belleville. He died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, of a fractured skull. The driver of the automobile, Clarence Espensheid of Freeburg, was not seriously injured. Becker was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Becker. He was on his way to visit friends in Belleville. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

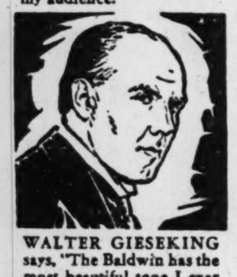
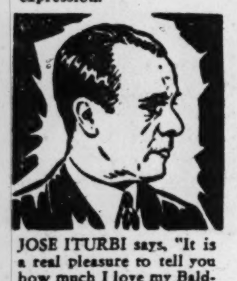
JOSEF LHEVINNE says of The Baldwin, "I believe The Baldwin more capable of delicate shading and tone coloring, as well as big effects, than any piano made today."

HAROLD BAUER says, "The Baldwin possesses all the qualities I desire in order to bring beautiful music expressively before my audience."



WALTER GIESEKING says, "The Baldwin has the most beautiful tone I ever found in a piano . . . it permits one to realize even the most delicate nuance of expression."



JOSE ITURBI says, "It is a real pleasure to tell you how much I love my Baldwin. A piano incomparably superior to all others in America."

YOUR CHRISTMAS OPPORTUNITY

Here is an unparalleled opportunity to get one of the finest pianos made at actual cost or below. The Baldwin is the piano played exclusively by Bauer, Iturbi, Lhevinne, Gieseking and other world-famous artists; awarded three international diplomas; used, because of its superior tone, by over 250 radio broadcasting stations.

Discounts up to 50% during Christmas Sale

These pianos have been brought in from dealers and have never been off the dealers' floors. Every instrument brand new and guaranteed perfect. Rather than return them to the factory at heavy shipping expense, we are authorized to dispose of them here in this city at the amazingly low prices listed—prices representing discounts of 50% and more.

Never in the history of this community or in the history of the Baldwin Piano Company has such an opportunity been offered music-lovers.

The pianos offered include Baldwin Baby Grands in mahogany, walnut and ebony; and various period models. Also a few used Baby Grands in excellent condition. As the supply is limited, we advise immediate action to avoid disappointment.

TERMS

Extremely liberal terms have been arranged for this sale. Small down payment and three years to pay. Generous allowance on your old piano. Delivery can be arranged for Christmas Eve.

BURGLARS GET $170 IN LOOT; ONE ESCAPES ON BICYCLE

Two Members of Gustav C. Papendick Family Encounter Thieves on Stairway.

The home of Gustav C. Papendick, president of the Papendick Bakery Co., at 7070 Washington boulevard was robbed of jewelry valued at $170 last night by two burglars, one of whom fled on a bicycle when the family returned at 7:30 o'clock.

When Papendick's son and daughter, Louis and Marie Papendick, started to investigate noises on the second floor, two men hurried past them down a stairway. One of the men went through a front window, mounted a bicycle and rode west. He carried a knapsack on his back.

A search disclosed that jewelry was missing from Miss Papendick's room.

Fulton Ross, a chauffeur for a Clover Farm grocery at 6506 Grove avenue, Pine Lawn, was robbed of $70 last night by two armed men who blocked his way with their automobile at Jennings road and Theodore lane, Pine Lawn.

One of the men entered Ross' car and forced him to drive west on Florissant where he robbed him and fled.

Mrs. Rose Thal, 1205A Delaware avenue, Wellston, reported to the Sheriff's office at Clayton yesterday the theft of $680 in jewelry, stolen in her absence from home in the afternoon.

The loot included a platinum dinner ring set with 22 diamonds, valued at $500, a diamond engagement ring, two wedding rings and a wrist watch.

RULING TOMORROW ON BAIL APPEAL IN BERG KIDNAPING

diately called Chief of Police Gerk and Chief Gerk reported the matter to the Circuit Attorney."

Chief Gerk was acquainted with the new development in the case in a conference in the Post-Dispatch office with Levinson, Reese and Rogers. From that time on Levinson acted in complete conformity with directions on Chief Gerk, with the result that four men, including Richards, were under arrest in the case a few hours after Berg's release, and two others were fugitives, captured later after a Lincoln County bank holdup. All six are now under indictment.

Continuing his story, Rogers said that after the conference with Chief Gerk he and Levinson returned to Levinson's office. Levinson got Richards on the phone.

"I heard him tell Richards that Rogers had reported the conversation and the arrangements were saitsfactory. He told Richards to see that Berg was not harmed in the meantime. Richards then asked to talk to me and Levinson handed me the phone.

"Richards then told me he had an appointment with Levinson for the following morning at 10 o'clock and asked me to come to his office at 9:30. I told him I'd be there. I did not keep the appointment, however, under directions from my city editor."

On cross-examination, Verne Lacy, attorney for Richards, attempted to show that Richards actually had been retained as an attorney in Berg's interest, a point upon which the defense apparently intends to rely heavily. Rogers repeated that he had gone to Richards only to arrange for a meeting with Levinson and had no authority to hire Richards as an attorney.

In argument for Richards' admission to bail Lacy stressed heavily the case of Vincenzo Bolero, charged with kidnaping Dominick di Franco in 1921 and holding him for ransom. In that case Lacy, attorney for Bolero, secured his release on $20,000 bond on a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court.

Lacy testified to the circumstances of the case, which subsequently was tried before Circuit Judge Franklin Miller, now the Circuit Attorney. Jones H. Parker, then Assistant Circuit Attorney, also recalled the case on the witness stand. Lacy then argued that the precedent set at that time required Richards' release, since the cases were parallel.

After hearing the arguments of counsel Judge Ryan took the case under advisement with the announcement that he would give his decision tomorrow. Meanwhile, Richards is held prisoner in city jail. Also prisoners there are five others indicted with Richards. They are:

George Peak, paroled murderer, alleged to have picked out Berg as a likely subject for the kidnapers; Charles Heuer and Edward Barcume, ex-convicts captured in the Lincoln County bank robbery, charged with the actual kidnaping; Curtis Medlock, who rented the furnished flat at 5084A Easton avenue where Berg was held prisoner, and Charles Tucker, 30-year-old former juvenile delinquent whom the kidnapers hired as a guard at the flat.

At Friday's session Berg and Levinson were the State's witnesses. Berg repeated the story of the kidnaping while Levinson told of the negotiations with Richards for Berg's release.

In questioning Levinson, Lacy attempted to show, as he tried in Rogers' statement, that Richards was hired as a lawyer. Levinson declared that that was not correct and in response to another question testified that during the negotiations he had regarded Richards as an agent of the kidnapers.

Following his first arrest in the case, Richards was released on $40,000 bond, as was Peak. The latter was rearrested after the grand jury had returned an indictment but Richards kept out of the reach of the police by advice of counsel, and did not appear until Friday, when his bond was returnable.

DR. HENRY NORRIS RUSSELL HEADS PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Dr. Henry Norris Russell, Princeton astronomer, has been elected president of the American Philosophical Society. He succeeds the late Dr. Francis X. Dercum, who died suddenly last April as he prepared to open the annual meeting of the society.

The long proposed plan to move the society's headquarters to a new $2,500,000 building on the parkway was definitely assured last night when members formally adopted the proposal. The 142-year-old building which now houses the society and its collection of Franklin's manuscripts and personal articles, and other historical and scientific objects, including Jefferson's original draft of the Declaration of Independence, is deemed a fire trap.

The society voted down a request to lend its Gilbert Stuart portrait of George Washington to the Washington Bicentennial Celebration. Officials explained that "it is unhealthy for portraits to travel. The picture was painted by Stuart on 1799, the year of Washington's death. It is valued at $100,000.

VACHEL LINDSAY DIES; ONE OF CHIEF MODERN POETS

Heart Attack Fatal at His Home in Springfield, Ill., Where He Was Born 52 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—Vachel Lindsay, one of America's chief modern poets, died suddenly early today of heart trouble at his home. The poet had been suffering from Bright's disease and on three occasions had suffered severe heart attacks.

Three nights ago his friends had gathered for the annual reading of his poems. He seemed in the best of health. He read the poem for which Springfield loves him most —"Lincoln Walks at Midnight," portraying the Emancipator, in spirit, troubled with State affairs walking the streets of his home town, deep in thought.

In addition to the widow and two children, Lindsay is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Paul Wakefield of Cambridge, Mass., and Mrs. Ben Blair, Cleveland, O. Mrs. Wakefield is on her way to Springfield.

Preached Gospel of Beauty.

It was Lindsay's habit to walk where he knew Lincoln walked. It was the pull of the Lincoln atmosphere that drew Lindsey back to Springfield after years of wandering. "Adventures While Preaching the Gospel of Beauty" was the title of one of his books. It was a title that gave the chief clew to Lindsay's mode of life.

Lately Lindsay told the Associated Press that nearly all his chief poems had been put into phonograph records by Columbia University, where he was lecturer. For years he had withstood any attempt to put any of his verse to music, maintaining that the poetry, if understood and appreciated, had music enough in itself.

"The Golden Book of Springfield."

Lindsay regarded himself as the poet of Springfield, and entitled one book, although of prose, "The Golden Book of Springfield." He published several issues of "The Village Magazine," a fantastic volume, which he gave to all who asked for it. In it he advocated "village poets," "city poets" and "state poets."

Lindsay first gained attention as an art critic and producer of fantastic drawings of Oriental type, with which several of his books later were illustrated. He was a newspaper man before the appearance of his most characteristic modern poems. Later he devoted himself to poetry and lecturing.

He traveled to England and held a vacation lectureship at Oxford University. He regarded himself as a modern counterpart of the wandering minstrel of the past and indicated this by publication of books entitled "A Handy Guide for Beggars" and "Songs in Exchange for Bread."

Lindsay's poems included "General William Booth Enters Heaven," "The Congo," "The Chinese Nightingale," "Johnny Appleseed" and "The Litany of Washington Street."

Voice Perpetuated Interest.

Lindsay had a deep sonorous voice of great carrying power, and this, he said himself, did much to perpetuate the wide interest in him, supplementing that created by his books. He had a custom in the rendition of several of his poems of requiring the audience to aid by joining in a chorus, or roaring to simulate lions in "Daniel in the Lions' Den."

Widespread did the controversy over his work become, that when he went to London to lecture English newspaper reporters went out to meet him on the boat, and begged him to "say something funny" for them.

Louis Untermyer, writing in John Macy's new book on "Contemporary Poetry," credits Lindsay with opening the decade of "rapid eruption of new poets and new ideas or programs and propaganda —a period of violent controversy."

Background of Propagandist.

That Lindsay had the background of a propagandist was seen in the fact he was successively a lecturer for the West Side Y. M. C. A. in New York City, then the Y. M. C. A. in Springfield and after that a lecturer for the Anti-Saloon League.

Several years ago be left Springfield for the West and settled for a time in Spokane, Wash., where he married Miss Elizabeth Conner, also a writer and lecturer, who accompanied him back here for a big homecoming.

Born in Springfield Nov. 10, 1879, Lindsay attended Springfield High School and Hiram College.

POLICE TAKE HALF TON DRUGS

"Little Augy" del Gracio Arrested in Germany With Shipment.

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—Police seized half a ton of narcotics and arrested August "Little Augy" del Gracio of New York at Hamburg today, but an additional 1430 pounds of narcotics listed on an invoice of the shipment were gone when they got to the pier. Boxes in which it had been shipped were on the pier, but the contents were gone. Police believe the stuff was smuggled out of the country.

When Del Gracio was searched, police said they found papers connecting him with an international drug ring.

FRESHMAN - SOPHOMORE BOUT

A tug of war and a push ball contest will be the main events on Washington University's annual Freshman-Sophomore day, Tuesday.

In the tug of war a fire-hose will play water on the contestants during their 25-minute struggle. If each class wins one event, a second tug of war will be held to determine the winner. The day will end with the abolishment of annual freshman rules.

We Have Sold 34% More Pianos This Year!

. . . of course we have sacrificed profits

We have accepted smaller down payments and extended more liberal terms . . . but we have done our part in keeping men employed . . . and have consistently maintained Aeolian Quality . . .

Significant indeed is the fact that 34% more Pianos have been sold by the Aeolian Company of Missouri in the first eleven months of this year than in the corresponding period of 1930. It is evidence that this Company has sensed the spirit of the times, by making consistent and drastic adjustment of prices and terms of payment. There is great satisfaction in the knowledge that we have provided fine Pianos at extremely low prices . . that we have shared the responsibility of keeping men employed . . our sales creating thousands of hours of additional work . . and that the same high standards of workmanship and material which have made the name "Aeolian" synonymous with "Quality" for over a quarter of a century are being maintained.

AND NOW

with the holiday season approaching . . . we are prepared to offer Pianos of typical Aeolian excellence at still lower prices

STEINWAY • WEBER • GEORGE STECK

VOSE • STROUD • EVERETT • WHEELOCK

in a brilliant array of styles . . . and on terms so convenient that anyone may have an Aeolian Piano for Christmas

Realizing that every piano we sell creates that much additional employment, the manufacturers we represent are co-operating to the limit of their resources to quote prices that enable us to move finished stocks quickly. The pianos offered by the Aeolian Company are the finest in the world . . the most dependable and trustworthy that money can buy. Waiving every consideration of profit, our co-operation with the makers has culminated in prices that are the lowest in the history of the piano industry.

Pianos today are being purchased not as ornaments but as an essential necessity in the cultured home. In hundreds of cities, in public, parochial and private schools, group instruction in piano is being given and proving a huge success. Many times the number of children and adults than ever before have taken up this inspiring study and due to revolutionary methods of teaching are accomplishing in a comparatively few lessons the results achieved in previous years only after long and arduous effort.

POLICEMAN LOSES JOB; TRIED TO SELL ACCIDENT REPORTS

Patrolman A. A. Gilman Trapped in "Ambulance-Chasing" Deal With Attorney—Rehired as Guard

Following admission that he acted as go-between for a lawyer who wanted to buy copies of police reports on automobile accidents, Patrolman August A. Gilman of the Mounted District was discharged by the Board of Police Commissioners Friday.

Gilman was technically charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty. Inasmuch as he suffered severe injuries while on duty last January, the board re-employed him as a prison guard, a civilian position paying $40 a month less than the $180 which a patrolman receives and one from which he may be discharged without trial.

Gilman, who made a full statement to the board, named William J. Bremser, attorney, with offices in the Title Guaranty Building, as the lawyer woh endeavored to purchase duplicate accident reports. Bremser could not be reached at his office or at his home, 5047 Waterman avenue.

"Ambulance-Chasing" Practice.

Lawyers occasionally arrange to obtain information about accidents so that they may solicit injured persons to employ them in damage suits. This practice, frowned upon by the bar associations, is termed "ambulance-chasing."

According to Gilman and George Swett, a clerk at the Mounted Station, Bremser offered $10 for every accident report given him, or if the officers preferred, 15 per cent of all money obtained in suits arising out of the reports.

"I told him," Gilman said, "that I did not have access to the reports and when he said he wanted to meet someone who did, I got Swett to come down to my house and they met there."

Swett, however, instead of falling in with the proposal, reported it to Capt. Maurice Mulcahey, in command of the district, and at the captain's order, prepared several fake accident reports which Bremser called for at Swett's home. Charges then were brought against Gilman.

Case May Go to Bar.

Daniel Bartlett, attorney and member of the Board of Police Commissioners, said yesterday that a report of the hearing and testimony of Gilman and Swett may be given to the grievance committee of the St. Louis Bar Association.

Gilman told his superiors that he met Bremser after the accident in which he himself had been hurt last January. He obtained permission from the board to file a damage suit as a result of the accident, inasmuch as policemen are not permitted by the board to bring damage suits without permission, and employed Bremser to represent him.

"I later found," he said, "that the man I was suing was a personal friend of the attorney and considered that the counsel was not pressing my case. Bremser asked me if I could obtain for him duplicate copies of automobile accidents received at the Mounted District Station.

"I told him I did not have access to the records, as I had been put on prison guard duty as a result of my injuries, although I was still drawing a patrolman's pay.

Called in Clerk.

"On Nov. 11, I went to Bremser's office. He told me he would like to get acquainted with some clerk at the station. I saw Swett and told him the lawyer wanted to see him.

"They met at my house and I heard the attorney say, 'All you have to do it get duplicate copies.' I was called to the telephone at that minute and when I returned, I heard the lawyer say, 'I'll give you 10 to 20 per cent for these reports.' I didn't hear any more of the conversation."

U. S. HIGHWAY 66 IN ILLINOIS IS REOPENED TO TRAFFIC

Part of Road in Madison County Had Been Closed for Several Months; Other Changes.

U. S. Highway No. 66, sections of which in Madison County have been closed for several months, was reopened to through traffic yesterday by the Illinois Highway Department. Between Mitchell and the junction with State Highway No. 16 near Staunton 18½ miles of the road has been improved with a brick surface replacing concrete, at a cost estimated at $370,000. The last stretch to be finished was about four and a half miles, between Edwardsville and Mitchell, but no plans have been made for improving an adjacent portion, now concrete.

The State also eliminated a detour in East St. Louis on Highway No. 13 yesterday. This has been in effect while fills at Centerville Station were paved. The route follows Tenth street, Missouri avenue, Thirty-seventh street and Bond avenue between the Municipal Bridge and the city limits.

Illinois recently completed an 18-foot concrete pavement on Highway No. 111, running 60 miles north from Alton to Waverly, by way of Godfrey and Brighton. From Waverly there is connection to Auburn and Springfield.

Lenz Helped to Teach Mrs. Culbertson Bridge

Tomorrow He Will Start a Six Week's Contract Series, System vs. System, With Her on Opposing Team.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—"The elder statesmen" some years ago gave a certain young woman named Josephine Murphy her first lessons in the game of bridge—partly, she thinks, "because they thought it would be a good joke to make a bridge expert out of a woman."

Tomorrow night she will start on a six weeks' contract bridge match, one woman playing with three men, and, if she and her partner win, it will cost one of her teachers, Sidney S. Lenz, $1000.

Josephine Murphy is now Mrs. Ely Culbertson, wife of the blond young man who came charging out of Russia to upset the bridge tables of the United States, and the match is to be the Culbertson system of contract bridge bidding against the Lenz system, with Culbertson wagering $5000 against $1000 by Lenz. Six weeks of play, 150 rubbers, perhaps 1000 hands—no quarter asked or given.

Mrs. Culbertson is going to start off by giving a dinner party for 25 guests before she sits down to play.

"That won't be any bother," she said. "I'll arrange everything right after I get up in the morning."

Mrs. Culbertson—tall and slim, with long, slender hands, humorous Irish eyes, and a red gold boyish bob—knows how to do a lot of things besides playing bridge.

She is rated the best woman player in the world, and her husband goes even farther than that. She is his favorite partner, he says, and the only woman worthy of being counted among the best 10 bridge players in the world.

She was the late Wilbur Whitehead's assistant, and it was while she was working for Whitehead that Lenz and some of the other experts to whom her husband playfully refers as "the elder statesmen" taught her to play bridge. She met Ely Culbertson, then a discouraged young Russian emigre, to whom the thought of earning his living by his favorite pastime had never occurred.

"You're better than you think you are," she told him, married him, and launched him on the career which is to reach its peak next week in the match of Culbertson & Culbertson vs. Lenz & Jacoby.

Bridge is Mrs. Ely Culbertson's business. She has taught hundreds of people how to play the game. She has played in so many tournaments she cannot remember how many. She writes about bridge, thinks bridge and lives bridge—but it is not her favorite pastime. Her deepest interest centers in her two childen, Ely Bruce Culbertson and his sister, Joyce.

DR. GEORGE A. KREBS DIES, PHYSICIAN HERE 43 YEARS

Dr. George A. Krebs, a practicing physician here for 43 years, died yesterday of pneumonia at Alexian Brother' Hospital. He was 64 year sold and resided at 2709 South Eleventh street.

Dr. Krebs is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Gross Krebs, and a son, Dr. George A. Krebs, a dentist. The funeral will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Wacker-Helderle undertaking establishment, 3634 Gravois avenue.

SWAPS CELL, FLEES PRISON

Life-Termer in Oklahoma Escapes Under Fire of Two Guards.

McALESTER, Ok., Dec. 5.—A life-term concist escaped by swapping cells with another prisoner at Oklahoma Penitentiary today. Officials found D. D. Bryant, convicted automobile thief, locked in the cell of Charles Stanley, life termer. The authorities had thought Bryant was the man who fled over the prison wall last night under fire of two guards.

Stanley, trading his prison identity with Bryant, ostensibly went to work in the mess hall in Bryant's place while the short-termer was locked up for the night. Warden Sam Brown announced the dismissal of the two guards who fired at Stanley and missed.

GANDHI DEMANDS 'PARTNERSHIP' FOR INDIA WITH BRITAIN

Manifesto Published After His Departure for Home Asks for Control of Defense Forces.

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The demands of the Indian National Congress, headed by complete independence for India, were set forth in a parting manifesto from Mahatma Gandhi to the British people, issued tonight through the Commonwealth of India League.

Independence, the Mahatma declared in his manifesto, does not exclude "partnership at will on absolutely equal terms with Britain and to be determined at the instance of either party."

The document was accepted as of high importance in political circles, as it was looked upon as an unusually precise and clear exposition of the views of the Congress.

Complete independence, the manifesto said, "necessarily includes full control in the hands of the responsible Government of the defense forces and external affairs and finance."

Necessary Safeguards.

The manifesto added, however, that "such safeguards as may be proved to be necessary in the interests of India would be accepted by the Congress."

"The Congress is quite willing that the (Indian) nation should take over all the legitimate obligations, but insists on examination by an impartial tribunal of all obligations the nation may be called on to bear," the document sets out.

"It is contended there were in the past many British obligations which were debited to India, but which India should not have been called on to bear.

"It also is contended that India should not be called on to take over the whole of the army or the civil services, or be held responsible for pensioning or those who may or may not be wanted. * * * Moreover, an army that may be required by an alien Power for its support need not be required by a national Government."

Minorities an Issue.

In an important section dealing with minorities, which was one of the greatest stumbling blocks of the round-table conference, the manifesto said:

"The congress is a national organization and it is committed to a purely national solution of these questions, but it will be necessary to accept the principle of special reservations of seats in the Legislature of Muslims and Sikhs, and this it would do as a necessary evil because of historic reasons.

"The present congress has inherited a legacy. The evil cannot be extended by special representation to the other party, for any such recognition will divide the nation into watertight compartments, making growth of the national spirit impossible.

So-Called Untouchables.

"With regard to the so-called untouchables—their cause has been and is the special care of the congress and it would be unjust to treat them separately and thus give untouchability a legal status when every attempt is being made to do away with the evil altogether and merge the untouchables into the so-called caste Hindus."

The manifesto begins with a short introduction, giving the basic facts of India's population and industry, followed by a lengthy account of how the congress rose to its present "influence and popularity" and a section devoted to the civil disobedience movement from the Indian point of view.

Under an Indian government, the document concluded, "every one will be equal in the eyes of the law."

"There will be no political disability placed on anyone on the ground of race, creed or color," it said, "and the congress being wedded to adult franchise, male and female, there should be no difficulty in representatives of any minority seeking election to legislatures and being elected on the strength of national service."

Grandhi Cheered on Arrival in French Capital.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—Wearing a new shawl and lloin cloth, Mahatma Gandhi on his way home to India after the round-table conference in London, arrived here this afternoon and was cheered by a large crowd at the railway station.

With the Mahatma was Miss Madeline Slade, his disciple, who wove his new clothing. A group of indian students met Gandhi and he informed them he was taking home the hope that all India's creeds and classes might be united.

Characterizing the round-table conference as a complete failure, Gandhi declared he had none the less become acquainted with British officials and he hoped his knowledge of them would assist in his fight for Indian independence. He crossed the Channel as a third-class passenger.

$22,660 for Jefferson City Relief.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—Jefferson City's community fund goal of $22,660, it was announced tonight, has been oversubscribed by about $50, and late gifts, not yet tabulated, are expected to increase the amount considerably. Twelve organizations are supported by the fund.

SENATOR LEWIS OPPOSES INCREASE IN INCOME TAXES

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. — Senator James Hamilton Lewis, returning to the Senate after a 12 years' absence during which time the Republicans held Both Illinois seats in that body, said today it was his opinion that the American citizen just now wants only "employment to the people, liberty to the home and citizen, revival of world friendship, and, with these established, to go on his way and be let alone."

Lewis declared there should be no further taxation now. He said, "the proposed undertakings calling for unlimited millions should at once be postponed to a fitting future."

"To meet the taxes now due and pay the $2,000,000,000 deficit," the Democrat proposed, "return prohibition enforcement to the home Governments, allow each state to levy local revenue on the described beverage, while the National Government lay the former excise tax, as internal revenue."

His colleague, Senator Otis F. Glenn, foresees a "difficult and painful" process ahead in incre ing income taxes.

The Republican had this to

RAIL WAGE INQUIRY URGED BY COUZENS

Wants Joint Committee of Congress to Investigate Emergency.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Senator Couzens of Michigan today proposed that a joint congressional committee look into every phase of the "emergency" affecting the railroads and their employes.

The chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee which passes on practically all measures affecting the carriers said he would introduce a resolution next week calling for the inquiry.

The committee would be composed of two Republicans and two Democrats from the Couzens committee and same number from the House committee dealing with railroad legislation.

As the Michigan Republican announced that an emergency existed requiring a co-ordinated program, it became known that President Hoover is withholding specific recommendations for railroad relief until after moves now under way are completed.

He has in mind parleys surrounding the Interstate Commerce Commission's plan for aiding the roads and wage negotiations. President Hoover is keenly concerned over the railroad situation, however, and may make it the basis of a special message to Congress later.

Citing negotiations for pending railroad wage reductions, Couzens said:

"There is a movement now in progress to reduce the wages of all railway employes, although it appears that approximately 500,000 normally necessary railway employes are now unemployed and many thousands of others have only part-time employment and that the present earnings of a large percentage of the employed railway workers are less than the amount necessary for a decent livelihood."

Ex-Gov. Davis to Wed Widow.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Mary E. Raymond, of Girard, Kan., widow of a pioneer business man there, announced tonight that she and Jonathan M. Davis, former Governor of Kansas, would be married in the "near future." No definite time had been set, she said. Mrs. Raymond is active in Kansas club and Democratic circles. The former Democratic Governor has been a widower since 1925.

To Close 8 Recruiting Stations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Eight navy recruiting stations are to be closed Jan. 31 in the interest of economy. The stations are at Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago, Milwaukee, San Francisco and Seattle. Their substations will be attached to other main stations.

POWERS TELLS HIS WIFE HOW TO TESTIFY IN MURDER TRIAL

Clarksburg (W. Va.) Detective Says Letter Was Written by Accused Slayer of Five.

By the Associated Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 5.—City Detective Carl Southern today confirmed published reports that Harry F. Powers wrote a letter to his wife telling her how to testify in his murder trial, starting here Monday.

"Yes, I've seen that letter," Southern said, when his attention was directed to the missive. "I'm sorry it got out."

Southern admitted he saw the letter after it was written by the slayer, but is unable to determine the manner in which it was delivered to her. The letter also gave directions for testifying to his sister-in-law, Eva Strother. It was written soon after Powers was arrested for the killing of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lamke, Northboro, (Mass) divorcee, and Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, Park Ridge (Ill.) widow, and her three children.

C. M. HAY AGAIN ENTERS RACE FOR MISSOURI SENATOR

War. We are today expending more money on our military and naval establishments than any other nation in the world. At this point the right kind of statesmanship can find a place to practice economy."

In discussing agriculture, he said that in the main the farmers' need could be brought within four classifications, a better and wider market, a fairer relation between the prices of the things the farmer sells and the things he buys, a reduction in taxes, and the finding of available funds with which to meet maturing obligations.

Extension of co-operative marketing and a reduction in the tariff would provide a better market, he said, and the disparity between buying and selling markets could be lessened by governmental action to protect all consumers from arbitrary price-fixing by those in control of the production of articles of necessity.

To relieve farmers from maturing obligations, which they cannot meet, he proposed a system of government financing of farm mortgages.

Would Take Over Land Banks.

"Let the Government of the United States take over all the Federal Farm Loan Banks and Joint Stock Land Banks," he said, "and let the Government create an agency through which these loans can be made to the farmers on an amortization plan for 50 years, retiring one-fiftieth of the loan each year.

"The funds that will be needed to supply these farmers' loans can be created by an issue of bonds of the United States, drawing 3 per cent, tax free. The money that will be loaned to the farmers should be loaned at the rate of 4½ per cent, and the loans should stand behind the money advanced by the Government under the bond issue.

"In my opinion the adoption of this plan will give millions of farmers a chance to live, save their farms, pay their debts, educate their families, improve their property and establish them on a sound basis."

Hay took a decided stand on the chief public utility and water power questions, advocating Government ownership of water power sources, Government control of rates and Government supervision of holding companies.

"The power trust is seeking to accomplish three things," he said, "to get control of the water power of the country; to escape Government supervision, both state and Federal, and to place ultimate control in holding companies which shall not be answerable either to Government or the multitude of small investing stockholders who put up their money to finance the trust.

His Stand on Water Power.

"I stand for these propositions:

"1. The sources of water power must remain under public ownership and control, under Federal control where owned by the Federal Government, under state control where owned by the state government. The government agency, whether state or Federal, must retain the right through agreements with distributing companies, to provide fair and reasonable rates to the ultimate consumer.

"2. Utility companies, including their holding companies, must be placed under Government supervision for the protection not only of the consuming public but the investing public as well."

Asserting that the present tariff had retarded international trade, decreased revenues, led to tariff reprisals by other nations and restricted the markets for American goods, he demanded a revision of the tariff to a tariff-for-revenue basis.

He made an urgent plea for a submergence of the prohibition question in the coming campaign.

"The leaders of the party now in power, who have floundered helplessly while the country has drifted steadily to its present plight," he said, "and who must soon answer to the people for their failures and blunders, would gladly encourage such a division in the ranks of the progressive forces of the country over the liquor or some other question as to render us powerless to frame and carry out a constructive program on economic issues, but we must not be so misled.

'Party Must Not Fail."

"The Democratic party alone can furnish the political agency through which the people can effectually voice their protest against present economic conditions and the present national leadership. It must not fail the people in this crisis.

"We should frankly acknowledge that there is a sharp disagreement in our ranks upon the wisdom of our national liquor policy and present to the country a constructive program upon issues on which we are in substantial accord. If, losing sight of the things on which we agree and engaging in destructive controversy over things on which we do not agree, we render our party powerless to promote worthy and righteous causes in such a crisis as that now upon us, we cannot escape the lasting condemnation of a discouraged and distressed people."

This is Hay's third effort to go to the Senate. In 1920 he was defeated for the nomination by Breckinridge Long, who was defeated in the general election; in 1928 Hay was nominated but was defeated in the Republican landslide, though he ran far ahead of the national ticket. Smith, the nominee for the presidency lost the State by 171,518, while Hay lost it by only 61,177.

Hay again will have the opposition of the powerful Pendergast organization in Kansas City, which is committed to Howell, but he had that opposition in the 1928 primary, Pendergast supporting James A. Collett. Even though Pendergast carried Kansas City for Collett by a plurality of 27,156, Hay's plurality in the State as a whole was 29,635.

CHRISTMAS SHIP GOING TO LONELIEST ISLAND

Colony of 100 to Receive First Mail in More Than Year.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Santa Claus will visit Tristan da Cunha, probably the loneliest inhabited island in the world, this Christmas, in the trim cruiser, H. M. S. Carlisle.

His cargo will be not so much toys and trinkets for children, as mail, the only letters received in more than a year, and clothes and stores for the 100 or more inhabitants, made possible by the generosity of the few who know of the island colony's existence.

The Carlisle, an Admiralty announcement says, will leave Simons Town (Capt Colony), soon, journeying 1400 miles almost due west to the middle of the South Atlantic, where Tristan rises 8300 feet above the sea. To the west and south are its only neighbors, Inaccessible Island and Nightingale Island, both uninhabited.

There are more than 100 inhabitants in the little island, unless some disaster has taken many of them during the last year.

The permanent settlement began in 1817. William Glass, a Corporal of Artillery, his wife, two children, and two masons were left behind when the island was abandoned by its British garrison.

In 1827 there were five bachelors on the island. Five Negro women were sent from St. Helena to be their wives.

The island is almost barren. A plague of rats destroys its grain crop each year. The winds blow up from the Antarctic almost continually and make life miseable, but its inhabitants steadfastly refuse to leave.

They dwell in almost abject poverty. Potatoes and goats' milk are the principal items in their diet. Their clothes are the rudest homespun.

But in many respects it is an island Utopia. There is no crime and there are no padlocks on doors. At one time recently there was said to be but one firearm, an old muzzle-loading blunderbuss.

Government is by a sort of patriarchy, but only the simplest supervision is exercised. There are no written laws. There was once a project to provide the islanders with a Constitution but it was deemed unnecessary.

AUDIT CRITICISES DRAWING OF $1000 BY STATE EMPLOYE

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—An audit of the records of the Missouri State Fruit Experiment Station at Mountain Grove, announced today by State Auditor L. D. Thompson, criticises the practice of permitting Dr. F. W. Faurot, director, to serve without being under bond of $10,000 as required by law.

The audit also criticises the practice of permitting Dr. Faurot to draw $1000 a year in addition to the regular $2000 appropriation by the State Legislature.

The auditor's report shows that this is the third time the board of trustees of the experiment station has been criticised in permitting Dr. Faurot to draw $1000 a year in excess of the salary appropriated by the General Assembly, the first time being in 1927, then again in 1929 and 1930. In 1927 the Attorney-General's office held that Faurot was not entitled to the extra amount.

Audits of the poultry experiment station, also at Mountain Grove, and the Missouri Athletic Commission, Springfield, showed all records in good condition.

WOMAN'S BODY TO BE EXHUMED

Daughter Confessed Giving Overdose to Relieve Pain.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 5.—The authorities today ordered the exhumation of the body of Baroness von Dueben on the theory that she had not been suffering from an incurable disease when her daughter, Mrs. Else Wille Bang, administered an overdose of medicine to her.

The daughter has been charged with murder on her own confession, saying she administered the overdose to put an end to her mother's pain.

PETERS ESTATE PAYS $181,501 INHERITANCE TAX TO STATE

Brings Total From This Source for 30 Days to $450,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—The State inheritance tax of $181,501 on the estate of Edwin H. Peters, St. Louis shoe manufacturer, was paid yesterday.

This brought the State's receipts from the inheritance tax for the last 30 days to $450,000, Attorney-General Shartel said.

Mr. Peters, who died May 12 at the age of 47, was vice president of the International Shoe Co. and general manager of its Peters branch. He resided at 6239 Westminster place. An inventory indicated the value of his estate was $4,200,000. Specific bequests of $350,000 to individuals and $235,000 to 13 churches and charities were made by his will, and half of the residue, or a share of about $1,700,000, was left to Mr. Peters' widow, Mrs. Ida Marie Peters, while the other half was to be divided equally between the testator's brother, Oliver Peters, and sister, Mrs. Ella Lauman.

Plans to Cut Size of Newspapers.

ATHENS, Dec. 5.—The Government today proposed to limit the size of daily newspapers in an effort to reduce imports of paper into Greece. The limit will be four pages six days a week and eight pages on the seventh day. The proposal also would prohibit newspaper lotteries.

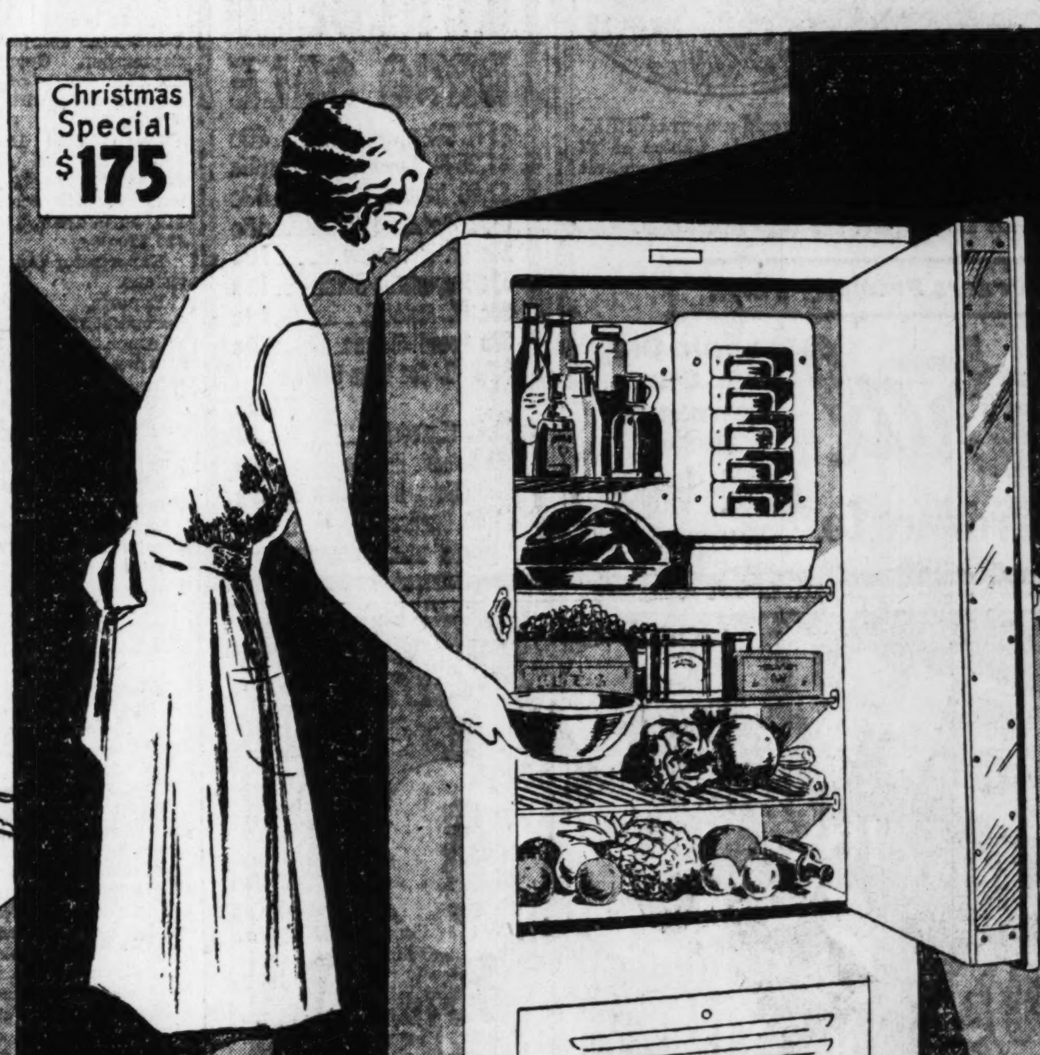
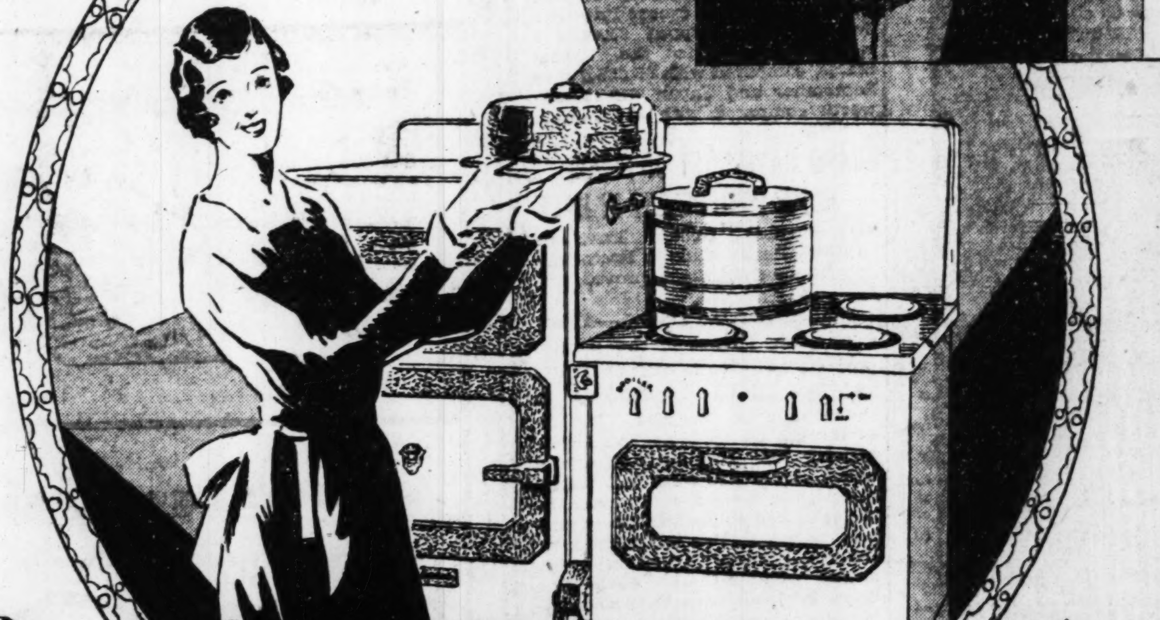
More Than Ever This Year

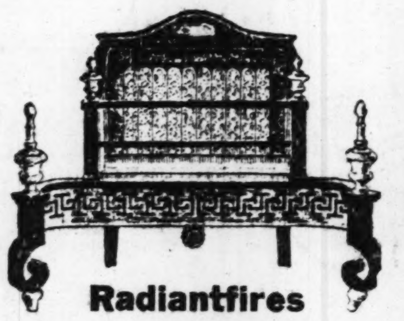
Make It a Practical Christmas

It's just a matter of common sense to be practical this Christmas. It's wise to spend your dollar for something that will bring you a big return in comfort, convenience and better living. Families that enjoy good eating could make no better investment than a Chambers Gas Range, the famous range that cooks with the "gas turned off." Exclusive features make the Chambers Range a saver of time, effort and fuel. It can be bought on easy monthly terms with a liberal allowance for your old range.



Fortunate is the family that is planning to get an automatic refrigerator for Christmas. Here's a chance to buy an Electrolux Gas Refrigerator for $80 less than its original price. We have less than 100 of these floor samples and demonstrators which we are offering for the Christmas season at this big reduction. There are two sizes—one with 8.9 sq. ft. of shelf area, formerly selling for $275, now specially priced at $195; the other size contains 5.8 sq. ft. of shelf area, formerly sold for $255 and is now specially priced at $175.





Radiantfires

There will never be a substitute for the cheerful charm of the open fireplace, but science has found a substitute for the smoke, ashes and labor of a hearth fire . . . gas radiant heaters. You strike a match, turn a valve and have all the heat you want without a moment's delay. Radiantfires can be had in a variety of styles and models.

Easy Washers

An Easy Washer is a practical and economical gift for it saves money, time and work and also saves your clothes. A special damp dryer dries the clothes with a whirling motion and cannot break and tear off buttons. The Easy handles all the water. When washing is finished you simply turn a lever and the Easy pumps the water into your drain or sink. It saves you the labor of carrying heavy pails of water.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE IS STILL FAVORABLE

It Is $36,000,000 in October—Exports to Russia Slump Sharply.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — Increased exports to Germany, the United Kingdom, China and Japan brought the American favorable foreign trade balance in October to $36,197,542.

The Department of Commerce, announcing revised figures for exports and imports by grand divisions and principal countries, said today exports during October were $204,904,233 and imports $168,706,691. During October, 1930, exports totaled $326,896,002 and imports $247,366,153.

The favorable trade balance has been climbing during the last three months. An unfavorable balance was recorded in August.

Germany's purchases from the United States rose $5,000,000 in October as compared with those of September. Germany took $17,351,152 worth of American goods as compared with $12,837,132 in September.

The United Kingdom received $50,559,335 of shipments against $34,589,023 in September; China took $10,418,508 against $8,933,313, and Japan, $13,131,111 against $12,370,034.

Exports for October by grand divisions:

Exports.	1930.	1931.
Europe	$174,657,878	$111,982,977
N. Amer.	75,990,185	40,072,342
S. Amer.	25,808,171	10,251,523
Asia	36,459,192	33,905,635
Oceania	7,707,820	3,315,295
Africa	6,272,756	5,376,461
Totals	$326,896,002	$204,904,233

Imports by grand divisions for October:

Imports.	1930.	1931.
Europe	$76,610,206	$56,302,101
N. Amer.	62,103,735	40,607,905
S. Amer.	30,428,316	21,686,530
Asia	71,977,248	46,636,049
Oceania	1,937,866	1,776,942
Africa	4,309,782	1,697,164
Totals	$247,367,153	$168,706,691

Exports to Canada, one of the largest two customers of the United States, dropped off slightly in October, $26,621,308 compared with $28,001,653 in September.

Soviet Russia, which during recent months has taken larger shipments of American goods than a year ago, dropped off sharply to $3,671,485. Last month $10,500,292 in goods went there. The falling here is ascribed to completion or a let-down in shipments on orders given by the Soviet Government as long as two years ago.

Imports from other countries showed a decline during October from every nation except Italy and Japan. Italy shipped $5,647,618 worth of goods to the United States, compared with $5,635,218 in September and Japan $19,474,475 worth compared with $17,255,86[illegible].

BOARD SAYS COST OF SMALL HOME WILL BE CUT IN HALF

Technological Group Envisions Houses Ready-Made in Factories Discount Banks Approved.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—America's small homes in the future probably will cost half as much and have little resemblance to those built in the past. So the committee on technological development of President Hoover's home conference reported today, envisioning houses ready-made in factories and shipped to the vacant lot. It saw this as the solution of the small house problem, with large organizations developing them by laboratory tests and assembling them ready for occupancy guaranteed for a term of years. It foresaw enormous savings as a result, estimating present waste in the building industry at $2,000,000,000.

The conference last night indorsed President Hoover's home loan discount banks proposal and adopted another resolution calling for a committee to make public conference results.

The conference adjourned at noon with the possibility another might be held within a year.

FINDS HER SWEDISH COUNT IS ILLEGITIMATE PEASANT

Mrs. Katrina Van Wyck Bassett Schultz Obtains Annulment; Romance Began in Reno.

By the Associated Press.

NYACK, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Katrina Van Wyck Bassett Schultz, who became engaged while in Reno to divorce her first husband, obtained annulment in Supreme Court today of her second marital venture.

Mrs. Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Van Renseler Van Wyck, of Butler, N. J., charged her second husband, Ture W. Schultz, represented himself as a Swedish nobleman, a surgical cancer specialist and called himself Count Ture W. Bjelke.

They took a trip to Sweden at her expense and were married there Jan. 5, after he had shown her a castle, she alleged. He explained to her, the wife said, that he was born in the castle, but could not get his title back because of a $500,000 debt. She said he borrowed $15,000 from her when they returned to New York in September and she then learned he was an illegitimate son of Swedish peasants.

"He obtained all of my money excepting a trust fund," Mrs. Schultz testified.

St. Louis U.-Missouri Game Earns $16,000 for Charity

Gov. Caulfield Among Crowd of 8000 That Sees Local Team Win State Football Championship.

For charity and the State championship the football teams of St. Louis University and Missouri University met in a post-season game in St. Louis yesterday, the Billikens gaining the championship and charity about $16,000.

A crowd of about 8000, which included Gov. Caulfield, comfortably filled Walsh Stadium. The Governor saw the game from the box of Tom K. Smith, chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment, on the Missouri side of the field.

P. H. Byrns, director of the Citizens' Committee, said last night the official attendance was 8135 and the net receipts, which will go to the committee, $16,100. The committee's share represents about the total receipts from ticket sales, as parking charges and the sale of flowers and programs are expected to meet all expenses. Tickets were sold for $2, $3 and $5 for box seats. Students of the universities, who had season tickets, were admitted for $1.

Virtually all those connected with the game donated their services, so expenses were but a few hundred dollars, mostly the cost of transporting the Missouri team.

Even the weather man, who had been in a recalcitrant mood recently contributed to the success of the game with a mild, sunny day which undoubtedly resulted in a material gain in the box office receipts.

The charitable nature of the occasion seemed to have its effect on all, spectators and players included. Those in the stands were in such good humor few felt called upon to display their partisanship in vigorous and vocal fashion, and the St. Louis University student band, the chatter of attractive young women selling chrysanthemums, carnations and programs, failed to compensate for the absence of massed groups of cheering students and the spontaneity and color they lend to games of the regular season.

Even the Billiken football team, judging by its performance in the second half when it scored all of its 21 points, was in a charitable mood for the first two quarters. Only George Stuber, the young Missouri sophomore from St. Joseph, seemed exempt. In the second quarter he galvanized his teammates into action and led them on a long march down the field which ended when George Edmiston of St. Louis went over for Missouri's only touchdown.

That was the spark needed to stir the stands out of their lethargy and from then on it was a typical yelling football crowd. The Missouri partisans, cheered on by hopes that proved to be false, came to life and the St. Louis followers were stimulated to implore their team for action.

Three Naval Reserve pilots, flying Curtiss Hell-divers in formations passed over the field about that time, but went unnoticed except for some who shouted futile protests against the roar of the motors which drowned out the quarterbacks' signals.

KILLS MAN CAUGHT WITH ESTRANGED WIFE AT STATION

Wellsville, Mo., Man Surrenders After Shooting Cab Driver in Mexico, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MONTGOMERY CITY, Mo., Dec. 5.—Wilford Wilson, 24-year-old taxicab driver, was shot five times and killed at the Wabash station here last night by Guy Pew, 35, of Wellsville, because of alleged attentions to Pew's estranged wife, Alberta.

Pew surrendered and will face a first degree murder charge, as a Coroner's jury returned a verdict, charging him with the shooting, premeditatedly.

Wilson and Mrs. Pew were on their way to the Park Hotel, where Mrs. Pew is employed, after attending a motion picture show, when Pew accosted them at the station. After the shooting Pew and his wife struggled for possession of the revolver with which Wilson was fatally shot.

Officers said Pew told Prosecuting Attorney Oscar Kamp of Montgomery County he had planned the shooting for some time. The Pews have three children.

140 ARRESTED IN CHICAGO IN ROUNDUP OF "42" GANG

Seven Confess 100 Street Holdups; Police Exchange Shots With Suspects in Auto.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—More than 140 men had been seized tonight and one pistol fight between police and gangsters was fought, as Judge Francis Borrelli continued his drive to smash the notorious "42" gang of West Side hoodlums. Seven of those under arrest, all alleged members of the gang, confessed 100 street robberies, the police said, and 97 were said to have been linked with the "42" band.

The pistol fight was fought as a police squad cruising the West Side for suspected members of the gang saw an automobile with five occupants. The police called on them to halt, but they answered with a shotgun volley. The policemen, opening fire, gave chase that continued for more than a mile, but the suspects escaped.

The campaign "to take away the charter of the '42'" was ordered by Judge Borrelli three days ago, after he had frequented the haunts of the gang in disguise and learned of organized thieving activities.

THREE ACQUITTED IN PEORIA LIQUOR CONSPIRACY TRIALS

Remaining 26 Defendants to Open Their Case Monday Before Judge FitzHenry.

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 5.—Three defendants were dismissed by Judge Louis FitzHenry in Federal Court today, as the Government wound up its case against 29 alleged conspirators against the prohibition law.

Paul Cinquina, Anthony and Johnnie Corsello of Chicago were discharged on directed verdicts, the Court ruling that no evidence had been presented linking them with the alleged plot to supply the Rock Island-Moline-Davenport region with liquor.

Judge FitzHenry ordered the records to show that each of the remaining 26 defendants had moved for directed verdicts of acquittal and counsel for the others immediately began arguments for dismissal of Ted Newberry, the Capone gangster, whose name heads a list of the accused.

The Prosecutor's motion for a continuance until Monday was overruled, but gave leave for later filing of additional exhibits. The defense will begin introduction of its witnesses Monday. Today closed the third week of the trial.

"The Bridge Battle of the Century"

Reported by

SIDNEY LENZ

and

Mrs. CULBERTSON

Post-Dispatch readers will have accurate and expert accounts of the contract bridge tournament between Sidney Lenz and Ely Culbertson, which begins tomorrow night.

After each session, Lenz and Mrs. Culbertson, who will be her husband's partner, will write their own stories of the match, describing the bidding and play, analyzing important hands and discussing the strategy used by both sides.

This contest will have unusual interest for bridge players. The 150-rubber match is expected to settle the debated question of the superiority of the Culbertson System or the "1-2-3" Official System.

The accounts of Lenz and Mrs. Culbertson will appear the day following each session in the

SHORTS BUY AT WEEKEND AND STOCKS CLOSE FIRM

Market Oscillates Back and Forth Rather Meaninglessly Throughout Week—Little Change in General Level.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Financial markets were fidgety this week. But with some exceptions, equity shares and basic commodities stubbornly avoided the low levels of early October.

An unexpected railroad receivership at home, and a flurry of rumore over financial and political conditions in Central Europe, were trying to the nerves of the financial community.

The week closed, however, with irresponsible rumors generally squelched, confidence bolstered, and prices generally on the rebound.

Wall street looked forward to the coming week, with its heavy schedule of important developments, in a distinctly hopeful frame of mind.

These developments include the convening of Congress, the meeting of the railway brotherhoods and meetings of the German short term credit conferece in Berlin and of the Reparations Committee in Basel.

While the convening of a new Congress has upon several previous occasions been attended by some uneasiness in Wall street, so much emphasis has been placed upon "contructive" legislation that next week's gathering, together with the President's message, are being awaited with unusual enthusiasm.

Central Europe Factor.

The shadow of Adolf Hitler, leader of the German Fascist party, hangs over most frank discussions of the Central European situation these days.

The atmosphere was cleared considerably by Hitler's press interview on Friday, in which he reasserted his determination to maintain Germany's commercial and banking credit, but again firmly repudiated reparations. The New York and London viewpoint has been fairly well consolidated on the stand that private debts must have priority over reparations. Wall street bankers acknowledge that a reconciliation with the French point of view may be difficult, but point out that restoration of Europe's economic stability is in the long run as important to France as anyone, and doubt that a complete impasse will be permitted.

The New York stock market oscillated back and forth rather meaninglessly throughout the week and closed with little change in the general level from the end of the previous week. Bonds slumped to new low levels for recent years, but manifested a much improved tone at the end of the week.

Rally at Week-End.

Evaporation of rumors predicting dire developments in Germany was quickly reflected in firmer security prices at the week-end session. German bonds rallied strongly and many railroad issues made substantial recovery. An advance in stocks was checked around the end of the first hour, only to be resumed in the second, with the result that net gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous. Repurchases by shorts probably constituted a fairly large proportion of the buying.

Railroad stocks were among the strongest of the session.

The market gave only passing attention to an estimate that steel operations in the Youngstown district would be off 4 points starting next week, bringing the average down to 28 per cent.

An early announcement is expected on the Government's plans for the Dec. 15 financing. Maturities on that date approximate a billion dollars, but it is expected the Treasury will borrow more than the amount needed for those retirements inasmuch as receipts from taxes have dwindled. Gossip in market circles said the financing would be in short-term securities, mentioning a possible issue of $300,000,000 in six-months' 2¾ per cent notes, $400,000,000 in nine-months' 3 per cent notes and $600,000,000 in one-year 3¼ per cent paper.

Although the French franc was a shade easier, $5,500,000 in gold was engaged for shipment to France. A small import of British gold, amounting to $373,000, was announced at the Federal Reserve Bank coincident with a drop in sterling exchange.

The turnover in stocks, totaling 873,400 shares, indicated that short covering had been in moderate volume, but the market colsed with a strong tone and the best advances were generally made by pivotal issues. Santa Fe ran up 4½ points, finishing at the top. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio gained 1½ to 3. American Telephone, Western Union, Air Reduction, American Can, Case, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Electric Auto-Lite, Loew's Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey were up 2 to more than 3 and gains in the neighborhood of a point were frequent.

Await Terms of U. S. Financing.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Wall street was busy with conjecture today over the terms of the Government's Dec. 15 financing announcement of which is expected early next week.

The Government will issue new securities to refund approximately $1,000,000,000 of maturing obligations, and at the same time is expected to provide for other needs.

In usually well-informed banking quarters, new Government securities in the amount of about $1,500,000,000 is expected, with maturities ranging from three to six months, and interest rates ranging from about 2¾ per cent for the short maturity to 3¼ per cent for the long maturity.

Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Cotton goods were firmer today following news that an attempt is to be made to balance excessive production in the print cloth division. Burlaps were steady and quiet. Wool goods were selling in small lots for quick delivery, most of the buying being in the overcoating and coating field. Silk continued unsettled with a weak tendency. Rayon acetate yarn prices continued irregular and some pressure exists to sell inferior grades of viscose yarns.

COTTON MARKET QUIET IN WEEK END TRADE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Cotton was quiet today, with the price movement rather irregular within a narrow range.

January contracts, after selling off to 6.01c at the start, rallied to 6.08c, but later eased off to 6.05c under liquidation or Southern selling and closed at that figure. The general market closed steady, net one point higher to one point lower. Spot quiet, middlings, 6.15c.

The opening was steady 2 to 4 points lower under overnight selling orders which included some selling through brokers with continental connections. There was also some selling here supposed to be for the co-operative interest, but offerings were comparatively light and the market steadied up during the middle of the morning on trade buying and covering. December advanced from 5.96c to 6.08c and May from 6.37c to 6.43c, making net advances of 3 to 10 points, but there seemed to be a little more Southern selling at the higher prices while prospects for clearing weather in the South caused expectations of an increased movement next week. This led to some week-end realizing or liquidation and prices worked back to about yesterday's closing quotations at the close.

The disposition to even-up commitments for over the week-end may have been increased by the approach of the final Government crop report for the season, which is scheduled for publication next Tuesday. There was very little conjecture as to the probable showing of the crop figures, however, and trading seemed to consist largely of technical adjustments, with further switching from near to late months. There was a report of a slightly easier basis on inch cotton in some of the Southern markets, but otherwise no change was reported in the spot situation and except for the selling attributed to co-operative brokers, very few selling orders appeared to be reaching here from the South.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady on Bombay buying and trade calling and reported a fair business from the British home trade in cotton cloths. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 225,000 bales against 133,000 last year.

DIVIDEND MEETING RESULTS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—U. S. Capital Corporation today declared an extra dividend of 1¼ per cent on class A common stock, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on that issue. A similar extra was paid three months ago. The extra dividend is payable Jan. 15, to stock of record Jan. 1, and the regular disbursement is payable Jan. 1 to stock of record Dec. 15.

Third National Investors Corporation has declared a dividend out of net income of 50 cents on the common stock, payable Jan. 1 to stock of record Dec. 16. Six months ago a dividend of 55 cents was paid.

Second National Investors Corporation has declared a dividend out of net income of $1.10 on the $5 convertible preferred, payable Jan. 1 to stock of record Dec. 15. The dividend applies against dividends in arrears. Six months ago a dividend of $1.25 was declared on account of accumulations.

American & Foreign Power Corporation has declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 on the $7 first preferred and $1.50 on the $6 first preferred, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 14. Directors took no action on the second preferred, the last payment on which was $1.75 on account of accumulations May 29 last.

Taylor Milling Corp. declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents, placing the stock on an annual basis of $1, against $2.50 previously. The dividend is payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 10.

Nigara Share Corp. declared a quarterly dividend of 5 cents on the common, placing the issue on a 20c annual basis against 40c previously. The dividend is payable Jan. 15 to stock of record Dec. 24.

SEABOARD AIR LINE PLAN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A plan designed to care for financial requirements of the Seaboard Air Line Railway has been approved by a majority of the security holders involved.

The road was placed in the hands of receivers Dec. 23, 1930, and it is expected that the plan will be presented to the United States District Court at Norfolk, Va., and the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval within a short time.

Under the plan holders of the road's equipment trust certificates maturing between Oct. 15, 1931, and Dec. 31, 1934, will be asked to accept receivers' certificates for a similar amount maturing on or before Feb. 1, 1935. The road has outstanding approximately $24,000,000 in equipment trust certificates, of which approximately $10,000,000 mature during the designated period.

The committee representing the $32,000,000 divisional bonds outstanding will be asked to agree not to take legal action to force payment of principal or interest on these bonds between now and Dec. 31, 1934.

Holders of $4,000,000 of receivers' certificates, issued last spring and maturing May 1 next, will be asked to exchange them for new receivers' certificates maturing on or before Feb. 1, 1935.

TURPENTINE, FLAX AND LINSEED

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Raw sugar was unsettled today and no sales were reported. A rumor that the Cuban pool which controls the major portion of present stocks of unsold sugar in Cuba has disbanded had a disturbing effect and while it caused no increase in offerings, buyers showed little interest, being inclined to hold off and wait. In the absence of business prices were more or less nominal, but it was believed that prompt Cubas could still be had at 3.20c.

There was increased liquidation in futures at the outset, with some positions breaking into new low ground for the movement, but a firmer tone developed later and final prices were 2 points lower for the spot month and 2 to 3 points net higher for other deliveries. The market opened 1 to 2 points lower and later showed net losses of 1 to 4 points with the January position relatively weak, showing the maximum decline of list and selling at 1.04c. A better inquiry developed on the decline however, and the market rallied on increased covering and buying by houses with Wall street and Cuban connections. Approximate sales 10,350 tons. Dec. closed 1.08c, Jan. 1.08c, March 1.10c, May 1.15c, July 1.21c, Sept. 1.27c and Dec. 1.32c.

There was no change in refined and the unsettlement in the raw market seemed to restrict buying with demand light and only of a hand-to-mouth character. Prices were listed at 4.40c for fine granulated by all refiners.

Future closed steady, 2 points lower to 3 higher. Approximated sales, 10,350 tons. Dec., 1.08c; Jan., 1.08-09c; March, 1.10-11c; May, 1.15c; July, 1.21c; Sept., 1.27c; Oct., 1.30-31c.

CANADA DOLLAR EXCHANGE VALUE IS 84 3-4 CENTS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The Canadian dollar dipped to a new low price today, having an exchange value that was 15¼ cents less than the American dollar, the quotation here being 84¾ cents.

Ever since the Canadian dollar had been restored to parity with the American dollar after the World War, the two North American money units had held practically the same value. Decline of the Canadian currency has been precipitated by England's abandonment of the gold standard.

Its recent sharp depreciation, amounting to a full cent in the last 24 hours, may have an unfavorable effect on American exports to the Dominion. At today's price, it would require nearly six Canadian dollars to buy an American-made hat worth $5.

English manufacturers, because of a depreciation of nearly one-third in the value of the pound sterling, are finding the cheaper Canadian dollar a stimulate to their business with Canada. The loss of the English currency has been about twice as great as the loss suffered by the Canadian money unit.

WHEAT MARKET IS HELPED BY STRONG STOCK

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Dec. 5.—Helped by strength of securities and report foreign buying of North American wheat, estimated up to 1,000,000 bushels, the wheat market closed fractionally higher after an irregular course. The lower swing early in day accompanied Argentina Government report indicating exportable surplus 12,000,000 bushels over latest unofficial estimate. Corn closed unchanged after selling on both sides of previous close.

Liverpool wheat closed ⅛@ higher.

Winnipeg closed 1⅛c net lower.

Local wheat receipts which were 70, bu., compared with 47,600 a week ago 61,600 a year ago, included 20 cars and 30 through. Corn receipts were 67,200 bu., compared with 33, week ago and 75,600 a year ago, including 48 cars local. Oats receipts which were 17,600 bu., compared with 6600 a week ago and 66,000 a year ago, including cars local. Hay receipts were 7 local and 1 through.

In the cash grain market Saturday soft wheat was unchanged to ½c higher. The cash market followed closely trend of forward deliveries. Offerings were light and cleared closely. The demand improved. Elevators were in market and some local and outside inquiry was apparent. Trading basis was steady with No. 1 wheat selling ¼c above Chicago May figure and No. 2, ¼c above. Hard wheat was nominally 1c higher. There were no transactions reported. Corn was steady to ¼c higher. Receipts were heavy and were reduced somewhat by previous contracts. Mixed corn was taken by glucose plants; the yellow went mainly to elevators and the white was bought by industries and an elevator. Sales of No. yellow were on a basis 2½c above Chicago December figure and 2½c below the May. No. 3 yellow sold 1@1½ above the December at Chicago and 3½ 4½c below the May. Oats were steady. Receipts were light and offerings cleared fairly well. Mills and elevators were purchasers.

RANGE OF PRICES.

WHEAT—No. 1 red winter, 59½c; No. 2 red winter, 59c; No. 3 red winter, to 58¼c; car 11 pct dock, 61c; No. hard winter, 58c nom.

GRAIN MARKET IS HELPED BY STRENGTH OF SECURITIES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Sharp late upturn in wheat values today accompanied renewal of stock market strength. There were also estimates that fresh export dealings in North American wheat amounted to 1,000,000 bushels. Offerings grew scanty on the upward swing of prices, and speculative sellers switched generally to the buying side.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜@1⅛ cent higher than yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅜c up, oats unchanged to off and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Reiterations that the British Empire wheat quota system had been decided upon, had a bearish influence on wheat prices early. New advices regarding the quota system stated that an official announcement on the subject would be made next Wednesday. Tending to put a further handicap on bulls was an official estimate indicating that Argentina's exportable wheat surplus would be 138,000,000 bushels, 12,000,000 more than latest unofficial forecasts.

Under such circumstances, initial rallies due to authoritative denials that Germany was planning to abandon the gold standard and declare a moratorium on foreign loans were temporarily more than wiped out.

From the day's bottom level, however, the market scored an exhilarating quick upward flight of 2c a bushel, and finished with most of the gain unimpaired. Previous speculative sellers switched generally to the buying side as the market advanced, and a notable scarcity of offerings developed just before the final gong cleared the crowd out of the pit.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Primary receipts of corn were less than half those of a year ago.

Provisions tended upward, responsive to moderate buying.

CURB MARKET HIGHER IN QUIET TRADING

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The curb market distinct relief reflected a rather abrupt cessation of liquidation today.

Trading was quiet, but prices in the main body of stocks swept higher, with a few exceptions here and there.

Electric Bond & Share moved up ⅝ point to 15⅝, at which price the stock closed after fairly active buying. Aluminum Co. of America rallied 1¼ points. A similar gain was made by Singer Manufacturing, which closed at 166½, up 36½ points from its extreme low of the year reached recently.

The utilities were mixed, with a number of active issues following the leadership of Electric Bond & Share into moderately higher ground.

Among the utilities which gained in the neighborhood of 1 to 2 points were American Gas & Electric, Utilities Power & Light voting certificates B and Associated Gas certificates.

Deere, Ford of Canada and Standard of Indiana were fractionally higher.

WEEK'S COPPER REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Copper has developed an irregular undertone with buyers, here and abroad, restricting purchases to immediate requirements owing to uncertainty over the final outcome of producers' efforts to regulate output, although the announcement that Belgian interests had agreed to the general restriction plans was regarded as a step in that direction. Some custom smelters are open to bids at ¼c under producers' prices of 6¾c for electrolytic delivered in the Connecticut Valley, but offerings are not pressed.

Tin has fluctuated irregularly within a narrow range. Moderate buying interest has been attracted by what are said to be the lowest levels since 1899 and a light forward business has been done but buyers are generally hesitant owing to uncertainties in general business conditions.

Recent buying of lead was more general with consumers absorbing smelters' output but demand tapered off at the close after current needs had been satisfied. Prices were unchanged.

Zinc developed a firmer undertone largely reflecting steadier ore prices rather than improvement in consuming demand which is generally restricted to a carlot basis.

There was an easier undertone for antimony owing to continued absence of buying interest and reports of more liberal offerings from China.

RAILS AND GERMAN BONDS LEAD TRADE

Strength in Places but Average for 60 Corporate Issues Unchanged.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The bond market strengthened in several directions today, although the average for 60 leading corporate issues finished at exactly the same record low figure for the year as yesterday. Sales totaled $5,792,000 par value, or about $500,000 above last Saturday.

The principal activity in the short session came in the rails and German Government issues. The latter advanced from 2 to 6½ points upon emphatic official denials of rumors that Germany intended to abandon the gold standard.

The principal rail loans, sold for heavy losses following announcement of the Wabash receivership, made a decided recovery. At the same time some of the obligations of the carriers, on few sales, dropped so heavily that the average for 20 of the roads again reached a new low.

Among the buoyant bonds were those of Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1960, Chicago Great Western 4s, Chicago, Milwaukee & Pacific 5s, Denver & Rio Grande 5s of 1978, Erie Refunding and Improvement 5s of 1975, Great Northern 7s of 1936, Illinois Central issues, all Missouri Pacific loans and those of the New York Central, St. Louis and San Francisco, Rock Island and Southern Railway.

On the other side, however, Canadian National Railways were down as much as 4⅝, Great Northern 5½s, 6½, and New Haven non-callable 3½s lost 26 points on a sale of five bonds.

Industrials and utilities were firm and United States Governments were up fractionally.

Week's Novelty at Orpheum

Mary Hart Presenting Comedy "Lost Sheep" While The American Theater Brings Back "Elizabeth the Queen" With Miss Risdon in the Leading Role And the Midtown Has "Mary's Other Husband"—Drama Association Postpones "Mrs. Moonlight."

WITH the Drama Association of St. Louis' scheduled second offering, "Mrs. Moonlight" suddenly dropped from the Shubert booking—it was supposed to open the Grand avenue house tomorrow night—and with other plays set in that same theater for early dates giving up the ghost the local drama field is, for the time being, in the hands of the American Theater, the Orpheum and the stock company out at the Midtown. To meet this situation the American tonight begins a week of last season's Theater Guild fine hit, "Elizabeth the Queen," with Elizabeth Risdon in the role played here before by Lynn Fontanne. Mary Hart, at the Orpheum, starts a two-weeks' run this evening of a New York comedy success, "Lost Sheep," while the Woodward company, at the Midtown, goes into a week of "Mary's Other Husband," a comedy about which little is known. Mr. Woodward has his regular players, headed by Hazel Whitmore and George Barnes, in the cast. Miss Hart, as usual, has brought on several new faces for her latest offering and a Theater Guild company appears in support of Miss Risdon at the American.

"Lost Sheep," the novelty of the week at the Orpheum, is a broad, risque farce, built about the situations which arise when a respectable English family, with three pretty daughters, moves into a house previously occupied by some very disreputable females. Gentlemen friends of the former tenants keep calling for their old acquaintances and the complications which follow provide the fun. As said before, Miss Hart has brought on a number of guest artists to be featured with members of her own resident company. Among them are Adelaide Hibbard, who will be seen in the role created by Cissy Loftus, and Victor Beecroft, who will play his original New York part.

Favorites of the resident cast will also be seen in prominent parts. These include the popular Pierre Watkin in the part played originally by Ernest Glendenning, and Dorothea Chard in the Sylvia Fox role.

THE play which many theatergoers hailed as last season's highest point in brilliant stagecraft as well as the New York Theater Guild's finest offering since "Strange Interlude," will again be presented at the American Theater tonight for a return engagement of one week. It is Maxwell Anderson's stimulating historical drama, "Elizabeth, the Queen."

Dealing with the mysterious love affair of the aging yet amative virgin Queen and the impetuous, ambitious young Earl of Essex, Playwright Anderson built a drama which stands for itself and is shot through with many moments of undeniable power.

Against a picturesque background with gayly-feathered courtiers and jewel-bedecked ladies-in-waiting, Elizabeth is revealed as a Queen in every meaning of the word. Easily the most cultured woman of her day, she is prone to burst into a string of oaths without notice which would shame a stevedore.

Violently enamored of the handsome Essex, and he just as completely in love with her, their lust for power and their imperious natures keep them embroiled in a constant struggle for dominance. The outcome of this curious battle between love and ambition is in doubt to the very end of the play, which culminates in a scene of terrific tenseness and rare beauty.

"MARY'S OTHER HUSBAND", a farce in three acts by Larry F. Johnson, opens this afternoon at the Midtown Theater under the personal direction of O. D. Woodward. The play is described as one of those racy comedies in which speed, lines and many complications keep the plot moving at a fast pace.

The plot concerns the efforts of Mary, an incurable romanticist, to prove to her rich uncle that her ideas on love and husbands are as practical as those of her cousin. After eloping against her uncle's wishes, she begins to fashion, by means of letters, a picture of increasing prosperity and happiness in her home, far in excess of the truth. Whereupon the uncle decides to pay Mary a visit.

After enlisting the aid of her friend and furnishing her home with their furniture, draperies and cutlery, in order to live up to her imagined state, her husband refuses to meet the uncle. How Mary secures her other husband to save the day and an inheritance for her baby, makes the story of the comedy.

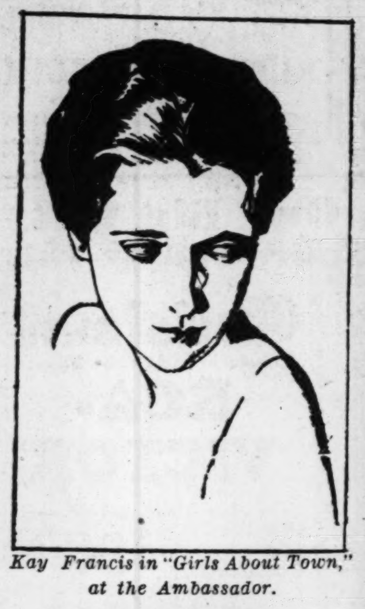
AGAIN Gilbert Miller will bring to St. Louis one of his personally staged productions, this time a new play by Philip Barry, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," which has just concluded a season at the Henry Miller Theater in New York.

The cast of "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," which will come to the American Theater Monday, Dec. 14, for a week's engagement, is headed by Zita Johann and Glenn Anders.

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow" is the first play of the fourth subscription season of the New York Theater Guild in St. Louis.

John Golden and the New York Theater Guild are linked in sponsorship of "As Husbands Go," the Rachel Crothers comedy which comes to the American Theater for a nine days' engagement beginning Christmas night. The original cast which comes here will be headed by Catherine Doucet, Jay Fassett, Gloria Holden, Margery Lytell, Geoffrey Wardell and May Duryea.



Kay Francis in "Girls About Town," at the Ambassador.

James Bush in "Lost Sheep," at the Orpheum.

The Week's New Films

—:— By NIE —:—

THE best picture of the week is tucked away in the No. 2 spot on the Missouri's bill, a gangster film called "Bad Company," which is as good as any of the underworld mellers which have been shown here in a long time. The story doesn't differ very much from the usual run of the bootlegger's-bride idea but Ricardo Cortez is a swell hoodlum and he is surrounded by a gang which looks as though it had just stepped out of the hoosegow. Helen Twelvetrees is the good gal who gets mixed up with bad company and John Garrick is her boy friend who has a tough time of it trying to go straight. The picture is full of real thrills and, after a fashion, points a moral to the effect that honesty is the best policy even though no cash goes with the prize.

Who Won the War?

IT has been a long time since William Gillette wrote and played in that Civil War drammer called "Secret Service," but it has been dragged out now as a movie vehicle and is on view this week at the St. Louis Theater with Richard Dix in the role of the dashing Union officer who goes into Richmond as a Confederate Captain and almost ends the war with his successful spying. Gen. Grant and some pretty Southern girls are in the story and the cinema version is much more spectacular than the stage opus but somehow, with wars being done now on a larger scale, we have lost interest in the fall of Richmond and "Secret Service" is not overly exciting.

Armistice.

AND speaking of bigger and better wars "Surrender," down at Loew's, is all about love in a German prison camp with Warner Baxter, a handsome young French soldier, falling in love with an aristocratic Prussian girl who lives hard by. Some German officers love her, too, but Warner's French technique wins the day and the war ends in time to let him promise that he will be back later and take up the matter of marrying into one of the best families in the Fatherland.

If You Enjoy Crying.

GOING back some distance, too, although not as far as "Secret Service," is "Over the Hill" at the Fox. This was one of the first, and greatest, of the tear jerkers of the silent movie days and now it has been fitted up with conversation for the talkie customers. Perhaps you remember the story—an over-the-hill-to-the-poor-house theme—which tells, in a homely way, of a small town family from the time the children are little tots until late in life when they have scattered and forgotten their old mother. That is all of them have forgotten her except her son, and, through him, the family is brought together again to settle down to complete happiness. The tale is a good one though tearful, and Mae Marsh is magnificent as the mother who does not come into her own until reel eight.

Broadway Babies.

LILYAN TASHMAN, as a hard-boiled, wise-cracking gold digger and Eugene Pallette as a Western wealthy Babbitt, run away with what few honors there are in "Girls About Town" at the Ambassador. The comedy of the story falls to them and they make the most of it. When the play turns to romance, with Kay Francis and Joel McCrea furnishing the love interest, "Girls About Town" sags badly, although Miss Francis, as usual, looks like a million dollars.

Barbara Stanwyck To Star in "So Big"

Barbara Stanwyck's next starring picture will be "So Big," from the novel by Edna Ferber. According to a telegram from the West Coast. It was made as a silent film some years ago with Colleen Moore as the star.

"So Big" was a literary sensation, and the book won the Pulitzer prize. It is the second Ferber novel to be selected for adaptation to the screen in the near future. "Chic" Sale is to be presented in movie of the same author's "Old Man Minick."

Dramatic League Offerings Today

The activities of the Dramatic League of St. Louis this week, include a program this afternoon at 4:30 at Christ Church Cathedral in the Bishop Tuttle Memorial. After the plays a light luncheon will be served.

Thursday night The Dramatic League will hold its second evening of one-act plays of the Industrial Group Drama Tournament at the Soldan High School. The Commodore Apartments and The Warwick Players will compete as the last two groups in the tournaments.

Tower Grove Play.

Members of the Dramatic Club of the Tower Grove Gymnastic Society will present a three-act comedy, "The Smiling Cow," next Sunday evening, at their hall, Grand and Juniata, under the direction of Frank J. Lipp. The cast includes the following members: Alma Armstrong, Edna K. Matthews, Virginia Weisel, Eleanor Nerl, Jeanette Schaeffer, Vida Campbell, Al Koste, Elmer Schaeffer, Hugo Bauer, Herbert Bauer, Charles Ulrich and Elsworth N. Hemm.

Negro League in "Black Majesty."

Next Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock the Urban League will present its annual play at the Odeon. The piece this year is "Black Majesty," founded on John W. Vandercook's book and dramatized by Elmore Condon, a local playwright. The play is in rehearsal under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Bowles, who is training nearly one hundred of St. Louis' Negro dramatic players for the cast.

Vallee Does Musical.

Rudy Vallee, Connecticut crooner, has started production on a one-reel musical feature, "Knowmore College," at a New York studio.

Elizabeth Risdon in "Elizabeth the Queen," at the American.

Amusement Calendar

AMERICAN—Return engagement of production of "Elizabeth the Queen," with Elisabeth Risdon as the star. Starting tonight.

St. Louis U. Players In Sardou Offering

"A Scrap of Paper," by Victorien Sardou, was presented by the St. Louis University Playhouse Club last night in their auditorium at 3642 Lindell boulevard. It will be repeated tomorrow and Wednesday nights.

In the cast are Elsie Martin, Mary Alexander, Rita Norton, Mary Adrian, Kathryn Holland, Ida May Crosson, Chester Brackbill, Joseph Orlick, William Jenkins, William Wolter and George Doyle.

Rappaport in Recital.

All phases of Jewish music will be disclosed by Albert Rappaport, tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, in a recital to be given tomorrow evening in Temple Israel. Rappaport's program will go back to the early beginnings of Hebrew ecclesiastical song as it existed in the rituals of the Temple. It will also include a number of Jewish secular folk songs

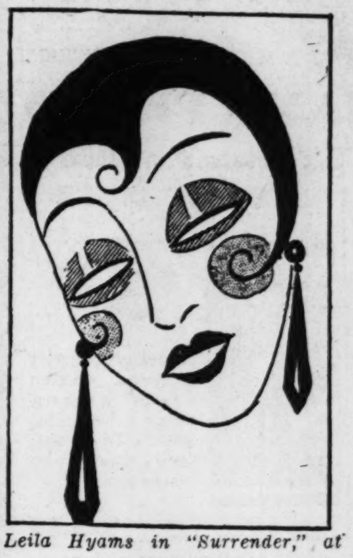
North Side Y. Concert.

The North Side Y. M. C. A. Glee Club is giving its fourth annual winter concert at the North Side "Y" Auditorium Thursday night. The group, under the leadership of Christian H. Stocke is not only presenting the concert numbers but all the special numbers are from talent in the club.

Ambassador Gets A New Stage M. C.

The Ambassador Theater, which has been without a master of ceremonies to run its stage shows since the departure of Jack Powell, has secured Wesley Eddy, who will take up the post next Friday.

Eddy is well known in the East as an M. C. Of late he has been playing in Pittsburg.



Leila Hyams in "Surrender," at Loew's State Theatre.

George Barnes in "Mary's Other Husband," Midtown.

All Orchestra Program

For the Week's

Two Symphony Concerts

AN all-orchestral program which combines in contrast the D minor Symphony of Cesar Franck and Otterine Respighi's celebration of Fascist tradition in "The Pines of Rome," will be presented by Vladimir Golschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony in the orchestra's regular concerts at the Odeon next Friday afternoon and Saturday evening.

Each of these two offerings has previously served as the major work upon important symphony programs. Each has won a high popularity with St. Louis music lovers.

Franck's symphony is a celebration of faith in contemplative mood. Respighi's "Pines of Rome" is brilliant and militant, a revival in music of the grandeur that was Rome.

With them Golschmann has chosen to present Mozart's overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," as the introductory number, while the second half of the program is introduced by Richard Wagner's "Siegfried Idyl," which was written to celebrate his hope that Siegfried, his son, would continue the father's great work in art.

English Singers in Principia Concert

The English Singers come to the Principia next Friday night, presenting a special program of Christmas carols. This event will be the sextet's first appearance in this city since their St. Louis recital debut at the Principia in 1927, and will also be the third attraction of the Principia concert and lecture course for 1931-32.

Cuthbert Kelly, the bass, and leader of the English Singers, organized this group shortly after the war. Called upon to arrange a series of concerts in the old church of St. Martin's in the fields in London, Mr. Kelly unconsciously prepared the way for the English Singers with his program of unaccompanied church music, drawn largely from Tudor days.

German Comedy Tonight.

"Robert and Bertram," the well-known German comedy by Gustav Raeder, dealing with the experiences of two tramps, will be given tonight by the German Theater Stock Company in the German House Auditorium, 2345 Lafayette avenue.

Little Theatre in Galsworthy Drama At Artists' Guild

THE Little Theater of St. Louis, 812 Union boulevard, is presenting for its second production of the season, "Escape," by John Galsworthy. The play will be open to the public tomorrow evening and will continue through the week.

Action of the play centers around a young Englishman and his escape from a prison camp, and follows him through a series of interesting episodes.

The play is the first to be produced by Thomas Wood Stevens, the new director.

School Boys' Band In Concert Friday

Joseph L. Huber and his high school students concert band of 60 boys will give a concert at Roosevelt High School next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the band is to give the juvenile student a chance to express himself in ensemble playing.

The soloists, all boys who play the cornet, will be Charles Traber, John Bettag, Phil Godwin and John Schuable.

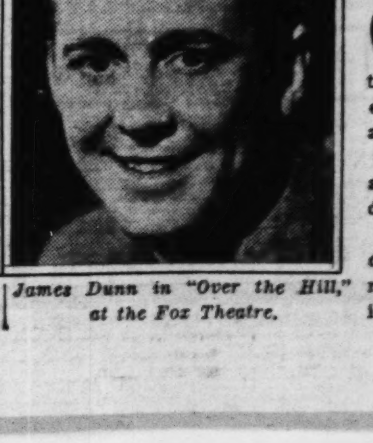
The concert is free to the public.

Liberty Music Hall Reopens.

The Liberty Music Hall, Delmar near Grand, reopened last night under new management and with an entire new policy. From 6:45 to 7:45 daily motion pictures will be shown, at 7:45 to 9:15 there will be an all Music Hall stage show, 9:15 to 10:45 there will be a Nite Club stage show. The change of the bill will be at the Sunday matinees every week.

Richard Dix in "Secret Service," at the St. Louis.

Helen Twelvetrees in "Bad Company," at the Missouri.



James Dunn in "Over the Hill," at the Fox Theatre.

Mae Marsh Is Back Again

Screen Star, Who Quit Pictures a Dozen Years Ago to Raise a Family, Returns to the Cameras—The Question Of Cuts in Salaries Does Not Bother the Hollywood Pets To Any Great Extent, and They Still Get a Plenty.

By H. H. NIEMEYER.

PRESS agents out on the West Coast have, from time to time, turned out, figuring conservatively, several thousand tons of waste-basket material about how Anastasia Blotz, the cow-eyed screen favorite, had given up the picture business to retire and raise violets in the hills of California when, as a matter of fact, all Miss Blotz was raising was Hades on Hollywood Boulevard. Also a lot has been written, both pro and con—largely the latter—around the subject of whether a woman can successfully combine wifehood and a career. A lot more has been written about motherhood complicating the situation. Several movie stars, such as Norma Shearer, Ann Harding and others, have successfully combined a career with motherhood of sorts. But only by considering motherhood as something of a part-time job.

Mae Marsh is probably the only woman to reach the heights of screen fame who has succeeded 100 per cent at both these tasks. Who has given herself completely to each one in turn, without sacrificing either in the slightest.

Mae, it will be remembered, left the screen some 12 years or so ago, at the very pinnacle of her fame. When she married Lee Arms, a St. Louis newspaper man. With "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," and a long line of starring pictures to her credit, she calmly turned her back on what most women would give their right eyes to have—because she wanted what too many women today are fighting shy of.

Now she is back again.

WHEN she left the screen she never expected to return, she says. She had weighed the benefits, and had decided to become a mother. She didn't want half of one thing and half of another. To be a successful mother, and derive the full benefit from it for herself, she felt that she must devote her full time to it. Which she did—for 12 full years.

And now there are three of the finest children we saw in California last summer—Mary, turned 11, Bobby, proud of his round five years and Marguerite. Three healthy, normal youngsters in a city of "problem" children—problems because their mothers tried to compromise on the problem of motherhood and a career.

Now Mary is old enough to "carry on." She has been second in command in the rearing of Bobby and Marguerite and she wants her mother to return to the screen again. Has wanted it ever since she saw a re-issue of "The Birth of a Nation" a year or so ago. Given the opportunity to come back in a mother role, Miss Marsh decided to kill two birds with one stone, and accepted.

READING the script of "Over the Hill," her comeback venture which is at the Fox Theater this week, she learned that it included a lapse of some 16 years. Which meant that she would have to play a mother in both the years of her maturity and her old age. "Old age?" she seems to have said to herself, "that means white hair." Which, in turn, would mean a wig to any other actress on the screen. But to Mae Marsh it meant that she submitted to a 24 process to bleach her naturally auburn hair to a snowy white. With the result that it is real. It isn't set and formal, the same in every scene. She can run a sudsy hand through it, toss it around, and brush stray locks back when they fall down.

Mae Marsh, or Mrs. Arms, if you please, is still on the sunny side of 35. She was born in Madrid, New Mexico, on Nov. 9, and educated at the Convent of the Immaculate Heart there. She started her picture career in 1912 under D. W. Griffith, her first starring picture being "The Sands O' Dee." Her portrayals in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance" are ranked among the best of the screen. After making "The White Rose" she retired from the screen and has kept out of the public eye, and prints, until now.

MOVIE times being what they are, and interesting salary skirmishes being anticipated between many stars and their studios as their contracts come up for renewal, the free-lance stars who are truly "big time" still are finding little to worry about.

John Barrymore, the latest example, was not dismayed when Warner's failed to retain him with his $175,000 per picture contract, the amount including, of course, his weekly salary during his idle periods between films, always charged to the cost of the star's next production.

John perhaps smiled inwardly as he cut his salary voluntarily by something like $25,000 and at the new figure signed for four pictures to be made within the next six months at three different studios. He smiled because this smaller salary will gross him around half a million dollars in half a year, with the rest of the year free, if he chooses, to pursue his yachting cruises.

Clara Bow's one-picture contract with Sam Rork, the independent producer, involves approximately $150,000 when all angles are considered, and that is a sum for which, under contract at $3000 a week, she would have to work nearly a year.

Constance Bennett is a Pathe contract star, but during her vacation she earned a like sum in five weeks making "Bought," for Warner's—that famous $30,000 a week salary that caused so much comment.

In astonishment over such salaries, however, the public seldom considers that once the star is paid and the picture completed, the studio's salary obligations are ended.

In the cast of "Bought," Connie pocketed her $150,000, and the picture went out to justify the expenditure, free from further salary charges.

The producers' uniform desire and necessity to make good pictures as inexpensively as possible runs into a snag when huge star salaries must be charged to each film in which the star appears. Yet movie history is replete with producers' unsuccessful efforts to overthrow the "star system" which makes such salaries possible.

Faces the public will pay to see are those the studios must cherish, and money remains the producers' most effective cherisher.

GETTING back to Mae Marsh and her children—who have not been brought up on the cinema lots—brings to mind the fact that the movie youngsters, from the stars like Jackie Cooper to the little tot playing a bit for a day, still get attention and consideration that surpasses that accorded to children of wealth, as long as they are at the studio.

Every studio has a full-time teacher selected by the school board and the tutor is equipped to instruct in subjects ranging from kindergarten to college courses.

Every child working in films is required to spend three hours daily in study—not as much as other children spend in the schoolroom, but still, according to results, enough to advance them as rapidly or in some cases more quickly than those attending other schools.

MOONEY'S MOTHER IN HOSPITAL FOLLOWING NERVOUS COLLAPSE

Strain of Hearing on Pardon for Her Son Was Too Great.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—While Gov. James Rolph Jr. was conferring here today with his legal advisers in connection with the recent plea of Mayor James J. Walker of New York for a pardon for Thomas Mooney, Mrs. Mary Mooney, 83-year-old mother of the alleged bomber, was removed to a hospital as a result of a nervous collapse.

At the hospital it was said Mrs. Mooney's condition was due to her excitement as a result of the visit of Mayor Walker and other attorneys to San Francisco. She has not been in good health.

FARMERS IN ENGLAND REVOLT AGAINST TITHE

Combine to Prevent Forced Collection for Church of England.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 4. — Revolt against the tithe, that tenth part of an English farmer's crop which he must by law pay into the coffers of the Church of England, is gaining ground.

Farmers, particularly tenant farmers who are hardest hit by the old tithe laws, are organizing to make enforced collections ineffective, and the movement has widespread support.

The usual method is for farmers of a neighborhood to gather at an auction of property sold to satisfy delinquent tithes, and bid ridiculously low prices. The delinquent then buys back at the price paid.

A typical instance occurred recently at Diss, East Anglia, where Philip Bailey, who had farmed Red House Farm, on the estate of the Duke of Norfolk, for 13 years, permitted a distraint order to be issued against him by the County Court for tithe amounting to more than $250.

To meet the warrant 13 cattle and a lot of 32 ewes were brought forward. The cattle worth normally $45 each, were knocked down to the farmers at two shillings each, or about $6.25 for the lot. The 32 ewes brought altogether 85 cents and the entire sale thus realizing about $7.10.

Farmers gathered from all over the county to participate in the bidding. There was pandemonium until Bailey himself mounted the auctioneer's wagon, when he was greeted with rousing cheers. He asked fair play for the auctioneer, adding:

"If we behave like hooligans we shall not have public opinion on our side and get justice. In 12 years I have paid nearly $3500 in tithes, and about $1250 manorial rent to the Duke of Norfolk. But I am making this stand chiefly for farmers worse off than myself."

The tithe as a means of support for parishes in the Church of England has grown up through the centuries, although recently subject to annulment and modification in many cases. Fishermen must also pay a tithe, although with the ruling several years ago that the tithe may be a payment in kind—that is, fish—it has been less acceptable than formerly.

Parish rectors, curates and clerks derive a considerable part of their incomes from the tithe.

MISSOURI U. BOARD UNDECIDED

Fails to See Way to Meet Caulfield's Request to Cut Funds.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5.—The University of Missouri Board of Curators today failed to reach a final decision on the request of Gov. Henry S. Caulfield that the university limit its 1931-1932 expenditures approximately $850,000 below its two-year appropriation, for reasons of economy.

President Walter Williams who attended the executive session of the committee, said it would continue its deliberations here in a week or 10 days, after another conference with the Governor. Williams said board members had proposed various economies but the total amount did not equal the figure asked by the State's chief executive. Members of the university staff have expressed belief the reduction asked would seriously curtail the work of the school.

A radio campaign aimed at making voters more conscious of what taxation means to them will begin at 6:15 tomorrow evening on the NBC chain. WENR and KWK are slated for this. Former U. S. Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr. of New York will be the first speaker, discussing "Centralization."

NO more of the concerts by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra will be broadcast by KMOX on Sunday afternoons. Listeners might try to tune in this concert on WCCO (810 kc), KMBC (950 kc) or WMT (600 kc), which the Columbia System says will carry it today. WGN is scheduled to broadcast it next Sunday. The newspapers were informed last week that KMOX would broadcast this concert Sunday as usual. When the time for the concert arrived at 2 o'clock Sunday, many listeners were disappointed when other programs were substituted. Inquiry Monday developed the information that KMOX had a commercial program for the 2:45 to 3 o'clock period and that it was decided that it would be better to drop the concert altogether than to break in on it with another program. KMOX had been broadcasting the first half of the two-hour concert, the 3 to 4 o'clock period being used by Father Coughlin. The last 15 or 20 minutes of the part carried by KMOX generally fell in the intermission and was given over mainly to comment by Olin Downes. Beginning at 4:30 today, KMOX will broadcast for an hour from the concert by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

A brief version of Verdi's "La Traviata," prepared by Howard Barlow, will be broadcast over some stations in the CBS chain at 9:30 Thursday night with Theo Karle and Evan Evans among the singers. . . . The comedy team of Col. Stoopnagle and Bud change their time this week to 7 o'clock Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights. Their chain has been increased to more than 50 CBS stations. . . . More ambitious Women's Radio Review programs will be broadcast over KSD, beginning tomorrow afternoon. Hugo Mariani will lead the orchestra; Ralph Kirberry, the Southernaires Quartet; Veronica Wiggins, contralto; the South Sea Islanders; Muriel Wilson, soprano and the Salon Singers are among those billed for this series. . . . The Three Doctors will conduct their nonsense clinic over the WJZ chain daily except Sunday at 10:30 p. m. instead of 2:30. Their real names are Russell Pratt, Ransom Sherman and Joe Rudolph. . . . Plans are being made to use orchestras playing in Europe in the three-nights-a-week dance broadcasts over the WEAF chain and KSD. Last night the Carabelli orchestra in Buenos Aires, South America, was scheduled. . . . After a year of auditions and program planning, another sponsor is to join the radio cigaret battle. Its first program is set for Jan. 4 on a CBS chain of 67 stations. Popular music by an orchestra led by Nat Shilkret and songs by a baritone who is still to be selected will be features. Incidentally, Nat Shilkret, who has been one of the NBC's mainstays as a conductor, has shifted to the Columbia network. . . . Arthur Jarrett, the New York singer who has been singing over a CBS chain from WBBM, Chicago, has returned to the East. He is continuing his Monday, Wednesday and Friday broadcasts at 2:30 and is adding programs at 5:15 Tuesday and 5 o'clock Saturdays. Eight months ago Jarrett gave up $200 a week for singing with Ted Weems' orchestra for $50 singing on his own. But he has more than made up for the financial loss. . . . Walter Damrosch plans to give parts of Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde," "Siegfried" and "Goetterdaemmerung" and Beethoven's "Fidelio" during his Sunday noon radio concerts. Last Sunday he gave an act of "Die Walkuere." . . . Another of the things for which radio editors are blamed: George Jessel, the comedian, was supposed to join Eddie Cantor in the program at 7 o'clock last Sunday night. Jessel did not take part in the program, but the radio editor received no correction notice. . . . Christmas eve, in place of the usual Sherlock Holmes playlet on the WEAF chain, the Sistine Choir will sing from Rome. The concert will be transmitted from Italy by short waves for pickup and rebroadcasting. . . . Sunday at Seth Parker's is supposed to return to the WEAF network, including WHAS, KYW and WSB, tonight, at 9:45. . . . Kate Smith has discontinued her Saturday night broadcasts over the CBS chain and will be heard Tuesday nights. . . . The Mills Brothers quartet will shift to 8 o'clock Monday and Thursday nights on the CBS chain and KMOX, starting this week.

NAMES of the 10 young men and women who will compete in the finals of the National Radio Audition over an NBC chain next Sunday night are announced as follows:

Mid-West district: Miss Lillian Meyer, Jamestown, N. D., and Eugene Byron Morgan, Painesville, O. This district includes Missouri and Illinois.

Northeast District—Miss Saida Knox, Kearny, N. J., and Jay Alden Edkins, Somerville, Mass.

Dixie District—Miss Thelma Gaskin, Orlando, Fla., and Austin Summers Butner, Nashville, Tenn.

Southwest District—Mrs. Lavon Graham Holden, Pittsburg, Kan., and John Bennett Metcalf, Austin, Tex.

Far-West District—Miss Eleanor Corvell, Santa Cruz, Cal., and Andrew B. White, Tucson, Ariz.

Citizenship in its relations to home and community will be the basis of playlets in the Farm Service Hour on KMOX at 12:45 noon on Thursday, Dec. 10, Dec. 17, Dec. 24 and Dec. 31. The playlets will be sponsored by the St. Louis League of Women Voters. They will be entitled "Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith Discuss," and the two chief roles will be taken by Mrs. George Gellhorn and Mrs. George Smith.

James Melton, the radio tenor, is to make a movie singing "short" late this month. If it proves a success, Paramount may feature him in an elaborate talking picture. Hopes are that he can duplicate the movie success of Lawrence Tibbett... It is reported that Melton may leave his Monday night radio program on KSD and the WEAF chain because his sponsor demands that he sing only on that. If he does quit, rumor has it that he may shift to the 9:30 Wednesday night program on KSD.... Dimitri, leader of a band of Russian gypsies, will lead his little tribe to the NBC studios in Manhattan to take part in the Gypsies program over KSD and the WEAF chain at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. They will sing songs of Russia. Harry Horlick's orchestra will play as usual.

Bradford Browne, producer and leader of the Nit Wits, succeeds Ray Perkins as master of ceremonies for the 6:30 Sunday programs on the WJZ network. Tonight's skit will be a parody on Columbus' discovery of America and will be entitled "1491 With Tubes." . . . Marion Harris will sing with Rudy Vallee next Thursday night over KSD. . . . Mario Chamlee, operatic and concert tenor of note, will be soloist with Leo Reisman's orchestra at 8:30 Friday night on KSD. . . . Rosa McLean, the Canadian baritone who stepped into Everett Marshall's shoes in the "Scandals," is billed with Brusiloff's orchestra at 7 o'clock Friday night on KWK. . . . Tomorrow evening, at 6:45, Morton Downey is scheduled to return to his Columbia chain programs. The Round Towners Quartet has been taking his place while he has been on vacation in California. . . .

Rosa Ponselle and St. Louis Symphony at 4:30 O'Clock Today

A RECITAL by Rosa Ponselle on KSD at 4:30 and a concert by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra on KMOX from 4:30 to 5:30 should be today's outstanding radio programs.

Vladimir Golschmann will conduct the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, which will play in the auditorium studio in KMOX's new quarters in the Merchandise Mart. Schubert's beautiful "Unfinished Symphony" and music by Weber, Dukas and Tschaikowsky are programmed. The concert will be the first of 10 on Sunday afternoons.

The new dynamic microphone, which has been chiefly responsible for the clarity of the broadcasts by Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, will be used this afternoon, according to W. H. West, chief engineer of KMOX. Weighing less than four pounds, it is shaped like a tea cup. It can reproduce a tonal range of 30 to 10,000 cycles and handle virtually any extremes of tempo or crescendo and diminuendo without blasting or requiring intervention by a studio control engineer.

At 9:30 this morning there will be a recital of classical music by a string quartet and two pianos on KMOX. Maj. Bowes' Capitol Family will return to the air at 10:30 this forenoon, on WENR and WDAF. The Cathedral Hour is scheduled at noon on KMOX. The Walter Damrosch concert may be tuned in at 12:15 noon on WMAQ and on KWK at 12:30.

Phil Baker will be starred in a new program on KMOX at 8 o'clock tonight. Frank Munn, the tenor, who has sung for several years as Paul Oliver, will sing over KSD at 8:15 tonight. KMOX definitely announces the Ernest Hutcheson piano and orchestra concert for 9:30 p. m. KWK will carry the Slumber Music as usual, at 8:45. Sunday at Seth Parker's will be back on the air at 9:45 p. m. on KYW, WHO, WSM and WEAF. Tito Guizar, tenor, is billed with the Gauchos at 10 p. m. on KMOX.

Radio Trade Notes

McNamara-West Co. to Handle Jackson-Bell Sets.

Ability to tune down to 180 meters, so as to pick up police broadcasts, is a feature of the Jackson-Bell receivers, to distribute which in the St. Louis are the McNamara is president of the firm and Charles D West Jr., secretary and treasurer.

The Jackson-Bell sets are superheterodynes, except for a four-tube Peter Pan midget. All have illuminated dials and tone controls except the Peter Pan.

Mantel models come with seven, eight and nine-tube chassis. There are also seven, eight and nine-tube console receivers and an electric clock model with an eight-tube chassis.

Trav-ler Co. Busy in St. Louis on Television Development.

Much foundation experimenting is being carried on by the Trav-ler Radio and Television Co. of St. Louis, which is manufacturing television receivers and projectors. The company maintains a laboratory and engineering force which is continually busy on television problems and development.

It has applied for a license to build a television station in St. Louis, and is awaiting action by the Federal Radio Commission.

ALTHOUGH for a long time KSD has been putting The Stebbins Boys on the air at 5:45 St. Louis time, the first five week-day evenings, readers occasionally write asking why the radio editor persists in listing this feature erroneously at that time on the Post-Dispatch's station. It is true that other Western and Southern stations do broadcast the feature at 6:45 St. Louis time. But KSD cannot carry the program at that hour because of the time-sharing agreement with KFUO. So, by special arrangement, KSD joins the chain of Eastern stations that broadcasts The Stebbins Boys an hour earlier than do other stations in this part of the country.

Addresses by the Marquess of Reading and Dr. Chaim Weizmann will be broadcast from London over KMOX at 3:30 tomorrow. Dr. Weizmann will outline the objectives of his coming trip to South Africa.

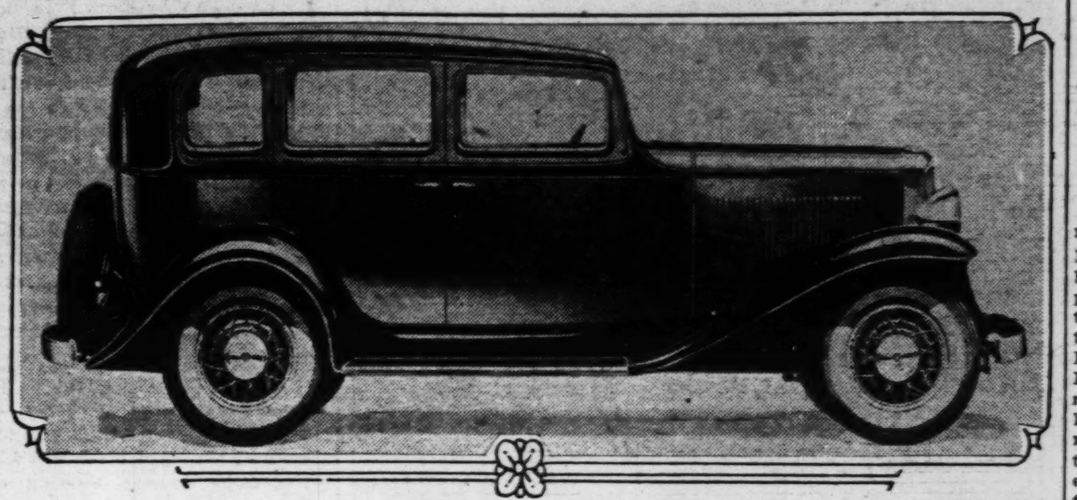
How the New 1932 Chevrolet Models Look

CHEVROLET Six special sedan with synchro-mesh, silent second transmission, free wheeling and 20 per cent more powerful engine.

One of the New Rockne Six Sedans



ROCKNE Six five-passenger sedan on the 114-inch wheelbase. It has a 72 h. p. engine, free wheeling and synchronized shift.

Free Wheeling Syncro-Mesh in New Chevrolet

Front and Body Much Changed—Engine 20 Per Cent More Powerful.

The new Chevrolet models for 1932 are on display in dealer showrooms throughout the St. Louis zone.

Embodying silent syncro-mesh transmission in combination with selective free wheeling; a 20 per cent increase in power; top speed of 65 to 70 miles an hour, streamlined bodies and many other features, the new car remains in the price range of the current series, the lowest at which a Chevrolet has ever sold.

The car has more extensive changes than any annual Chevrolet model since the change-over to a six-cylinder car. Yet changes are mostly refinements of the basic design of the 1931 car.

Virtually every proven automotive feature of recent years is incorporated in the new Chevrolet, as well as a new "stabilized" front and construction embodied for the first time on any car.

Outstanding improvements in the 1932 line over the 1931 models are down-draft carburetion, counterbalanced crankshaft, smaller wheels and larger tires, radically changed front-end appearance, "finger-touch" front-seat adjustment, cowl ventilator on all models, hood doors instead of louvres, improved clutch and an additional cross member in the frame.

Twenty Body Types.

Twelve standard body styles are in the line this year—three open and nine closed Fisher bodies—all in new Duco color combinations and all with smart new features. In addition, eight models are available with de luxe equipment, making possible individuality of ownership and providing selection from 20 types.

The new transmission unit, which is entirely Chevrolet-built, is said to combine for the first time in any car the combination of syncro-mesh with simplified free wheeling as standard equipment at no extra cost. Free wheeling is provided by an over-running clutch, engaged at the discretion of the driver by a control button on the instrument panel. The optional feature enables a driver to use the fullbraking power of the engine if he desires, and to use the freewheeling feature only when traffic conditions make it desirable.

While the wheelbase remains at 109 inches, the car looks longer than last year's.

Front End Changes.

The most striking change in exterior appearance is the new front end, which has been completely redesigned. The new "stabilized" front end mounting is an important feature of the new car.

In conventional mounting the radiator, fenders and head lamps are supported from the sides of the frame, and in driving over rough roads the front end weaves and vibrates. This is annoying to occupants of the car and frequently results in the origin of squeaks and rattles at points of stress. In the new Chevrolet, the fenders, radiator and head lamps are carried on a single fender support unit, which is anchored to the center of the front cross-member of the frame. This pivotal anchorage enables the front end to sway with the body as a unit, thus reducing the annoying weave as well as the possibility of squeaks and rattles developing at points of stress.

A double tie-bar, chromium plated, arches gracefully between the fenders and braces them, thus acting as a structural unit as well as an ornament. A support also extends from the tie bar to the radiator, anchoring the units securely together, also carrying the horn.

The radiator is entirely new. The exposed core area is larger than last year's for better cooling, and a new grille is built integral with the radiator in all models. This grille has square meshes stamped in relief, with the vertical lines accentuated to increase the appearance of height. The radiator shell is chromium plated, and the top band has a narrow bead and a top panel embellished only by the familiar Chevrolet emblem in blue and white.

Other Body Changes.

Front fenders have a deeper crown and skirts, and a wider bead coming to a graceful point at the front tip of the fender. Head lamps, parabolic-shaped, with convex lens are fully chrome plated and are longer and narrower than last year to emphasize the impression of speediness. Head lamps are mounted on the tie-bar, as is the new trumpet-shaped horn, mounted externally beneath the left head lamp.

Cowl lamps, similar in design to the head lamps though smaller, are standard with all sport models and are mounted behind the chrome-plated cowl moulding. The lenses of these lamps contain prisms which reflect the head lamp glare of approaching cars and afford a measure of protection for the car in the event the driver forgets to light the parking lamps.

The hood is redesigned to conform to the new radiator shape. The conventional panel of louvres is replaced by four ventilating doors on each side, chromium plated on the de luxe and sport models. This "big car" refinement enables the driver to control engine ventilation in relation to temperature. Each door has a chromium plated handle and a heavy spring to hold it in the desired position without rattling. Another improvement is the replacement of the usual two external hood catches with one operated internally.

Body Design Streamlined.

The windshields of all models are slanted at a sharper angle. The streamlined bodies, with the outside sun visor eliminated, greatly reduce air resistance, increase the driver's vision and make for symmetrical appearance. The sloping front pillars—strengthened by a heavier steel reinforcing structure—blend gracefully into the curving top. Moulding lines are carried along the pillars and along the edge of the top just over the doors and windshield. An internal visor is adjustable to any position.

External body contours follow the same general design as last year, the most obvious changes being in the new hardware and greater door depth. Doors extend through the body sills instead of only to the top, and the effect of the smaller wheels and larger tires is to give a lower and racier appearance to the car when view from the side. Tire sizes are now 5.25-18 compared with 4.75-19 last year.

Rear fenders are redesigned, with deeper crowns and lower rear ends, the contour and general treatment conforming with the new design of the front fenders.

Mohair or broadcloth upholstery is now optional with all models; hardware is newly designed and improved; such fine car features as silk assist cords, robe rails, arm rests on both sides of the rear seat; dome light, side ash receptacles and many other improvements are standard in various models.

All closed models have a "finger-touch" front-seat adjustment, whereby, simply by touching a lever to the left of the seat, the seat may be quickly rolled to the most comfortable position back of the wheel and clamped there. The adjustment may be made while the seat is occupied.

The headlamp dimmer switch, on the left of the toeboard, is improved for better operation. The stoplight switch also is improved and simplified, and may be adjusted by the driver to light at any point in the travel of the foot pedal.

The motor which drives the automatic windshield wiper—standard on all models this year—is at the center of the header board, inside the car.

Engine Power Increased.

The frame has an additional cross member.

A new type of engine suspension known as "diamond" mounting, because the points where the power plant is secured to the frame correspond to the corners of a diamond, is used. At the suspension points rubber insulation in a stamped container prevents metal-to-metal contact. This insulation prevents road shocks from reaching the engine and dampens out vibration.

The 60-horsepower, overhead valve, six-cylinder engine is smoother, quieter and more powerful. The engine block is stiffened and strengthened. Main crankshaft bearings are thinner, making possible an increase in diameter of the crankshaft journals. The crankshaft, with four counterweights, forged integrally, weighs 53 pounds, an increase of five pounds over last year. Lubrication to the crankshaft and camshaft bearings, and the valve stem is positive pressure this year, instead of splash feed. Improvements in timing-valve opening and compression ratio contribute to the 20 per cent increase in power and to quicker acceleration.

The New Transmission.

The new transmission insures easy, quiet and quick shifting from low to second, second to high, and high to second without gear clashing or effort by the driver to synchronize the engine speed with the forward motion of the car. An outstanding feature of this transmission is its safety, especially when descending hills necessitating a shift to second gear. This shift, usually made under difficult driving conditions, is easily and quickly made.

The over-running clutch, manufactured entirely in Chevrolet plants, is assembled as an integral part of the syncro-mesh transmission and provides selective free wheeling in all forward speeds. The over-running clutch, as designed and manufactured by Chevrolet is very simple and consists of only three major operating parts.

An automatic device enables the driver to forget about free wheeling control when shifting into reverse. Merely shifting the hand lever causes the reverse fork to move the clutch sleeve toward the rear, engaging both driving and driven members and providing positive drive in reverse. When the hand lever is again moved into a forward speed, the clutch sleeve is released automatically into its former free wheeling position. This relieves the driver of having to remember to shift into the conventional position before going into reverse, and of having to shift into the coasting position again before changing to a forward speed. He need only decide that he wants to "free wheel" and his safety is automatically provided for.

Goodyear Charts Bus and Truck Tire Inflation and Loads

Goodyear tire engineers have just released a new, correct inflation and load chart for balloon and high pressure truck and bus tires, which emphasizes the difference between the two types of tires.

One of the features of the new balloon tires is that while their loads or carrying capacities increase over high pressure tires, yet their inflation pressures are lower. For instance, the new 13.50-24 Goodyear bus balloon tire has a carrying capacity of more than a ton and a half more than has the largest size of the high pressure type, the 44x10's limit being 6000 pounds. However, the inflation of the 13.50-24 is only 95 pounds air pressure, while the 44x10 tire requires 130 pounds of air.

A load at or under 100 per cent of carrying capacity will result in 100 per cent truck tire mileage. But a 10 per cent increase in overload means a decrease of 17 per cent in tire mileage. A 20 per cent overload cuts tire mileage down to 70 per cent, while a 30 per cent overload cuts the tires' efficiency to 60 per cent of normal.

The chart lists 28 sizes of bus balloon tires and 10 less sizes of high pressure tires, showing the decided tendency toward the easier riding, bigger load carrying truck and bus balloons.

H. P. Doyle Joins Weber-Deibel Staff

Henry P. Doyle, formerly of the St. Louis Police Department, has joined the Weber-Deibel Motor Co., North Grand boulevard.

Doyle is widely known, not only because of his former police connection, but also because of the fraternal associations.

S. B. Gall Appointed Retail Sales Head For Hudson-Frampton

Two new appointments in the retail sales organization of the Hudson-Frampton Motor Co., the St. Louis Hudson-Essex distributer, are announced by R. C. Frampton, president.

Seymour B. Gall has been made retail sales manager. He has had long experience in the automobile sales field and recently was connected with another large St. Louis distributer.

Richard Prendergast has been appointed used car manager of the Locust boulevard store. He also is well known to the automotive trade and to motorists in St. Louis.

New Type Gasket For Manifolds Shown By the Koochook Co.

Victor Metalbac gaskets for manifolds, an exclusive product of the Victor Manufacturing & Casket Co., Chicago, were introduced to the St. Louis automotive trade last week by the Koochook Co., 2209 Pine street, Victor distributor in the Greater St. Louis area.

The Victor Metalbac is made with a one-piece steel jacket of pan-like design, which is filled with a layer of graphited asbestos firmly held in place by seamless flanging of the steel layer at port openings. Thus, the gasket is protected against the heat and pressure in modern high compression motors.

The Koochook Co. has the largest gasket stock in the Middle West, comprising over 4000 numbers and types at all times, according to W. M. Hudgins, general manager.

John N. Willys Will Address Engineers

John N. Willys will be the speaker at the annual dinner of the Society of Automotive Engineers in New York on Jan. 14. Willys, who is United States Ambassador to Poland, has long been connected with the automotive industry, having been for years president of the Willys-Overland Co. and later chairman of the board.

This banquet is the chief social function on the calendar of the Society of Automotive Engineers, and takes place on the Thursday evening of the week of the New York automobile show.

Dodge Executives Hold Conference With Dealers Here

General Sales Manager Van Der Zee Leads Group at St. Louis Session.

A group of executives from the Dodge Brothers plant in Detroit, headed by General Sales Manager A. van Der Zee, were in St. Louis on Monday to confer with the Milstrand Motor Co., the Dodge distributer, and Dodge dealers in the St. Louis area. The meeting in the afternoon at the Chase Hotel and a banquet at night were largely attended by Dodge dealers from this trade district.

Following the policy established last year, of not calling dealers into the factory for a conference in preparation for the start of a new year, two groups of Dodge Brothers executive left Detroit in opposite directions for a three weeks' trip from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf. Sixteen regional meetings will be held in key cities by the executives composing the group covering the eastern part of the country, and 12 meetings by the group traveling west.

Through these 28 meetings, all of which are to be held before Dec. 20, personal contact with all dealers in the vast Dodge distributing organization and their sales forces will be had, Van Der Zee said.

"We have been watching carefully and with a great deal of anticipation the recent upturn in the price of wheat and other grains, the steadying of bank credits, the increase in car loadings, the gains in steel tonnage and the unmistakable though slow return of employes to their former places in the store, office and shop," Van Der Zee said. "With these signs of returning business it is our belief that by holding our meetings with the dealers in their own territories instead of at the factory, we can make a clearer analysis of their individual and territorial problems and be in a better position to suggest remedies.

"We are keenly interested in markets in every part of the country; how they have been affected by or changed during 1931; and how they should be attacked during 1932. If business continues to turn upward, and the trends seem to indicate it will, then the time is propitious for obtaining first-hand, as much definite information as possible on the markets in various parts of the country.

"Because of our unbounded confidence in the ability of business men in this country to bring back good times by a concerted effort, and because of the inherent spirit of optimism prevailing throughout the Dodge organization, we believe that these intensive surveys and discussions with our dealers offer an opportunity to lay before them definite merchandising plans for 1932."

The cities scheduled for meetings with the Eastern group are: St. Louis, Memphis, New Orleans, Jacksonville, Atlanta, Greensboro, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Albany, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and Detroit. The personnel of the party head by Van Der Zee included W. S. Graves, truck sales manager; J. W. Hutchins, director of Plymouth sales for Dodge Brothers; F. N. Sim, director of advertising; W. R. Bamford, assistant to director of service; J. B. French of the Budd Body Co.; and R. W. Wolfers of Advertisers, Inc., advertising counsel for Dodge Brothers.

Single Order for 774 White Heavy Trucks

An order for 774 heavy duty trucks, the largest single truck order placed since World War days, has been received by The White Co. of Cleveland, from the City of New York.

The trucks will be used by the city for refuse and garbage collection and for snow removal, being equipped with newly designed bodies. This order increases New York City's fleet of White trucks to more than 1900, making this fleet one of the largest of high-grade trucks in the world.

Prepare for 1932 Auto Show.

The 1932 National Automobile Show will be held at the Grand Central Palace, New York City, Jan. 9 to 16. The Chicago show will be held in the Coliseum Jan. 30 to Feb. 6.

Miss Europe of 1930 Gets Hupmobile Car For Her Personal Use

Miss Aliki Diplarakos, crowned Miss Europe in 1930, went to Detroit recently for delivery of her personal car, a free-wheeling Hupmobile eight sedan.

Miss Diplarakos then went to New York, planning to ship her Hupmobile on the same boat, on which she took passage for Greece.

Her visit to the Hupmobile factory included a trip through Hupmobile's new engineering laboratories, where she was much interested in the cold room, donning an aviator's fur-lined suit to inspect an engine being tested in sub-zero weather.

Large Revenue in Gas Tax.

The motor fuel tax netted New York State $31,085,762 the fiscal year ended June 30, about $5,250,000 more than last year.

New Rockne Six To Be Sponsored By Studebak

Car Named for Late No Dame Coach in Low-Price Field—Two Wheel Bases.

The Rockne Six, the new au mobile named for the late Kn Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, w be manufactured in Detroit as project of the Studebaker Corpo tion. It will be distributed in th territory by Arthur R. Lindbu Inc., from headquarters at 22 Locust boulevard. The car and maker have been subjects of spe lation since the first veiled a nouncement of a new car to th trade by George M. Graham se eral months ago. It was name for Rockne because the famo coach was an executive of the St debaker Corporation and was sla ed to be elected a vice preside of the Rockne Motors Corporati at the close of the 1931 footba season.

The Rockne Six will be manufa tured in two lines, the lower pric to be called the Rockne Six "65" a an f. o. b. factory price of $ and up. The running mate to th line will be called the Rockne "75" and its low f. o. b. factor price will be $685. A total of nin models will be manufactured.

The Rockne Six "65" line will include a five-passenger, four-door sedan; a five-passenger, two-door coach; a five-passenger, two-door convertible sedan; a two-passenger convertible radster, with or without rumble seat, and a two-passenger coupe, also with or without rumble seat.

The Rockne "75" line will include a five-passenger, four-door sedan; a five-passenger, two-door convertible sedan; a two-passenger coupe available with or without rumble seat, and a convertible roadster.

Construction Details.

Both Rockne Six lines will have improved free wheeling in all forward speeds and synchronized shifting in conventional forward gears. There is an automatic locking out of free wheeling when reverse gear is used. Free wheeling control will be located on the instrument panel.

Switch-key starter, which positively prevents stalling, will be included on all cars.

All motors will be cushioned in live rubber at all four points of suspension.

Wire wheels, with wide chromium hub caps, will be standard equipment.

Aerodynamic bodies, designed by famous American body artists and scientifically moulded from front fender to tail light to reduce wind resistance and increase speed, provide a custom-salon beauty for the Rockne Six.

Sloping radiators, outlined with chromium, sloping windshields controlled by chromium plated hardware, bald header panels and streamlined tops and air-foil apron concealing the fuel tanks, are distinct Rockne Six features.

Interiors have beeen designed to provide abundant room for even the largest passengers.

Features include three-spoke steel-core safety steering wheels.

Drives Willys Six Sedan 3365 Miles in 65 Hours, 10 Minutes

Driving a stock Willys Six sedan twice in each 24 hours over a circuitous route of 500 miles in Iowa and Nebraska, "Speed" Bradford has just completed a run of 3365 miles, 200 miles farther than the distance from New York to San Francisco, in 65 hours, 10 minutes, at an average speed of 51.7 miles an hour.

Day and night Bradford drove the Willys Six sedan around the circular route and on arrival at 23 specified points was officially checked in. Because of stops required for meals, fuel and oil and the observance of traffic regulations in cities and towns, it was necessary, Bradford said, in order to keep to his schedule of 1000 miles a day, to maintain a speed of 70 miles an hour on the open highways.

Willys Sixes won first and second places in the 1930 Pike's Peak climb, repeating this feat in 1931. Between these two races the Willys Six, under official sanction and supervision of the A. A. A., established 16 new speed records for cars costing under $1000. These records included every one from 10 to 500 miles.

Service Managers Hear Addresses on Technical Matters

Three speakers on technical subjects addressed the Service Managers' Bureau of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association at its monthly meeting at the Gatesworth Hotel.

Robert E. Lee, managing director of the bureau, announced that the annual Christmas party of the bureau would be held Monday, Dec. 28. Dolph Moore, service manager for the Lambert-Tigges Motor Co., chairman of the bureau, presided.

"Headlights—Their Proper Maintenance and Adjustment" was the topic of Joseph Haenny of the Weaver Manufacturing Co.

H. G. Huhn of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., spoke at length on "Automobile Glass—Plain, Plate and Non-shatter." His talk indicated that nearly 75 per cent of all the plate glass produced in the United States was used in the automobile industry and that non-shatter glass was being adopted as equipment on many makes of automobiles.

The meeting was attended by nearly 100 service managers representing that many firm members of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association.

50% REDUCTION IN FORMER DEALER PRICES ON

H. B. CONSTANT POTENTIAL MOTOR GENERATOR CHARGERS

AS LOW AS $97.50

Constant Potential lets you recharge batteries in 6 to 8 hours with exactly the same kind of current with which plates are originally formed by the manufacturer—a low voltage, absolutely natural, direct current (not a rectified current).

Saves 30% to 50% on your electric bills. Gives a much peppier and longer-lived charge. Eliminates expensive renewals of transformers, bulbs and other units of the less efficient rectifier system. Saves time and labor handling batteries on the charging line, all of which means LARGER NET PROFITS than are possible with rectifier charging.

The better, quicker service, increasing your turnover and reducing your investment in rentals; also plays a big part in boosting your net profits. Besides, the efficient, business-like appearance of your Constant Potential Outfit will attract customers because it looks like more than just a "box on the wall."

'Blue Streak' Car to Be Announced Soon, Built for Roadability

Departing from much that is traditional in the way of automobile design, one of the strongly established Detroit companies has built an "eight" for 1932, which promises to be one of the sensations of the shows and of the following sales season.

The car, which has been called the "Blue Streak," is said to have demonstrated its right to the claims of its manufacturer in private demonstrations. Not the least of its surprises, as revealed to Automobile Topics is that probably it will sell in the $995 to $1195 price class.

Though the general design of the car and body strikes a new note in racy appearance, the chassis reveals just as distinct a departure from tradition, the outstanding characteristic being a marked lowering of the frame and body without sacrificing road clearance.

The effect of this is to give the car extraordinary roadability.

Formal announcement of the car will be made at an early date.

Rockne Six Car Will Be Project Of Studebaker

adjustable steering columns; aviation-type instruments; generous body insulation against noise, dirt and outside temperatures; artistic combinations of upholstery in cloth or leather, depending upon models; adjustable front seats; deep easy-chair cushions; hydraulic road-smoothing shock absorbers; cowl ventilators; automatic windshield cleaners, rear-vision mirrors, robe rail, foot rests, dome lights and arm rests in sedans.

Two Rockne Chassis.

An entirely new treatment of tops will be extremely light, simpto provide ease of raising or lowering never before achieved. These tops will be extremtly light, simply designed and rugged.

The Rockne Six "65" will have a 110-inch wheelbase and a motor that develops 65 horse-pow?er at 3200 revolutions per minute. High cruising speeds of 70 miles an hour will be delivered by this rubber-cushioned, vibrationless motor.

The "75" will have a 114-inch wheelbase and a 72 horse-power motor that will offer a consistent and smooth 70 miles an hour. Both motors have been built to the same uncompromising standards that have marked the manufacture of Studebaker's world champion President and Commander power plants.

The chassis frame of the "65" represents a modern departure from the conventional. Instead of the customary cross-member bracing, what engineers call "X-design" has been used. Great torsional strength has been added by another chassis improvement in the removal of all pedal supports from the motor, the pedals being anchored to the chassis frame.

"Rockne Motors will protect its dealers against price reductions," said Graham. "No deposits will be demanded. Dealers will be required to order only one month ahead.

"Our selling agreement provides that we will buy back cars and parts on an equitable basis when the company terminates a relationship. We will not unduly crowd our metropolitan dealers. Never will so many dealers be assigned to a locality that they cannot all have a reasonable opportunity of making money.

"The entire set-up has proved instantly popular with experienced dealers in all parts of the country. Already some of America's most successful retailers have been appointed. Long before show time we will have a national organization that will be as aggressive and as powerful as this remarkable new automobile demands."

The complete line of new cars will first be exhibited at the 1932 automobile show in New York City, and some models will be in production by the middle of December.

George M. Graham will be vice president in charge of sales of the Rockne Motors Corporation. He formerly was vice president of Pierce-Arrow and the Willys-Overland, Inc. Harold S. Vance, vice president of the Studebaker Corporation, will be president of Rockne Motors. Albert Russell Erskine, president of Studebaker, will be chairman of the board. R. A. Vail, formerly production manager for Dodge and later vice president of the Durant Motor Co., will be vice president in charge of production. R. E. Cole will be chief engineer. Frank L. Wiethoff will be sales manager.

Driving Car Only a Privilege.

The driving of a motor vehicle in the United States has been held by the Supreme Court to be not a constitutional right but a privilege that may be granted or revoked. The law classes the motor vehicle as a dangerous vehicle and the Legislature has delegated to the Registry of Motor Vehicles the power to grant and to revoke the driving privilege.

Car Built to Watch Airplanes.

A glass automobile is being built for Col. E. H. R. Green, multimillionaire son of the late Hetty Green, once known as America's richest woman. The glass roof will anble him, an aviation enthusiast, to watch airplanes overhead as he is motoring.

Qualifying Speed Stepped Up.

Motor speed cars must have a minimum speed of 100 miles an hour to qualify for the 500-mile automobile race to be run in Indianapolis, Ind., next May 30. The qualifying speed in the past has been 90 miles an hour. The 100 mile average must be maintained for 10 miles.

Every Cord Division Reports a Record Business This Year

For every division of the Cord Corporation 1931 has been its most successful year, L. B. Manning, executive vice president, announces. The fiscal year for the companies ended Nov. 30.

Auburn car sales were more than 150 per cent greater in actual units in the present fiscal year than in the same period last year, Manning said, with a gross volume of business totaling upyards of $34,000,000, exclusive of subsidiaries.

He pointed out that the Lycoming Manufacturing Co. had shown a very substantial gain in dollar volume and units, and that Duesenberg, Inc., another of the Cord Corporation divisions, had sold more than 85 per cent of all the cars built in American for $8500 and over. In the aircraft field, he said, the Stinson Aircraft Corporation built and sold 78 per cent of all the cabin airplanes in the country this year, as well as more tri-motor planes than all the other companies combined. He said:

"There is no miracle in the fact that our companies have just experienced their most successful year. Each is a specialist in its field, contributing to the requirements of all, and rounding out a self-contained manufacturing organization.

"The management of the Cord Corporation is the same as that which brought the Auburn Automobile Co. from obscurity to a top position in the industry. Today Auburn is in the front rank in engineering achievement, acceptance of products, volume of sales and financial stability. This growth has been made possible through engineering developments which offered permanency rather than expediency, and by giving the public each year better products of greater value at less cost. These same policies have been applied to each division of the Cord Corporation.

"Business is a continuous race, and the organization which wins must not only serve the public well at any one time, but must be in a position always to do this even better. The success of these companies in 1931 is a stepping stone to their future growth and expansion just as the success of previous years was to 1931."

Divisions of the Cord Corporation include: Auburn Automobile Co., Auburn, Ind.; Lycoming Manufacturing Co., Williamsport, Pa.; Duesenberg, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind.; Stinson Aircraft Corporation, Wayne, Mich.; Spencer Heater Co., Williamsport, Pa.; Central Manufacturing Co., Connersville, Ind.; Limousine Body Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.; Columbia Axle Co., Cleveland, O.; Century Air Lines, Inc., Chicago, Ill.; Century Pacific Air Lines, Ltd., Los Angeles, Cal., and L. G. S. Devices Corporation, Indianapolis, Ind.

A single application stops that miserable itching, and a single bottle often corrects obstinate irritations.

AMERICAN URGED AS WORLD BANK GROUP CHAIRMAN

Some Doubt in Basel That W. M. Stewart Will Accept, but It Is Said He Will Be Nominated.

By the Associated Press.

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 5.—Walter M. Stewart, due here tomorrow as the American representative on the World Bank Advisory Committee considering general reparations, was mentioned tonight as a possible chairman for the committee when it meets Monday. There is some question that he will be willing to accept the post, but it is said he will be nominated.

The Germany delegation already has begun informal conversations with the French and with officials of the world bank, and a Jugo-Slavian group is here to present its case, although it has no representation on the committee.

Observers look for a sharp fight between the bankers and the political representatives centering about the French insistence that reparations be paid before the private debts which Germany owes, principally to the United States and England.

This issue probably will dominate the private meetings of the committee, all of whose members are banking experts but some of whom have been very carefully instructed by their Governments.

Word from Paris said Gates W. McGarrah, president of the World Bank, had arrived on the way here, along with Albert H. Wiggin, representing American Bankers in this inquiry. Wiggin is going to Berlin.

Six Interesting Parties Over The Week-End

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Koehler Hosts at Tea for John Charles Thomas —Barbecue at Bridlespur Hunt Club.

SEVERAL interesting parties over the week-end have provided entertainment for as many different groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo A. Koehler of the Oxford apartments, were host and hostess at a mixed tea from 5 to 7 o'clock Friday afternoon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Thomas of New York. Mr. Thomas was the guest soloist at the Friday afternoon Symphony concert, and again last night. There were 75 guests, including Mrs. Clara Bell Walsh of New York, formerly of St. Louis, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Thomas to St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir Golschmann. Mr. Golschmann is the conductor of the orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Koehler are planning to go to Dalton, Mass., to spend the holidays with Mrs. Koehler's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Hunt and their baby daughter, Cornelia, who was born in August. Mrs. Hunt was Miss Virginia Koehler.

Members of the Bridlespur Hunt Club found amusement in a plantation barbecue that sizzled all day yesterday over hickory and sassafras logs and charcoal, in a pit on the club grounds, and served last night from steam tables to guests at a dinner in the temporary ball room adjoining the club.

Costumes of the guests varied from Colonial garb and the gingham frocks of cotton pickers to hunt clothes worn by some of the members at the clay pigeon shoot during the afternoon. The guests were seated at small tables covered with striped green, yellow and pink tablecloths, illuminated with lighted candles to match, in old-fashioned candlesticks, and decorated with bowls of fruit. Outside the low brick wall which encircles the room, were rows of cotton plants laden with balls of snowy white cotton and corn shocks which had been touched by the frost.

Japanese waiters, their faces blackened, wore overalls, colored shirts and bright bandanas.

During the dinner entertainers sang Negro spirituals and played accordions and harmonicas, and later an orchestra furnished music for dancing.

A dinner dance was given last night at the St. Louis Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. William C. D'Arcy, 6 Hortense place, for their debutante daughter, Miss Helen D'Arcy. Miss D'Arcy and her father received the guests in the lounge. Illness prevented the hostess from attending. The debutante wore the gown in which she served as maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball, a creation of white tulle encrusted with crystal and pearl beads. The gown was designed with a round neckline, cut to a deep V in the back and fitted the figure to the knees, where it flared to the floor. She wore a shoulder corsage of orchids.

A table seating 100 guests was arranged in the private alcove dining room for the guest of honor, the debutantes and their escorts. The table was decorated with crimson roses and white pompoms and lighted by red candles with deep red shades. At a smaller table similarly decorated Mr. D'Arcy entertained a small party of friends, in the main dining room.

At the debutante's table were Miss Ann Chittenen Ferriss, Miss Marjorie Capen, Miss Virginia Cave, Miss Eleanor Hoblitzelle, Miss Jaquelin Chapman, Miss Jane Bond, Miss Caroline Kennard, Miss Eleanor Conant, Miss Joan Pangman, Miss Helen Hemingway, Miss Marion Peters, Miss Ellen Walsh, Miss Elise White, Miss Mary Lucas Hart, Miss Marian Foley, Miss Betty Meston, Miss Mary Shipley, Miss Mettie Taylor, Miss Caro Holmes, Miss Mary Bolland Taussig, Miss Henriette Pirrung, Miss Caroline Simpson, Miss Sara Benoist and her guest, Miss Mildred Hill; Miss Marjorie McKittrick, Miss Marie Ball, Miss Katherine Boyd, Miss Louise Goddard, Miss Mary Jane Baumes and Miss Mary Dana.

At Mr. D'Arcy's table were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carlisle Pangman, Mr. and Mrs. Ley Peterson Rexford, Mrs. Marion Clifford Blossom, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lee and Harold Maxwell. Miss D'Arcy was formally presented at a tea given by her mother at their home early in November, and has been the guest of honor at many social affairs this season.

Preceding the party groups of the debutantes and their escorts were entertained informally by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. White, 325 Westgate avenue, for their daughter, Miss Elise White, and Mr. and Mrs. David Brewster, 5138 Waterman avenue, in honor of their niece, Miss Marion Peters, daugh-

Former St. Louisans Entertained in Paris

PARIS, Nov. 26.

MR. AND MRS. G. HAMILTON COLKET of Philadelphia are in Paris for a few weeks' stay at the Hotel Royal Monceau. They have been entertained by several former St. Louisans at dinner and tea, among them being Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Farish, who have a country home between Paris and Chartres. Mrs. Colket was formerly Miss Gladys Kerens of St. Louis. Her father, Richard C. Kerens, was United States Ambassador to Austria-Hungary from 1909 to 1913.

The Colkets will be in Paris until Dec. 1, when they leave for St. Moritz for two weeks of winter sports. They expect to be back at their home at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia about Jan. 1.

Among the many parties and celebrations that marked Thanksgiving in Paris was the series of affairs given by Mrs. J. Garfield Buell of Tulsa, Ok., for her daughter and her guest, who attend school in Switzerland. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. David Prentice Johnson and Mrs. Noel Carpender, at Sunday's party at the Hotel San Regis. Mrs. Johnson is taking an active part in the

Thrift Party Jan. 14 to Aid Welcome Inn

Only Out-of-Date Costumes Will Be Worn and Guests Will Take Own Lunch to Hotel Event.

A THRIFT party, which will merit its title by unfashionable and out-of-date costumes worn by the guests, a picnic basket dinner without the services of maids or butlers, and the inexpensive entertainment provided, is being planned by a group of prominent men and women and will be given at Hotel Chase the night of Jan. 14 at 7:30 o'clock for the benefit of Welcome Inn, an immediate food relief station under the approach to the Free Bridge.

The announcement of arrangements has been made by Mrs. James M. Franciscus, who has been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of Welcome Inn since its inception, and the committee will be composed of St. Louisans interested in the charity. Admission will be by invitation and no cards will be sold at the door.

Everything necessary to the giving of the party except the orchestra has been donated by friends of Welcome Inn. The hotel will provide tables, on each of which there will be only a pitcher of ice, cups, saucers, and cream and sugar for coffee, arranged in the palm, crystal and red rooms. The food will be largely a matter of individual choice, for each guest will bring his own. Several birthdays which will fall on that day will be celebrated by friends grouped about the honorees, who will furnish their birthday cakes and candles.

A motley collection of costumes is expected, for the stipulation that no woman buy a single article for her gown or accessories, but instead to wear a costume fashionable in another day or recreated from material at hand, has already sent many a matron to her well-stocked attic to search in chests and old trunks for hobble skirts, directoires, gowns with minaret skirts—in fact, gowns of any period up to the knee-length variety of a season or two ago. Wedding dresses of the mode now in vogue and those yellowed by years will be acceptable as costumes, and will vie for honors with bungalow aprons and the ribbon-trimmed dust caps once worn for every occasion from dusting to motoring. Prizes will be awarded for the oldest, prettiest and ugliest costumes.

The formal receiving line customary at all large functions will be dispensed with, and instead, 40 young woman ushers, working under the direction of Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace Jr. and Mrs. Marion Niedringhaus, will direct the guests to their tables. James H. Platt and Clarence O. Gamble will be co-chairman of a floor committee of 60 men who will arrange details. For the convenience of the guests, a soft-drink station will be constructed in the main dining room, with John D. Franciscus and James Lee Johnson in charge, assisted by 25 young men. Mrs. Harold M. Kauffman and Mrs. Eugene F. Williams Jr. will have charge of the cigars and cigarettes, which will be offered to the guests from chip baskets carried by 45 young women headed by Miss Janet Kauffman and Mrs. John D. Franciscus.

Mrs. Rufus Lackland Taylor, Mrs. Alfred H. Murphy and C. Drummond Jones will head a committee of 20 who will conduct bridge and backgammon games in the lounge and who will give advice as to the method of play.

Francis Niedringhaus and William Harrison Luyties, in charge of music and entertainment, have arranged for an amusing auction to be carried on between dances, and a hurdy-gurdy player with a monkey who will make the rounds of the room during the dinner. The gifts for the auction will include a pair of turk-hens. Two handsome vases, given anonymously by a friend of Welcome Inn, will be given to the women voted by the crowd to be the most popular in St. Louis. A hot dog stand will be in charge of John H. Hayward and a committee of young men and women.

The Junior League Service Bureau at Euclid and Maryland avenues will issue the invitations and will exchange them for tickets to the party.

Many Guests Coming Here for Holidays

MANY out-of-town guests have selected the Christmas holidays for visiting St. Louis. Among them are Miss Mary Weaver Harris of Nashville, Tenn., who will visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Pierce, 21 Vandeventer place. Several parties have been planned in her honor, including a mixed tea to be given Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, by Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and their son, Julius Pierce.

Marguerite Harding To Wed J. B. Cushing

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marguerite Le Tourneau Harding, daughter of Mrs. Ex J. Harding, 135 Selma avenue, Webster Groves, and John Branch Cushing, son of Edward Fuller Cushing, 26 East Rosemont avenue, Webster Groves.

The engagement was announced last Monday night at a bridge party given by Mrs. Harding at her home for 12 of her daughter's friends. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening, Dec. 22, at 8 o'clock at the Emmanuel Episcopal Church of Webster Groves, the Rev. J. Manly Cobb officiating. A reception will follow at the Harding home.

The bride will be attended by Mrs. Joseph W. Cushing, formerly Miss Elizabeth Zahorsky, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom, as matron of honor; Miss Georgianna Forcey, as maid of honor, and by Mrs. B. L. Neubeiser, St. Charles, Mo.; Miss Virginia Stratton, and Mrs. Perry Griffin, Decatur, Ga., as bridesmaids.

Joseph W. Cushing will be his brother's best man, and the ushers will include Kenneth W. Howe, Dr. C. E. Colgate, Edward Fuller Cushing Jr., Norman Chivvis and Victor Harry Rhodes, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom. Betsy Anne Cushing will be flower girl.

After a wedding trip Mr. Cushing and his bride will occupy Mrs. Harding's home.

Miss Harding is an alumna of the University of Kentucky, and is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She is a grandniece of the late Supreme Justice Elijah Norton of Missouri, and the late Ex Norton. Her grandfather was Col. William Lackland Harding of the Confederate Army, who was brought to St. Louis as a prisoner after the Battle of Shiloh in which he was wounded. The home of his brother, Roger Harding, situated at Twelfth street and Washington boulevard, was commandeered as officers' headquarters for the Union troops. On her mother's side Miss Harding dates her ancestry back to William Penn and Lord Baltimore.

Mr. Cushing's mother was Miss Anne Branch, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Branch, and prominent in the Episcopal diocese of Missouri. Through his father Mr. Cushing is related to the Bakewell family. He is an alumnus of the University of Missouri, and during the war commanded Company C, 353d Infantry, Eighty-ninth Division, overseas.

Holiday Parties For the College Set

INCLUDED among the Christmas festivities will be many parties for the college set, among them a dance to be given by Mrs. Guthrie McConnell, 401 North Newstead avenue, the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 29, at the Artists' Guild, Union and Enright avenues, in honor of her daughter, Miss Bliss McConnell, a freshman at Smith College.

Preceding the dance a dinner will be given by Mrs. Lionel Chambers, 6111 Pershing avenue, for her daughter, Miss Marie Chambers, also a freshman at Smith College.

Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Frederick W. Russe, 4380 McPherson avenue, have returned from a motor trip to Northampton, Mass., where they spent Thanksgiving with their daughters. Mrs. Russe's daughter, Miss Elizabeth, is a sophomore. Mrs. Russe and her daughter joined the former's son, Frederick W. Jr., at Harvard and attended the Yale-Harvard football game. Mrs. McConnell's son, Charles Knapp, a student at Cornell, also joined his mother at Northampton for Thanksgiving.

An entertainment for the debutantes for early January will include a theater party with supper and dancing at the Coronado Hotel, to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Cevedra D. Blake of the Kingsbury Apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent L. Price, 6320 Forsythe boulevard, Monday evening, Jan. 4. The party will be given in honor of Miss Mary Coit Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coit Day, Miss Helen D'Arcy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. D'Arcy, and Miss Eleanor Hoblitzelle, sister of Miss Trimble Hoblitzelle.

Invitations have been received for a mixed tea to be given New Year's day by Mrs. Firmin V. Desloge Jr. of Clayton road for Miss Jaquelin Chapman, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin G. Chapman, and Miss Caro Holmes, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes. The party will take place at the St. Louis Country Club and sharing honors will be Mrs. Desloge's cousin, Miss Mary Weaver Harris.

Party for School Set

MR. AND MRS. C. DRUMMOND JONES and Mrs. Edward Magnus entertained the school set last night in honor of their daughters, Miss Jacqueline Jones and Miss Emily Jane Magnus, at a dancing party given at Grant's Farm, the home of Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch on the Gravois road.

The living room and reception hall, transformed into a temporary ballroom for 100 guests, was lighted by Christmas candles, and log fires burning in two great fireplaces added a holiday touch.

A buffet supper was served at 11 o'clock in the dining room. Preceding the party Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bascom, 52 Portland place, entertained 40 of the young guests at their home for their daughter, Nancy. The guests of honor and Miss Bascom are students at Mary Institute.

Will Address Mothers' Club.

Mrs. J. P. Crowley, chairman of Mothers' clubs in St. Louis, will address a meeting of the Mothers' Club of the Little Flower School at the school next Thursday at 1:30 p. m.

social affairs of Paris.

Thanksgiving morning most of the Franco-American colony congregated at the Madeleine Church for the special services in English. This year's mass was attended by Cardinal Verdier himself, and was unusually brilliant. These annual religious services were started in Paris 10 years ago by Abbe Flynn, French priest, who had spent some time in various American cities. This year the French-American order of Cincinnati was the distinguishing feature of the ceremony. Marquis and Marquise de Chambrun, the latter an American woman, and cousin of Mrs. Skinker Matthews of St. Louis, were among those who attended, having just returned to France from the Yorktown celebration in America. The entire staff of the American Embassy was present and also representatives of President Doumer, Gen. Gouraud, military Governor of Paris. Abbe Flynn read President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation in English and a musical program was given by a chorus from the Opera Comique singing Bach, Haendel, Haydn, Mozart and Cesar Franck. The organ at the Madeleine is one of the finest in the world.

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and his wife were present, as they are in Paris for the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations. Other notables who were seen at the church were Marshall Petain and his wife, Gen. and Comtesse de Chambrun, who was the former Clara Longworth, and the Duc and Duchesse de Broglie.

Mrs. Julia McCall Masters and her daughters, Miss Jane Masters, are spending the winter in Paris on the Quai d'Horloge in the same apartment Mrs. Masters occupied last year. Miss Masters is attending school in Paris.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

A CHRISTMAS program of music will be given tomorrow at noon at Christ Church Cathedral by the Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Frank J. Keiser, president, and the Federation of Music Clubs, Mrs. Hugo Weimers, president.

This program will be under the leadership of Mrs. G. W. Coffman, music chairman of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Antonia Kutthoff, program chairman of the Federation of Music Clubs. The musical is open to the public.

With the meetings of the public welfare, international relations and motion picture committees, the work of the district has been closed until the new year.

Mrs. A. S. Hinchey, chairman of the public welfare department, received at the joint meeting of the 12 departments Wednesday a generous response to her appeal for Christmas cheer for the crippled children at the Missouri Baptist Hospital. Clubwomen were liberal with money, books and games so that these children will be well clothed and entertained during the winter. The program was given by the Gregory Studio players, under the direction of Olivia Gregory. Those taking part were: Miss Alice Geitz, Miss Tillie Schuhr, Miss Louise Stremmel, Miss Ruth Meyers, Mrs. Frank Weis, Mrs. Edna Cook, Miss Myrtle Aufterheide, Miss Martha Marie Berger, Mrs. O. Ballman, Miss Gladys Meyerott.

The International Relations Committee met Thursday with Miss Alves Long, State chairman of international relations, as the speaker.

The new motion picture department held its first meeting jointly with the better films council, with Richard Spamer as speaker. Officers of this department are: Mrs. Charles Ellis, chairman; Dr. Helen Gibson, vice chairman, and Miss Martha Jenkins, secretary.

The new Eighth District directory is ready for distribution and may be obtained from Miss M. Elizabeth Rich, 6025 Kingsbury boulevard.

Wilford M. Aiken, principal of the John Burroughs School, will speak before the College Club of St. Louis, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m., on "Entrance Requirements; Changes in Requirements of Senior High Schools; Changes in Requirements of Freshman Year of College." Tea will be served at 3 o'clock preceding the meeting by the Hospitality Committee assisted by the following members from Washington Universtiy: Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Miss Margaret Amend, Mrs. Carl Beckers, Miss Helen Bechtell, Mrs. Alfred P. Briggs and Miss Ethel Atherton.

Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Albert H. Leonard will lead the child study group in the discussion on the subject, "Discipline and Freedom." The Education Committee will present Miss Meta Eitzen on Wednesday at 3:45 p. m. She will speak on "The Junior College Movement," which is the third topic in the series on "Trends in College Education."

A called meeting of Cornelia Greene Chapter D. A. R. was held at Jefferson Memorial Wednesday to make arrangements for the Christmas party to be given Dec. 16 in the Congress Hotel tower room. Mrs. John Trigg Moss was chairman. Plans were made for a Christmas charities at the City Infirmary, Sunshine Mission and for private work in charge of Miss Essie Matlack, Mrs. Hannah O'Bannon, Mrs. B. H. St. John, Mrs. S. F. Silence, Mrs. W. Ovens and Mrs. K. C. Woodward.

After the business meeting the chapter adjourned to the south court of the Jefferson Memorial plaza to dedicate a pin oak tree planted in honor of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, which falls on next Feb. 22. The tree was dedicated by Mrs. Ida Miller. The poem, "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer, was read by Miss Essie Matlack and the tree planting song was given by Mrs. Ray Havens. The dedication closed with Washington's prayer by Mrs. Herbert Kreitz.

Miss Harriette McDowell will discuss "Women in the Field of Religion" at the regular meeting of Chapter FJ of P. E. O. Tuesday evening in the Church Federation mums. Clusters of the blossoms were arranged in a large black vase on the piano, at which Miss Jane Morgens, sister of the bride, gowned in red chiffon, played the wedding music.

Miss Ruth Morgens Weds C. D. Sommerich

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in turquoise blue crepe Romaine made on fitted lines with a circular insert falling from inverted pleats to the floor. The only trimming was a deep yoke and sleeves of cream a'Alencon lace. She carried Talisman roses.

Mrs. Clart Sperry, Port Huron, Mich., a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a gown of Persian rose triple chiffon with sleeves heavily embroidered with paillette sequins. She carried Joanna Hill roses. Roy Muensch was best man.

After an informal reception Mr. and Mrs. Sommerich departed for a wedding trip. They will occupy an apartment in University City.

The bride is a graduate of the Washington University School of Law, and is said to be the youngest woman admitted to the bar in Missouri. She also attended Pratt Institute in New York, and has traveled abroad. She is a member of Delta Gamma. Mr. Sommerich is a graduate of the Architectural School of Washington University, and a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Kirkwood

MRS. CHARLES F. BROWN, 598 North Taylor avenue, arrived home Saturday, Nov. 28, from a visit of two weeks with relatives at Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. John Pitman of Long Island is expected to arrive today for a visit of several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Lorraine F. Jones, of Ivy Lodge.

Bishop William Scarlett of St. Louis will occupy the pulpit of Grace Episcopal Church at the morning service. There as yet has been no successor appointed to succeed the Rev. Francis J. Bloy, who departed in October for La Jolla, where he is rector of St. James-by-the-Sea.

A studio tea will be given this afternoon at the Studio Guild, Argonne drive and Fillmore avenue, with Mrs. Vandalia Burgy of Webster Groves as the hostess. One hundred guests have been invited. Preceding the tea there will be a recital with the following persons taking part: Miss Georgiana Forcey, Miss Mildred Gausman, Miss Frances Goetz, Miss Mary Keisker, Miss Jane Konesko, Miss Ileita Moffet, Miss Virginia Perkins, Miss Alice Spalding, Mrs. Beatrice Carter Hyndman and Mrs. A. L. Bickmore. Vernon Carter will play the violin obligato.

Mrs. Clark Tippens of Nashville, Tenn., is the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitz-Gerald, 541 North Clay avenue. Mrs. Tippens, who is a portrait painter of note, does her work under the name of Jamie Ross Tippens.

Col. and Mrs. Nelson Edwards, 520 East Monroe avenue, departed last week for Lexington, Va., where they will remain until after the Christmas holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spear Glasgow. Col. and Mrs. Edwards will leave Lexington early in January for Daytona Beach, Fla., to spend the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Betts, 123 Peeke avenue, will be hosts at an informal buffet supper and musicale this evening.

Mrs. B. O. Newell, 421 North Kirkwood road, arrived home last week from a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parkinson, Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. Wyllis King, 240 East Argonne drive, will be hostess at a meeting of the Tuesday Club of Kirkwood, Dec. 15. Her daughter, Mrs. John Hamilton, will be assistant hostess.

Mrs. Josephine Drake Boyd, 630 North Taylor avenue, entertained her bridge club at luncheon Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Mary Broderick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Broderick, 360 North Woodlawn avenue, will entertain a few friends at an informal tea tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Paul C. Knowlton, 113 West Clinton place, was hostess to her bridge club at luncheon Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Morgan, 700 North Taylor avenue, entertained at a buffet supper Thursday evening in honor of Miss Margaret Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cunningham, whose marriage to Dr. Ryland P. Ayers, Maplewood, will take place Dec. 21.

Announcement has been made of the marriage Wednesday, Nov. 25, of Miss Flora Thane of Essex avenue to Paul Bopp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Bopp, 659 North Clay avenue. The marriage took place at Concordia Lutheran Church with the Rev. W. Maschoff officiating. They have taken an apartment at 555 Melville avenue, University City.

The Needlework Guild held its annual display of garments collected for presenation to the needy at the Presbyterian Church, Adams avenue and Kirkwood road, Friday afternoon, Nov. 27. There were more than 3600 garments and a generous amount of money turned over to the president of the Kirkwood branch, Mrs. Benjamin H. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson will superintend the distribution of the garments and money through the Kirkwood Welfare branch of the County Welfare Association.

Mrs. Bernard L. Tatman, 221 Way avenue, departed last week to visit relatives at Indianapolis, Ind.

TRAVEL NOTES

MISS MARTHA PETTUS, daughter of Mrs. Charles Parsons Pettus, Westmoreland place, is spending a week with her cousin, Miss Virginia Wright in Pittsburg, Pa., having accompanied Miss Wright East last week. Miss Wright has been Miss Pettus' guest here for the last fortnight. Miss Pettus will go to New York to spend a week at the Junior League headquarters in the Waldorf Astoria, returning home before Christmas.

Mrs. Henry M. Meier has returned to Pasadena, Cal., after spending the autumn with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dencan I. Meier of Huntleigh Village. Mrs. Meier will remain in California until late in the spring, when she will open her summer home at Harbor Point, Mich.

Mrs. Frederick C. Lake, 4860 Westminster place, is in the East visiting her sisters, Mrs. John Grisel and Miss Elsie Rogers of New York, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Preston Phillips of Yonkers, N. Y. She is expected home about Dec. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Holliday, 20 North Kingshighway, will leave after the holidays for Pasadena, Cal., to visit Mrs. Holliday's mother, Mrs. William C. Stribling.

Mrs. Ewell Smith of Denver, Colo., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lenora Poindexter, 5951 Washington boulevard. She will remain until after Christmas when she will join Mr. Smith in Chicago.

Mrs. Norman Windsor, president of the Child Conservation Conference, is in Washington, attending the conference on home building and home ownership called by President Hoover.

Miss Frances Ravarino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ravarino, 476 Hawthorne avenue, Webster Park, has returned from a short visit with friends at Pittsburg, Pa. She attended the Pitt-Nebraska football game.

Lindenwood College Queen Is Announced

MISS LOIS McKEEHAN, Hot Springs, Ark., was announced at Lindenwood College as "Popularity Queen" Friday night at the annual Christmas dance given jointly by Alpha Sigma Tau, honorary literary fraternity, and Alpha Mu Mu, honorary music fraternity. Miss McKeehan is president of the senior class and is assistant regent of Niccolls Hall, besides being a leader in Alpha Sigma Tau, Pi Gamma Mu, hockey, the campus newspaper and other activities.

The Christmas celebration included an original musical pageant, "Christmas in Many Lands," written by Miss Margaret Jean Wilhoit, in which five national "Queens" first made their appearance, represented respectively by Miss Jane Babcock, for England; Miss Dorothy Winter, France; Miss Eleanor Kreickhaus, Spain; Miss Audrey McAnulty, Italy, and Miss Maxine Namur, Germany. Miss McKeehan was introduced as the American queen. As each queen was presented, songs in the queen's language were sung by Miss Tearle Seiling and Miss Dolores Fosher, accompanied by Miss Katherine Davidson, violin, and Miss Doris Oxley, piano. The prologue was read by Miss Gretchen Hunker.

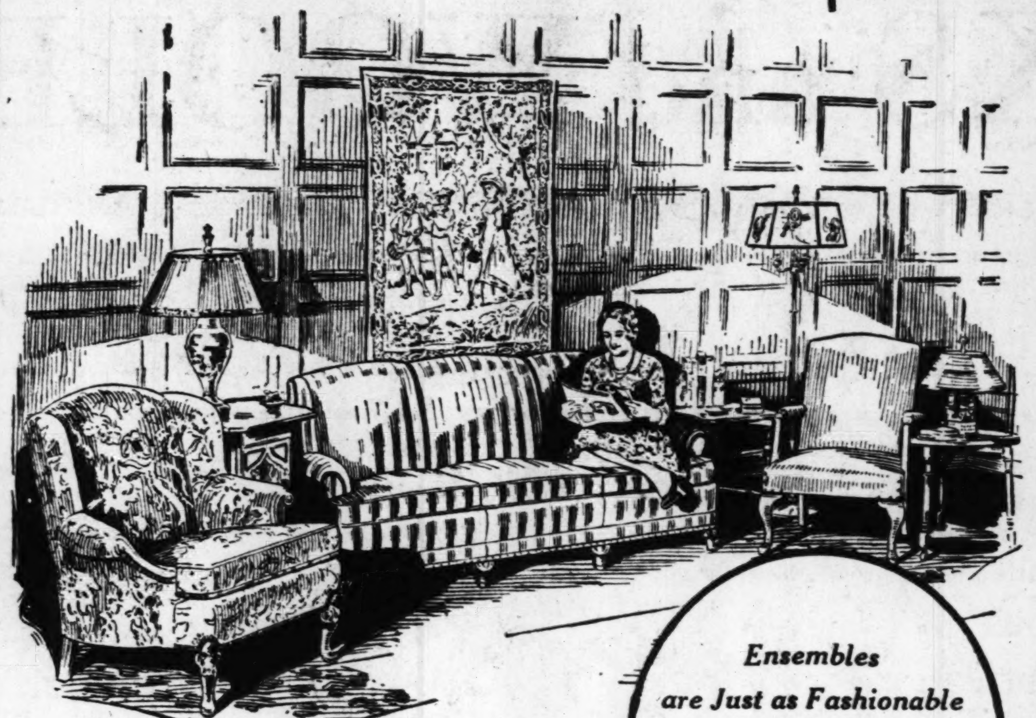
Fashions for the Home

by Corinne Hardesty



Ensembles are Just as Fashionable in Furniture as in Apparel

Home Furnishings Should Be Harmoniously Grouped for Beauty, Comfort and Convenience.

The ensemble idea has taken hold in home furnishings as completely as it has in apparel. No woman would be seen in a costume which was not carefully related in all its parts—shoes, hat, bag, hose, frock and coat—and it is becoming increasingly accepted that no home can be well furnished without employing the ensemble idea.

The smartly harmonious grouping of related though not exactly matched pieces is the fashion. This is evidenced by the fact that period furniture—pieces which have been reproduced from or inspired by the designs of one of the historic furniture periods—is definitely more fashionable than mongrel, matched pieces. Many pieces from one period, or from several periods having some common characteristics, are brought together in one room. Harmony comes from the careful selection of pieces of similar line and proportion.

French Provincial designs are now being widely utilized for inspiration and patterns for furniture for the modern home. This style is one of the most fashionable for the fall and winter of 1931. The woman who wants her living room, dining room or bedroom to be smartly furnished, will not go wrong in deciding to give it a definite French Provincial tone.

The same statement may be made regarding a number of other authentic furniture styles. Early American is smart for the bedroom, for the child's room and for the kitchen. It is also in good fashion for the informal living room, especially for the small apartment or cottage type of home.

Early English furniture will make an up-to-date and very comfortable living room or dining room. Oak, in dull rich finish, is the popular wood for this furniture as it lends itself to the heavy, shallow carving which is the characteristic embellishment of the Jacobean and Tudor styles.

Reproductions based on styles of the noted English designers of the eighteenth century can be depended upon to bring the living room up to the moment in fashion. With careful selection these may be pleasingly harmonized with non-period pieces and the room given a smart appearance without complete refurnishing.

Christmas Party For Goodwill Workers

THE Woman's Auxiliary of the Goodwill Industries will give a Christmas party for the employes Wednesday, Dec. 23. A program will be given, there will be Christmas carols and refreshments will be served. Baskets of groceries will be given to the persons who work in the factories and to the needy of the neighborhood.

The members of the auxiliary met every month at Mrs. Bradley's tea room, Kingshighway and West Pine boulevard, when reports are given by officers and representatives of organizations who are interested in the work. The special work of the auxiliary is the nursery where 40 children, whose mothers are employed in the factories, are taken for the day, given their meals and care. The auxiliary also assists with the expenses of the summer camp at Trinity Farm where the children spend 10 weeks in the summer.

Mrs. George A. SMEDLEY D. BUTLER TO SPEAK

Smedley D. Butler, former Director of Public Safety in Philadelphia, who recently resigned as Major-General in the Marine Corps, will address the Liberal Forum of the Y. M. H. A., Union boulevard and Enright avenue, at 8:30 o'clock this evening. His subject will be "This Crime Problem."

Gen. Butler, who rose from the ranks, resigned from the Marine Corps, he said, because officials were over-partial to Annapolis graduates and he doubted the probability of his promotion to ranking officer, a position he felt he deserved in time.

SUE AS DAUGHTERS OF FURNITURE MAN TO SHARE $60,000

Misses Margaret and Cecilia Ruhlman Assert Late St. Louisan Left Their Mother in Chicago.

CLAIM DISPUTED BY WIDOW HERE

Deposition of Woman Who Has Since Died, Saying She Was First Wife, Read at Trial.

The suit of Misses Margaret and Cecelia Ruhlman, sisters, for a share in the $60,000 estate of John Ruhlman, furniture dealer, who died in 1927, wa staken under advisement by Circuit Judge Hartmann yesterday.

The petitioners, members of a Catholic order in Wisconsin, assert they are the daughters of the marriage of Ruhlman and Miss Ellen Becker. Their claim as heirs is disputed by Ruhlman's widow, Mrs. Anna Ruhlman, 4449A Easton avenue, to whom he left the bulk of his estate. She told the Court she was married to Ruhlman in Windsor, Ont., four years before the date petitioners declared he married their mother.

Portions of the deposition of Mrs. Ellen Becker Ruhlman, who died since the suit was filed, were read at the trial. She had testified Ruhlman married her in Chicago in 1884 and that he left her after the birth of their second daughter, Cecelia; subsequently, hearing he had died, she was married again. It was years later before she learned he was still living, according to the testimony.

Testimony of Mrs. Anna Ruhlman was to the effect that she and her husband came to St. Louis in 1890. Two children were born of their marriage, and they and the widow were named in his will as beneficiaries. However, as the bulk of the estate, consisting of realty, stood in the joint names of husband and wife the latter as survivor became absolute owner.

Should the claimants be held to be heirs they would be entitled to half of this realty, since Ruhlman, it is averred, could not legally sign away the dower interest of their mother. In addition, it is contended the fact he omitted their names from his will makes the document void as to them.

At the trial the sisters were represented by Robert J. Keefe of the firm of Igoe, Carroll, Higgs & Keefe. E. W. Banister appeared for the defense.

Another suit is pending in Probate Court by the same plaintiffs seeking to establish their right of heirship. In the Circuit Court action it is sought to sell the realty, with a distribution of the proceeds among the different rightful heirs.

NEW YORK THEATER GUILD OPENS SUBSCRIPTION BUREAU

Office to Make Reservations for "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," Which Will Play at American.

A subscription department of the New York Theater Guild has been established in the manager's office of the American Theater to receive reservations for the Guild's third season in St. Louis, which opens Dec. 14 with Gilbert Miller's production of Philip Barry's play, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow."

The second offering will be John Golden's presentation of Rachel Crothers' comedy, "As Husbands Go," which will open on Christmas night. Three other plays are included in the series.

Miss Lucile Luttrell, one of the Guild's subscription secretaries, is in charge of the special office at the American.

I. C. C. PERMISSION SOUGHT TO BUY COUNTY PHONE LINES

Southwestern Bell Has Agreed to Pay $169,000 for Creve Coeur and Ballwin Concerns.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit it to buy two small suburban telephone companies in St. Louis County, Mo. The company said it has agreed to pay $89,125 for the Creve Coeur Mutual Telephone Co. and $81,828 for the Ballwin Mutual Telephone Co.

The application said that many persons who work, or have their business in St. Louis, live in the two sections and there is an insistent demand for better co-ordinated telephone service between their homes and the city.

CONTEMPT ACCUSATION AGAINST PICTURE MEN

Stockholders Allege 3 Officers Failed to Obey Court Order.

A motion for a contempt citation against three officers of Skouras Brothers Enterprises, Inc., now in receivership, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by seven stockholders, who allege the officers failed to comply with an order of court to turn over bond and stock certificates to the receivers.

Officers named in the suit are H. M. Warner, Abel C. Thomas and Samuel Carlisle, all of New York City.

The securities involved include $1,000,000 in bonds secured by mortgages on the Ambassador, Missouri and Grand Central Theaters; certificates for 55 per cent of the stock of the St. Louis Amusement Co.; stock of the Central Properties Co.; certificates of 50 per cent of the stock of Skouras Super-Theaters, Inc., and stock of the St. Louis Properties Co., Downtown Theater Co. and Buland Amusement Co.

Judge Hogan, who several days ago appointed Jesse W. Barrett, former Attorney-General of Missouri, and Walter Nohl, an attorney, as receivers, took no action on the motion.

A motion challenging the appointment of the receivers was filed by defendants in the receivership, who asked that the appointments be set aside.

Notice that former United States Senator James A. Reed and his law partner, James A. Taylor, with former Circuit Judge Rhodes E. Cave, have been engaged as associate counsel for the defendants in the receivership was given.

H. W. C. WALTKE, LUTHERAN TEACHER FOR 47 YEARS, DIES

Succumbs to Cerebral Hemorrhage at 72; Nephew of Founder of Soap Company.

Henry W. C. Waltke, a teacher in Lutheran parochial schools in and near St. Louis for 47 years, died of a cerebral hemorrhage yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. H. Moegle, 2100A Ann avenue. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Waltke was born in Hahlen, Germany, and came to the United States when 16 years old. Schools in the city in which he taught were the Bethlehem, Old Trinity and St. Trinity schools. He was superintendent of the Lutheran Orphans' Home at Des Peres, Mo., for six years and for 20 years was treasurer of the western district of the Lutheran Synod of Missouri.

He was a nephew of William Waltke, founder of a soap manufacturing firm bearing his name, who died in 1916. Surviving him are four daughters, Mrs. Moegle and Mrs. Martin Lauenstein of St. Louis, Mrs. E. C. Schutt of Okawville, Ill., and Miss Rose Waltke of Los Angeles, Cal., and a son, Edwin Waltke of Los Angeles.

Heads Special War Camp.

William B. Landes was elected commander of the Hamilton Fish Jr. Camp No. 1, United Spanish War Veterans, at a meeting last week.

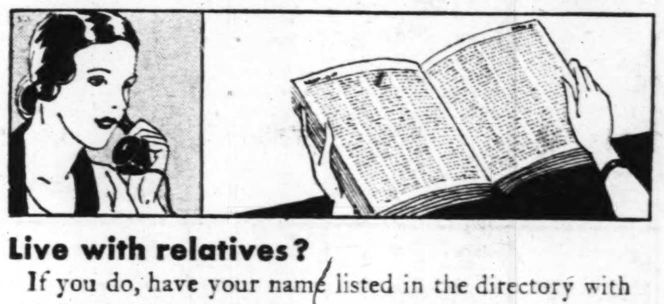
Helpful "Extras"

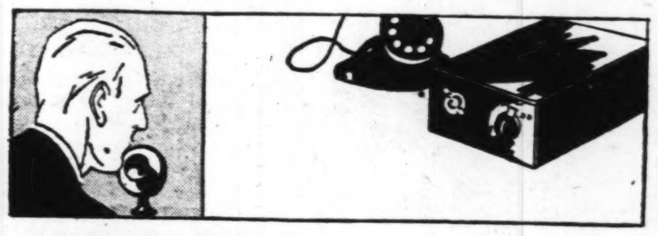


Live with relatives?

If you do, have your name listed in the directory with their telephone number so friends can reach you easily. Ask for an additional directory listing. Cost . . . 25 cents a month.

Your line busy?

With an individual line, your telephone never will be in use except when you or some member of your family is using it. Privacy is assured. Costs slightly more than party-line service.



Hearing impaired?

An amplifying set helps many who hear with difficulty. The amplifier is cut off with a key when others use the telephone. Demonstration free. Cost . . . $2 a month additional.

Miss important calls?

You can hear the telephone ring easily, if you have an "extension gong" in the basement, or near the back of the house. They cost little.

Talk in privacy

A "cut-off key," for those with more than one telephone, "cuts off" one telephone while you talk in privacy over the other. It also silences upstairs telephone bells during afternoon naps

Tell Long Distance: "I want New York, Main 4097," or "I'll talk to anyone who answers at the home of (name and address of your friends)."

Usually the operator gets them while you hold the line. It takes less than 2 minutes to complete the average long distance call and you'll hear them as clearly as though they were across the street.

Low rates at night

After 8:30 p. m. station-to-station calls (when you call a telephone rather than a specific person) usually cost little more than half the day rate.

You save money placing station-to-station calls after 8:30 when you're reasonably sure the person you want is near the called telephone.

For example: three-minute visits after 8:30 p. m. station-to-station

6 reasons for having a Telephone

The best reason for having a telephone, as one telephone user says, is not having one. Consider the many things a telephone does for you:

1. Brings the grocery boy . . . when the weather is bad outside . . . when you've forgotten something . . . when you're tired.
2. Breaks the monotony of long afternoons, when you visit with friends and relatives.
3. Puts your name in the telephone book to direct friends to your home.

Aviation's Progress From Stunt Flying To General Utility

42 Companies Now Hauling Passengers, Mail and Express, Covering 140,000 Miles Every 24 Hours on 239 Routes — Even the 'Barnstormer' Is Changed.

CIVIL aeronautics has progressed in the last few years in the United States from the doubtful position of a dare-devil stunt to a place in the general commerce and industry of the nation.

Where a decade ago commercial aviation consisted of a group of former Army pilots "barnstorming" the county fair circuits, there are today 42 companies engaged in the transportation of passengers, mail, and express in the United States and to foreign countries in the Western Hemisphere. These companies are operating 98 passenger, 73 mail and 68 express routes, and their airplanes are covering about 140,000 miles every 24 hours. During 1930 the scheduled services flew a total of about 37,000,000 miles, an increase of about 10,000,000 miles over the previous year.

The first step in the establishment of an air mail system in the United States was made possible when Congress appropriated $100,000 in 1918 for an experimental air mail route. The first flight under this program was made over a route between Washington and New York on May 15, 1918, by an Army pilot in an Army plane.

Transcontinental Development.

The Army continued to fly the route until the following August, when the Postoffice Department provided its own pilots and equipment. One round trip was flown daily, except Sunday, and the line continued in operation until June, 1921, when the experiment was concluded. It was about this time also that an experimental line was operated between St. Louis and Chicago. This line, operating from Forest Park, was discontinued for lack of patronage. The first postage rate was 24 cents an ounce, later reduced to 16 cents, 6 cents, and finally to 2 cents.

The necessity for reducing the rate did not discourage the Postoffice Department. A few months of operation convinced Department officials that air mail was practical and valuable for transmission of letters between cities farther apart than a night's journey by train, so it was decided to inaugurate a transcontinental route.

In May, 1919, the first plane was flown on that part of the projected cross-country line between Cleveland and Chicago. On June 1, operations were extended from Cleveland to New York, and the following year saw the service extended westward to Omaha. On Sept. 8, 1920, the final link between Omaha and San Francisco was established. Although operating only a daylight schedule, 22 hours was saved in the transportation of mail from coast-to-coast.

Start of Night Flying.

To get the full advantage of the speed of aircraft in the mail service, it was necessary to arrange for night flying. The Postoffice Department arranged for the installation of radio and airway lighting, the first lights being installed between Cheyenne, Wyo. and Chicago. Through transcontinental service, with day and night flying, began July 1, 1924. At the same time a special air mail postage rate was adopted. Th country was divided into three zones, with the charge for each zone being 8 cents an ounce. Later a flat rate of 10 cents a half ounce was established, and, in August, 1928, the present rate of 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce was fixed.

Until 1926, domestic air mail development was carried on entirely by the Postoffice Department. But the Department had never intended to establish itself permanently in the air mail business, and the Kelly Act, passed in 1925, authorized the awarding of air mail contracts to private carriers at a rate not to exceed $3 a pound. Awarding of contracts began in 1926, and at the end of the year 14 routes were operating under the Kelly Act.

One of the contracts thus awarded was for service between St. Louis and Chicago. The contractor was the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, which employed as its chief pilot Charles A. Lindbergh. The two other pilots in this service were Phil Love, now commander of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service, Missouri National Guard, and the late Tommy Nelson. Operation was from Lambert Field, now the municipal airport.

750,000 Pounds a Month.

The Air Commerce Act of 1926 gave further impetus to the development of the air mail service through establishing the Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce to equip and maintain the nation's airways. Beacon lights, emergency fields, and

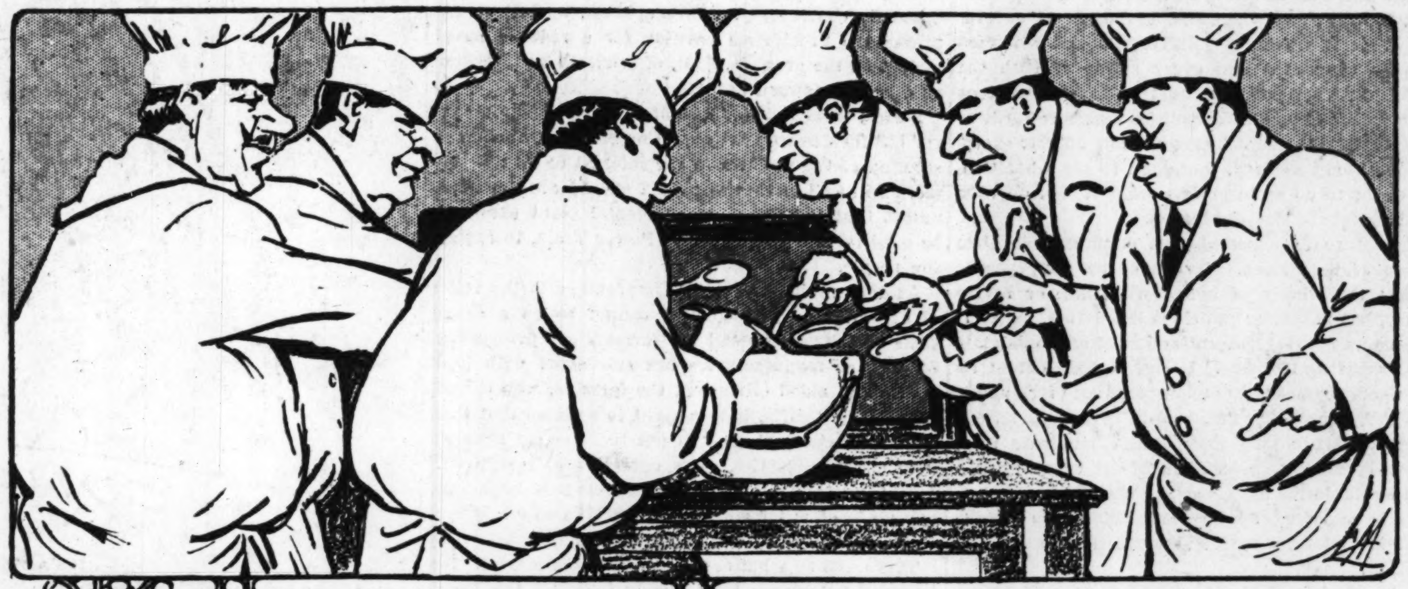
—And Now a New Congress Assembles With Political Dynamite on Every Side

Preview of Problems and Forces Lined Up to Solve Them

A Number of Issues, Some of Them the Most Momentous of Any Since the War, Confront Political Parties of Almost Equal Strength — As Usual, Partisanship Will Play Its Part With Voice and Vote.



By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.

ISSUES of far-reaching importance to the nation—to its general welfare and to the pocketbook of each individual—confront the Congress whose first regular session will begin next Monday. Certainly not since the war has any Congress assumed its duties in circumstances so charged with momentous legislative possibilities.

This is not to say that the outcome of its deliberations will at all points be momentous. Like all Congresses, it will shunt many issues to the future, and, because of the political factors involved, it will deal with others in a way not calculated to produce abiding results. Owing to the close division between the two parties in both the House and the Senate, there is the prospect, moreover, of a legislative stalemate on important questions, and this prospect is heightened by the fact that the House will be under a political control antagonistic to the Republican President.

Nevertheless, the chance remains that the Congress by some of its legislation will materially affect the economic and social structure of the country. In any event, its debates will be uncommonly interesting. Anyone who follows them closely will see the truth of what has often been stated in these columns—that nearly all the great questions before Congress are concerned ultimately with the distribution of wealth. He will see, too, that when questions of this kind are up for decision, party labels count for very little. The economic views of a Congressman are of vastly more significance than his political affiliation and they are also of more significance at the moment, it might be added, than what he thinks about prohibition.

Politics Will Tinge Session.

The coming session will be politically minded to an unusual degree, for it will meet on the eve of a presidential campaign which the Democrats, by all signs, have a genuine chance to win, and it will run close up to the time of the national nominating conventions. This will be the so-called "long" session of Congress, without fixed date of expiration, but its adjournment in time to permit the members to attend the party conventions is virtually certain.

Throughout the session, the thunders of partisan oratory from the Harrisons among the Democrats and the Watsons among the Republicans will roll without ceasing. In a great deal of what is done and attempted on both sides, the political motive will be easily discernible.

There is, in short, political dynamite all over the place, and a series of explosions is inevitable.

For the first time in 12 years the Democrats—failing some miraculous intervention in aid of their opponents—will control the House. By virtue of the upset this week in the normally Republican Fifth District of New Jersey, they now have 219 votes in the House, or five more than the Republicans. The Farmer-Labor member from Minnesota, Kvale, no longer holds the balance of power. Under Democratic control John N. Garner of Texas, will be elected Speaker of the House to succeed the late Nicholas Longworth. As compensation for the large number of committee chairmanships destined to go to Southern members, the Democratic floor leadership will be awarded to the Northern wing of the party. Henry T. Rainey, the Illinois veteran, has been settled upon for this post.

Issues Created by Depression.

In the Senate the line-up will be 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and 1 Farmer-Laborite. The Republicans are expected to organize this branch, though it is possible that Senator Moses will be unhorsed as President pro tempore and another Republican put in his place. The balance of the power in the Senate is held by a group of 12 to 14 Progressives, who constitute, for all practical legislative purposes, a third party. Actual control of the Senate, as in the last Congress, will be in the hands of a coalition whenever the Democrats and the Progressives see fit to make common cause.

HENRY T. RAINEY, of Illinois,
Democratic leader in the House.

©BACHRACH.

JOHN N. GARNER, of Texas,
Who will be Speaker of the House.

Asked recently to name the leading issues before the incoming Congress, Senator Walsh of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, replied: "Revenue and unemployment."

That is a correct statement. Both these issues arise from the great depression, and under them can be grouped a multitude of contentious questions before the Congress. The depression, indeed, will have its effect on practically every important thing that the session does. Its shadow will reach into every Congressional sitting, every caucus and every committee room.

That phase of the revenue issue which concerns the taxpayer most intimately is the question of how the new tax burden shall be distributed. For it is now certain that new taxes will be levied. The Government's deficit for the last fiscal year was $903,000,000, and for the first five months of the present fiscal year it has exceeded $840,000,000. It is growing every month and every day. The Government cannot keep on borrowing to meet its needs. There is only one alternative—increased taxes—and the question, fundamentally, is to what extent these taxes shall be taken from the incomes of the very rich.

The Post-Dispatch has already sufficiently outlined the differences between the two schools of thought on the taxation problem. Concrete proposals already advanced include, on the one hand, a "broadening" of the tax base through sales taxes and perhaps also through higher levies in the low income brackets, and, on the other hand, a program that would confine the increased levies to the estate tax and the high brackets of the income tax. The President's views on the subject, to be given in his annual message to the Congress, are awaited with keen interest.

Only Tariff Tinkering Likely.

Under the general heading of revenue comes also the tariff. That there will be heavy oratorical firing against the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill is certain, but this will not necessarily presage any downward revision of the rates. It is always to be remembered that the Hawley-Smoot bill, while primarily a Republican party measure, could not have been enacted without the aid of Democratic votes. A general tariff revision at this time appears to be out of the question. The most that can be expected is a series of bills reducing specific schedules In combination with the Progressives, the Democrats will have the power to throw upon the President the onus of saying yes or no to various rate-cutting measures, and they may elect, if only for political purposes, to do this.

There is a striking parallel between the present political situation, with respect to the tariff, and that which followed the enactment of the Payne-Aldrich law under President Taft. This law, it will be recalled, was a large factor in producing the upset that gave the Democrats control of the House in 1911-12 and vested in Republican Insurgents the balance of power in the Senate. That is the precise condition we have today.

In 1911-12, the Congress passed numerous bills reducing or abolishing duties in the Payne-Aldrich Act, and President Taft vetoed them. Will this Congress of 20 years later attack the Hawley-Smoot bill in the same way, and, if it does, will Mr. Hoover also follow precedent? These are questions with interesting political implications. Mr. Taft's defeat for re-election in 1912 is a factor, of course, not absent from the calculations of those Democrats who would like to see the strategy of the sixty-second Congress repeated by the seventy-second.

The unemployment issue will bring out numerous measures for immediate relief and for mitigation of similar conditions in the future. Bills will be introduced for a great bond issue, of $2,000,000,000 or more, to finance a Federal public works program, and other proposals will call for immediate appropriations from the Federal Treasury to relieve distress in the present emergency.

Other Ills, Other Remedies.

Compulsory unemployment insurance will be urged. Senator Wagner of New York will ask for repassage of his bill to create a co-operative Federal-State employment service, which the President vetoed last March. Bills will be offered to require the Federal Farm Board to turn over to the Red Cross the wheat it has purchased for stabilization purposes, this wheat to be converted into flour and distributed among the needy.

During the last Congress the administration strongly opposed all measures for direct Federal relief, and there is no indication that it has changed its position. The chances are that the old fight centering around "Federal doles" will be promptly resumed and will rage throughout the session.

So many other issues will arise that it is possible within the limits of this prospectus to do hardly more than catalogue them.

Up for immediate action will be the Hoover intergovernmental debt moratorium, our share in which requires the suspension of war-debt payments to the United States for the year beginning July 1, 1931. Advance pledges received by the President from the leaders of both parties assure the ratification of the moratorium, but it will not be accomplished without a flood of oratory covering the whole field of our foreign relations.

Foreign affairs promise to play in this Congress a more prominent part than at any time since the famous fight over the League of Nations. Among the matters provocative of extensive debate are the war debts, the coming disarmament conference at Geneva, Senator Borah's renewed demand for the recognition of Soviet Russia and last, but not least, the long-standing question of whether the United States, as recommended by President Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, should enter the World Court. On December 16, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is scheduled to take up the question of reporting to the Senate the World Court protocols embodying the Root formula for American adherence.

A hot battle is in prospect between those who would hold down appropriations for the Navy and those who, like Senator Hale of Maine would vote funds to build it up to the full limit permitted by the London treaty. This would cost upward of $800,000,000 spread over a term of four or five years.

Problems Still to Be Solved.

The Philippine independence question will be agitated pro and con, with the possibility of definite action looking to independence. Much of the support for the independence movement is based not on altruistic grounds, but on the desire to make Philippine sugar and vegetable oils subject to the American tariff. The Hawes-Cutting bill for a binding plebiscite on independence at the end of five years will be re-introduced.

The chances are favorable for the adoption of the Norris resolution proposing to the states a constitutional amendment for abolition of the lame-duck session. The resolution has been repeatedly adopted by the Senate by large majorities, and during the last Congress it won approval also in the House. On the demand of the late Speaker Longworth, however, it was so amended as to become unacceptable to its author, and as a result it died in conference.

Another Norris measure with a good prospect of re-enactment is that for Government

What Can the Political Cooks Do With All These?

DEFICIT—Last year the Government went into debt to the extent of $903,000,000 and for five months of the present fiscal year it is $840,000,000. How shall the nation's income be increased?

INCOME TAXES—To broaden the base (smaller exemptions), increase the rates in the higher brackets to impose a slight tax on every sale?

TARIFF—Increase the rates, as some high protectionists think is necessary, or lower them so as to permit more goods of foreign make to be sold in this country?

UNEMPLOYMENT—Big bond issue to provide lots of work, compulsory unemployment insurance or co-operative Federal-State employment service? Dole?

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—Recognition of Russia, League of Nations, further extension of the moratorium for Germany, disarmament?

SOME OTHER MATTERS—Philippine independence, abolition of "lame duck" sessions, Muscle Shoals, farm relief, public utilities, aid for the railroads—and—prohibition?

New Rules Needed To Govern Trade Between Nations

Lloyd George Attributes Many of World's Evils Today to Tariff Barriers—Not All the Gold of Debtor Countries Would Pay One-Tenth of What They Owe.

By DAVID LLOYD GEORGE.
(Copyright, 1931.)

LONDON, Dec. 5.

THE return to the British Parliament of a Government majority in which Conservative protectionists overwhelmingly predominate, makes it almost certain that in the very near future Great Britain will abandon her traditional policy of Free Trade, to embark upon a system of tariffs and other measures for the restriction of imports. Indeed, the rushing through the House of anti-dumping provisions before the adjournment is a guarantee that the Protectionists mean business, and that the Government recognizes that fact.

Such an event will fill up the only gap left in the rampart of protective tariffs which have in recent years been erected across the highway of international trade.

Since the war we have not only witnessed the rapid rise of tariff barriers around the various new states into which the Powers of Central Europe were broken up; we have also seen the existing barriers of other countries steadily rising higher and higher. Inside the last couple of years there have been fresh additions to the tariffs of France and the United States, Canada and Australia. Within the last few weeks, further tariffs have been adopted or propounded in the Argentine, Canada, Lithuania, Holland and the Irish Free State.

More and More Restrictions.

The whole trend of national statecraft seems at the moment in all countries to be in the direction of fresh imposts and restrictions upon world trade. Hitherto Britain has been the one great Power which has stood out against this stream. Now it would appear likely that she too will turn and drift with the current.

Whether such a course is wise, in her own interest, time will prove; but that it will make difficulties for European countries who trade largely with us there can be no doubt. The Continent is viewing the prospect of a protectionist Britain with undisguised apprehension. It is ominous that the growing trust in tariffs elsewhere has coincided with a steady increase in the complications and problems of international economics, and that the world today is suffering from an acute trade depression, more marked in industrial countries with high tariffs than even in this reputedly defenseless land.

One of these problems, which is a symptom, and doubtless in some measure a cause of the trade depression, is the extraordinary tangle of currency and credit, which has confused all the international exchanges. This issue is, of course, closely bound up with the question of gold supplies and gold distribution.

Gold not only serves as a standard of value in currency and exchange; it is also a commodity, and the only one which is universally immune from the ban of import barriers. It alone can be sure of an official welcome when sent in payment to a country with which other lands may have accounts to settle. In a world where imports of goods are being increasingly barred as a means of paying bills, gold has had this use strained to such an extent that its serviceability for the purpose has reached a limit. We are today faced with a situation where the creditor countries have nearly all the gold, and their debtors have no more with which to pay them, and the creditors will not receive payment in goods.

That Concentration of Gold.

At the beginning of 1929, the more prosperous countries which occupy the position of world creditors—the United States, France, Great Britain, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Sweden—held between them 65 per cent of the world gold supply. By the beginning of 1931, they had added some $1,400,000,000 worth of gold, and now hold 74.5 per cent of the total. The debtor countries had reduced their holdings by some $750,000,000, and now hold only 25.5 per cent, cent.

The rich countries had thus secured the whole world output of gold for the two years, and also collected nearly a quarter of the gold supplies of the poor countries. At least two-thirds of what these poorer countries had left was immobilized under their laws regulating their currency reserves. None the less, in the first seven months of this year, France and the United States of America between

An Ex-Convict's Appeal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

COLUMNS have been printed regarding the causes of the alarming increase in criminal activity. Our eminent and learned citizens, statesmen and educators have advanced their opinions as to methods to curb the evil. May I be so bold as to give my opinion (the opinion of a despised ex-convict)? I will endeavor to enlighten society as to the why by relating my experience, leaving you to judge as to the preventive measures to be adopted.

I was sent to the penitentiary three years ago to serve a sentence for forgery. I went through a living hell for 26½ months. The treatment accorded me there is enough to make the greatest majority decide against the continuance of a criminal career when released. But, once released, what opportunity has an ex-convict? I have been out now 10 months and in my endeavor to obtain a steady position I have been able to find considerable openings, but just as soon as the employer was apprised of the fact of my "X", he dropped me like a red hot rivet. In 10 months I have been able to earn the amazing sum of $100, or an average of $10 a month, or 33 1-3 cents a day. This to house, feed and clothe me.

I do not want to return to the underworld, but my only alternative is slow death by starvation, as I will not accept charity.

I am fairly well educated and capable of giving skilled and efficient service to some business if only they will give me the opportunity by overlooking my "X." Unless I can find someone who will, what, I ask you, is left to me?

I have solicited the aid of all these so-called organizations who are supposedly assisting men like myself to rehabilitate themselves, but all one can get from them is a masterpiece in oratory and meaningless promises.

Society brands us, whether righteously or not. Isn't it only fair for society to give us an opportunity to remove that stigma after we have paid with prison terms by honest application? Is society doing its part? EX-CONVICT.

"No Time for Experimenting."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A COLUMNIST writes in a St. Louis daily paper that Frank Hitchcock, "known from the northern tip of Alaska to the southern end of Florida," believes that the next campaign will end in a Republican victory. "The people," says Mr. Hitchcock—or was it the columnist?—"know that this is no time for experimenting. How can they tell what Democrats might do?" Just like that.

We heard so much that it is foolish to change government when times are prosperous, and now we hear that it is dangerous to experiment when times are bad. This means that the Republicans will rule this country forever.

The columnist and Mr. Hitchcock certainly do not seem to think much of the intelligence of our people. Could they be right? PROGRESSIVE.

Against Ancestor Worship.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A CONSTITUTIONAL provision giving Congress the power to regulate hours and wages in industry is my idea of a panacea for our desperate economic condition.

Constitutions, with all other devices for the benefit of humanity, should be kept up to date, which does not mean that any part of proved vital worth should be discarded or annulled.

We can best solace the problems confronting us unhampered by the limited views of the founding fathers, who could not possibly foresee the conditions of today and who wisely provided that we should be our own master.

I believe the time now most opportune for a movement for a general revision of the Federal Constitution and the inclusion in the new instrument of a section that would automatically provide such future general revisions at intervals not exceeding 50 years.

Worshiping the institutions of our ancestors, except upon their strict merits, will do for us exactly about what such procedure has done for the Chinese. A. B. C.

Wilson for Governor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AGREE with "Young Democrat" that the chances of his party to elect the next Governor of Missouri are very encouraging.

I also agree that in Francis M. Wilson Missouri has a prospective candidate for Governor who measures up to the qualifications the people of the State a generation ago, regardless of politics, demanded of men who filled the high office of chief executive—integrity, ability, courage and splendid moral character.

I find that even in St. Louis, where official idealism assays rather low, many Republicans, of whom I am one, weary of spineless Governors, will welcome the inauguration of Francis M. Wilson, who exemplifies all of the fine old traditions associated with Jefferson and Jackson, as chief executive of Missouri in January, 1933.

OLD REPUBLICAN.

The Seventy-Second Congress

The wild horses are saddled and bridled, ready for the show in Washington. President Hoover, however, will not be the ringmaster. The horses will not caper to his whip. His position will be more difficult in the new Congress than in the Seventy-first. Then he could not count on the support of even the regular Republicans in the Senate, and there was an independent group of progressives who frequently joined with the Democrats to hamper or defeat his policies. Now he has a Democratic House, with a majority of five, and a Senate with a margin of one Republican vote, with the Farmer-Labor vote of one, and 12 or 14 progressives to reckon with. Having been unable to harmonize a Republican Congress, he has the practically impossible task of harmonizing a divided Congress.

Congress, however, is faced with a serious condition in problems which call for wise action. There never was greater need for strong, judicious leadership to bring the various elements together on sound measures, and for greater courage and honesty on the part of Congressmen. In addition to the discord between the President and the Congress, there is politics. As the Post-Dispatch has said, it is the curse of the country, and, therefore, the curse of government. This is a year of politics. Politics will temper every conviction and every action of both the President and the Congress. Just as "conscience does make cowards of us all," so politics makes cowards of nearly all office holders. There are few notable exceptions. It is not so hard, therefore, to say what Congress ought to do as to predict what it will do with a presidential election coming on.

It is not to be expected that Congress can turn the tide of depression. It cannot by any specific act start the wheels of industry turning or revive business, but it can, by judicious legislation, help. It can make up the Government deficit of approximately $2,000,000,000 by taxation. It can to some extent relieve unemployment by appropriations for public works and, if necessity demands it, by appropriations for relief. It can take some of the handicaps from business by modifying tariffs, at least where modification would do the most good, by curbing greedy monopolistic practice and by broadening the regulation of interstate commerce, in addition to railroad regulation.

Senator Walsh of Montana declares the big questions before Congress are revenue and unemployment. We add economy in Government expenditures, which have been soaring. But they involve a number of problems. Revenue involves increased taxation. How shall the taxes be levied? Shall they be increased in the lower brackets of income taxation, or in the higher brackets? Protest is made against equalizing the unequal distribution of wealth by taxation. That is necessary in readjusting our economic system, but in the matter of taxation we need only follow the sound rule of levying taxation in proportion to the ability to pay. The difficulties vanish in the light of this maxim. Blood cannot be squeezed out of a turnip, and taxes cannot be collected from those who have not the means to pay. The proper rule is to begin with those who have a surplus above the actual means of living, and to increase in proportion to the surplus. A revival of nuisance taxes will probably be urged. A sales tax, if proposed, ought to be rejected and likely will be.

The power of Congress is limited in the question of unemployment. It can appropriate funds for necessary public works to supply jobs, but that relief is limited. It can appropriate money for immediate relief, as it has done in cases of calamity abroad. If private funds are inadequate—they cannot be forced out of either rich or poor—and starvation is imminent, the Government will be under the necessity of using the money of all the people to supply the actual wants of starving groups. It would not be in the form of a permanent dole, but of an emergency measure. However, we have strong hope that any approach to a dole will be unnecessary and that the people will rise to the emergency of supplying the needs of their impoverished neighbors. Fortunately, the situation is far better in the rural districts than it was last year. Nearly all branches of agriculture have had bountiful crops, and the farmers have at least food and feed.

In the matter of economy in Government expenditures, why not starve some of the bureaus that have multiplied enormously within recent years? Cut the appropriations there and relieve the people of the heavy burden of supporting many governmental bureaus of little or no usefulness. Why should large sums be appropriated for the enforcement of one law above all other laws? Why should we have a special prohibition unit to enforce the prohibition law, which so far has proved inefficient, and the law itself the mother of corruption and crime? Cut it off, and turn the work over directly to the Department of Justice, which enforces all the other laws. The question of reducing naval appropriations has already occasioned unseemly controversy. Public opinion, we believe, approves the President's position for a reduced naval budget on the grounds, first, of economy and, second, as a gesture toward peace.

Muscle Shoals should be put to work. Senator Norris' bill for Government operation of the plant offers a solution of the problem in the interest of all the people, and any bill that is passed should contain guarantees that this great governmental plant shall not be used for the benefit of the Power Trust, to exploit the people.

Another problem of prime importance is the relief of agriculture. The country cannot be on a sound basis of prosperity until the farmers are prosperous. So long as manufacturers are subsidized with high tariffs and aided otherwise, the farmers, who cannot be aided by tariffs, have a right to demand that they have legislation which will put them on an equality with other industries. The reduction of tariffs will help them, but we can only indulge the hope that any mode of relief adopted will not be so costly and futile as the experiments of the Farm Board.

There will be a hot debate over foreign affairs. The leaders of Congress have agreed to ratify the President's moratorium, but undoubtedly the irreconcilables and the isolationists will indulge in strong criticism of the President's dip into reparations and war debts and other European entanglements. One thing the Senate ought to do, and that is to vote for American participation in the International Court of Justice—an American ideal and aim for years. The Root formula smooths out the differences between the United States and other nations, and the Senate should act promptly in favor of our participation, which has been recommended by four Presidents, and we believe is favored by a large majority of the people. It is a step forward in civilization.

Congress need not waste time on the question of Philippine independence. Enlightened opinion, free from selfish interest, in both the Philippines and the United States, concurs in the conviction that to abandon the Philippines now would result in the destruction of our own great philanthropic experiment there, and disaster to the Philippines. Hasty action, at least with regard to this question, should be avoided.

There are other problems for consideration, but Congress should concentrate on the major problems. The best we can hope for in the division of Congress is that there will be a coalition devoted to the public welfare which will unite on sound measures. Surely, in this emergency, if ever, both the President and Congress should rise above politics. Neither the sons of wild jackasses nor the politicasters should control.

AN EXPERIMENT IN CONSERVATION.

On two small lakes near Stuttgart, Ark., covering a total in dry weather of 150 acres, are concentrated something like a million wild ducks. The larger lake is within 200 yards of White River. From a distance of a half mile or more in the woods, a low-pitched roar like the sound of falling water heralds the presence of the ducks. In the sunlight the coloring of the mallards, which constitute a vast majority of the ducks, makes a brilliant and unforgettable picture. At nightfall the ducks rise from the two lakes in great swarms and go to the nearby rice fields to feed, returning in the early morning.

In other parts of Arkansas' White River country, ducks are scarce. It has been observed, at many traditionally fine hunting places, that flocks from the north, refusing to heed the call of decoys, fly directly to the big rendezvous near Stuttgart. This rendezvous is the property of one George Wilcox, a young timber farmer, who conceived the idea of forming a duck sanctuary some six years ago. His recipe was simple. He refused to shoot or to permit shooting on the larger of the two lakes, and this year he has refused to permit shooting on either lake. Whatever Wilcox's original motive may have been, he now finds his place, in a year when drouth has materially reduced the number of wild ducks, the Mecca of duckdom.

Unfortunately, Wilcox has not the means to cope with the astonishing success he has had in attracting ducks. His is the dilemma of the man who seized the bull's tail. That is, he refuses to commercialize his sanctuary for hunting purposes, but yet lacks funds for its proper upkeep. In the meantime, however, he has proved that the wild duck has become so ruthlessly pursued that, in one of the greatest of all the duck concentration areas, the White River bottoms, the birds unerringly seek one of the few places where they are safe from shotguns. What Wilcox has done near Stuttgart could be done at any lake on the edge of the rice country, and, unless such refuges are provided in increasing number, the wild duck, like the passenger pigeon, and many other beautiful species, faces the danger of extermination.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

In her articles describing the hand-to-mouth existence of miners and their families in Kentucky coal camps, Margaret Lane, staff writer of the London Express, follows a trail women of her country blazed a century ago. When Frances Trollope, mother of two English novelists, published her book on American life and manners in 1832, it was the condition of the Negroes that fired her sense of justice. Harriet Martineau, who illustrated economic principles with stories written for English working people, so enraged the Southern press by her accounts of slavery that she was forced to abandon a trip down the Ohio. As the wife of a Georgia plantation owner, Fanny Kemble, the British actress, saw the floggings, the squalor of the huts and the heavy mortality, and she put it all down in a record of unrelieved sadness. In those days, criticism by Europeans was hotly resented in the United States. Today, although we have not removed all the causes for foreign criticism, we have at least learned to take such criticism in good grace. We have learned, as E. L. Godkin, Irish-born founder of the Nation, remarked when criticised by Americans for his attacks on our shortcomings, that justice is justice the world over.

HOLMES, BRANDEIS AND STONE AGAIN.

It is no outmoded theory of the relationship between man and wife which accounts for the dissent of Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone from the majority of the Supreme Court in the Wisconsin income tax law case, but rather their view of what constitutes strict adherence to the Constitution. Under this law, which the court has now set aside as unconstitutional, Wisconsin ordered a husband be taxed for his wife's income, presumably on the ground that such income makes life easier for him. The dissenting Judges saw the law within the province of the states as separate laboratories for governmental exprimentation. One of the shortest amendments, the tenth, is their justification: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively or to the people." With that reasoning, many students of constitutional problems agree. To uphold a state's right to enact a law is not to approve of the law. This conception of the place of the state in the scheme of American government leaves a state's destiny largely in its own hands—a principle which the founding fathers wisely regarded as fundamental.

Readers' Comments on "The Country's Plight"

FOR A PEACE INDUSTRIES BOARD.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MAY I say that Charles G. Ross' article, entitled "The Country's Plight," published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Nov. 29, is the finest that I have read? It is a fair and impartial statement of fact that cannot help but interest every serious-minded citizen today. The article could not help but be of great value because a clearer understanding of the general conditions in the country is in itself a long step toward solution.

There is one suggestion that has been made to deal with present conditions and that has not been brought forcibly enough to the American public, and this suggestion, in the writer's opinion, has great possibilities. Robert S. Brookings several months ago suggested that a committee of the nation's greatest business leaders be appointed by the President to form a Peace Industries Board somewhat along the line of the old War Industries Board. The situation that faces business today is no less challenging than it was at the outset of the war. On such a board we would have to have real men, bigger than any political party, unselfish in their interests and inspired with a real desire to serve the country. There are such men. The Federal Government should be represented on such a board for any help the Federal departments could give, but should not seek to dominate the group.

Business should take the initiative in dealing with our present day problems. Such a committee could call in any number of experts in specialized fields so that the committee could have a broad understanding of underlying conditions. Such a committee could advise business on proper courses to pursue because there is much to be gained in co-operative action. Today any one single company, or even any one industry, is hesitant to go forward for fear general conditions might not warrant such a move. A committee of this type could devise new legislation as well as constructive changes in present laws where they are found to be hindering the economic interests of the country as a whole.

I do not presume to feel that such a committee would be a panacea for all our troubles. It would be a means of assembling the best brains of the country into a working organization and would inspire confidence on the part of individuals and business leaders as well. F. E. BOLING.

A SEARCHING ANALYSIS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PERMIT me to congratulate Charles G. Ross on his brilliant and searching analysis of the economic situation in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch, and also to compliment the Post-Dispatch on its fine courage and journalistic conscience in printing it. The article is equally a credit to the writer and to the newspaper which printed it.

In a day when most newspaper men, because of the policy of the papers which employ them, are forced to shadow-box with frivolities and superficialities, Mr. Ross gets down to fundamentals. It was a thoroughly workmanlike and professional job he did, one that gives a newspaper man the right to call himself a professional man and not just a hack worker. I know of no other paper, except perhaps the Baltimore Sun and the Scripps-Howard journals, which would have printed it. Your contemporaries throughout the country are too busy printing the "prosperity-just-around-the-corner" chorus from the Happiness Boys; trying to conjure prosperity back with a sales manager's bunk, not for the sake of what it will mean to the social order, but for the revival it will mean in advertising receipts.

The most striking thing about the article, aside from its scholarship and thoroughness, was that Mr. Ross had the courage to follow the logic of his diagnosis to the prescription which it dictated. Lots of people can diagnose brilliantly, but they get cold feet when it comes to prescription.

PROMOTING STRAIGHT REASONING.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

CHARLES G. ROSS' article, "The Country's Plight," impressed me so much that I have asked the St. Louis County Farm Bureau to obtain 2000 copies of it for distribution to its membership and supporters. Mr. Ross' article should do much to promote straight reasoning on this problem. OSCAR W. MEIER, County Extension Agent, St. Louis County.

FAIR DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MR. ROSS' article on the unequal distribution of wealth prompts the question: What is a fair distribution of wealth? What is the basic economic principle involved?

Since wealth is the result of four fundamental factors operating jointly and simultaneously, the output, or wealth produced, should be distributed among the four producing factors.

The incentive that any factor has for entering the productive process is the portion of the output which it receives as compensation.

The larger this output, other things being equal, the larger the amount the factor receives.

The best means, then, for increasing the output is to raise the efficiency of each factor.

If each factor is remunerated in proportion to its efficiency it will have a strong and continuing incentive to increase its efficiency. Hence, the best condition is attained when each factor is remunerated in proportion to its efficiency.

Such a distribution of output leads to a maximum production of wealth. It is the fairest system of distribution that can be devised, for it leads to a maximum satisfaction. R. C. BARNETT.

FUNDAMENTALLY SOUND.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I TAKE off my hat to any paper which can and will print an article like that which appeared in your editorial section last Sunday, entitled, "The Country's Plight". Charles G. Ross has tackled a difficult problem with a fine understanding of basic principles. He makes some assertions which hurt and some inferences which are hard to take, but I think that any man who wants the real facts can adopt the fundamental soundness of his thesis.

Executive Director, Neighborhood Association.

AN ENLIGHTENING ARTICLE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I READ with great interest your paper of Sunday, Nov. 29. The article by Charles G. Ross was one of the most enlightening ones I have read for a long time. I believe this article should be printed in book form and put on sale, so that all people can get and read it. I would like very much to know what some of our Senators and Representatives think of it. J. H. PETERS.

THE RIGHT TO WORK.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE timely, valuable article, "The Country's Plight," contains plenty of food for thought. It is a keen analysis. Although its author, Charles G. Ross, states his chief aim is diagnosis rather than prescription, he does venture to prescribe "a shorter work week without reduced pay," which he bases on the justice of the declaration of William Green that "the right to work is fundamental." But he does not show how a shorter work week will in itself assure the very desirable result; and it is doubtful, I think, that he could.

Because, as he shows, the actual work available now in 1931 could be accomplished by all workers in a 35-hour week, it does not follow that a 35-hour week is right or would relieve unemployment to any substantial degree. Who can say that the country does not now need, and could profitably enjoy, the production of a 40-hour week, or that 30-hour week production of improved machinery, five years hence, would not supply all needs?

The thing to be assured is not a shorter work week, but the "right to work," the constant opportunity for every willing worker to earn. If this object is to be attained, it must be through a flexible plan that will from time to time divide the work that needs to be done. The amount of work is not constant from year to year; it is violently affected by war, machinery, speculation, tariff, etc. May we never have another war, but in that case a 35-hour week would be insufficient. And, worst of all, it would not solve the problem now. Suppose Congress decreed that no man could be employed for more than 35 hours a week and that wages must be maintained. That would not create an opportunity for all to work. It would not create a job in any plant until the management had determined whether or not the workers already employed could do the work in the allotted time, which they would likely find themselves able to do, as it would surely be expected of them.

If opportunity to work is to be assured by capitalistic industry, then it must be by collective action: the aggregate work of each year, be it much or little, must be determined in advance and divided into as many parts as there are workers. The time necessary to do the work must of necessity be secondary; if fixed, there will always be either varying amounts of involuntary unemployment or a shortage of workers. But division of work, operating through adjustment of working time, would eliminate involuntary unemployment while preserving freedom for all individuals, employers and employes.

WOULD MAKE PAMPHLET OF IT.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IT would be a good idea to put the article in last Sunday's issue, written by Charles G. Ross, in pamphlet form and lay it on the desk of every member of Congress. He puts his finger right on the sore place—the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few, partly caused by favorable legislation for this group of our citizens.

Mr. Ross might develop the idea that while public utilities rush into court to prevent the lowering of their charges on the ground that they are entitled to a fair return, labor should also be similarly protected and a law so drawn that they might be able to enjoin their employers from reducing their wages below a fair return.

SHAW'S GARDEN SHOWS TALLEST POINSETTIAS

Plants 11 Feet High in Christmas Display—First African Violets.

The tallest single stem flowers ever shown at Shaw's Garden—11-foot poinsettias—are alight with their scarlet Christmas fires in the annual holiday show in the Floral Display House.

These brightest of all flowers will remain on exhibition until after New Year's, when the Orchid Show is due. The scarlet "blossoms," sometimes 20 inches across, are not flowers at all, but bracts or brilliantly colored leaves. The insignificant true flowers, like those of the dogwood, may be seen in the center of the pseudo blossoms.

Another first time display is the bank of African violets, not previously shown in St. Louis, at the foot of the entrance balcony among lighter blue ageratums and the smaller poinsettias, which are not more than a foot tall.

Overhead are baskets of white "Anna" chrysanthemums, and in the center of the show is a bed of the well-named "Christmas Gold," a button chrysanthemum in a bright, deep yellow. A circular pool is surrounded by Boston ferns and Christmas peppers, with red pods as brilliant as the poinsettias.

Very few of these "Christmas flowers" are shown this year in the pink or white varieties. The show is predominantly of the vivid red which gave the plant its traditional name as the "Mexican flame flower." The flowers are banked on either side of a rich green panel of Washington bent lawn, and at the north end of the display are the impressive ranks of "tallest" poinsettias.

CHURCH DEDICATION SERVICES TO CONTINUE THROUGH WEEK

First to Be Held Today at Memorial Presbyterian on Skinker.

Dedicatory services at the new Memorial Presbyterian Church, Skinker road and Alexander drive, will open this morning and continue throughout the week.

The Rev. Walter B. Greenway, president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, Pa., will be guest preacher at both morning and evening services today. Tuesday evening the Frank Woolford Sneed memorial organ will be dedicated with a recital by Daniel Philippi, organist of Christ Church Cathedral. On Wednesday evening there will be a special service in recognition of the workmen employed in building the new church, and Thursday evening an inter-church service will be conducted by the Rev. Charles Dubell, rector, of the Church of St. Simeon, Philadelphia. Communion service next Sunday will conclude the dedication.

$50,000 CHRISTIAN HOSPITAL FUND CAMPAIGN REPORT

Workers at First Meeting Announced Subscriptions of $5100; List of Principal Donors.

Workers in the $50,000 emergency campaign for Christian Hospital reported $5100 in contributions at their first report luncheon at the Fairgrounds Hotel yesterday.

The principal donors are Miss Meta Peters, F. A. Sudholt and Charles H. Peters, who gave $500 each; Paul J. Wielandy, who contributed $250, and the Union Electric Light & Power Co., Leidner Undertaking Co., Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Mrs. Ida Pauley, Mrs. Ida Winkelmeyer and Charles M. Herman, who gave $200 each.

J. F. O. Reller, general chairman of the campaign, who spoke at the meeting, pointed out that the hospital in six years of operation had paid off $77,745 in obligations and last year alone had done charity work amounting to $17,500. He said that an overdue bond issue of $10,000 with interest payments amounting to $5000 was the principal expense for which the campaign was begun.

DINNER OF METROPOLITAN CHURCH FEDERATION TUESDAY

Officers to Be Elected and Ann Arbor (Mich.) Pastor Is to Be Speaker.

Election of officers of the Metropolitan Church Federation will take place Tuesday evening at the Coronado Hotel, where the organization will hold its twenty-second annual dinner meeting.

The retiring president of the Federation is the Rev. Dr. James E. Crowther, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church. Other present officers are William H. Danforth, Mrs. James W. Lee, J. W. Fristoe, B. E. Chappelow and Woodson K. Woods, vice presidents; G. Donald Gibbons, secretary, and A. O. Wilson, treasurer. The Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Armstrong is executive secretary.

The principal address at the meeting will be made by the Rev. Dr. Frederick B. Fisher, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Ann Arbor, Mich. The Church Federation is made up of members of Protestant churches of the city.

Economist to Talk on Gold.

The effect on business of the present dislocation of gold will be discussed by Lee L. Daly, president of the investment firm of Daly & Co., and regarded as an authority on economics, at the St. Louis University School of Commerce and Finance next Thursday evening. The public is invited to participate in a general forum following the address.

New Congress Surrounded By Political Dynamite

operation of the power plants at Muscle Shoals. Both President Hoover and President Coolidge have vetoed the Norris proposal. Whether a third veto could be overriddden is problematical.

Attacks on the Federal Farm Board will be the cue for a reopening of the whole question of farm relief, and demands will again be made for enactment of the equalization fee and export-debenture plans.

The banking system of the country will be canvassed in debates on a wide variety of measures inspired by the depression. President Hoover's proposal to broaden the eligibility provisions of the Federal Reserve act, in order to "give greater liquidity to the assets of the banks," will be the subject of caustic criticism.

Liberalization of the House rules is in prospect with, as a result, a vote on some phase of the prohibition question. But that anything tangible will be done about prohibition is highly improbable. The drys are still securely in control in both houses.

Railroads and Busses.

Various aspects of the railroads' plight will be considered, and among the measures introduced in this connection will be the Parker bill to bring interstate passenger motor busses under regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the railroad employes bring into Congress the demand voiced recently by their leaders for a six-hour work day without reduction of pay, a strugggle will ensue comparable to that over the Adamson eight-hour law of 1916.

Notwithstanding the adverse action of the American Legion, it is probable that demands for full payment of war veterans' bonus certificates will be pressed by other veterans' organizations.

Measures for economic planning willl be introduced, and new efforts will be made to strengthen and extend Federal regulation of public utilities. Senator Couzens of Michigan is expected to introduce a bill to establish the present Radio Commission and exert regulatory authority over telephone, telegraph and cable lines.

Agitation will be heard for "liberalization" of the antitrust laws, but the present outlook is against any legislation of this character.

Among previously considered measures which will come up again are the maternity and infancy hygiene bill, which was blocked in the Senate at the last moment of the last session; bills for the revision of the bankruptcy laws; the progressive bill to curb the use of injunctions in labor disputes; a bill to revise the copyright laws, and the Caraway proposal for the registration of lobbyists.

Such, in part, is the prospectus. Whatever happens, the drama will be worth watching.

Aviation's Progress To General Utility

radio stations established by the Postoffice Department were turned over to the Aeronautic Branch. Weather reporting facilities were developed and the lighting program extended steadily until on July 1, last, there were 17,500 miles of lighted airways for night flying, and 1123 additional miles of airways equipped for day flying.

American commerce and industry early recognized the savings to be effected by sending their mail by air. It is estimated that $24,000,000 in the form of bank clearings, remittances and negotiable securities arrive in New York City by air mail daily. The speedier service represents a substantial saving in interest. The air mail cargo, now averaging 750,000 pound a month, is not made up entirely of business correspondence, however, as considerable general and social correspondence also goes by air.

When the air mail was started there was no such thing as air mail plane design. The mail was carried in planes of military design. As the service progressed and the old equipment wore out, or crashed, planes designed for high speed with a mail cargo and with places for passengers, made their appearance.

The Passenger Business.

The transportation of passengers by air has grown apace with air mail development. In 1927 only 8572 persons were carried over scheduled airlines. In 1930 the total number of revenue passengers carried over scheduled routes was 417,505. Air travel was retarded at first due to the high fare, about 12 cents a mile, and hesitancy on the part of the public to chance an air journey of considerable duration. Ocean flights and endurance tests tended to convince the public that the average airplane will stay up until its operator chooses to come down and, when operators reduced fares to the present rate, which approximates rail fare plus Pullman fees, travelers began taking advantage of the speed and convenience which air transportation has to offer.

To help the airlines in surrounding operations with every possible safeguard and in attaining uniformity of operation, the Department of Commerce has adopted regulations governing the interstate transportation of passengers by air. Under these regulations each line is subject to periodical inspection and is required to hold a certificate of capacity to operate.

In general, airline operators handle air express on a basis similar to that in effect for railway express. A railroad express agency collects the packages, shipping over the airlines, and handling the distribution at destination. Several airlines operate their express service independently, however, providing their own handling facilities throughout.

Modern "Barnstormers."

All the development has not been on the scheduled lines by any means. The "barnstorming" flyer, who survived the early post-war period, is now a business man operating aerial taxi service, sightseeing flights, selling airplanes, giving student instruction, making aerial photographs, or doing the several other odd jobs for which the transport operator has not the time. The number of passengers carried by miscellaneous operators last year was 2,298,341. The number of Government licensed planes used in activities other than scheduled operations is more than 6000, and the number of licensed pilots engaged in miscellaneous operations of one form or another is more than 14,000. The Aeronautics Trade Directory issued last July carries 2818 commercial flying listings other than transport lines. These concerns include 385 schools which in 1929 instructed 20,400 students and in 1930 more than 15,000 students in the various phases of aviation.

Individual owners do a considerable amount of flying, also. The Department of Commerce has recognized this private flying through issuing a private pilot's license. On July 1, last, there were about 8000 private pilots in the country. This is not a complete index of the amount of private flying, however, as all private pilots do not own planes, and, on the other hand, considerable flying is done by business organizations and individuals who employ professional pilots.

The development of aeronautics as an industry has created the profession of airplane pilot and the trade of aircraft mechanic. There are more than 16,000 licensed professional pilots and about 9000 licensed mechanics in the country.

Production of aircraft in the United States for civil use increased from 662 in 1919 to 6620 in 1929. In 1930 production dropped to 3437, due to the business depression.

A word on the safety of flying is appropriate. Statistics gathered by the Department of Commerce show a marked decrease in the accident rate for scheduled flying, due to well designed planes and engines, expert pilots and facilities for safety provided by the Government. Of all aviation accidents, the greatest number are to planes engaged in activities other than scheduled operation.

St. Louis has an important place in the development of commercial flying. Lambert-St. Louis Field, the municipal airport, has 38 arrivals and departures of planes in scheduled operations daily. The field is also the site of the Curtiss-Wright Airplane Co., one of the leading manufacturers of commercial planes. Curtiss-Steinberg Airport, on the East Side, also has scheduled service.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA RADIO PROGRAM TODAY

First of 10 Civic Broadcasts to Be Presented at 4:30 P. M.

Designed to advertise this city's industrial, commercial, educational and cultural assets, a series of 10 civic radio broadcasts, featuring the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, begin this afternoon, when the first program will be presented over Station KMOX at 4:30 o'clock. Other broadcasts of the series, all of which will be an hour in length, will be presented at the same time on successive Sundays.

The series has been made possible through the co-operative efforts of the city administration, the Industrial Club of St. Louis, the St. Louis Symphony Society and Station KMOX. A similar series was presented last winter with Station KMOX, the Symphony Society and Industrial Club co-operating.

Each of the programs will include short discussions of St. Louis features and a concert of typical symphony numbers, conducted by the Symphony Orchestra's maestro, Vladimir Golschmann.

This year's programs will be broadcast from the large auditorium of the new St. Louis Mart. Last year the programs were broadcast from the Concert Hall of the Odeon and the public was admitted. Today's program:

Overture to Euryanthe ......Von Weber
Address by L. W. Baldwin, president, St. Louis Symphony Society.
Unfinished Symphony ....Schubert
1. Allegro Moderato Movement.
2. Andante con moto Movement.
The Sorcerer's Apprentice ....Dukas
Polacca from Suite No. 3..Tschaikowsky

The subjects to be discussed during the series of broadcasts include the following: "From Log Cabins to Skyscrapers," "The Big Show Window," "Stepping Out in Style—Tomorrow's Fashions Today," "Men and Wheels—the Workshop of the West," "Pigskins, Sheepskins and the Esthetic," "The Call to Order," "The Soaring Eagle," "Outspeeding the Wings of Mercury" and "Shoot for the Bull's Eye."

W. U. GLEE CLUB ANNIVERSARY

The fiftieth anniversary of the Washington University Glee Club will be celebrated at a Golden Jubilee concert at the Jefferson Hotel next Friday. The club has been rehearsing under the direction of Clay Ballew, head of the St. Louis Artists' Bureau, who has selected a program including several numbers of a modern classical nature, as well as novelties and classical numbers.

Among the guest soloists will be Webster Schmidt, tenor, and William Wahlert, basso.

New Rules Needed To Govern Trade Between Nations

them drew in at least a further $400,000,000 of the world's gold supply.

In face of these facts, it is not surprising that the stability of the currency of many countries has become gravely threatened. They have run their gold reserves down below the safety mark in their efforts to meet international obligations. Against the tariff frontiers of other lands they find it difficult or impossible to maintain exports of goods which will do more than barely pay for their vital imports. The pressure of their debts menaces the last relics of their financial stability.

Some of them, like the Central European nations, Germany, Austria and Hungary, have for years been staving off disaster by borrowing from their creditors the means to pay them. Germany has in fact been paying all her reparations out of borrowed money. Her net foreign borrowings in the last seven years have exceeded her total reparations payments for that period by nearly 8,000,000,000 Reichmarks. Her long and short term loans from United States of America and Great Britain alone equal her total reparation payments, so that America and Great Britain have in effect paid Germany's reparations to France, Belgium and Italy.

But that policy could not be carried on indefinitely. It increased the ultimate indebtedness, and when it came to an end this summer, with the exhaustion of Germany's credit, it brought serious embarrassment to those who had made the advances. Our own crisis in Great Britain was largely the outcome of the sudden freezing up in Germany of considerable sums that had been loaned to German banks and industrialists by financial houses in London, and could not be recovered to support our own position when the world depression had sent our balance of payments to the wrong side.

Hampering of Trade.

The threat to national currencies has in the last month or so called forth a number of special measures in different countries. Great Britain has been forced to abandon the gold standard, and has been followed by several other nations, notably by Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Special decrees for the restriction of currency exports and control of exchange dealings have been adopted in the Argentine, Austria, Canada, Finland, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Latvia, Jugo-Slavia an dthe Irish Free State. Everywhere there is nervousness, uncertainty and foreboding. And these measures, by hampering still further all international trade, are of course increasing the world depression and the burden of unemployment in industry.

It is now being urged in many quarters that there should be held without delay an international conference or series of conferences upon the problems of gold distribution and international exchanges.

There is nothing new about this suggestion. As long ago as 1922 I arranged a similiar conference at Genoa, and if the recommendations there made had been carried out, we should never have reached the present state of chaos. Unfortunately, the world did not then realize how vital were these issues. Neither the United States nor Russia was willing to co-operate, and as a result the conference proved abortive.

Let us hope that the next effort will be more successful. There can be no question that such conferences are urgently to be desired. At present, economic affairs are drifting rapidly to disaster, and in most countries the prospects for the coming winter are very dark. Conditions are putting the whole fabric of economic civilization on trial, and unless it can produce evidence of intelligent guidance to bring it through the present crisis, there is even risk that the present order may founder.

Mountains of Debts.

Moreover, the international trade which has taken place in past years has divided the nations into debtors and creditors; the debt of countries having, in fact, bought largely from such countries as the United States and Great Britain on the installment system—the installments consisting of their yearly exports of goods to their creditors. If now international trade is further restricted, these debtors cannot pay up except in gold, and already their creditors have most of that. Not all the gold possessed by the debtor nations would settle a tenth part of their liabilities. Unless they are allowed to trade freely, their debts, public and private, national and industrial, must be written off as a total loss. For this reason, what the world really needs today, even more urgently than a conference upon currency and gold distribution, is an understanding upon world production and exchange of commodities. With depression ruining their trade, and unemployment tramping their streets, the nations may be excused for thinking in terms of the exclusion of competing imports as a means to revive home industries. But there is much wisdom in the counsel given by the Balfour Committee on Industry and Trade, which reported in this country some four years ago, and remarked in the course of that report that it was by concentrating on increasing exports rather than on diminishing imports that industrial recovery could be achieved.

Similarly, the World Economic Conference at Geneva declared in 1927 that: "The main trouble now is neither any material shortage in the resources of nature nor any inadequacy in man's power to exploit them. It is all one form or another a maladjustment—not an insufficient productive capacity but a series of impediments to the full utilization of that capacity. The main obstacles to economic revival have been the hindrances opposed to the free flow of labor, capital and goods."

PLEAS FOR CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL FUND BASKETS TOTAL 4570 DURING THE WEEK

Thousands of Dollars Needed; Post-Dispatch Starts With $500 And Early Volunteers Add $75

Campaign for Contributions Opens Wednesday With Lists to Those Who Would Like to Share With Needy.

Gives $4 in Hope It Will Make Some Child Happy

November 29, 1931.

Executive Committee Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival,

Gentlemen:

ONE can hardly believe it, but Christmas will soon be with us again—that great day of days when we all want to be happy and content.

Christmas is a day everyone looks forward to, especially the little children, and Christmas without a Santa Claus would be no Christmas at all.

In years gone by I well remember having attended several of your Christmas festivals. I certainly had a wonderful time, as did all the rest of the children.

This year I will ask you to accept my inclosed check for ($4.00) four dollars. Though it is not large I trust it will make some little child happy on Christmas morning.

Hoping that your Christmas Fund will go over successfully, as it has in the past, I thank you and remain,

Very truly yours,

ANDREW M. WOLKE,
5230 North Broadway.

'NOTHING BUT JOY IN FESTIVAL WORK'

Samuel J. Russack of Lost Children Department Pleased to Accept Job Again.

WHEN Chairman A. M. Roth of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Committee asked Samuel J. Russack, head of the lost children department, if he wanted to handle his part of the work again this year, Russack smiled broadly and said: "You bet I do, and I would be mightily disappointed if I weren't asked to do it again. This is one job which yields nothing but joy."

So saying, Russack spoke for his score or more fellow workers at the first meeting of the thirty-second annual Christmas Festival Committee meeting.

Nothing better attests to the pleasure which the members take in their work than the length of service of many of them. Chairman Roth takes pride in having put in 32 years—two more years than George S. Johns, associate editor of the Post-Dispatch, who originated the idea. His advantage is due to the fact that Mr. Johns was away from St. Louis for two years during the Festival's three decades.

The next two in point of service are Mrs. A. H. Sippy, chairman of the Basket Packing Committee, and Robert D. Corlett, chairman of the Gifts Committee. Mr. Russack, quoted above, has been in the group for an even quarter century.

While Chief of Police Gerk did not become an official member of the committee until elevated to the position of Chief of the Police Department, it was as a police Sergeant 24 years ago that he was detailed to his first Christmas Festival celebration for children. He dates his entry into the work from that time.

C. J. Kehoe, who sees that the homeless men of the city are supplied with pipes and tobacco on Christmas eve, and Louis Nolte, chairman of the Basket Distribution Committee, have each served 22 years. Oscal Stifel, chairman of the Door Committee, is one year their junior.

Among the other members who have served more than five years are: Nelson Cunliff, 17 years; George Menkel and C. L. Cunningham, [illegible]; W. L. Igoe and Fred W. Pape, 12; Herman Spoehrer, 10; Emil Steger, nine; Reuben W. Tapperson, seven, and S. W. Greenland, five.

Corlett's Name Omitted.

The name of Robert D. Corlett of the Brown Shoe Co., was inadvertently left out of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Executive Committee as printed in last Sunday's special page. Mr. Corlett, as the buyer of toys and chairman of the Gifts Committee, is literally the Santa Claus of the Festival. He is one of the oldest members of the executive group in point of service, having been connected with the Festival for 30 years.

Two Pathetic Letters.

Dear Post-Dispatch:

Please send one of your Christmas baskets. My husband has been out of a job for some time. We have nothing to live on and I am sick. MRS. C.

Dear Sir:

I am writing to see if you can help us out with a basket. I have been out of work for a long time, haven't got any coal, can't pay our rent and haven't much to eat, as there are 11 in our family.

W.

FRIENDS of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival, reading of the extraordinary demands upon this community hospitality this year, are not waiting for the formal opening of the campaign to raise funds, but are already sending in contributions.

During the past week, as 4570 applications for baskets were being made by needy families, generous supporters of the Christmas Festival voluntarily sent in $75. With the Post-Dispatch's contribution of $500 the fund now stands at $575.

That of course is only a beginning. Thousands of dollars are required to fill the baskets which will be distributed to the neediest families of St. Louis and to buy the stacks of presents which will delight the boys and girls who attend the celebration in the Coliseum.

The Christmas Festival Committee appreciates the fact that the demand for contributions has been greater this year than ever before. It does not consider, however, nor have the people of St. Louis ever considered, that the Christmas Festival is a charity. As an act of hospitality, it is the outpouring of good will and cheer of those who have, for those who have not.

Accordingly when the distribution of lists begins Wednesday, the members of the committee believe it will be only fair to the thousands of friends of the Festival if employers make certain that the lists are circulated as heretofore.

Circulation of the lists by an office or factory does not mean that the management requests its force to give to the Christmas Festival fund. It means merely that the employes will have an opportunity to give if they so desire.

If those who have employment could spend a few minutes at the basket application headquarters there is no doubt that the fund would be raised in record time.

Since the opening of application headquarters, Monday, there has been a steady stream of heads of families which will be without Christmas cheer unless it is provided for them.

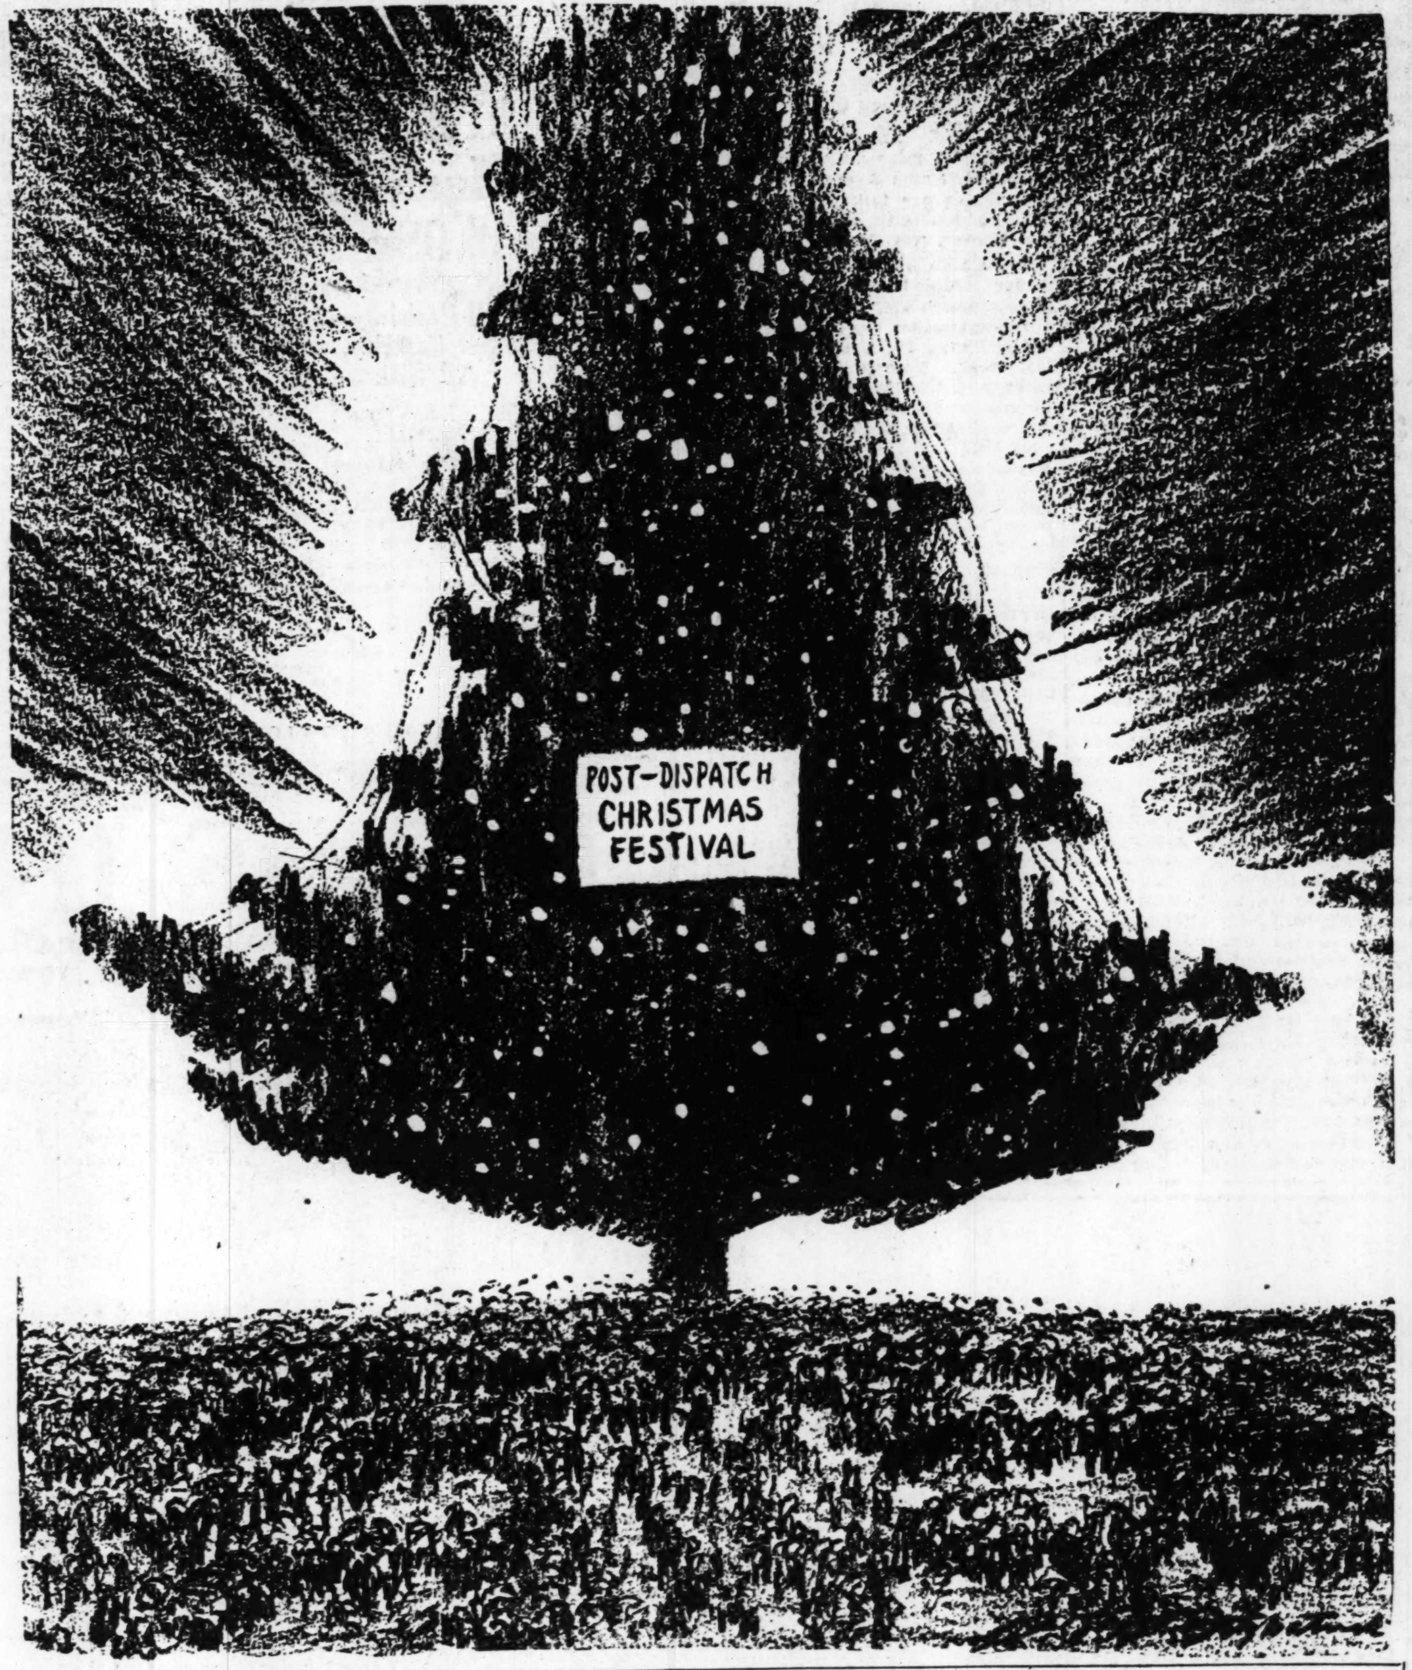
Four hundred and sixty-seven applications were left on the opening day. By yesterday the number of daily requests had grown to 1451. The week's total of 4570 means more than two applications a minute since the office opened.

A Few of the Thousands Asking for Baskets

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

A CONSTANT stream of needy men and women flowed to 1312 Pine street all last week to file applications for Christmas dinner baskets. Their pleas will be taken care of by the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund. Thousands of homes will be gladdened by the distribution of baskets and the mass celebration for children to be held in the Coliseum.

For Those Who Have Not



LETTERS GIVE PICTURE OF NEEDY'S PLIGHT

Dear Santa Claus:

I hope you won't forget me this year. My father died eight weeks ago. My mother has no work and my grandma is with us. Please send us a basket. Thanking you for your kindness.

MARIE.

Dear Sir:

My husband has been out of work for two years. The only work he has done is little repair jobs now and then. I have four children, including a baby 2 months old. I would appreciate anything you could give to help me and my children.

MRS. L.

Dear Sir:

Please be so kind as to bring us a Christmas basket. I have eight small children and my husband only gets two days a week work. We were without Christmas dinner last year. You may investigate if you wish. Thank you. MRS. B.

Dear Santa Claus:

Please don't miss me this Christmas. I have got three sisters and two brothers and papa and mother. Papa hasn't got any work.

A LITTLE FRIEND.

Christmas Festival Department:

There are three of us, and it is hard to make ends meet. A basket would be appreciated very much. MRS. C. B.

Dear Post-Dispatch:

Please send us a basket. I have two children and surely need it. MRS. M.

Dear Sir:

Please do not forget me Christmas, as I am the only one working and making so little. I have my widowed mother and my sister died and left four boys, and my husband deserted me and the two children. It will make us all happy if you don't forget us.

AN ANXIOUS WOMAN.

WHERE TO APPLY FOR BASKETS

NEEDY families which wish Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival baskets may apply for them to and including Dec. 20 at the following places:

White Families.

Headquarters, 1312 Pine street. E. H. Harris in charge.

Negro Families.

Pine Street Branch of the Y. M. C. A., 2838 Pine street. Frank L. Williams, principal of the Carr Lane Vocational School, in charge.

Dear Post-Dispatch:

Please send us a basket, as we have three children, and I know we won't have any Christmas unless you help us. My baby has whooping cough and my cupboard is almost empty. Please think of me once.

A WORRIED MOTHER.

Dear Post-Dispatch:

Would you please send a Christmas basket for my little seven-year-old boy? It hurts to see a little one disappointed at Christmas time. My husband has an affected heart following illness, and has not worked for months. Thank you in advance. MRS. J.

Dear Christmas Festival:

I have been out of work for two years and have nine children and they all need food to eat. The smallest one is seven months old and we used to get milk for her but now they have stopped us getting milk. Please send a basket. J. M.

Dear Sir:

Please send me a basket. I have nine small children and no one is working in my family.

MRS. M. H.

Dear Sir:

My husband is out of work and so am I. We need a basket if you please. MRS. C.

Dear Post-Dispatch Santa:

We will appreciate something from you very much, as our family is very large. My father has been out of work for over a year on account of sickness.

EDWARD.

Dear Sir:

I am sick and my husband is out of work. We don't know what Christmas will be without your help. Sometimes we have bread and sometimes we don't. Please send us one of your Christmas baskets. MRS. E. S.

"Vast Mid-Winter Hospitality Without the Taint of Charity" Has Gained General Praise

William Marion Reedy, Dwight F. Davis, William K. Bixby and Others Have Praised St. Louis' Great Yuletide Enterprise.

Details of Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Plans

THE thirty-second annual Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival will bring Christmas cheer to not less than 5000 needy homes through the distribution of dinner baskets on Christmas eve.

More than 10,000 boys and girls of unfortunate families will be entertained with a monster celebration at which gifts will be given out Christmas morning in the Coliseum.

Owing to the limited number of seats only those holding tickets will be admitted to the Festival in the Coliseum. Tickets will be distributed at various places, the time and places to be announced later.

The Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Committee does not employ any solicitors. The young women who distribute the lists do not take money. Contributions may be mailed or delivered to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch.

Every cent donated goes to the provision of Christmas cheer. The Post-Dispatch pays the cost of administration and the members of the executive committee gladly give their time to make sure that boys and girls of the less fortunate shall know the meaning of Christmas.

The success of the Christmas Festival depends on the generosity of the thousands of St. Louisans and residents of this vicinity whose nickels, dimes and quarters make up the bulk of the fund.

SEVENTEEN years ago the late William Marion Reedy, one of the truly brilliant minds which St. Louis has produced, paid the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival a tribute which still echoes in the ears of the Executive Committee.

"It is," said the editor of the St. Louis Mirror, "a vast midwinter hospitality with no taint of charity." And that is exactly what the thirty-second annual Christmas Festival will be. That is exactly what every Christmas Festival has been. The sponsors of the Christmas Festival make no pretense at providing permanent relief. That, they feel, is not their task. What they have undertaken is to spread Christmas cheer to those who otherwise would be without it.

Rehabilitation of broken homes is the work of organized charity and social service organizations, a work which must go on the year around. The Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival exists solely for the purpose of brightening the homes of the unfortunate on Christmas day.

Through the years the Christmas Festival has enjoyed the support of hundreds of thousands of persons. Not a December has passed without a wide outpouring of help through time and money on the part of countless men and women, boys and girls who want to share some of what they have to gladden the hearts of others.

Dwight F. Davis, now Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, was at one time an active participant in the work of the Christmas Festival. "The thousands of contributions which have gone to make this festival a success are proof of a community-conscious spirit which assures a great future for St. Louis," said Mr. Davis on one occasion. "If those who donated to the fund could see the joy when the tree is lighted they would contribute a hundred fold the next year."

William K. Bixby, manufacturer and art benefactor, who died recently, was a friend of the Christmas Festival. One year he gave the use of a building for a week for preparations in connection with the distribution of baskets.

As Mayor of St. Louis, Henry W. Kiel was fully appreciative of the great value of the Christmas Festival. "A city is only as great as the spirit of its people," he said.

"The civic consciousness of St. Louis as expressed by the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival is a great community asset.

"Making glad the heart of childhood at Christmas is one of our greatest opportunities. That is what the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival does. It shows we have not forgotten the unfortunate and distressed who otherwise would pass a bleak and dreary day.

"Yet there is nothing in this Christmas Festival which lowers those who attend it. On the contrary it lifts them up and on and enables them to forget their troubles and cares for a day."

Such statements could be quoted literally without end. The annual scrapbooks which make up the files of the Christmas Festival are fairly full of them. But more impressive than written statements is the cumulative testimony of 32 years of generous giving on the part of workers whose donations have made up the bulk of the fund.

TWO NEW MEMBERS OF EXECUTIVE BOARD

Oscar B. Fischer and Dr. John R. Vaughan Added to Festival Committee.

THERE are two new members on the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Executive Committee this year. They are Oscar B. Fischer and Dr. John R. Vaughan.

Mr. Fischer, who is city sales manager of the Falstaff Corporation, was elected to fill the vacancy left by the death of Henry J. Bube, for many years chairman of the Hall Committee.

The medical aid chairmanship, for 30 years held by Dr. A. H. Sippy, was given to Dr. Vaughan, a resident of University City, with offices in the Missouri Building.

Although Dr. Vaughan is new to the Executive committee, this is far from his first connection with the Christmas Festival. As a high school cadet he attended one of the early festivals in 1904 and since that time has been one of Dr. Sippy's assistants.

A Christmas Greeting; a Christmas Gift—Delicately beautiful, quaintly original.

And, good to remember, thrifty prices for everybody.

Keenly interesting are the things here . . . even the Christmas Wrappings will captivate you.

LARGEST GASOLINE RAILROAD ENGINE IN ST. LOUIS SERVICE

Motor Coach to Operate on Big Four Line on Run to Indianapolis.

The largest gasoline and electric railroad motor coach yet built will go into service tomorrow on the Indianapolis-St. Louis division of the Big Four Railroad.

The car, which was built by the J. G. Brill Co., is 80 feet long and when fully equipped and loaded with fuel, weighs more than 68 tons. It is capable of drawing three regular Pullman cars at a speed of 60 miles an hour. It will arrive in St. Louis at 4:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

YOUNG MEN'S COMMERCE BODY

500 Charter Members Obtained for New Organization.

Organization of the Young Men's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, for which 500 charter members have been obtained, is nearing completion. A committee to draft a constitution and by-laws has been selected, with R. Forder Buckley, an attorney, as chairman.

Following the drafting of a constitution, officers will be elected. Walter B. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in an address before members of the group last week, said that the organization would train young men for civic leadership.

Percival Chubb at Y. M. H. A.

Percival Chubb will discuss modern trends of the Ethical Culture movement at a meeting at the Young Men's Hebrew Association, Union boulevard and Enright avenut, at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

ACTIVITIES OF BOY SCOUTS

HOLIDAY WINTER CAMP FOR SCOUTS DEC. 26-31

Tenth Annual Outing at Irondale Reservation Announced.

An outdoor winter camp for 75 Boy Scouts will be held at the Irondale Reservation, official camp of the St. Louis Boy Scout Council near Irondale, Mo., Dec. 26 to 31. Although intended primarily for experienced campers, it will be open to any scout member of a council troop.

This is the tenth successive winter that a camp has been held at Irondale during the Christmas holidays. At these camps the scouts spend most of their time in the open, even sleeping in open-front Adirondack shacks. These shacks, each large enough to hold three boys, are heated by reflector fires built in front of the open face.

Most of the meals are eaten indoors, in the Ranger mess hall.

As in the past, the camp this year will specialize in winter sports, including hiking, soccer football and skating and coasting if the weather permits.

A court of honor will be held on the final day of the camp to present awards earned there. An inter-patrol contest will be held.

The camp will be unedr the supervision of M. D. Shippey, camping director of the council, assisted by members of the council staff. Lee Lane and Morty Pareira, junior officers at the Irondale camps last summer, will hold the same positions at the winter camp.

Troop 60, which has won three of the last four camp inter-patrol contests, will send 16 scouts or two full patrols to the camp this year. Scoutmaster Dr. L. H. Renfrow of the troop will also attend.

Reservations for the camp are being received at local scout headquarters, 505 Chemical Building.

Lecture or Prehistoric Life.

Barnum Brown, curator of the American Museum of Natural History, will give an illustrated lecture on prehistoric life at a meeting of the Washington University Association at Soldan High School next Tuesday evening.

Troop Notes

West District.

The Acorn Patrol, under Patrol Leader George Gillerman, led Troop 30 of the Y. M. H. A. in collecting baskets of food for donation to charitable institutions at the troop meeting a week ago Wednesday. A program of contests and entertainment was held at the meeting, the contests including questions in knot-tying, signalling, first aid, compass and tenderfoot requirements. Scout Leroy Sachs won a Yoyo contest. Scouts Dave Cohen and Lester Soldz played several piano selections, and Scouts Jerry Wenneker and Don McAdams gave a duet.

Dr. L. H. Renfrow, scoutmaster of Troop 60, Union Avenue Christian Church, gave a talk on "Building a Troop" before the Scouts of Webster Groves, Nov. 18.

Scout Melvin Kogan was elected senior patrol leader, and Scout Morris Beitch was elected scribe at a reorganization meeting conducted by Troop 70, Emerson School, last week. Two patrols, the Pirates, and the Radio Patrol, were formed, under the leadership of Patrol Leaders Gilbert Jaffe and Jack Tzinberg, respectively. Scout Lucien Horowitz was elected assistant patrol leader of the Pirates, and Scout Nathan Kanter assistant patrol leader of the Radios. Maurice Frank is scoutmaster.

Eighteen tests were passed by 20 scouts of Troop 101, West Park Baptist Church, on an all-day hike conducted by the troop last Sunday. In addition to passing tests, the scouts played soccer and football. The patrols worked on pioneering subjects at the meeting last week, in preparation for the December Boards of Review. Field Executive Hotchkiss attended the meeting.

Central District.

Troop 160 of Immanuel Baptist Church is the first in the Central District to complete part one of the Achievement Roundup which started last Tuesday, by reregistering with enough new members to earn 11 points. Only 10 points were needed to complete part one. The troop reregistered more than 75 per cent of its former members.

Troop 116 of George Dewey School will hike to its troop camp this month to pass tests. Several inter-patrol contests and games are also scheduled.

Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Bruns was promoted to the post of Assistant Scoutmaster of the troop at a Troop Court of Honor conducted by Troop 242 of St. Francis de Sales Church, a week ago Friday. Scout Bob Eyerman was made troop scribe. Five merit badges were awarded officers of the troop as follows: Assistant Scoutmaster Bruns, swimming and life saving, Senior Patrol Leader Sal Coffey carpentry, and troop reporter Heuerman life saving and swimming. Members of Patrol Leader Bruns' Wolf patrol received bars for winning the first half of an inter-patrol contest, and flashlights for winning the second half. Following the court, the Fathers' and Mothers' Club served refreshments.

South District.

Troop 254 of Messiah Lutheran Church took part in a tree-planting ceremony conducted by the Philanthropic Society in Forest Park a week ago yesterday. During the ceremony a tree dedicated to George Washington was planted near the Art Museum. Tenderfoot, second-calss, first-class and merit

Discovery Makes Possible
New Plan By Makers of Vicks VapoRub for Better "Control-of-Colds"

Another advance in "Control-of-Colds" has been perfected by the makers of Vicks VapoRub. A third of a century ago, Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern, external method of "treating" colds. Now, Vick Chemists introduce Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—based on a new idea in "preventing" colds. These two are companion products—they aid and supplement each other. Together, they make possible the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home and further reduction of the family "Colds-Tax"—in money, loss of time and health.

Here, briefly, is the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds":

1.—Before a Cold Starts

At that first sneezy, scratchy irritation of the nose or upper throat—Nature's unmistakable warning that you are "catching cold"—use Vicks Nose Drops promptly as directed. Many colds can be checked at this stage and bad colds avoided.

If you catch cold easily, the wise plan is to use just a few Vicks Nose Drops up each nostril after exposure to any particular condition that your own experience tells you is apt to give you a cold—for instance, a night on a Pullman—a dusty automobile ride—over-smoking, over-heated, over-crowded rooms, etc.—and you feel the slightest stuffiness of the nasal passages. Vicks Drops are especially designed to aid the nose—Nature's "preventer" of colds—when over-taxed by such emergencies of our artificial present-day living.

2.—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub (now available in white "stainless" form if you prefer). Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled freely all night long. During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Nose Drops as needed for ease and comfort. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drop—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks Vapo-Rub).

This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing," which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children—and lowers body strength at a time when Nature most needs it to resist disease. Don't "dose" colds except on your doctor's advice.

Trial Offer to Vick Users

The Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" has been tested—and proved. But the makers want all users of Vicks VapoRub to test it for themselves in their own homes. Get a bottle of Vicks Drops from your druggist today. Try the plan as directed. If results are not more than satisfactory, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

The Happy-Go-Lucky
Are Seldom Happy, and Seldom Lucky

THERE are women who say, "Oh, I can't be bothered with all this budgeting and counting pennies and tracking down low prices. Life's too short to be bothered with thrift."

Now all this sounds very gay and very carefree. But, as a matter of fact, the speakers are anything but gay—anything but carefree. Thriftless spenders are usually worried and careworn. They are always doing without the little luxuries which their thrifty neighbors are well able to afford.

And, nine times out of ten, their thrifty neighbors are regular A & P customers . . . Whether they are women who have to save money, or whether they are women who know that it is intelligent to save money.

ROAD PATROL ANXIOUS TO HUNT BANK ROBBERS

Ready for General Duty at All Hours, Says Chief of Kirkwood Group.

The local troop of the new State Highway Patrol, which has its office in Kirkwood, is available for call by citizens at any hour of the day or night to handle any cases of serious law violations or highway disturbances, its commander announced yesterday.

"We would as soon go out on a holdup or bank robbery as for a reckless driver," said Capt. Thomas L. Leigh, in charge. "We won't money with chasing somebody's chickens off the road or settling an argument when an automobile fender is smashed. Our primary duty is to enforce the highway laws but we are empowered as general peace officers."

The patrol office is in the new State Highway Building, 326 South Kirkwood road. Its telephone is Kirkwood 16, but during the business day it may be reached also over the Highway Department switchboard, Kirkwood 707. Late at night the telephone company will transfer calls for Kirkwood 16 to the home telephone of the "officer of the day."

Troop C, consisting of Capt. Leigh, Sergt. Robert E. Moore and eight troopers, is equipped with six automobiles and three motorcycles. It is assigned to the following 14 counties: St. Louis, Jefferson, Franklin, St. Charles, Lincoln, Montgomery, Warren Gasconade, Pulaski, Phelps, Crawford, Washington, St. Francois and Ste. Genevieve. It has been on duty since Nov. 24.

About a dozen arrests in various counties have been made by the troop during its first two weeks. It has cautioned 1000 or more drivers about minor offenses, chiefly defective head and tail lights. The heaviest penalty resulting from an arrest was a 30-day jail sentence given by Circuit Judge Woolfolk at St. Charles Friday to William Radenhofer, 2243 North Fifty-seventh street, East St. Louis, charged with reckless driving Thursday night on U. S. Highway No. 40 near O'Fallon. Such cases, when brought by county officers in the past, usually have gone before Justices of the Peace, but the Prosecuting Attorney decided in this instance to go direct to Circuit Court.

Capt. Leigh announced a plan to curb the congestion of traffic on busy roads on Sundays and holidays by willful slow drivers. The law permits slow driving, he said, but troopers will order those who wish to go slow to drop out of line and wait until other machines have passed.

Leigh also holds the rank of Captain in the army reserve. Sergt. Moore is Captain of B Company, 138th Infantry, National Guard of Missouri, in St. Louis.

Public Utility Discussion.

Milton R. Stahl, chairman of the State Public Service Commission, will discuss the organization of public utilities, and City Counsel-Muench will speak on public ownership of utilities at a forum to be held at Hotel Kings-Way next Tuesday noon under the auspices of the League of Women Voters.

Troop Notes

badges will be awarded at a troop court of honor Dec. 15 as part of a program in honor of the troop's second anniversary.

Troop 214 of Fremont School is planning an overnight hike for the Christmas holidays. The troop conducted a similar hike Thanksgiving.

Troop 39 of the Church of Our Redeemer celebrated its fifth anniversary with a banquet at the church hall last Friday evening. Scout Executive Earle W. Beckman and Activities Director Charles H. Mills were the speakers of the evening.

Suburban District.

An industrial hike to the Cahokia power plant was taken by Webster Groves 1 of Webster Groves Congregational Church a week ago Friday. The hike, which will be the first of a series, was led by Scoutmaster Renard and Educational Committeeman C. C. Robinson. A demonstration of artificial respiration was given by Safety Engineer Harr at the regular troop meeting Nov. 25.

North District.

Scout John Colonna won a contest in knot-tying, and Scout Durward Turpin won a first aid contest at the regular meeting of Troop 3 of Grace Church last week. Nine scouts, fve officers and two visitors were present. Scoutmaster Simons announced a plan for organizing a cub pack at the church. Assistant Scoutmaster Ray Arrows gave details of a hike the troop will hold this month, and William Dickson talked about a scheduled Parents' Night and Troop Court of Honor.

Nearly 200 scouts and fathers attended a fathers' and sons' banquet given jointly by Troop 33 of St. Peter's Church and the church brotherhood last Wednesday evening. Fifty mothers came in after the banquet to witness a program, which included a High School orchestra, a Negro male quartet, community singing led by Harry Weber, a skit, "Mysterious Moments of Magic," by Troop 103, and a talk by Activities Director Charles H. Mills of St. Louis Council. J. F. Peters was toastmaster.

Nearly 250 parents and friends witnessed an Indian pageant given by Troop 122 of Sherman Park Community Center at Knights of Columbus Hall last Wednesday evening. The pageant, which was in charge of the Older Boys' club of the troop, depicted through dances the lore of Indian tribes formerly inhabiting the site of St. Louis. Medicine, hoop, snake and buffalo dances were among those presented. Assistant Scoutmaster Victor Frank gave an exhibition of rope spinning, and Scouts Rex and Irwin of Troop 114 gave a tumbling clown act.

OVERNIGHT TRAINING HIKE

Final Meeting of Elementary Course in Leadership.

An overnight hike to the Scoutmasters' Lodge on the Meramec River near Fenton will be held next Saturday and Sunday as the final meeting of the Elementary Training Course in Boy Scout Leadership that has been conducted by the St. Louis Boy Scout Council this fall. The hike will be open to all members of the present elementary course and to all members of any previous elementary course who need attendance at an overnight hike to complete their training requirements.

The eleventh and final indoor meeting of the course will be held at Michael School tomorrow evening. The tenth meeting of the advanced course will be held at the Stix School, also tomorrow evening, at which time the yearly program charts will be completed. The Cub and Sea Scout programs also will be discussed.

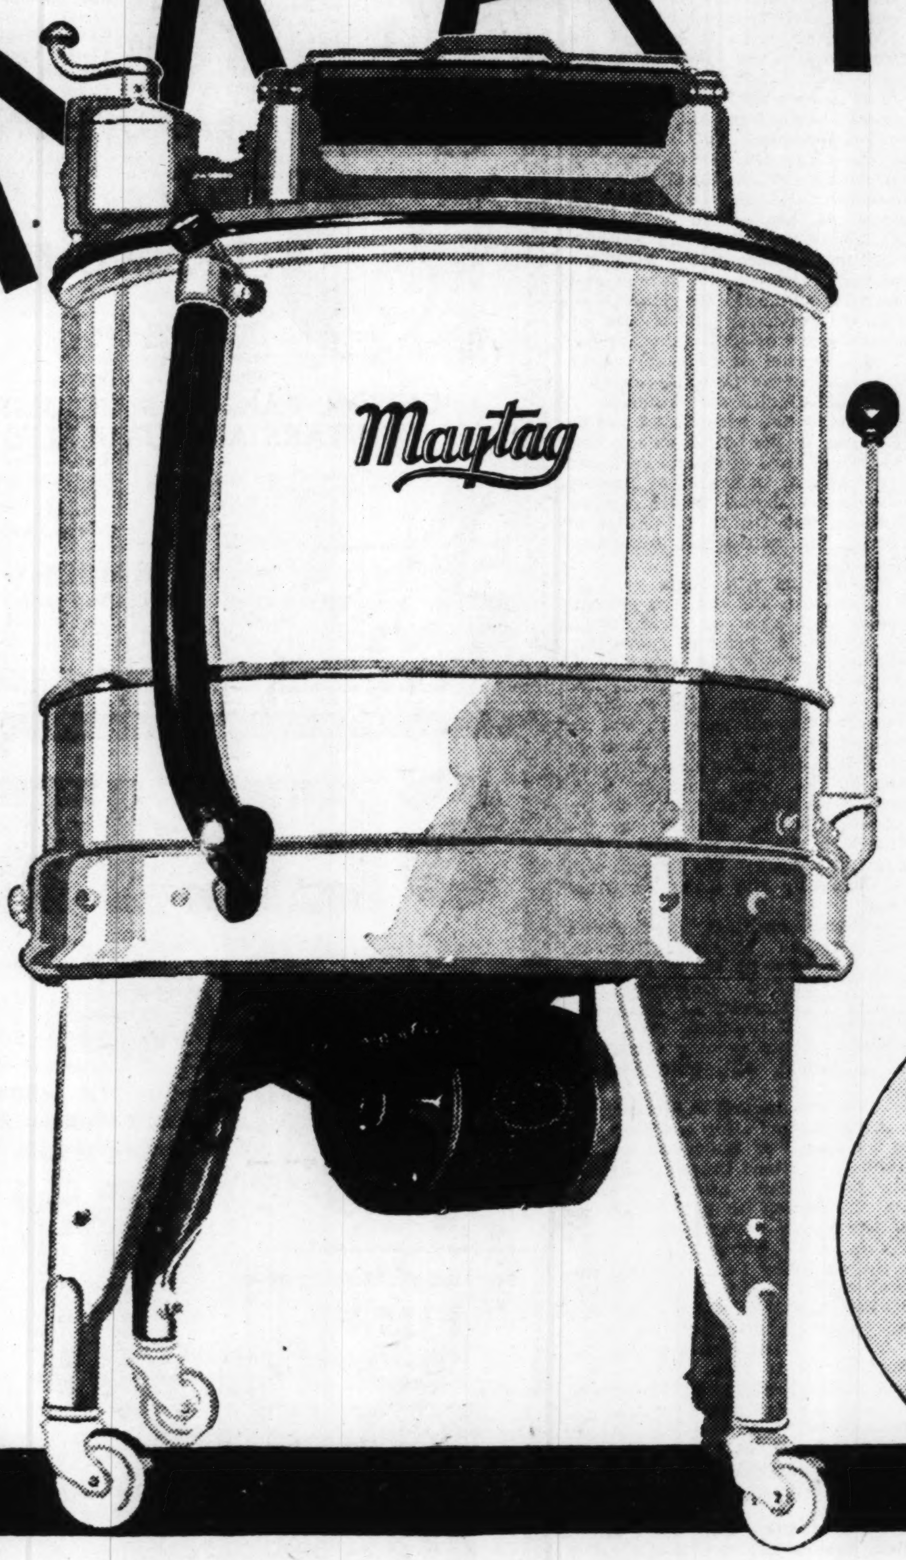
MAYTAG



Here it is!

$79.50

The New Maytag . . . with quality features you'd expect on a much higher priced machine . . . constructed to take the punishment of years of hard use . . . every hidden part made and assembled with painstaking care . . . in short, typical Maytag quality at the price of a "second choice" make of washer.

This New Maytag cleanses by the famous Maytag Gyrafoam method — fast, positive yet gentle. The Gyratator is counter-sunk to the level of the tub bottom—an extra quality feature that saves wear and tear on clothes. There is the "sediment zone"—another Maytag development which prevents dirt from being washed back into clean clothes. Extra large rolls on the wringer gently remove the last vestige of dirt—but save the buttons.

And the New Maytag is quiet. It stays quiet. Because the moving parts are so carefully made and put together that they don't wear out and get loose. That quietness is a sign of the built-in quality that makes this New Maytag such an amazing value at the price.

See it. See this New Maytag. Visit the Maytag showroom and prove to yourself that this is the kind of a washer value you've waited for.

Catlin on Museum Board.

Daniel K. Catlin has been elected a member of the administrative board of control of the City Art Museum to fill the vacancy created by the death of William K. Bixby.

CONVENTION TO SHOW DENTISTRY'S PROGRESS

St. Louis Society, 75 Years Old, to Be Host to 3000; Elaborate Program.

Dentistry, past, present and future, will be described by speakers at Hotel Jefferson tomorrow evening as part of a three-day celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the St. Louis Dental Society, one of the oldest organizations of its kind in America.

In order to make the meeting of general interest to the public, the program will include elaborate historical and scientific exhibits, clinics, motion pictures and addresses on numerous phases of dental health, advancement in dental science, children's dentistry and dental health education. Nearly 2000 dentists from all parts of the United States are expected to attend.

The history of dentistry from its earliest beginnings will be traced by Dr. Bernhard Wolf Weinberger of the College of Dentistry, New York University, in the first speech tomorrow evening. Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., cofounder of the famous Mayo Clinic, will be the second speaker, discussing "Organized Effort and Dentistry's Place in the Sun." The task of predicting the future of dentistry will be undertaken by Dr. C. M. Johnson of Chicago, editor of the American Dental Journal.

Dental Health for Children.

In connection with dental health education in the public schools and the proper care of children's teeth, Dr. Frank A. Delabarre of Boston, lecturer on dental health among children, and Dr. R. C. Willett of Peoria, Ill., will speak tomorrow afternoon.

Registration will begin at 8 a. m. tomorrow, and the first general session will open at 10:30, when Dr. Weston A. Price of Cleveland, chairman of the Research Section of the American Dental Association, will speak on "Diet as a Factor in Decay." Tuesday morning will be devoted to clinics and reports on unusual dental cases and problems, and at the noon luncheon there will be an illustrated talk by Dr. Barnum Brown, curator of the American Museum of Natural History, New York. His subject will be, "Hunting Big Game of Other Days."

Sectional meetings and clinics will continue Tuesday afternoon, with addresses by Dr. E. P. Brady of Washington University, Dr. George E. Morgan of Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis., and others. In the evening there will be a dinner, with entertainment features.

Teachers Invited to Meeting.

A special invitation has been sent to the Board of Education and all teachers to attend the general meeting Wednesday afternoon, when Dr. C. Carroll Smith, supervisor of the dental department of the Peoria (Ill.) public schools, will speak on "Why Dental Health Education in Public Schools?" School dentistry in Peoria is favorably known throughout the country.

The St. Louis Dental Society, founded by 16 men in 1856, now has a membership of about 800. Present officers are: Dr. O. W. Brandhorst, president; Dr. A. C. Mogler, Dr. O. A. Kelly and Dr. J. H. Williams, vice presidents, and Dr. J. A. Jacobsmeyer, secretary-treasurer.

In connection with the celebration, the society will broadcast a series of five-minute talks on dental health and care of the teeth over Radio Stations KMOX, KWK and WIL.

SMOKE LEAGUE APPROVES BOILER AND STOKER TYPES

Information About Equipment Will Be Furnished on Application at Headquarters.

As a means of combating the smoke evil, the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League has approved 15 types of boilers and seven types of automatic coal stokers. It believes the approved equipment to be effective in substantially reducing or completely eliminating smoke and invisible, injurious sulphur compounds emanating from chimneys.

Information about the devices may be obtained from the league's office in the Chamber of Commerce Building. The approvals have been made on the condition that installation of the equipment is done according to sound engineering principles. The league is interested only in equipment for homes, apartments and churches and leaving the field of power house installations to the city Building Department.

A statement by the league asserted that a small automatic stoker might pay for itself within two or three years by saving fuel.

TOO MUCH WATER IN OYSTERS; CLERK WHO MADE SALE FINED

Penalty Imposed on Complaint of Deputy Weights and Measures Commissioner.

A campaign against an excess water in packages of oysters is being conducted by the Commissioner of Weights and Measures as a result of complaints by consumers.

Deputy Commissioner Covington reported that Police Judge Foster fined a clerk $100 yesterday for selling Covington a quart of oysters containing 13 ounces of water and 20 ounces of oysters.

The clerk, Covington said, was Sam Berg of 1402 Gamble street, employed at the Busy Bee Fish and Oyster House, 2722 Franklin avenue. The charge against him was "deceit and fraud." W. A. Meletio, a large fish and oyster dealer, testified that the proper maximum content of water in oyster packages was four ounces to the quart.

Commercial Teachers' Officers.

Officers of the St. Louis Commercial Teachers' Club, elected at a meeting Friday night at Hadley Vocational School, are William S. Sanford, president; Ralph D. Shrewsbury, vice president, and Miss Margaret Ray, secretary-treasurer.

DELMAR-CLARA CORNER BOUGHT FOR $225,000

Jack Dubinsky Acquires Site Comprising Stores, Offices and Apartment Building.

OTHER IMPORTANT DEALS REPORTED

Business Property at Grand and Keokuk and Palmer Hotel at 609-13 Jefferson Change Hands.

By Berry Moore.

The southwest corner of Delmar boulevard and Clara avenue, together with the adjoining property on Clara, was purchased yesterday by Jack Dubinsky, professional real estate operator, for a total of $225,000, through Eugene J. Altheimer, Williams & Calmer, Inc.

The impovements consist of a two-story building on Delmar comprising stores and offices and an apartment building on Clara. The site has a frontage of 140 feet on Delmar, with a depth of 140 feet on Clara. Janzen's drug store occupies the corner store.

Annual rentals of the buildings approximates $24,000, or 6 per cent gross on $400,000. The corner is considered one of the most attractive in the West End.

The former owner of record was Norma Barrow, represented by the Oreon E. & R. G. Scott Real Estate Co.

B. A. Frankel acquired in this connection the Cathedral apartments, a four-story building at 4372-74 Lindell boulevard, owned by a client of Oreon E. & R. G. Scott. They were given a valuation in the deal of $300,000. There are 60 apartments and four stores. The site has a frontage of 160 feet on Lindell by a depth of 215 feet.

Grand and Keokuk Sale.

As further evidence of renewed activity in real estate, negotiations were concluded yesterday involving the sale of an important piece of business property at the northwest corner of Grand boulevard and Keokuk street, and what is known as the Palmer Hotel, a four-story structure at 609-13 North Jefferson avenue, with a total valuation of $175,000, through the Henry R. Weisels Company.

The Grand and Keokuk corner, consisting of an ornate Spanish type two-story and basement structure, was purchased by the Chambers Motor Co. for new quarters. The site has 162 feet on Grand and 160 feet on Keokuk.

The structure consists of a commodious salesroom, with extra large plate glass show windows and tile floor. The premises comprise 45,000 square feet available for sales and service station purposes. Contracts have been let for remodeling the building, which is one of the most artistic of its type on South Grand boulevard.

Valued at $100,000.

While the purchase price was not disclosed, the valuation of the property was placed at more than $100,000 by the Weisels company. Negotiations were handled by Arnold H. Maremont of the Henry R. Weisels Company in connection with F. E. Temme, general manager of the Chambers Motor Co. The property was owned by Norma Barron, represented by Oreon E. & R. G. Scott Real Estate Co.

The Chambers Motor Co., which handles Ford products exclusively, had quarters at 1123-25 Pine street for 10 years, until about a year ago, when it removed to a larger building at 3850 Chippewa street. The increase in its business has been such that larger and more prominent quarters were again made necessary.

The Palmer Hotel, situated on the west side of Jefferson avenue, north of Washington avenue, was acquired by E. J. Hardesty through Henry R. Weisels, for a reported price of $75,000. It was owned by Horjul, Inc., of which Julius Horowitz is president, and who was represented by Francis P. Healy.

The building has 90 rooms and 30 baths in the upper stories and two stores on the first floor. The lot has a frontage of 49 feet six inches on Jefferson with a depth of 121 feet. Horwitz, who acquired this property a year or two ago, it is understood, has realized a substantial profit on the investment.

Other Deals Pending.

Several deals pending for outlying business property and apartments are expected to be closed within the next week. Negotiations also have been resumed for various small holdings, notably south of Olive and north of Washington avenue, in the downtown district. Prospective purchasers, as a rule, are speculators, anticipating price concessions under present business conditions.

Charles Cella disclosed plans yesterday for subdividing the ground floor of the five-story building at the southwest corner of Washington avenue and Eleventh street into stores. These contemplate five stores on Washington avenue and two on Eleventh at the corner of St. Charles street. Hhe upper floors are to be reserved for jobbing or wholesale concerns. The building has a frontage on Washington avenue of 75 feet with a depth of 155 feet to St. Charles street, on which it also has a frontage of 75 feet. Cella purchased it several years ago at the instance of Clifton H. McMillan, a director of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Co., and co-executor with the Mercantile-Commerce of the $7,000,000 Thomas Dunn estate.

A demand for stores in this block is anticipated, with the completion of the 10-story passenger station for the Illinois Traction Co. at Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue. Offers involving both purchase and leases in this section reflect a wholesome effect on the passenger station project.

SAYS BUILDING INDUSTRY MUST LEAD BUSINESS REVIVAL

Head of Dodge Corporation Declares Construction Has Shown Improvement, but Is Below Normal.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Truman S. Morgan, president of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, believes that, although it is too early to determine the 1932 trend, the construction industry of the country has not begun to rise to normal conditions.

Morgan, who is attending the President's conference on home building, said it is safe to assume the construction industry must lead the way to general business revival, but at the moment he found "few indications that the upward swing has begun."

In some sections of the country, he said, the excess building of former years is being absorbed gradually and new activities may reasonably be expected.

Morgan declared the problem confronting the country was one that required much advance planning.

"The President," he said, "in first turning to construction as a remedy for unfavorable business, and in enlisting such a large group to study the problem presented, clearly recognized the importance of the industry in our economic life.

"However, the public should not be led to believe that the results of the year's work by these committees and the culmination in one of the most outstanding industrial conferences of our day, are going to bring about an immediate return to prosperity."

He added the conception of the plan from the start was for a long range program, to stabilize the industry, to promote efficiency, minimize waste and make suitable home owning within the reach of the average wage earner. The plan operates on the theory that a home-owning community is a prosperous community and less susceptible to business reverses, he said.

Morgan disclosed that the 1933 congress of the International Federation of Building and Public Works, representing more than 40 nations, would be held probably in Washington.

Other Cook leases: Abe Ginsberg, store at 506 North Fourteenth street; Dr. C. R. Cochran, space in the Pineate Building, Eighth and Pine streets; Fred W. McAvoy, rooms in the Leather Trades Building, Sixteenth and Locust streets; Krispy Krackles Co., storeroom at 5735 Delmar boulevard.

REALTY MEN TELL FAMILIES HOW TO SAVE FOR NEW HOMES

"Cutting Corners" on Present Budgets Suggested as Way to Set Aside $500 Down Payment.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Real estate dealers have abandoned flamboyant slogans of other years to tell prospective home purchasers how to save the $500 needed for a down payment on a small home.

Believing that thousands of persons who do not own their own homes could do so by "cutting corners" on their present budgets, the National Association of Real Estate Boards has inaugurated a plan calculated to stimulate necessary savings for new home construction.

The campaign is based on figures showing the buying habits of thousands of families and the financial experience of home owners who have achieved their goal by means of small but regular savings. standards, organized real estate dealers hope by this means to solve the down payment problem which has always retarded home building and which has been accentuated in the last two years by economic stress.

Auto and Radio to Stay.

"Our plan does not begrudge the family the automobile, the radio and the other things so dear to their hearts," says Harry S. Kissell, Springfield, O., president of the association. "It only seeks to curtail on some expenditures until funds for home owning are assembled.

"For example, the figures we have prepared show how certain sums can be saved by planning appetizing but less expensive meals than the unthinking family is accustomed to have.

"There never, at any time, in our greatest prosperity, have been enough homes built in America, and the trouble is not due to any indifference to the home idea. Almost any one would rather have a home than live in rented quarters.

"The trouble has been in getting started on the transaction. It has been that the bulk of the prospects for real estate, building materials, labor and service are small alaried people who often cannot assemble the necessary down payment."

A summary of the figures by which the association expects a $50-a-week family could keep $500 in a year shows the following estimated savings: Cleaning rugs, $40; repairing rugs, $10; decorating, $30; curtains, $4; linens and laundry, $25; window cleaning, $6; clothing, making own house dresses and children's clothing, and pressing and cleaning at home, $75; amusements, savings on movies and other incidentals, $25; between-meal refreshments, $25; savings by "down payment dinners," $260.

New Point of View.

Kissell believes the problem never has been met from the point of view of the working families on whom it is dependent to build these new homes and benefit the business world. He thinks better planning of meals, little economies by housewives such as turning worn pillow cases, and a general reorganization of budgets, will supply potential funds that will not only fill many vacant structures, but also will build thousands of new houses.

In answer to the criticism that this plan places the burden on women, Kissell says it is the "woman who wants the home and who would do far more difficult things than we suggest if she really thought she could obtain it in such ways. The man is doing his share by working at his business or trade.

"At least this plan is worth trying. Banker, business man, politician and economist alike have declared repeatedly for the past two years that resumption of home construction would bring new prosperity."

Leases Reported by Edward Glik.

Edward Glik, realtor, reports having made the following leases: 6102 Easton avenue; second floor, formerly occupied by the Knights of Pythis, to John Helliker and Harry C. Vivian, who will conduct a commercial photograph studio there. The lease was made for McCain-Wright, Inc., which operates the Style Crest Shoe Co., on the first floor of the premises. The storeroom at 5292 Page boulevard was rented to William Mosley, who will conduct a poolroom there. This lease was made for the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. Storeroom at 3842 Wilmington avenue, leased for the Kroger Co., to M. T. Randmade, who will conduct a Nation-Wide Grocery store there. Storeroom at 5961 Easton avenue was leased for A. Rosenfeld to a Karmel-Korn confectionery shop, represented by Slonim Realty Co.

IN MEMORIAM

EULER—In memory of Emma Euler, who passed away Dec. 9, 1930:

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary trouble and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.

Sister, MRS. C. BREITWIESER, Brother-in-law and Family.

JONES—In loving memory of my dear husband, Alexander E. Jones, who died Dec. 6, 1930.

His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.

Sadly missed by wife, ANNA JONES.

KAY—In loving memory of Mrs. Margaret Kay, who died one year ago, Dec. 7. Mass Monday, Dec. 7, 6 a. m., St. Thomas of Aquin Church:

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are passed
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore
Till God called her home to suffer no more.

Sadly missed by her loving son and sisters, JAMES KAY, KATHERINE REILLY AND ROSA MEYERS.

KETTELKAMP—In loving memory of Webster Kettelkamp, died Dec. 3, 1930:

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him.
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land
Never to part again.

THE GRIEVED FAMILY.
THE GRIEVED FAMILY. (c)

LOTTMANN—In loving memory of John F. Lottmann, who passed away Dec. 7, 1930:

One year has passed since that sad day
When one I loved was called away.
God took him home, it was His will,
Within our hearts he liveth still.

Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

MAMIE KRAEMER—

Two years have passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away.
God took her home. It was His will,
But in our hearts she liveth still.

FRED KRAEMER, husband. (c)

MULLIGAN—In memory of John T. Mulligan, who departed this life Dec. 6, 1929: Sadly missed by WIFE, MOTHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS AND ALL WHO LOVED HIM. (c)

NOLAN—In memory of my beloved husband, William P. Nolan, who departed this life Dec. 8, 1930. Anniversary requiem mass will be said for the repose of the soul Dec. 10 at 8 o'clock Saint Edwards Church. His memory is as dear today as in the hour he passed away.

Sadly missed by
WIFE. AND LOVED ONES.

SALYER, G. P.—Died Dec. 7, 1930:

His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.

Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

SCHULTE—High mass of Requiem for John Schulte, 7:30, Dec. 10, at the Immaculate Conception Church, 3000 S. Lafayette.

SIKA—In loving memory of our dear sister, Mary Sika, who departed this life two years ago, Dec. 7, 1929:

Today recalls that memory
Of our loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of her today
Are the ones who loved her best.
May her soul rest in peace.

Requiem mass will be offered up at St. George's Church, Thursday morning, Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock.

Sadly missed by her sisters,
MRS. B. LANG, MRS. J. KALINOWSKY.

SMITH—In loving memory of Stanley Smith, who passed away Dec. 8, 1929:

Two years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away.
God took him home, it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never:
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.

Sadly missed by
MOTHER, SISTER AND BROTHER. (c)

SMITH—Catherine Smith, of Cincinnati, O., in memory of and dear mother who passed away one year ago, Dec. 7, 1930:

No one knows how much we miss you;
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you;
Life has never been the same.
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.

Sadly missed by her CHILDREN.

TROST—In loving memory of our dear mother, Sophie Trost, who departed this life Dec. 6 1928:

Three years full of tears, sadly and blue.
Life is sad, mother dear, without you.

Sadly missed by
HUSBAND AND SONS. (c)

SIKA—Mary Sika, who passed away Dec. 7, 1929. Sadly missed by NIECES AND NEPHEWS.

WILMER—In loving memory of Annie Wilmer, who died two years ago:

The depths of my sorrow I cannot tell,
At the loss of my sister I loved so well.

Sadly missed by her sister,
LILY BERVEILER.

WILSON—In loving memory of Rolla H. Wilson, who departed this life Dec. 7, 1930:

The hand so often clasped in ours,
Lies now in death's cold chill.
We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is he only thing that grief can call its own.

Sadly missed by his WIFE, MOTHER, DAUGHTER AND SON. (c)

IT IS safe to say that many persons will turn to the Want Ads today and carefully scan the Lost and Found Columns to learn whether the articles they have lost are advertised as having been found.

Scores of other persons will compare the various Used Car Lists — in the Automobile Columns — to learn whether the make and model of the car they wish to purchase is advertised at the price they are willing to pay and they will find bargains.

So various groups of persons interested in the many different lines of advertising turn to these "want" pages to have their needs filled.

These readers find many more offers in the Post-Dispatch than appear in all of the other St. Louis newspapers and many readers go no farther in their search, which accounts for the greater responsiveness of Post-Dispatch "want" advertising.

AT LAST!

Small Homes of Charm and Distinction Within Range of All.

There never has been a doubt as to the comfort, convenience and joy offered by the small English cottage, the English homes of two-story with half timber and stucco effect as well as the colonial type of our early American period. And NOW—AT LAST, the cost obstacle is removed. At popular prices, you can enjoy the luxury of these time-proven types of homes.

Group Open to Public.

Klingensmith and Grover, Architects and the builders, co-operating with the Albert Wenzlick Real Estate Co., have just recently completed and opened to the public a group of three homes, comprising all of the above types, which are located at 6478-82-84 Lloyd Avenue and cost less than $7900. The English story and a half cottage has been appropriately furnished by the Lammert Furniture Co. All of the homes are constructed of best materials and first-class workmanship.

An Opportunity for Home Builders.

If you have your own lot on which to build, or are contemplating building either now or later, don't fail to take advantage of this OPPORTUNITY to inspect these homes of beauty. Lloyd Avenue is 2 blocks north of Manchester and just west of Tamm avenue (6400 west) and the homes are open every day and evening.

SALESMEN WANTED

Men Men

WHAT IS YOUR FUTURE? ARE YOU GETTING AHEAD? ARE YOU ON THE ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE IN YOUR TRADE OR PROFESSION? CAN YOU EXPECT TO MAKE FROM $40 TO $100 A WEEK IN 1932? IF NOT, INVESTIGATE THIS OFFER OF FREE INSTRUCTION AND IMMEDIATE EMPLOYMENT. WE HAVE NOTHING TO SELL YOU.

We will take on additional men who wish to learn to do this work and who can get along with earnings of $35 to $40 week while studying and practicing. We will train such men free. We will furnish full equipment with no deposit required. There is no expense. No previous experience in any kind of selling is necessary. If you are capable of understanding and following instruction, if you are one who likes to practice to learn skill and judgment in what he does, and if you are willing to work for success, then we will give you a chance. We cannot guarantee that you will be a star, but we do guarantee you a trial with sincere earnings, practical instruction and guidance.

We have a wonderful invention that renders a very unusual service. Our men are thoroughly trained as to how to conduct our business. Those we believe, in a personal interview, can qualify will be given the opportunity of seeing our invention, meeting our men, investigating their earnings, our company and our entire business methods.

It is not unusual that men in this organization make $25 to $50 for one day's work.

This is a straightforward offer of sincere intent to worthy men who are in need of good, substantial positions. Please do not apply for these positions unless you feel you can meet the requirements, and the requirements are that you be of neat appearance, between the ages of 25 and 40 and of good character and reputation and willing to work.

Applicants will be personally interviewed Monday, 9 to 12 o'clock. Apply Branch General Office, 562 Paul Brown Bldg., 9th and Olive sts. We will also hire men for East St. Louis and Belleville.

ONE of the best-known national houses manufacturing complete lines of men's, women's and children's underwear is open for representation in Missouri. Applications only from men between thirty and forty, having had actual successful experience selling underwear or some kindred line to department and men's stores throughout this territory, over a period of years, will be considered. Compensation on salary, expense, and bonus basis. For interview in St. Louis at an early date, address in strict confidence, giving age, houses now and previously sold for, territory covered, and average earnings over past five years.

OPPORTUNITY, BOX J-340,
POST-DISPATCH.

T. G. WILLIAMS' FUNERAL TO BE AT 2 P. M. TOMORROW

Services at 2707 North Grand for President of Von Hoffman Press.

Funeral services for Thomas G. Williams, president of the Von Hoffmann Press, who died Friday, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Kron undertaking establishment, 2707 North Grand boulevard, to the Missouri Crematory, 3211 Sublett avenue. Mr. Williams, who was 51 years old and lived at the Congress Hotel, died of cancer after an illness of five months.

Before coming to St. Louis in 1904 he had a colorful career in the Southwest, his experiences ranging from punching cows in Arizona to railroad and canal construction work in Texas. Born in Mansfield La., the son of a planter, he was graduated from Tulane University, where he played on the football team.

In 1901 he married Miss Lula Goodman in Austin, Tex., and three years later came to St. Louis and entered the printing business. He acquired an interest in the Wilson Typesetting Co., in 1908, and was general manager for several years until the firm was purchased by the Von Hoffmann Press. He was operating vice president of that organization until the retirement of Albert Von Hoffmann in 1927, when he became president. For the last six years he also was vice president of the National Telephone Directory Co., which is owned by the Von Hoffmann firm.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen White.

SAINT NICK VISITS THE ALPS

"Son of Devil" Also Calls on Bad Boys in Observing Old Custom.

By the Associated Press.

VAL GARDENA, Italy, Dec. 5.—Santa Claus paid his annual call to this valley of the Italian Alps tonight. He was called St. Nicholas, however, and was accompanied by an "angel" as he went from house to house, followed by the "son of the devil," the three impersonated by villagers, intent on carrying out an old Austro-German custom.

St. Nicholas was dressed like the traditional American Santa Claus, the angel wore white with long blond hair and huge wings of white feathers, while the third person, his face blackened, wore a black cape, horns and a tail. To the homes of the good children went St. Nicholas and the angel; to the homes of the bad children went the "son of the devil." The good children received presents of all sorts. The bad were almost carried away in a great sack by the sinister one, who reluctantly agreed finally to give them another chance.

BARGE LINE FORGER SENTENCED

Two Years in Leavenworth Suspended Under Conditions.

By the Associated Press.

DANVILLE, Ill., Dec. 5.—Troy E. Reeves, former clerk of the Federal Barge Terminal at Cairo, pleaded guilty today in Federal Court of forging indorsements on Government pay checks. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail here and given a year and a day in Leavenworth, the latter being suspended for two years' probation on his promise to reimburse the Government.

John and Anna Wagner of East St. Louis, brought back from Florida for jumping bonds on liquor charges, were arraigned. Wagner was given three months in jail and fined $300. His wife was given a similar sentence, which was suspended, and she was placed on probation for two years. Arthur Girard and his wife of Kankakee pleaded guilty of raising $1 bills to $10 notes. The husband was sentenced to four months in jail here, and given a year and a day in Leavenworth, the latter being suspended, and he was placed on probation for five years. Mr. Girard was sentenced to a year and a day in Alderson, W. Va. This was suspended, and she was placed on probation for five years on her promise to reimburse those who had accepted the altered currency.

EDDIE FOY JR. SUED BY WIFE

Barbara Newberry Says Actor Humiliated Her at New Year's Party.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—A suit for divorce against Edwin Fitzgerald Foy Jr., son of the late comedian, was filed today in Superior Court by Mrs. Barbara Newberry Foy, 21 years old, an actress.

She charged cruelty and declared in the complaint that last New Year's her husband, while intoxicated, humiliated her at a party and then forced her out of their house. On another occasion, she charged, he slapped her when she complained of being ill. The bill declared that Foy, who is now appearing on a New York stage, earns between $750 and $1000 a week, and has one-seventh interest in a $200,000 property in New Rochelle, N. Y.

Forged to Pay for Honeymoon.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Blanche Gibson, 20 years old, of Mount Sterling, Mo., is in jail here on a charge of forging checks to pay for a honeymoon with Willard Gibson after he had spent all of his money. The young bride said her husband believed her to be wealthy and that he knew nothing of her forgeries, authorities said.

Fraternity Convention Here.

Alpha Zeta Pi, national honorary society for students of romance languages, will hold its convention at Washington University, Jan. 1 and 2. The society has six chapters. Officers of the local chapter are Marguerite Newton, president; Jules Gottschalk, vice president; Margaret Carriere, secretary; George Halterman, treasurer.

MUSSOLINI TO PUT PRIVATE PROPERTY UNDER HIS CONTROL

Announcement Made in Launching $26,000,000 Institute to Thaw Frozen Credits.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Dec. 5.—Private property and private initiative must come under the control of the State through the Fascist corporative constitution, Premier Mussolini said today in inaugurating the $26,000,000 credit institute by which the Government and the banks hope to thaw frozen credits.

"It would be absurd," he said, "to consider this institute an instrument for producing a cataclysmic transformation in the Italian economic structure. It is a means for pushing Italian business toward state corporation.

"The corporative state is a system which fundamentally respects private property and private initiative, but desires even them to be impressed within the state which alone can protect and control them." The Premier directed that the institute begin functioning immediately.

CHICAGO GIVES CHRISTMAS SEASON OFFICIAL GREETING

Bands Play, Bombs Explode and Mayor Exhorts Shoppers to Buy Tax Anticipation Warrants.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The Christmas season came officially to Chicago today with a celebration attended by a crowd estimated to contain 150,000 persons in State street, chief loop shopping thoroughfare.

Confetti bombs exploded from tops of department stores and office buildings, bands played on street croners, Mayor Anton J. Cermak welcomed the year's busiest shopping season, and the merchants unveiled to the public gaze scores of 20-foot-tall figures lining the street which have been hidden in canvas shrouds for weeks. The Mayor called upon shoppers to remember city employes by buying tax anticipation warrants to insure policemen, school teachers, firemen and others their pay checks before Christmas.

TESTIFIES DEPUTY SHERIFFS FIRED FIRST IN MINE FIGHT

Kentucky Farmer Witness for Defense in Trial of Union Officer Charged With Murder.

By the Associated Press.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Dec. 5.—The first testimony that Deputy Sheriffs fired the first shots in the May 5 clash in which four men were killed near Evarts, Ky., was introduced today by the defense in the trial of W. B. Jones, Harlan County mine union officer and one of 10 men charged with murder and conspiracy in connection with the fight.

The testimony was given by A. L. Vanover, farmer and owner of a small mine. Vanover said he was plowing in a field near the scene of the fight and saw some automobiles come up. He said a man alighted from one of the cars and started shooting. The shots, he said, were fired in rapid succession. The State contends the automobiles containing Deputy Sheriffs were ambushed by the miners who, it alleges, fired first.

AMITY GIVES 500,000 FREE MEALS TO NEEDY IN YEAR

Director of Charity Says 20,000 Articles of Clothing Have Been Distributed.

Amity, an independent charity at 916 Morgan street, during the past year supplied more than 500,000 free meals to the needy, gave baskets of food to 3000 families and distributed 20,000 articles of clothing, Joshua P. Solven, director of the work, said last night.

Jobs were found, Solven said, for 1200, a decrease of about 2800 compared with the record for the year before.

Preparations are now being made for the annual Christmas dinner at Amity's headquarters, attended last year by about 3000, and more are expected this year. Separate dining halls will be provided for homeless men and family groups. Several kinds of fowls are to be served to the family groups, and each will be given a week's supply of groceries. For the men, pork will be the principal dish.

C. A. LEE DENIES INTERVIEW

State School Head Says He Made No Political Comment.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—Superintendent of Schools Charles A. Lee said, in a formal statement tonight, he was amazed when he saw a story in Friday's newspapers under a Springfield date line, 'purporting to quote me on the political situation."

"As I did not authorize the publication of a statement while in Springfield relative to the political situation in Missouri for next year, I desire to say the statement emanating from Springfield and purported to have been given out by me is absolutely without foundation." The stories from Springfield quoted Lee as saying he would not be a candidate for Governor next year, that he desired to continue as head of the State's public school system, and that he soon would issue a statement indorsing State Senator Russel L. Dearmont of Cape Girardeau for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Two Killed in Fall of Scaffold.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 5. — Two workmen died tonight from injuries suffered when a scaffold collapsed at a school being erected here. They, with seven others laying bricks on a fourth floor wall, fell 40 feet to a pile of debris. Charles Stone and Frank Seibert were killed. Three other workmen saved themselves by seizing the scaffold's upright supports.

TELLS COUNTIES HOW TO TRACE HIDDEN TAXABLE PROPERTY

Attorney-General Rules Equalizers May Summon Witnessses, Books and Records.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—County Boards of Equalization, when they have information, either general or specific, that property is withheld from taxation, have the authority to summon "such witnesses, books and records as it may believe can furnish the information necessary to enable it properly to assesss the property," the Attorney-General's office holds in an opinion issued today. While the opinion dealt specifically with building and loan stock, Attorney-General Shartel said it would apply also to bank deposits.

The opinion was in reply to a letter from John B. Smoot Prosecuting Attorney of Scotland County, who said many citizens of that county were not reporting building and loan stock for taxation purposes. The opinion held that County Boards of Equalization had the authority to summon the secretary of a building and loan association to disclose what any citizens, suspected of failing to report building and loan stock, had on deposit.

NEW INSCRIPTION IN PALACE OF KING XERXES DISCOVERED

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Dedicating the Museum of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago today, Dr. James H. Breasted, director of administration, announced that a field expedition of the institute had discovered a new 48-line inscription in the Palace of Xerxes, Persian Emperor.

Based on a cable from Dr. Ernest Herzfeld, field director of the Persian expedition maintained by the institute, the announcement came as a climax to the dedication of the museum, which the director described as "depicting the unfolding of the life of man" and as the fulfillment of a dream of 40 years.

The museum proper, which contains only the most representative exhibits discovered by the expeditions sent out by the university, is made up of five great halls, each containing exhibits of the Near East civilizations—Egyptian, Assyrian, Babylonian, Hittite and Palestinian.

WANTS $1,000,000 BRIDGE OVER LAKE OF OZARKS

Camden County Sues to Compel Highway Board to Make Improvements in Its Borders.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—An alternative writ of mandamus was issued here today by Circuit Judge Stillwell, ordering the State Highway Commission to show cause why it should not construct roads and bridges in Camden County which would place the county "on an equal basis with every county in the State."

Camden County seeks to compel the highway commission to construct a bridge over the Lake of the Ozarks, which, it is estimated, would cost about $1,000,000. The writ is returnable Jan. 4. Meantime, T. H. Cutler, chief highway engineer, was ordered to "cause surveys to be made on the highway system in Camden County, as designated by law, and particularly that part of the secondary system designated as Highway No. 5."

BAREHEADED BLONDE WOMAN HELPS TO ROB OIL STATION

She Loots Cash Register of $50 While He Holds Gun on Attendant.

A young woman in a black dress and white sweater, with her blonde hair uncovered, took part in a robbery early yesterday at a gasoline station at 6870 St. Charles road, Wellston, where she and an armed man obtained $50.

The young man held a revolver on Leon Turner, the attendant, while the young woman looted the cash register. The two escaped in an automobile driven by another man.

A young woman described as a brunette took part in five previous holdups last week, three of them at hamburger stands, one at a lunchroom and one at a gasoline station.

NEW YORK STREETS FLOODED

Bursting Main Maroons Residents of Fashionable Districts.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Fifth, Madison and Park avenues were inundated for several blocks late today by a bursting water main which trapped a watchman in a construction shed for two hours, poured a stream six feet deep along one street and isolated several blocks of the fashionable apartment house area.

The 48-inch main broke at Seventy-third street and Madison avenue as early evening traffic was at its height. Residents of apartments were marooned and delivery boys in nearby stores rigged up a ferry service, carrying residents to and from their homes in push carts at a dime a ride. Police reserves were called to protect pedestrians in Fifth avenue where the water reached a foot in depth for three blocks.

Slayer of Six Sentenced to Die.

By the Associated Press.

AIKEN, S. C., Dec. 5.—George Jackson, charged with killing six of his kinsmen on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26, was convicted of murder today and sentenced to die. The middle-aged farmer, slight of stature and passive in his manner, with a shotgun and pistol shot down two uncles, an aunt and three cousins in the Bethcar Church community, near Wagener.

JUDGE GRIFFITH, GRANITE CITY, SUGGESTED FOR U. S. BENC

Recommended With Others New Post in Southern Illinois District.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—R. W Griffith, Judge of the City Cou of Granite City, Ill., is one of several aspirants under consideratio for appointment to the new Federal Judgeship created by the la Congress in the Southern Illinois district.

Senator Glenn, whose recommendation probably will be the determining factor, has sent th names of the candidates, Griffith included, to the Department Justice, with the request for a early report on their qualification He is expected to announce his decision soon after receiving the department's reply. The appointment will be made by the Pres dent, subject to confirmation b the Senate.

Names on Glenn's list, other tha Griffith's include: Circuit Judge Charles G. Briggle, Springfield; Circuit Judge Joseph E. Daily, Peoria; Circuit Judge James E Baldwin, Decatur; Circuit Judge George C. Hillyer, Bushnell; Paul Samuel, Jacksonville, who served a brief term on the Illinois Supreme Court by appointment; Probate Judge Benjamin D. Farrar of Rock Island County; John L. Dryer, Hillsboro; Former Judge Harry E. Brown, Genesee, and Walter M. Provine, Taylorville.

CALLS MOVE TO RESTORE BEER 'REASON ON A JAG'

Senator Sheppard Addresses W. C. T. U. Which Gives Bishop Cannon a Rising Welcome.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The "wet logic" of urging a saloonless return to beer was termed "reason on a jag" tonight by Senator Sheppard of Texas. The sponsor of the original eighteenth amendment resolution spoke at a banquet given by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to members of Congress.

"There is no more likelihood of repealing the eighteenth amendment than of repealing the Federal Constitution," Sheppard said. "The proponents of wine and beer under the Volstead act, with the eighteenth amendment in operation are deceiving the thirsty minority on one side and the damp Santa Clauses on the other."

The banquet was one of an accumulation of dry meetings to plan presidential campaign strategy.

A rising greeting was given at the afternoon session to Bishop James Cannon Jr., Southern Methodist churchman, and a member of the National Prohibition Board of Strategy.

"The effort to resubmit is nothing but an effort to short-circuit the Constitution," Cannon asserted.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, meanwhile served notice his forces over the nation would oppose any member voting to resubmit the amendment. "The league does not accept the theory," McBride warned, "that a vote to resubmit is a neutral vote."

SAYS ROBBERS THREW HIM IN RIVER AFTER TAKING $45

George Gartner Relates Experiences After Drinking With Two New Acquaintances.

George Gartner, a butcher, of 2008 South Ninth street, reported to detectives at the Chain of Rocks Bridge yesterday that two men who robbed him of $45 had thrown him into the Mississippi River several miles downstream from the bridge.

Gartner said he was in Baden on his way to Alton when he struck up an acquaintance with the men and drank with them, after which they persuaded him to enter an automobile and drove with him to Jennings Station road, where they robbed him by forcibly taking his money.

He said that after they threw him in the river he swam to shore and walked to the bridge. He was taken to City Hospital.

TWO HELD AS BANK ROBBERS

Suspects Caught in Raid on Cabin Near Carthage, Ill.

By the Associated Press.

CARTHAGE, Ill., Dec. 5.—Two men described by Sheriff Ray Mosely of Hancock County as "suspected members of a Southern Missouri bank robbery gang" were arrested in a log cabin 12 miles east of here today.

Raiding officers from Hancock and McDonough Counties said they found in an automobile near the cabin firearms and articles likely to be used in bank robberies. Sheriff Mosely also said the suspects, who would give only their names as Stevenson and Dunn, had currency of large denomination when arrested.

ASHES INTERRED IN BLANKE LAKE

Deathbed Request of Custodian of Club Complied With.

CARLYLE, Ill., Dec. 5. — The ashes of Edward E. Beck, custodian of the St. Clair Club at Blanke Lake, were placed in the lake last week in compliance with directions he gave prior to his death two weeks ago.

A funeral service was read by the Rev. D. C. Boyd of Belleville as the container of ashes was lowered to the bottom of the lake. Beck, who was 82 years old at the time of his death, had been custodian of the club for 16 years.

'PAINTED YELLOW LINES NO REAL SAFETY ZONE'

Statement by Local Council on Accident That Killed Two on Friday.

So-called safety zones which consist only of yellow lines painted on the street really are not safety zones in any sense and offer no protection to persons using them, the Safety Council declared in a statement yesterday.

The statement referred to the accident at Broadway and Bates street Friday evening, when the driver of a motor truck, who said he was blinded by the light of an approaching automobile, swerved and killed two persons and injured three others in a painted-line zone.

The zones of this type usually have been installed by the Public Service Co. with the permission of the street department. The city has lacked funds to carry out comprehensive construction of substantial zones, with physical barriers to traffic, throughout the city. In recent years there has been some increase in the number of zones regarded by the Safety Council as satisfactory.

Of 200 cases of injuries reported so far this year, said the council, only one person was hurt while in a modern, adequate safety zone. The council has figures for the last four years tending to show the protective value of proper safety zones.

Referring to the statement that bright headlights figured in the Friday night accident, the council said: "As long as machines are permitted on our streets with glaring headlights this excuse will have to be accepted."

Traffic fatalities in St. Louis, which had been decreasing since reaching a record high number in 1928, have shown some increase this year, the council announced. To date, including the two persons killed Friday, there have been 157 fatalities this year, compared with 156 in all of last year. In 1929 there were 162 and in 1928 there were 215.

Gen. Butler Retires to Quiet Home In Country; 'Through With War,' But Wants U. S. to Be Prepared

"Have a Club in Your Left Hand When You Sign Treaties With Right," Fighter of Old School Says.

(Copyright, 1931.)

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa., Dec. 5. — "Treaties among nations are fine, but when you sign a treaty with your right hand you should have a club in your left—just in case. It's every man for himself in this world, and that goes for nations, too. No one is going to fight your battles for you," said Smedley D. Butler, country gentleman, as he sat in his beautiful colonial home just 20 miles from Philadelphia.

"Listen, friend," said the retired Major-General of Marines, as he leaned forward earnestly. "You know why Japan is causing all that row in Manchuria? I'll tell you. Because Japan isn't afraid of China. Now you wouldn't go up and take a poke at Jack Dempsey would you? He's too well prepared. If a country is well prepared no one is going to attack her. Treaties? They don't make any difference.

"Japan needed more room to accommodate her increasing population. Japan looked upon Manchuria and liked what she looked upon. So in she moved. China asks the League of Nations to protect her. Human nature enters there. No group of strangers is going to come to your aid in a fight unless they have some common bond with you."

"I don't know much about the Manchurian situation," Butler continued. "I do know human nature. I know, too, that we can't condemn Japan for what she is doing. Didn't we do something like that in the Philippines? Are our hands entirely clean in the Nicaragua affair?"

To Attend Church Regularly.

Retired at the age of 50 from the Marines, Butler has turned in his sword for a home in the country. He won't stand at attention any more while long lines of mamines march by. Instead, he, Mrs. Butler and their 18-year-old daughter, Bunny, will attend services every Sunday at the Newtown Square Quaker meeting house.

"I'm retired for good," Butler said.

"Benny Leonard once said that," his inquisitor reminded him. "So did Jack Dempsey. They're both coming back. You'll come back some day."

"Not a chance!" he laughed, and swept an arm around the room filled with trophies and souvenirs of his foreign service. "What can the country offer me to take the place of this."

High above the entrance hall there hung a huge Chinese umbrella, the Umbrella of Ten Thousand Blessings presented to him by a Chinese city he had saved from an army of bandits. He is the only foreigner to own one. An enormous tablet of bronze said, "Presented to Gen. Smedley Butler by Gen. Fu Tso-yi."

"I once did him a favor," Butler said. "I see he's leading the Northern army now. A good military man—the best I ever met in China. He must be having a bad time now. It's cold in Manchuria—probably 8 below now. But let's not talk of war. I don't like war.

"I have two sons. . . . No one who has sons wants another war. That's why I'd like to see this country so well prepared that no one would dare attack us. . . . But as for me—I'm through with war."

"You saw that magazine article of mine in which I said to hell with Admirals?" Butler asked suddenly. "People will criticise me for that but I wasn't talking to people. I was talking to the Marines. I wanted to let them know why I was resigning. I talk their language. They talk mine. No one like them—the Marines.

"But I said we wouldn't talk of war. Let me show you over the house. It was an old house I remodeled. A year ago some people came to me with a lecture proposition. It sounded attractive and if I took it I knew it would allow me to buy a house for Mrs. Butler and my family. These lectures will pay for this house. Then I'm going to loaf. I'm not going to do a thing. This is a great place to loaf. I want to stay here and play with this house.

"Here's the largest voodoo drum ever made. I got it in Haiti. Here's the smallest. You like this vase? It's pure ox-blood. Someone gave it to me in China. Don't drop it, it's worth $10,000. Feel this. It's a real Ming bowl made hundreds, perhaps thousands of years ago. This is the most nearly perfect bit of lacquer work I've ever seen. Do you like these candlesticks? I bought them in China 20 years ago for $75. . . . There's enough brass in them to outfit a battleship."

He wasn't the fire-eating General now. He wasn't the toughest soldier in the world.

Newspapermen Praise J. D. Preston

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — In recognition of his 35 years of service to the press, newspapermen entitled to admission to the House and Senate press galleries today voted a resolution praising James D. Preston. They also approved the appointment of a committee to arrange a fitting observance of the retirement of the man who had charge of the Senate press gallery and made arrangements for national party conventions for years. Preston resigned to become Senate librarian.

NEW MICROSCOPE SHOWS MINUTE GERMS

Enlarges More Than 18 Times as Much as Best Previous Type.

By the Associated Press.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 4. — The combined efforts of two scientists have made it possible for the first time to see with a new and powerful microscope bacteria which cause some 60 communicable diseases. Their work is hailed as promising "to lay the basis for revolutionary discoveries in bacteriology."

One of the men, Royal Raymond Rife, left college 14 years ago with a desire to experiment and invent. In order to find time for his experiments he obtained work as a chauffeur and fitted out a laboratory on the second floor of a garage.

The other scientist, Dr. Arthur Isaac Kendall, director of medical research at Northwestern University, discovered what he termed "medium K," a substance in which it was possible to cultivate germs as they develop in the human body.

In his efforts to filter and isolate certain germs, notably typhoid, he found they at first appeared in "rod" shape. On further filtration they disappeared. He thought they assumed a smaller form but no miscrosope available was powerful enough to confirm his belief.

Dr. Milbank Johnson, prominent physician and civic leader of Pasadena, and a friend of Dr. Kendall, knew of his experiments and learned Dr. Rife had perfected a microscope which magnifies from 5000 to 17,000 diameters. The greatest enlargement giving good detail under other available microscopes was about 1500 diameters.

Dr. Kendall and Dr. Rife met at Dr. Johnson's home here. In experiments performed by them Dr. Kendall was able to follow the typhoid bacteria through numerous filtrations with the new microscope, and confirmed his belief that they changed form in the filterable state.

Numerous contagious diseases are thought to be caused by "filterable" bacteria, which have not yet been cultivated and had not been seen under microscopes heretofore available, Dr. Kendall said. These diseases include infantile paralysis, measles, smallpox, influenza and common colds. They have been produced experimentally in animals with infected material but the microbes themselves have been invisible.

Dr. Kendall said he hoped the Rife microscope would open the door to the discovery and complete study of the filterable or hitherto invisible bacteria.

The entire optical system of the Rife microscope is made of quartz, instead of glass, which heretofore had been used in the lenses and illuminating units.

ITALY SENDS 17 TO PRISON FOR ALLEGED SLAV PLOT

Said to Have Conspired to Retrieve Julian Venice; Longest Sentence 20 Years.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Dec. 5.—An alleged plot to retrieve the former Slav territory known as Julian Venice, awarded to Italy after the war, brought prison sentences ranging from two to 20 years to 17 conspirators today.

The sentences were pronounced by a special tribunal for defense of state after a two-day trial during which the plotters were accused of 13 assassinations and many other acts of terrorism.

Julian Venice borders on Austria and Jugo-Slavia, and includes the cities of Triest, Pola and Gorizia, the last of which was headquarters of the conspiracy.

Those sentenced today were all Slavs. Zorko Jelincic, alleged leader of a secret organization called Torba which was involved in the plot, was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment. Terms of 10 years each were imposed on Augusto Sfiliogoi and Antonio Rutar, chief lieutenants, and a six-year term was imposed on Giovanni Leonardic.

STRAWN OUTLINES PACT TO RAISE SILVER PRICE

Head of U. S. Chamber Sketches Proposed Export Agreement With India.

By the Associated Press.

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 5.—Silas H. Strawn, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, today outlined a plan for an export sales agreement between America silver producers and the Government of India to increase the price of silver.

Strawn told the Western division convention of the United States Chamber that the plans were worked out by the Experts' Committee of the International Chamber of Commerce and would be submitted to the International Chamber Council at its meeting March 1 in Paris.

He intimated he expected favorable action on the program at Paris, with agreement by American silver men and the Government of India also. Strawn is chairman of the American Committee of the International Chamber. He said the committee realized governments involved would prefer to treat silver as subsidiary in a general scheme for economic rehabilitation, and planned accordingly.

The committee recommendations included:

1. That American producers and refiners of silver enter into a sales agreement with the Government of India. Of course, on account of the prohibitions of the antitrust laws, such an agreement could only be made with respect to export sales. Other producers of any substantial quantity would naturally be welcomed into the agreement, while the importance of bringing the Bank of Spain and kindred institutions into these deliberations should not be lost sight of.

2. That if any government found it impossible to secure a sufficient supply of gold, it might consider the purchase of an amount of silver, against which notes of low denomination, covered by silver to almost the full value of the gold coin for which it is substituted, would be issued. These notes would circulate concurrently with the paper currency which is partly covered by gold.

3. That it might be feasible for the International Chamber to use its good offices to urge governments to restore their subsidiary coinages to pre-war fineness, within the limits of their national laws.

4. That those interested in the sale of silver might with advantage emulate the example set in other industries by the establishment of research institutes for the purpose of devising new uses and expanding present uses of the product.

Senator Calls U. S.-India Silver Agreement "Impossible."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Senator Pitttman telegraphed the president of the Silver Association of the United States at Spokane today that an agreement between silver producers and India for stabilizing the price of silver "is impossible of accomplishment."

The Nevada Democrat urged W. Mont Ferry, president of the association, to oppose such a move. Stabilization could be achieved only through an international agreement to stop debasing or melting up circulating silver coin, he said. "Any price-fixing proposition is unsound in my opinion and impossible of confirmation."

Third Death From Gas Explosion.

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 5.—Fire Lieut. Ray Hutton, 46 years old, died today, the third victim of a gas explosion which destroyed a burning residence Thursday night and injured more than 70 persons gathered at the scene. Ernest Maxwell, a fireman, and Sherman Pepper, 16, son of a University of California professor, were the others injured fatally. Fire Chief George Haggery and Hoseman Edward Claridge may die, physicians said.

SOUTHERNERS MAKE THREE TOUCHDOWNS ON FORWARDS

Tulane Accepts Invitation to Play In Rose Bowl

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5.

DR. WILBUR C. SMITH, athletic director of Tulane University, said tonight he had accepted an invitation for Tulane to play Southern California in the Rose Bowl tournament New Year's day.

Dr. Smith called the Associated Press by telephone at 8:38 tonight and said:

"I have just accepted the invitation of Southern California for Tulane to play in the Rose Bowl Tournament of Roses."

"That's all," he said.

The invitation was tendered to Dr. Smith by W. O. Hunter, athletic director of Southern California, who telephoned Dr. Smith from Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5.—Tulane's Green Wave jerked its football banner to the top of the mast and stepped on national championship soil here today by defeating the Washington State Cougars, 28 to 14.

But the Wave had to fight with all its might to stand off the hard-charging Cougars, who were snatching at Tulane's undefeated and untied seasonal record. The crowd of 25,000 Tulane rooters got the fright of their lives when the visitors drove over a touchdown in three minutes after the starter's whistle and showed a form of winning caliber.

The score was squared soon, however, after Captain Jerry Dalrymple had left the sidelines and taken his post at right end. He rallied his team and five minutes later Tulane went over the goal line, making the score 7-7.

Tulane Hits Stride.

In the second quarter, the Green Wave hit its stride and rang up two more touchdowns. But in the third quarter Washington State scored again, making the count 21 to 14.

In the last quarter, Captain Dalrymple made his team safe by catching Zimmerman's pass from the 25-yard line as he stood behind Washington State's goal line, giving his team a lead of two touchdowns, which it held to the end.

The game represented the last in New Orleans of Bernie Bierman as head coach for Tulane, official announcement being made during the game that he would depart for his alma mater, University of Minnesota, to become head football coach and that he would be succeeded here by Ted Cox, Tulane's line coach.

It also meant the last regular game to be played by Dalrymple, who will graduate along with Haynes, Glover, Dawson, McCor-

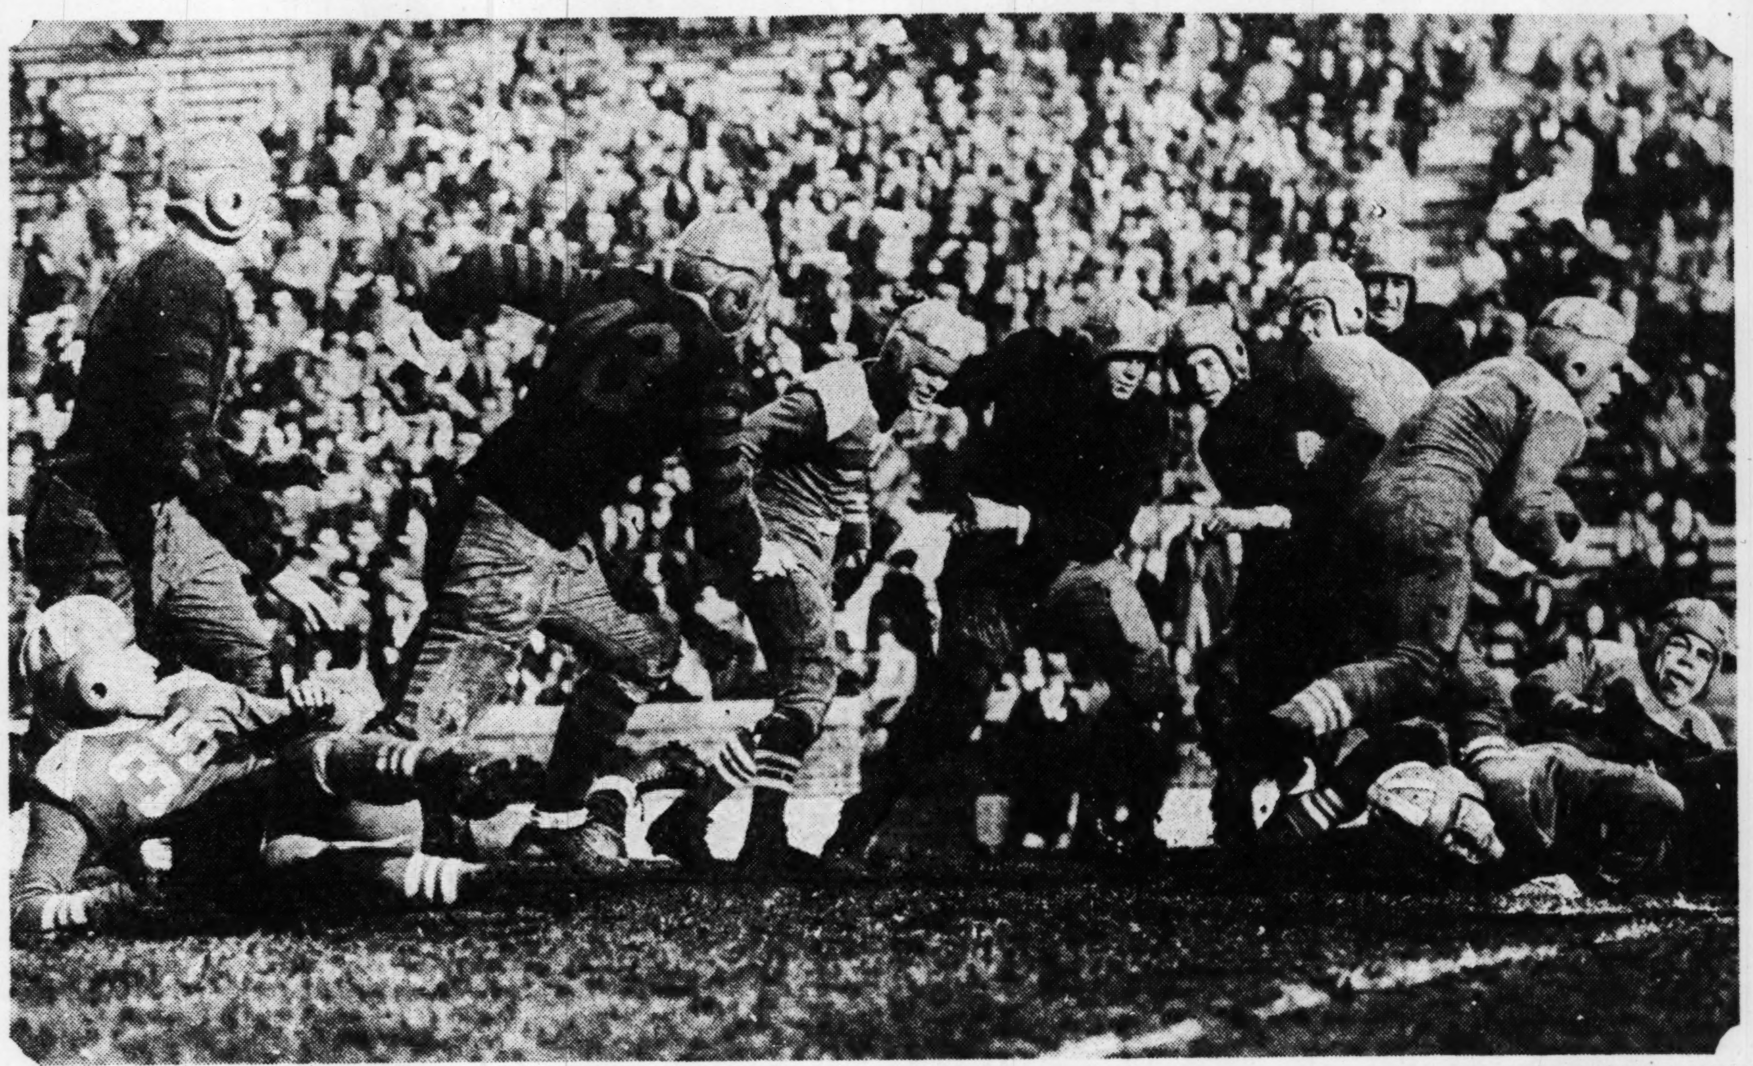
Benny La Presta of Billikens Makes a Gain Against the Tigers



Southern California Beats Washington, 44-7, To Gain Coast Title

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—University of Southern California's Trojans won their first undisputed Pacific Coast Conference championship here today by turning back the Huskies of Washington, 44 to 7, before an estimated crowd of 67,000 persons.

The touchdown parade of Troy's strong men opened with the first quarter still in its infancy and continued on through the final period when Shadows started creeping into the huge concrete bowl and the estimated crowd of 67,000 persons, satisfied with Coach Howard Jones' team's superiority, started filing out.

So it was that many missed the spectacular passing drive of Coach Jimmy Phelan's eleven which saw Bob Lenfesty, a sub end for Bill Smith, save his team from a whitewash shortly before the final gun boomed.

Passes Give Huskies Score.

Lenfesty caught two spectacular passes to score his touchdown. Merle Mufford, who had played a splendid game, was in the showers by this time and August Buse did the throwing. Hufford and Buse had passed often but ineffectively throughout the struggle, with only four completed efforts out of 21 attempts.

Gauis Shaver and Orville Mohler, alternating quarterbacks for the Trojans, shared scoring honors, with three touchdowns apiece in the parade which opened up on Clarence Bledsoe's fumble on his 37-yard line in the first period. Ray Sparling recovered.

An offside penalty and a plunge through left tackle by Shaver took the ball to the 26-yard line. Then Sparling, on an end around, cut through the line to the nine-yard strip and Shaver scored from this point.

Two plays later Hufford fumbled on his 21-yard line and this time Tay Brown recovered for Southern California. By sheer power the Trojans pounded their way to the one-yard line and Shaver scored again.

Trojans Gain 447 Yards.

A long pass, Homer Griffith to Garrett Ardelbide, was good for a Southern California touchdown in the third period. Ardelbide was the only man of Troy except Shaver and Mohler to score.

Southern California ran up a total of 25 first downs and 447 yards during the fray, with the Huskies collecting eight first downs and 218 yards. The Trojan passing attack functioned well when used. Accounting for 147 yards gained on five completions in seven attempts.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Baseball Deflates.

IN line with every other BUSINESS, baseball is deflating. Lower salary limits among the minors and the threat of establishing a maximum for major league clubs testify to a promotional nervousness on the part of those we have been wont to refer to, in that large, wide open space's way, as "magnates."

Even the man of the mighty club, Babe Ruth, will have his contract manhandled, and very severely, if we believe rumors. Sixty home runs in one season hoisted Ruth to a pinnacle undreamed of in baseball annals. Last year Babe, although out of the game through injury for part of the time, batted in about four-fifths of his record total home runs, based on the number of games in which he took part.

Measured by the home-run yardstick, Babe should receive about $65,000 next season. Instead, we are told, a contract of $50,000 is being framed for him.

The reduction is predicated upon other facts than homers. Babe failed to pull them in at the gate last season, even in his own home town.

Pretty Liberal at That.

MANY subjects connected with salaries, depression and red ink will be mopped up at the league meetings in Chicago this week. It is hinted that a proposal to limit the annual payroll of major league clubs to $200,000 will be discussed.

That would afford quite a laugh, since in the two major leagues a majority of the clubs are under that maximum now. The Yanks and the Athletics are soaring above it somewhat, but few others are paying their players at the average rate of $8000 a man.

There is a suspicion on the part of the players that the leagues are taking advantage of

ST. MARY'S PUTS S. M. U. OUT OF UNBEATEN CLASS

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—In one of the most thrilling gridiron strugggles ever witnesssed in this section, St. Mary's Gaels scored a brilliant 7-2 victory over Southern Methodist today to hand the Southwest Conference champions their first defeat of the season and at the same time remove them from the national ranks of teams who list no losses.

For three periods the intersectional rivals battled in a fierce encounter while some 35,000 spectators gave thundering applause to spectacular play.

Just after they turned in to the final quarter, the Gaels saw and seized their chance. Eldon Mason, Mustang halfack, fumbled on his 33-yard line. Jorgensen, St. Mary's left tackle, fell on the ball. An old-fashioned end around play, with Vivaldi carrying, netted 14 yards. Bud Toscani, St. Mary's stocky ball-carrying ace, smacked into the line for a yard. Then the Gaels took to the air. The first attempt clicked and Beasley, substitute halfback, whipped an eight-yard toss to Toscani and the latter raced 10 yards to score. Herb Fletcher, quarterback, added the extra point with a place kick.

The Texans scored 2 points on a touchback in the third period.

Wins Golf Title.

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 5.—Miss Helen Waring, New York, today won the Carolina women's golf championship, defeating Mrs. Richard Clemson, Middletown, N. Y., defending champion, 4 and 3, in the final match in the eleventh annual tournament here.

Kirn's Pass for Navy Beats Penn by 6 to 0 Before 65,000 Crowd

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Navy's surprising Midshipmen, after enduring rough treatment the greater part of the season, rose up in new-found power before 65,000 spectators here today to administer a 6 to 0 beating to a vastly-favored University of Pennsylvania eleven.

The Middies, who have a very important engagement with Army next Saturday at New York, brought joy and hope to their adherents by fighting back the Quakers' best efforts for three-quarters of today's tussle and then, with only six minutes remaining to play, striking once and decisively through the air to score their first victory of the year over a major opponent.

It was none other than "Bullet Lou" Kirn, himself, the Tars' fiery little halfback, who fired the shot that sank the Red and Blue Penn machine.

For most of three periods he had thrown himself against and through the stout Quaker line, scoring six first downs with his darting, weaving runs and doing about all the damage for his side. Then he decided to throw the ball.

His chance came when Perina, big Penn fullback, punted out from behind his own goal line to the Middies' 45-yard stripe. The crowd, having watched a rather dull punting duel for upward of two hours, had about reconciled itself to a scoreless tie. In another moment they were on their feet. Kirn, faking an end run, turned instead and faded far back. When he did face about, it was to cut loose with the longest pass he had in his system. Tschirgi, fleet Middie halfback, and two Penn defenders took out after it. For a thrilling moment it looked like a dead heat, but at the last possible instant Tschirgi leaped and snared the ball on his finger tips. The two Penn men obligingly bumped into one another at the right moment, and the Navy back easily sprinted the last 30 yards for a touchdown. Elliott missed the try for point, but it didn't matter.

Oklahoma City Defeats State University, 6-0

NORMAN, Ok., Dec. 5.—Oklahoma City University stretched its victory list to 11 straight today by defeating the Sooners of Oklahoma University, 6 to 0, in a post-season charity game here.

Approximately 14,000 persons witnessed the game, paying an estimated $20,000.

The Goldbugs have played 12 games this season without a defeat.

Ted Hand, Goldbug halfback, scored the lone touchdown in the final quarter on gains through the Sooner line. Six fumbles, five of which were recovered by the Goldbugs, handicapped the Sooners.

DUQUESNE ELEVEN HOLDS CARNEGIE TECH TO A SCORELESS TIE

PITTSBURG, Dec. 5.—Carnegie Tech and Duquesne University fought to a scoreless tie as they inaugurated gridiron relations today before 55,000 persons, who responded to a plea for relief of the unemployed.

Duquesne upset the dope by holding the favored Carnegie team in check all the way and gave a fine display of defensive strength. It was the fourth time this season that the Dukes emerged without a blemish against a major opponent.

By consent of both coaches, the periods were cut to 10 minutes.

By James M. Gould.

Before a charity game crowd of 8000 which paid about $16,000 of dollars into the St. Louis unemployment fund, St. Louis University defeated the Missouri University Tigers 21 to 6 yesterday at Walsh Memorial Stadium. With victory went the State college football title. Governor Caulfield was honor guest and watched a game State university team surprise by holding the Billikens scoreless for two periods only to wilt in the last two quarters and give way to an irresistible St. Louis attack.

There was no question as to the superiority of the Billikens. They made 18 first downs to seven for Missouri and were pressing hard all the way. In the early minutes of the game, fumbles and misdirected passes stopped St. Louis marches when touchdowns seemed certain. But, in the third period, the Billikens with McCoole, Arenz and Schumacher heading the attack, swept through and around the Missouri defense in decisive manner.

Stuber Heads Tiger Attack.

Missouri's great push came in the second quarter after they had failed miserably on attack in the opening period. In this second period, little George Stuber, the Missouri quarter who weighs only 155 pounds, was the king-pin for the Tigers. The little chap rounded the ends, hit off tackles and slammed the center for constant gains. When he reached the St. Louis two-yard line, Stuber called Edmiston's signal and the big fullback made good with a plunge through the heart of the line. Powell, a sub, came in to try for the extra point but failed on a place kick.

On passes and scrimmage plays the Billikens in all gained 356 yards while the Missouri total was 121.

Arenz Has Big Day.

For St. Louis, LaPresta, McCoole, Schumacher and Arenz were the chief ground gainers. Arenz had a field day with all three touchdowns while LaPresta made good on three place kicks after them.

Stuber, Schiele, Gladden and Yeckel were best on the Tiger defense with Stuber shining on offense as well.

The last quarter Missouri opened with a flock of passes, but the Billikens never were in real danger of being again scored upon.

While the Billikens failed to score in the first two periods, there seemed a quiet air of St. Louis confidence in the team to come through with a victory. Coach Walsh made his substitutions cleverly at proper moments, and his wealth of fine reserve material gave him a big advantage.

Missouri was not penalized for a foul during the entire game, and the whole contest was marked by bitter fighting, but absolutely clean play which could not help aid in making the relations between the two schools better than ever.

With his shock-troops in action, Coach Walsh watched his team open up streakily. In the very first minute, Schumacher dashed away for 44 yards, to Missouri's 30-yard line, but here a penalty hurt and then Hoy's pass was intercepted by Capt. Bittner. Missouri could do nothing and Johanningmeier's kick was a poor one. Missouri held and Donahue kicked to the Tiger's five-yard line. Again Missouri was forced to kick, and this time Johanningmeier's kick went out of bounds on his own 18-yard line. The Billikens started a march which looked promising, but Donahue's fumble on the 11-yard mark stopped it dead and Missouri kicked out of danger.

Stuber managed to get in a 21-yard run for the Tiger's first down, but the quarter ended with the ball in St. Louis' possession on its own 19-yard line.

Stuber's Fine Playing Puts Tigers In Position and Edmiston Scores

Missouri looked best in the second quarter. A St. Louis kick gave the Tigers the ball in their own territory and there were several exchanges of kicks before the Tigers started their touchdown parade.

Stuber carried the ball for several successive plays and was not stopped until St. Louis' 19-yard line was reached.

Here a penalty against St. Louis for off-side helped the Tigers to a first down and plunges by Stuber, and finally by Edmiston, gave the Tigers their only score of the game.

It was all St. Louis from the intermission on. Starting at their own 30-yard line, the Billikens began slowly and were forced to kick. Pike sent the ball to Missouri's 19-yard line and, on the next play Johanningmeier fumbled, McCoole recovered for St. Louis. The Billikens managed to take the ball to the Tigers four-yard line but there were temporarily stopped. After Missouri kicked out of danger, St. Louis began all over again. A lateral pass was successful and McCoole and Arenz began to pound away successfully at the tackles. With the ball on the Tigers' 16-yard line, Schumacher and Arenz took turns hitting the tired Tiger forwards. Then Schumacher had a turn and he carried it to the one-yard line. Arenz carried it over. LaPresta's place-kick was good and gave the Billikens a one-point lead.

Missouri fought well and hard the rest of the quarter and prevented further scoring.

Billikens Score Two More.

In the fourth quarter, the Billikens scored two touchdowns, Arenz getting both. The period opened with the ball in St. Louis' possession. McCoole dashed 11 yards and LaPresta added 15 to put the ball on the Missouri five-yard line.

La Presta's plunge lacked a foot of the line, but Arenz made it on a dive at center for the second time. La Presta's place-kick was good. The following kickoff saw young Stuber, behind a real flying wedge, make the longest Tiger run, 30 yards. But the Tigers didn't have the power on attack and once the Billikens got possession of the ball, it was too bad for the men from Columbia.

La Presta, dashing around end and using a sweet lateral pass, hustled to the Tigers' one-yard line.

EIGHT COLLEGES REPRESENTED ON 1931 ALL-AMERICA TEAM

DALRYMPLE OF TULANE IS ONLY "HOLD-OVER" OF LAST SEASON; SHAVER NAMED AT QUARTERBACK

All-America Board's 1931 Eleven

Selected by Glenn S. Warner, T. A. D. Jones, W. A. Alexander, Jesse C. Harper and Christy Walsh.

PLAYER.	POSITION.	COLLEGE.
John Orsi	End	Colgate
Gerald Dalrymple	End	Tulane
Jesse Quatse	Tackle	Pennsylvania

Marchmont Schwartz	Halfback	Notre Dame
B. E. Rentner	Halfback	Northwestern
John Cain	Fullback	Alabama

By the All America Board of Football.

Consisting of Glenn S. Warner, T. A. D. Jones, W. A. Alexander, Jesse C. Harper, Christy Walsh.

A policy which has always carried an indirect influence with the All-America Board in its annual selections, became a definitely adopted rule at the eighth annual meeting, just concluded in New York City. In the minds of some, All-America teams are selected with the object of distributing the honors pretty generally along geographical and sectional lines.

Heretofore the individual feelings of this board have been to select the best group of 11 players regardless of their college or location, but henceforth, in line with a resolution formally adopted this week, it will be the rule of the committee as a whole to give no consideration whatsoever to sectional lines in selecting players.

It was the sense of the recent meeting that if such an improbable circumstance should arise wherein 11 players on the same team were considered the country's best in their respective playing positions, the board would not hestitate to name every player on that particular team. The title All-America is open to several interpretations; obviously it includes players from all parts of the United States and some may contend that it should properly be composed of players representing each and all sections of the country.

Opposed to that interpretation is the policy of this board, that the personnel of the team each year should include the very best players from all over America, without regard to sectional lines.

Dalrymble Repeats.

Dalrymple of Tulane, rated by many as the greatest end ever produced in the South, is the only player from 1930 to repeat this year, although it should be noted that with a single exception, all players named last season by this board, are no longer in college. Another interesting development in selecting this year's lineup, was that in the majority of positions, the selections were unanimous and practically without contrary opinions. In the eight-year history of this board no team has been selected where there was so much accord as to the merits of the eleven players finally designated. And in many respects the 1931 aggregation is looked upon as the strongest and best balanced ever named by the All-America Board.

CENTER

Maintaining the longstanding record of all-star pivot men at Notre Dame—Walsh, Boeringer, Moynihan—Tom Yarr, captain of this year's team, is adjudged the best center in the game today. This big boy, born and raised in the northwest, tips the scales two pounds over the 200 mark. Yarr is a deadly tackler and to say that he is fast on his feet, is another way of stating that few ends get down the field under punts ahead of this charging lineman. He played with a broken thumb through four hard games this year without a faulty pass. And after all, accurate passing under any and all circumstances, remains the principal requirement of a center. Yarr's personality and character played a strong part in Notre Dame's victories this season and few if any gains were made through his station in the line.

GUARDS

Flanking Yarr in the guard positions are Munn of Minnesota and Baker of Southern California. If not the finest set of guards in recent years, these two are unquestionably the most versatile pair in the past decade. Both are exceptionally good kickers and consideration of some of the scores and upsets in the passing season clearly indicates that kicking is still important in football. Mann is a great punter; Baker in the kickoff assignment is almost without a present-day equal. The records are full of instances where shifty, side-stepping ball carriers have raced to touchdowns from the kickoff, but with Baker driving the ball on and up, with the impact of his skillful toe, frequently into the arms of a spectator outside the playing field, there is little danger of his opponents ever getting better than a start from the 20-yard line. Baker's toe against Notre Dame made Southern California the probable holder of the national football title for 1931. Baker is a fine defensive guard and a fine running guard. His ability to diagnose plays is so unerring that when his team employs a six-man line, Baker is withdrawn to back up the line in place of center. Munn of Minnesota weighs 220 pounds, but few men on his team move faster. He is continually pulled out of the line, where his speed and power is a bulwark to the interference. This boy is a hard-driving defensive guard and his accomplishments are so versatile that he takes more assignments than any man on his team.

TACKLES

This has been a good year for good tackles. In fact, the abundance of good tackles has made this position the only one requiring careful scrutiny for all-America selections. After considering the field and eliminating all but five, the honors belong to Quatse of Pittsburg and Riley of Northwestern. Quatse weighs 194, Riley 225. Plenty of brawn, but speed, football intuition and versatility to back it up. Quatse is the high, strong, nervous type of player. He reaches great heights of emotional competition early in the contest and seldom lets down until the final whistle. On the offensive he tears large holes in the stoutest line, and when the opponent has the ball he comes in like a battering ram. This big Pitt tackle uses his hands like a magician and when he catches on he holds on. Riley is the giant linesman of one of this year's strongest football teams. For three years he has been a stalwart performer in that powerful line, and it is the policy of this board, that everything else being equal, the man who has maintained all-America playing caliber for three consecutive years deserves first call. Some players flash to great heights in their junior year, thereupon become "marked" men and lose their efficiency in the following year. The all-America player must be consistent, if nothing else. And that Riley is consistent and worthy of highest honors is evidenced by the testimony of the men who have coached his opponents.

ENDS

Dalrymple of Tulane is perhaps the most unorthodox wingman playing football today. He does most of the things that the average coach would not countenance. But how he does them. Superb and practically flawless, this boy who breaks all the standard rules of play that any coach would outline, is not only the superior of any end in the South but one of the finest ever developed in any part of the country. Given the same situation in a football game, Dalrymple seldom makes the same move twice. The opponent never knows what to expect from this daring player and his uncertain methods have worried many rival quarterbacks into a hole.

Orsi of Colgate would team up admirably with an end like Dalrymple. Weighing 185 pounds, he looks lighter because of his admirable physique. He throws a powerful block against a tackle and his defensive work at all times is airtight. He is not only a fine forward pass receiver but his change of pace and fine judgment invariably finds him working the ball into a strategic spot for the next play. Orsi is built for rugged competition and 60 minutes of hard going seldom retards this boy's efforts. Like any player of all-America rating, Orsi's record over a long period shows that he has a great competitive heart and he does his best work when the going is hardest against his team.

BACKFIELD

Three backfield players stand out so far above all others that the mere writing of their names sufficed, in the consideration of the board. Shaver, Schwartz and Rentner! Three human dynamos, whose power, speed, cunning, passing and kicking kept their respective teams at the pinnacle of football throughout 10 weeks of class AA competition. The fullback berth was not filled so readily but after sifting the candidates for this position there was no one to successfully challenge the claims of Cain, the big plunging, left-footed punter from Alabama.

Schwartz of Notre Dame did all the amazing things he did last year and the year before. Cool, and deliberate at all times—whether racing unmolested in the open or cocked to throw a pass—with two, three or four opposing players crashing toward him—Schwartz never loses poise. He is one of those rare specimens in football who can chase a rolling ball and at the same time look up and down the field in a calculating manner, choose a course, pick a hole and weave his way through a network of rival tacklers. To appraise the value of Schwartz offensively it is only necessary to bracket his name with the greatest ball carriers in football history. And when it comes to faking, this boy can prove, with a football, that the hand is quicker than the eye. At faking a kick, faking a pass, or faking the direction of his play—Schwartz is without an equal. In three years of varsity football, meeting the rugged opponents of a Notre Dame schedule, Schwartz has never been removed from a game for injury and in each of the three years his work has been consistently that of a champion.

Rentner of Northwestern, until this season, best known for his wizardy at passing, has forced all other candidates aside, to take his place alongside of Schwartz as the finest pair of halfbacks playing college football. He runs with his knees pumping high in the air and to tackle him is to court disaster. He has made a specialty of intercepting forward passes, but his returning of punts and kickoffs is one of his greatest claims to fame. No major league baseball player could improve on Rentner's knack of taking a ball from the air at breakneck speed. Off his shoe-tops or above his head, it matters not to this great receiver, as he continues his wild charge down the field. So perfect is his timing, so uncanny his ability to "pocket" the ball under full speed that he seldom pauses before or after the ball is caught.

Shaver Is Choice.

Shaver as a quarterback is far out ahead of the field and yet few, if any, fullbacks could displace him from a lineup. Shaver, without comparison, is the finest backfield player on the Pacific Coast. In most of Southern California's games, this stalwart Trojan carried the ball two-thirds of the time and when the final whistle blew he was still under full steam. Here you have a player weighing 190 pounds, one of the greatest plunging backs in recent years, and withal an ideal quarterback—elusive, fast, shifty and a good field general. In addition, a good passer and a good punter. Shaver's battering drives and excellent headwork were paramount in the downfall of Notre Dame.

Working between Schwartz and Rentner, Cain of Alabama would be almost unstoppable. Cain is probably the most forceful fullback in the country today. He is a fine forward passer and a fine punter. More than that, kicking with his left foot, the ball breaks very much after the fashion of a southpaw pitcher and safety men against Alabama have been constantly confused by the peculiar twists of the punts from Cain's left foot. This boy is cool and calculating at all times; in his sophomore year he called the signals for the championship Alabama team. Cain weighs 195 pounds, is always in perfect condition and can when required play 60 minutes every Saturday without slowing down.

Players Who Will Probably Make Everybody's 1931 All-America

ERNEST RENTNER, HALF BACK, NORTHWESTERN
TOM YARR, CENTER, NOTRE DAME.
MARCHMONT SCHWARTZ, HALF BACK, NOTRE DAME.
JERRY DALRYMPLE, END, TULANE.

How Selections For All-America Were Decided

The All-America Board of Football was organized eight years ago. Five members compose the board, as follows: Jesse C. Harper, representing the Middle West zone; T. A. D. Jones, Yale, Eastern zone; Glenn S. Warner, Stanford, Far West zone; W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech, Southern zone, and Christy Walsh, member-at-large.

No single All-America selector could—and no group of committee of selectors did cover the territory and witness as many football teams in action during 1931 as these five men. Tad Jones made an early season tour of football camps in the East and all members of the board witnessed the best teams in action from coast to coast.

The following teams were seen by one or more members of the board: Maine, St. John's of Annapolis, Georgia, Brown, Army, Dartmouth, Cornell, Princeton, Harvard, Yale, South Carolina, Carnegie Tech, Auburn, Tulane, North Carolina, Vanderbilt, Pennsylvania, Florida, Santa Clara, Minnesota, Oregon State, Oregon, Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, Washington, Gonzaga, California, Nevada, Navy, Georgia Tech, Pittsburg, Indiana, Drake, Northwestern, Colgate, St. Mary's, West Coast Army, Chicago, Olympic Club, Notre Dame and Stanford. Every player on this year's team was seen in action by at least one member of this board.

EAST SIDE HIGH WINS, 52-0, IN CHARITY GAME

East St. Louis High swamped the Central Catholic eleven, also of East St. Louis, 52 to 0, yesterday afternoon at Parsons Field in a charity game played under the auspices of the East Side Community Chest. Herb Fash, star center, scored three of the eight touchdowns for the winners. About 700 spectators were present.

The Flyers, in winning, allowed the Central Catholics only two first downs and ran up a total of 19 for themselves. Coaches Nolen and Downing of the Flyers used their entire squad and the Central team could not hold them except in the final minutes of play, when the entire East St. Louis High third team was in action. The East St. Louisans completed six out of nine passes, while the Central Catholics completed but two out of eight attempts.

MORKIN RE-ELECTED CANADIAN A. A. U. HEAD

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 5.—James I. Morkin, Winnipeg, was re-elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada for a second term at the annual meeting of the union today.

The ruling he made last year allowing amateurs to play with professionals under jurisdiction of the Dominion Football Association was unanimously approved.

Coast Guards Beat Marines, 13-6, for President's Cup

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—A fighting Coast Guard eleven ended a three-year quest for the President's Cup today by setting back the Quantico Marines, 13 to 6.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Secretary of Navy Adams were among the distinguished crowd at the game. The first lady sat on the Coast Guard side but applauded both teams equally.

Entering the game undefeated, Coast Guard team was put on the defensive in the first quarter when the Marines swept over for a touchdown.

Near the end of the third quarter the Coast Guard found its attack and marched down the field in a sustained drive for a touchdown and added point by placekick.

Quarterback Edwards provided the big moment by sifting through the Marine line and galloping 70 yards for the final touchdown.

The Marines then opened up a furious forward passing attack and pushed the ball to the Coast Guard two-yard line as the game ended.

TULANE TURNS BACK WASHINGTON STATE, REMAINS UNDEFEATED

mick, Decoligny and Haik. The crowd knew it and surged on the field at the end of the game to bid them farewell.

Southerners Miss Felts.

The game held its zip and flash in every quarter and to the very last each team was fighting hard. It was easily the hardest game of the season for the Green Wave, which missed the spark of Nollie Felts, halfback, who was out of play because of an injured ankle.

Each team attacked through the air, Tulane scoring three of its four touchdowns on forward passes. But Washington State was not afraid of Tulane's powerful line and hit it time and again for gains, with Tulane retaliating against the stout Cougar line. Each team tackled hard and Sander and Schroeder shone for Washington, along with Tulane's Zimmerman and Glover.

Washington State scored the first touchdown after Payne's fumble, which was recovered by "Turk" Edwards, Washington's massive tackle. In a series of plunges Schroeder, halfback, carried it to the two-yard line, where on a double backfield pass, Quarterback Dahlen skirted left end for a touchdown and then turned around and kicked goal.

TULANE COACH IS SIGNED BY MINNESOTA U.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 5.—Minnesota's future campaigns for Western Conference football championships were placed under the guardianship of B. W. "Bernie" Bierman today.

Bierman, returning to the institution whose last Big Ten title team he captained in 1915, has been head coach at Tulane University since 1927.

His appointment here, with faculty ranking of professor, is effective Jan. 1.

As head coach here he succeeds H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, who has handled football and the athletic directorship as well. Crisler will continue as athletic director.

From 1913 to 1915 Bierman had a brilliant football career as Minnesota halfback and participated in basketball, baseball and track, also. He coached at Montana before becoming assistant coach at Tulane in 1923. In 1925 he took charge of football at Mississippi A. and M., and two years later went back to Tulane as head coach. His Tulane elevens have not lost a Southern Conference game since 1928, and this year annexed another championship.

Crisler said a year ago he would cease coaching whenever he believed it best, and at a time "conditions were such that it would not be unfair for a football coach to have every chance to succeed."

Bierman, in the opinion of coaches, will find better playing material at his first spring practice than has been available in the last few years.

Ted Cox, announced as Bierman's successor at Tulane, played tackle at Minnesota in 1922-24, and captained the team in his senior year.

St. Louis U. Wins From Missouri by Count of 21-6

Here, for two plays, the game Tigers made a great stand but a third plunge by the husky Arenz went over the line. For the rest of the game Missouri used a flock of forward passes in a vain attempt to score. One or two were completed but they really meant nothing.

It was a great game between two fine teams, but the Billikens clearly were the superior in everything but gameness.

The weather was fine for football. The stands never did fill up, though the west stand was nearly full.

Gov. Caulfield Attends.

The attention of the crowd was called to the presence of Gov. Caulfield and he was forced to rise in response to a cheer.

It was a new experience for the Billikens to find themselves scoreless after two periods, but it didn't seem to hurt their attack in the later quarters.

Of the 10 games they have played this season, the Billikens have won eight. The Missouri record is the exact reverse, with two victories and eight defeats.

Clever End Play.

The end play of Schiele and Gladden of Missouri and McGowan and Kennedy of St. Louis was pretty to watch. Gladden graduates and so does Kennedy, but McGowan and Schiele will be back to fill their roles next year.

St. Louis played the entire game without the services of Joe Stephan, their backfield star. Stephan, hurt in the Washington game, was unable to get into action.

It was a fitting finish to a fine football season for the Billikens and that all the receipts went to charity made the ending all the more glorious.

WRAY'S COLUMN

the depression cry to beat down the high salary peak built up in the past 10 years. But all those insurrectos have to do is to scan the balance sheets of the various clubs they belong to and they will find something to weep about besides their own troubles.

Seeing "Red."

TAKE the Browns. This club has been losing money far into six figures annually for several seasons. Yet its overhead is such that it can't deflate. It owns ground worth half a million dollars in normal times. It has improvements that cost altogether in the neighborhood of a million dollars; and its players represent an investment of $200,000. The franchise too is worth a considerable sum. All of which totals nearly $2,000,000.

It takes a stout chin and a bottomless pocketbook to laugh off two idle millions. But when the investment is costing more than $100,000 annually to maintain you can grasp the enthusiasm with which players' requests for bigger salaries will be received.

The Browns have many companions in misery and by all except the players reduction of overhead has been looked for ere this.

As with every other business changing conditions will demand a new hookup in baseball, before many years have passed. And it would not be surprising if this included some changes of big league circuits.

WHILE Old Man Depression "rode" St. Louis football hard in 1931, next year the game is due for a big comeback. And we don't mean perhaps. While the three major universities of the State have made no schedule announcements for 1932, it can be said with reasonable certainty that next year we will see more good football, college and professional, than has been available in many campaigns.

The St. Louis University-Washington Thanksgiving day contract will be renewed, although that announcement may be delayed until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

St. Louis University and Missouri also are expected to resume relations, probably on Nov. 19, 1932.

Missouri and Washington already have signed a long-term contract for a renewal of relations on the gridiron.

These three games are naturals for St. Louis, the largest population center in either the Valley or Big Six conference. It is the center that should be productive of the greatest interest, the best football and—not least in these days of athletic retrenchment—the largest gate receipts.

A permanent triangular sports relationship between the "big three" of the State is desirable, inasmuch as a State championship is involved.

Alumni are hopeful that this goal will be achieved, beginning with the next football season.

Big Elevens Coming.

IN addition to the three-cornered resumption of relations noted above, football here will be improved in other ways next year. Both St. Louis and Washington will have stronger schedules, involving more interesting opponents than heretofore. When the details of the schedule-making are released for publication fans will be agreeably surprised at the names of some of the universities on the list.

Besides the improvement in varsity football, the professionals gained a toe-hold on local football interest this season and have gradually built up a team of strong players who next year will face a much more ambitious schedule.

National League clubs will be brought here for contests and the promoters of the "Gunners" are hoping some day to build up a membership in the major professional football league.

Heretofore, professional teams have had rough sledding in this city. But you never can tell which way popular fancy will jump. It took years for the pros to build up interest in other cities, but today professional football is solidly grounded on a paying basis in many of the country's population centers.

Bingaman's 855 High in Officers' Bowling Meet

Toppling the maples for a scratch total of 799 for four games and aided by a handicap of 56 sticks, Paul Bingaman of the German House Junior League, bowling on the first squad, went into the lead in the annual Officers' Club bowling tournament at the German House Recreation Parlor yesterday. His handicap gave him a grand total of 855.

Robert E. Hughes is second with 822, with handicap; R. Boushka, third, with 811, and Charles Bieger, fourth with 806.

Bingaman's games were as follows: 201, 202, 202 and 194.

"SHIPWRECK" KELLY'S GAINS PASS 1000 YARDS

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 5.—"Shipwreck" Kelly, line-ripping halfback from old Kentucky, led the Wildcats to a hard-fought 7 to 2 victory over Florida today in the season's final gridiron battle for both institutions.

Smashing the Gator forward wall like a triphammer, Kelly lugged the pigskin down the field with brilliant runs to roll up his season's yardage gains to well over 1000.

French Pair Win 6-Day Bike Race

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. — The French team of Alfred Letourner and Marcel Guimbretiere won New York's fifty-first six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden tonight.

In a three-way tie for the lead when the final hour of sprints started, the French aces did not pull ahead until about 15 or 20 minutes before the end of the last hour of furious jamming. In a session that saw some of the hardest riding the Garden saucer ever has produced, they stole a lap at the crucial moment and held off all challenges to the end.

GLANGESIA IS EASY VICTOR IN GRASSLANDS STEEPLECHASE

ONLY 5 HORSES OF 13 STARTERS FINISH; JOCKEY HURT IN SPILL

By the Associated Press.

GRASSLANDS DOWNS, Tenn., Dec. 5.—Glangesia, 11-year-old gray gelding owned by Richard K. Mellon of Pittsburg, raced to victory this afternoon in the second running of the Grasslands International Steeplechase.

Cheers of 10,000 racing enthusiasts accompanied the winning dash across the finish line.

Under a restrained but perfectly timed ride by the gentleman jockey, J. E. Ryan, Glangesia negotiated every jump with precision, took the lead at the hilltop fence, and thundered past the judges' stand 15 lengths ahead of Troublemaker, owned by Mrs. T. H. Somerville of Greenville, Del. Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Saltarello was third.

Glangesia galloped over the four and one-half mile course of brush fences and winding hills in the unusually good time of 10 minutes, 14 3-5 seconds. Alligator, Mrs. L. Bryce Wing's victor in the inaugural international last December, ran the layout in 11 minutes 5 seconds.

Glangesia won for his owner $6620 and an engraved gold cup, the gift of Alfonso, former King of Spain. For second place, Mrs. Somerville received $1000, while Saltarello saved his entry fee of $100.

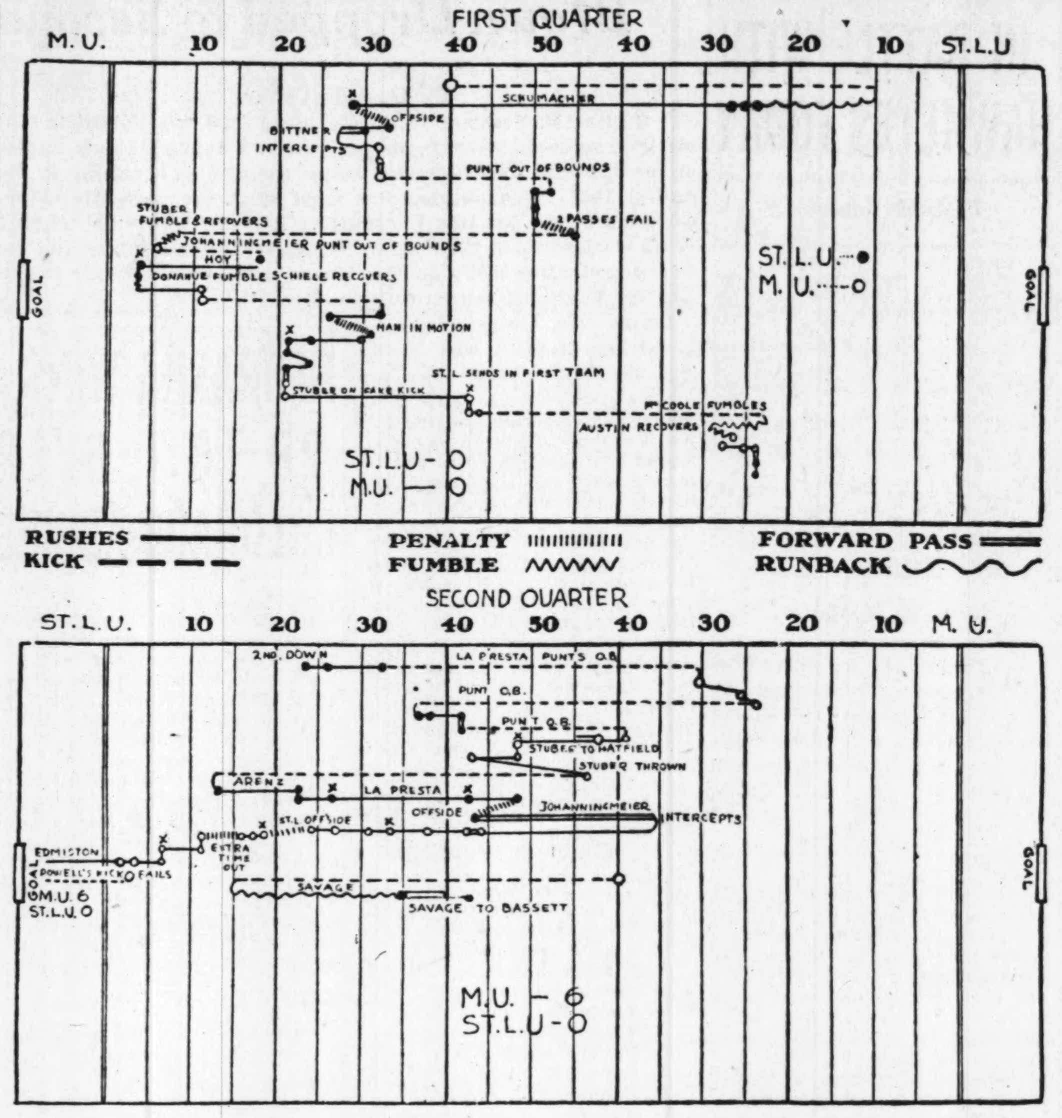
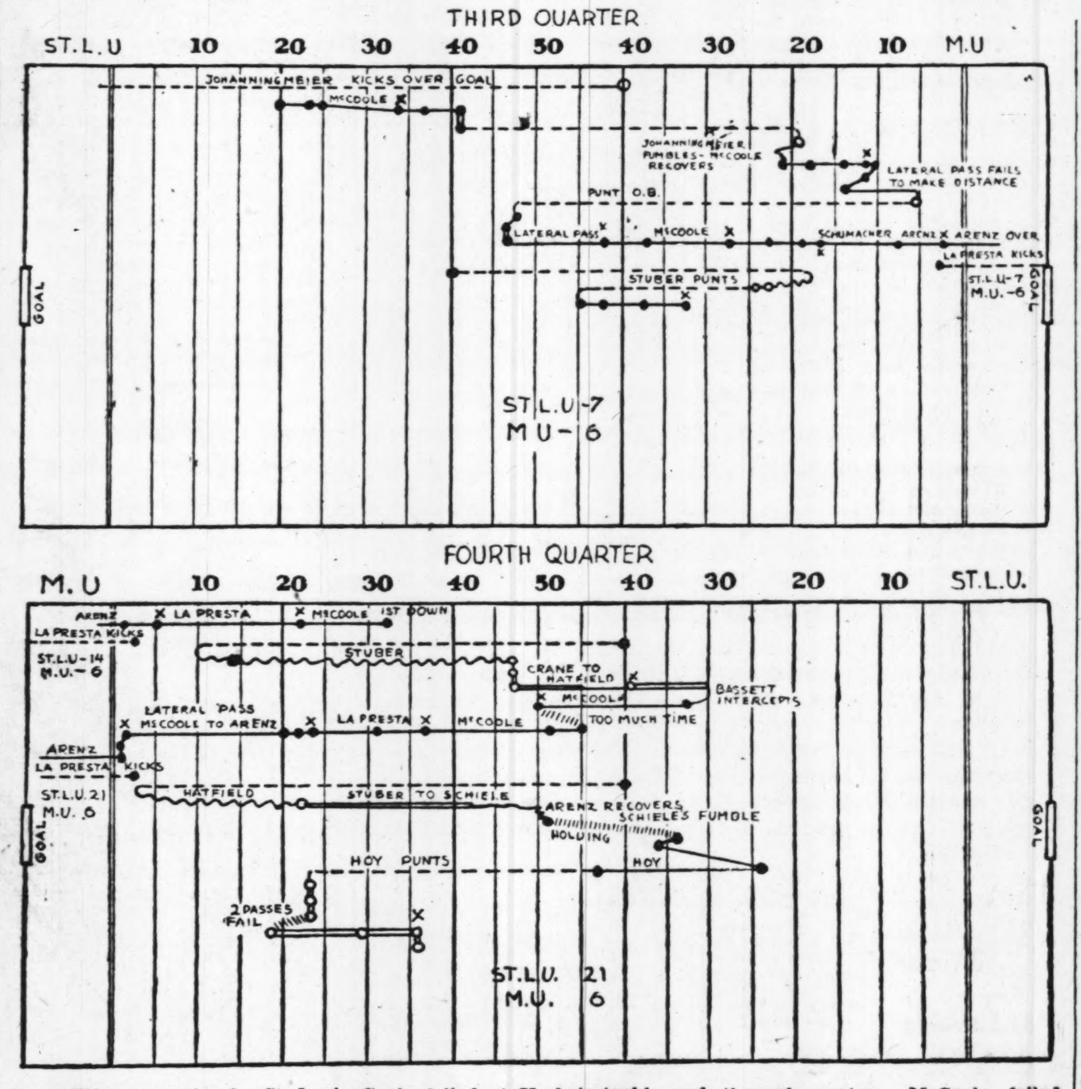
St. Louis U.-Missouri Game in Detail And Chart Showing How Battle Waged





FIRST QUARTER.

ST LOUIS won the toss and Missouri kicked off, Johanningmeier's first kick going out of bounds. Pike took the second and was downed on his 24-yard line. Hoy gained a yard through center.

A plungs on a spinner by Schumacher was stopped with 3 yards. Schumacher then broke away around Missouri's right end and dashed 44 yards for a first down on Missouri's 30-yard line.

St. Louis was penalized five yards for offside and Schumacher was stopped on the next play. Hoy then passed and Bittner intercepted for Missouri.

Johanningmeier, on a wide end run, lost a yard. A pass by Stuber was incompleted out of bounds. Johanningmeier's kick was poor and went out of bounds on St. Louis' 48-yard line. Donahue was stopped at the line by Yeckel. Hoy's pass to Pike was incomplete, as was another which followed. Donahue kicked beautifully and Stuber after fumbling was run out of bounds on Missouri's 5-yard line. Johanningmeier kicked very poorly and the ball went out of bounds on the Missouri 18-yard line.

Donahue Fumbles.

Hoy cleared the Missouri left end for 13 yards and Schumacher picked up two more. Donahue fumbled and Schiele recovered for Missouri on the Tigers' 11-yard line. St. Louis took time out.

Stuber was stopped on the first play. Johanningmeier then kicked to Missouri's 31-yard line. Schumacher gained five off tackle. Missouri took time out. Schumacner cut through Missouri's right tackle for a first down but St. Louis as penalized for backfield man in motion. Schumacher was stopped and then hit left tackle for eight yards. Schumacher gained enough to make it a first down on Missouri's 20-yard line. Hoy got a yard to the right. Thompson replaced Pike at quarter for St. Louis and Edminston took Bittner's place at fullback for Missouri.

A pass by Hoy was incomplete. Missouri took the ball on its own 20-yard line. Johanningmeier failed to gain at the line. On a fake-kick, Stuber broke away and ran to his own 42-yard line, a run of 21 yards. It was the first gain made by Missouri. Coach Walsh then sent in his first-string players. Stuber's pass was incomplete.

Johanningmeier failed to gain Missouri kicked to McCoole, who fumbled, and Austin recovered for Missouri on the St. Louis 27-yard line. Two Missouri plays were stopped dead, and St. Louis took the ball on downs on its 24-yard line when Stuber's pass was incomplete. After one play the quarter ended. Score: St. Louis 0, Missouri 0.

SECOND QUARTER

On resumption of play, La Presta gained two. McCoole cleared Missouri's left end for seven yards. La Presta kicked out of bounds on Missouri's 30-yard line.

Johanningmeier lost five when tackled by Tierney. Stuber lost a foot. Johanningmeier kicked to St. Louis' 36-yard line. McCoole failed to gain. La Presta picked up five. McCoole's pass to Kennedy was incomplete. La Presta kicked to Missouri's 40-yard line.

La Presta Runs 15 Yards.

Stuber gained less than a yard and Stuber then completed a short forward pass for Missouri's first down from scrimmage. Stuber ran out of bounds and Edmiston was stopped with no gain. Stuber then tried to pass but couldn't get it away and lost 15 yards. Johanningmeier then kicked to St. Louis' 13-yard line. Arenz gained nine around Missouri's left end. Arenz made it a first down through the center. La Presta, around right end, gained 15 yards for another. Arenz hit center for six yards. McCoole failed at Kerby's tackle and the Billikens lost five for offside. McCoole's pass was intercepted by Johanningmeier and Missouri had the ball on St. Louis' 45-yard line.

Eaves completed a short pass to Stuber for two yards. Stuber hit center for six yards. Stuber hit center for a first down on St Louis' 34-yard line. Stuber picked up three more at the line. Again Stuber hit successfully picking up five yards. Stuber was stopped but St. Louis was penalized five for offside and it was Missouri's ball, first down on St. Louis' 19-yard line. Stuber was stopped with a yard. He then gained another yard. LaPresta was hurt on the play.

LaPresta resumed play. This was an extra-time out for St. Louis and the Billikens were penalized five yards. Edmiston made it first down on St. Louis' seven-yard line. Stuber and Edmiston together gained three yards. Stuber got to within two yards of the Billiken goal on a plunge. Edmiston plunged through the line for a touchdown.

Place Kick Fails.

Powell replaced Johanningmeier but his try for a place kick point failed. Score: Missouri, 6; St. Louis, 0.

Savage replaced McCoole at half for St. Louis. Austin kicked out of bounds. W. Ashbury replaced Powell for Missouri. The second kickoff was run back 10 yards by Savage. A short pass, Savage to Bassett was completed and the half ended. Score: Missouri, 6; St. Louis, 0.

THIRD QUARTER.

Starting after the intermission Missouri kicked off. Schumacher and McCoole were the St. Louis halves with Pike at quarter. The ball went across the line and it was the Billikens' on their own 20-yard line. Arenz gained four through center. McCoole failed. McCoole then cleared Missouri's left end for a first down. Schumacher picked up two and then four. McCoole's pass was incomplete and Pike kicked to Missouri's 19-yard line. Johanningmeier fumbled on the next play and McCoole recovered for St. Louis on Missouri's 21-yard line. Bittner replaced Eaves at fullback for Missouri. McCoole gained two at end. Arenz made four through tackle. Schumacher, on a spinner, made it a first down on Missouri's 10-yard line. Arenz was stopped at the line. Schumacher also was stopped dead. Bassett replaced Pike at quarter for St. Louis. A lateral, McCoole to Arenz, was smeared. A lateral pass was completed but Missouri took the ball on downs on their own four-yard line.

Arenz Scores.

Johanningmeier kicked out of bounds on St. Louis' 48-yard line. Schiele stopped Arenz for a two-yard loss. Pezolt replaced Montgomery at guard for St. Louis. A St. Louis pass was incomplete. A lateral pass, McCoole to Arenz, gave the Billikens a first down. Arenz gained four. McCoole ran around right end for a first down on Missouri's 27-yard line. Missouri took time out. Schumacher hit tackle for five yards. Arenz picked up four through center. Arenz plunged for a first down on Missouri's 16-yard line. On a spinner, Schumacher gained six and Arenz made it a first down on Missouri's one-yard line. Missouri again took time out. Arenz hit the center for a touchdown, tieing the score. La Presta replaced Schumacher for St. Louis. Jacobs replaced Hartman for Missouri. La Presta place-kicked the extra point. Score: St. Louis 7, Missouri 6.

Bassett kicked off to Hatfield who was thrown on Missouri's 17-yard line. Denny replaced Jacobs at center for Missouri. Stuber gained two. Stuber kicked to Bassett, who made a fair catch on Missouri's 44-yard line. McCoole was stopped with one. La Presta gained six around Missouri's right end. Arenz plowed through for a first down. The quarter ended. Score: St. Louis 7, Missouri 6.

FOURTH QUARTER.

McCoole hit center for 11 yards and a first down and La Presta ran to the Tigers' five-yard line for another. It was a dash of 15 yards. Missouri took time out. La Presta, on a spinner, took the ball to Missouri's one-foot line, and Arenz plunged across for a second touchdown. La Presta again place-kicked the extra point. Score: St. Louis 14, Missouri 6.

Arenz Again.

Bassett kicked off to Stuber who, behind a flying wedge, ran back 30 yards. Stuber was stopped by Pezolt on the next play. Stuber's pass was incomplete. Stuber then completed a pass to Hatfield for a Missouri first down on the Billikens' 40-yard line, but his next pass was intercepted by Bassett on his own 32-yard line. McCoole dashed 20 yards behind fine interference. Taking to much time to start the next play cost St. Louis five yards. La Presta gained five yards around end. Axtell replaced O'Brien at tackle for St. Louis. McCoole got away again and dashed for a first down on Missouri's 31-yard line. La Presta slapped the line for five. He then went to the other side for six more and another first down. La Presta lost two yards. A lateral pass, McCoole to Arenz went to the Tigers' one-yard line. Arenz failed by inches. On a "sneak" by Bassett the ball still lacked inches but Arenz made it on the next play. La Presta place-kicked the extra point. Score: St. Louis 21, Missouri 6.

Bassett kicked to Missouri's 22-yard line. Stuber completed a pass to Schiele but the latter fumbled when tackled and Arenz recovered for St. Louis at midfield. Hoy failed to gain. St. Louis was penalized 15 yards for holding. Thompson went in at quarter and Rapp at fullback for St. Louis. Rapp lost two yards and Hoy dashed 15 yards but was short of a first down. Hoy then kicked to Missouri's 24-yard line. Taylor replaced McGowan and Minkey replaced Kennedy at ends for St. Louis. Stuber's pass was incomplete. He tried again but failed. A third pass, Crane to Schiele, was completed for seven yards. Another made it first down for Missouri. A long pass was incomplete as the game ended. Score: St. Louis 21, Missouri 6.

LAURI DEFEATS JOHNNY LAYTON IN 'POOL' MEET

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia, defeated Robert Lindblom of Seattle, 125 to 2, in 12 innings in the night session of the world's pocket billiard championship tournament tonight. Earlier, Onofrio Lauri, Brooklyn, had set down Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., 125 to 102 in 14 innings in an earlier evening match.

In other matches during the day, Ralph Greenleaf defeated Miller, 125 to 42, in 15 innings, and George Kelly, Philadelphia, won from Bennie Allen, Kansas City, 125 to 116, in 24 innings.

Says Player Was Falsely Accused of Being Traitor

LOS ANGELES Cal., Dec. 5.—The Evening Express said today that William Hawkins, a substitute center on the University of Southern California football team, was taken into custody on Nov. 16 by two private detectives when his coaches believed he had betrayed the details of his team's play to Notre Dame.

The action was taken prior to the game at South Bend, Ind., in which Southern California defeated Notre Dame, 16 to 14. The charges, the newspaper said, were without foundation.

The Express said:

"The voluntary imprisonment for a week of a University of Southern California football player because Trojan coaches believed he was betraying inside details of his team's play to Notre Dame was revealed today.

The player, falsely accused of disloyalty to his school, is William (Bill) Hawkins, Trojan substitute center.

"An apology from President R. B. Von Kleinsmid for actions of the coaches toward Hawkins has been requested by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Finn of Los Angeles.

"President Von Kleinsmid said today he had turned the matter over to Dr. Willis O. Hunter, director of athletes. He declared the matter was closed so far as he was concerned.

"So great has been the pressure of angry students, alumni and the public who knew of the case that Head Coach Howard Jones has made an apology to the accused player before the entire football team.

"Hawkins was accused of disloyalty Nov. 16, the Monday before the Notre Dame game at South Bend. He was asked to submit to a complete investigation with no alternative, his parents said today.

"Hawkins chose the investigation, which consisted of a complete search of his home for 'papers' and six days in voluntary custody of two private detectives in a cottage at Topango Canyon."

ST. LOUIS PIN TEAM LOSES IN TELEGRAPHIC MATCH WITH OMAHA

The St. Louis Western Union bowling team met the team of the Omaha Western Union in another telegraph bowling match yesterday afternoon, and, as in the first match, the locals lost. The St. Louis end was rolled on the Mid-City alleys where scores were kept by direct telegraph wire connections, as each game was played. The match was for total pins and Omaha knocked over 3017 to the 2663 pins accumulated by St. Louis.

Omaha out-bowled St. Louis, man for man. The Omaha anchor man, J. Bouton, rolled games of 256, 233 and 289 for a total of 778.

While the men were being defeated, a team of girls from St. Louis office defeated an Omaha girls' team. The St. Louis girls toppled 1965 pins to 1947 for Omaha.

GAME PLAYED WITHOUT THE WEDGE FORMATION

BALTIMORE, Dec. 5. — Four sensational runs and two passes brought the University of Maryland a 41 to 6 victory over the favored Western Maryland State championship team today in their final gridiron clash before 10,000 fans at the stadium here today.

Ray Poppelman, Maryland quarterback, brought in three tallies, while Berger, right half, scored another with an 85-yard gallop.

Dick Harlow, Western Maryland coach, and Byrd, Old Line mentor, ruled against the wedge formation at the kickoff, and a spread formation was used instead.

GERMAN TENNIS STARS EASILY BEAT CHILEANS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 5.—The visiting German tennis stars, Irmgard Rost and Cilly Aussem, made a clean sweep of three Chilean tennis championships today. Miss Rost defeated Miss Aussem 8-6, 6-2, to take the women's singles title; the singles finalists paired together and defeated Loreto Lizana and Mrs. Piza in the women's doubles, 6-0, 6-1; and Miss Rost and Egon Schonherr won the mixed doubles championship by defeating Mrs. Piza and Hans Conrads, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

Game Old Boy!

Old Man Dope, at first reported dead, is in a hospital slowly recovering from the severe manhandling he received at the hands of Purdue, Army, Stanford and several other football teams that laid for him a week ago and ganged him. He expects to be out in time to get to the coast and take part in the games of Dec. 12 and Jan. 1 and prove himself to be the world champion glutton for punishment.

Notre Dame lost her last two fights because Melinkovich, Jaskwich, Sheeketski, Koskv, Kosack, Kurth, Vejar and the rest of the "Fighting Irish" couldn't seem to get their Irish up.

Just as she was headed South with the Big Ten championship Northwestern lost her sense of direction and collided with a bunch of Boilermakers and went in the ditch.

George Hays, a graduate of Annapolis, pulled a gate-crashing stunt at the Notre Game that makes One-Eyed Connelly look like a season boxholder. George simply dug up his old uniform and marched with the rest of the cadets to a seat on the 50-yard line.

And when Jablonsky, a glorified Bear from Washington U., took his place in the Army line, he looked like a renegade from the forces of the "Fighting Irish."

Ten Northwestern football players fell five floors in a Chicago elevator and escaped serious injury. It was nothing compared to the jolt they subsequently got from Purdue.

It may go against the grain but they'll all have to come to it. In the meantime, the Cardinals have more acres of arable land under cultivation than all the rest of them put together.

If it hadn't been for charity, Northwestern would have had the Big Ten championship sewed up. And charity's gain was Northwestern's loss.

Girls Register With A. A. U. for Basket Season

The registration lists of the four clubs in the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball Association closed yesterday with 41 players registered in the Western A. A. U. for the opening games next Wednesday night at Battery A, Grand boulevard and Hickory street. Crystal City and the Aquinas Club turned in the largest rosters, with 11 names each, one below the player limit. The champion Bachelors have listed 10 girls, and M. K. & T. nine, for the first night's play.

Since last season the Bachelors have acquired only two new players, while Crystal City has signed six, losing four regulars. M. K. & T. has taken over six players from the Angelica and Trojan clubs and plans to sign several more for later games. The Aquinas quintet, which finished second in the Superior League, will try out only one new player, Helen Westhus, a forward, who was a member of the Columbus Girls' Club last season.

Final tune-ups for the first contests will be held by each of the clubs today, Crystal City playing on the Crystal City High court this afternoon, while the Aquinas girls drill at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The M., K. & T. cagers will be sent through a workout at Battery A this morning, and the Bachelors will take the court for a two-hour scrimmage and basket-shooting session immediately after Coach Gutting's athletes have departed.

The opening program calls for the M., K. & T. club to play the Crystal City Legionnaires and the Bachelors to meet the Aquinas.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Striking twice with dazzling swiftness in much the same spot, Tennessee's Volunteers came up from Dixie today to sweep New York University's rugged football forces off their feet and romp away with a 13—0 triumph in the first big game of the post-season metropolitan charity program.

Favored by a clear, crisp afternoon, the game attracted 40,684 spectators who contributed $70,597 in gate receipts, the bulk of which, after expenses are deducted, will go to the benefit of the unemployed of New York City and Knoxville, home town of the Volunteers.

The crowd, filling about half of the big American League ball park, was rewarded for its turnout by seeing one of the finest intersectional engagements of the year.

McEver's Final Game.

Tennessee's victory kept the team's unbeaten record intact for 1931 and marked the conclusion of the career of Gene McEver, famous Vol back, with the distinction of never having tasted defeat in a varsity game.

At the same time it was New York's third setback at the hands of an intersectional rival and the most decisive suffered by the Violets this season.

While the Violet-clad players watched and waited for the celebrated McEver to start going places with the ball, two of his teammates, Beatty Feathers and Herbert Brackett, put on an exhibition of broken-field running that put the New Yorkers to rout in the second period and sewed up the game tighter than a bale of cotton.

Scores on Long Runs.

The Tennessee touchdowns came within five minutes of each other, Feathers, on a surprising jaunt, raced 65 yards for the first score after it appeared he had been stopped, only to break way from his tackles and get into the clear. Shortly afterward, Brackett, substitute quarterback, plucked one of Jim Tanguay's high spirals out of the air on his own 26-yard mark, slowly picked his way to one side of the field, zig-zagged toward the other side and completed a 74-yard scoring dash with the aid of superb blocking assistance.

McEver bucked the line for the first extra point, but failed in an attempt to kick the next one. Otherwise, the veteran ace of the Tennessee backfield devoted his afternoon to blocking, tackling, passing and a few line bucks, in addition to serving as the decoy.

The Hy-Los rolled a new three-game total in the Handicap League at the German House and won three games from the St. Louis five last week. The winners totaled 3048. Murphy was high for the winners with 676, which was also a new individual three-game mark. Other results—Laurels 2, Swances 1; Phil Steinmetz 3, Heidbreders 0; Neels 3, Strobles 0; Hickmans 2, Majestics 1; Rosenthals 2, German House 1.

NYACK CAPTURES NEW ORLEANS SPRINT BY FOUR LENGTHS

HIGH FOOT RUNS SECOND, FERVOR TAKES SHOW ON SLOW TRACK

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5.—Perfect weather and a partially dried out track served to attract a good sized crowd to Jefferson Park this afternoon.

Heading an interesting card was the Baton Rouge Purse, at six furlongs. Frank Seremba's Nyack was much superior to the half dozen sprinters opposed to him and crossed the finish line with four lengths' advantage over the Valley Lake Stable's High Foot, the New Orleans sensation of a year ago. A. Pelleteri's Fervor was beaten a half length for the place.

Nyack rewarded his backers with $16.80 for $2 and was the third good priced winner to go over. Over a track that was heavy on the inside and nearly fast elsewhere where it had dried out, the colt completed the trip in 1:17 flat.

High Foot showed brilliant early speed and opened up two lengths' lead in the first quarter mile, while Jockey T. May had Nyack in second place waiting to make his move. Leros and Fervor also raced within striking distance, but Leros, which was favorite, tired and fell back in the stretch.

Nyack was sent after High Foot around the bend and finally wore down the pacemaker after turning for home. High Foot lasted long enough to save the place.

Yale Wins Round Robin, Outscoring Holy Cross and Outplaying Brown

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 5.—Yale won a judge's decision over Brown, something unique in the history of Eastern football, to win the final game and chief honors today in the round robin football festival for the benefit of the unemployed.

Held scoreless by the Bruins after defeating Holy Cross, 6 to 0, in the first of two qualifying matches to determine the tourney finalists, a committee of judges decided Yale had outplayed Brown just enough to win the second decision ever awarded in this manner after a football game in the East.

The first award of that kind came after the second qualifying match when Brown gained the final by catching the eyes of the arbitrating board after a scoreless contest with Dartmouth.

All three games were restricted to two periods of 12 minutes each.

A crowd estimated at 30,000 braved a bitterly cold afternoon to watch the four varsity elevens compete.

Yale struck hard and fast against Holy Cross in the opener, scoring the lone touchdown of the day in the first 12-minute half. With the regular Yale varsity in action and only Albie Booth, the ailing Captain, unavailable, Big Joe Crowley and the sophomore sensation, Bob Lassiter, teamed to slash Holy Cross' tackles for bursts of five and 10 yards until Crowley finally dove over the Crusader's goal from the three-yard line.

The Yale running attack that functioned so well against Holy Cross failed until the last minutes of play against Brown in the final game. Yale had several scoring opportunities. Its most serious threat was Bob Chase's attempt at a field goal from placement from Yale's 30-yard line in the first period of the final. The boot was short and wide, however, and the Brown backs were able to gain successively only on passes around mid-field thereafter.

The Brown preliminary that might have brought together in the final the Yale and Dartmouth elevens that battled so sensationally to a 33—33 tie during the regular season was close and hard fought and with few scoring opportunities. Brown effectively stopped the famed passing combination of Bill Morton and Bob McCall and with it went most of the Hanover Indians' offense.

St. Louis Team Wins Missouri De Molay Title

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5.—St. Louis scored in the first and fourth quarters here today to defeat Kansas City, 13 to 0, and gain the DeMolay football championship of Missouri.

A small crowd attended the game, which was played for the benefit of the unemployed.

After holding a 7 to 0 lead at half time, the teams fought through a scoreless third period, but St. Louis counted in the closing minutes when Proveski, end, took a short punt and ran 20 yards for the score.

Walcott to Box Matthews Here

Joe Walcott, Negro welterweight, who has done most of his fighting in Boston and other Eastern centers, has been signed by Matchmaker Jack C. Tippett to meet Allen Matthews, heavy punching St. Louis Negro, in the eight-round semifinal battle on Friday night's boxing card at the Croatian A. C. hall, 1439 Chouteau. The show is being held under the Walter J. Hatzfeld American Legion Post banner.

Walcott is reputed to be one of the toughest opponents Matthews has been matched against. The New England Negro has taken on many of the leading 147-pounders in the country, including Bucky Lawless and Spug Meyers, prominent welterweights.

Matthews has been fighting regularly for the past month throughout the Middle West. Most of his battles have been held in Indiana. George Wilsman's protege has won virtually all of his scraps on knockouts. Frankie White and Billy Rose are Matthews' latest victims.

SCHOBER AND RYAN TO MEET AGAIN AT SOUTH BROADWAY

A return bout between Charley Schober of the South Broadway A. C., senior middleweight champion of the Mississippi Valley A. A., and Tommy Ryan of Sherman Park Community Center, the junior Valley titleholder, is planned by Matchmaker Willie Miller as one of the four special bouts featuring an amateur boxing tourney to be held at the South Broadway A. C. on Thursday night, Dec. 17.

Schober defeated Ryan in the elimination tryouts of the last senior championship meet but the Sherman Park battler subsequently avenged that setback when he won a decision over Schober in a special match last summer at the Battery Arena.

Freddy Willen, junior lightweight champion of the Valley organization, Joe Huff, the junior welterweight titleholder, Al Meyer, crack featherweight contender, and Frank Chervanek, rugged heavyweight ace of the Croatian A. C., are among the amateur mittmen Miller has in mind for other specials on the coming ring program.

The preliminary events will be open as usual to registered scrappers of every weight division. Prospective contestants can obtain entry blanks on application at the South Broadway gymnasium, 2301 South Seventh boulevard.

Benton Quintet Wins, 22-9.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Dec. 5.—Benton High School defeated Mount Vernon, 22 to 9, in the first basketball game of the season here last night.

Officials: Referee, Red Roche (Loyola); umpire, Benny Hobson (Wabash); linesman, Schulte (C. B. C.); field judge — J. W. Leuzinger (St. Louis).

Reserves: Gunners—Coover, McIntosh, Rowland, Wright, Lally, Bobringer, Moffatt, Kjar, Kimmell, Hornsby, Carroll, Senn; Des Moines—W. Vermoulen, Correll, Hall, Hickman, Hinchcliffe, Faber, Seiberling, Harvey, Sherod.

Kickoff—2:30 o'clock.

By L. A. McMaster.

The Battery A Gunners, a pro football team, will try to find out this afternoon is "58" is an unlucky number for them when they go out on the gridiron at Public Schools Stadium for their second game in a month with the Des Moines Hawkeyes. Play will start at 2:30 o'clock.

"Number 58," to the Gunners, is "Chuck" Delmege, left end of the Des Moines eleven, who on Nov. 15 almost single-handed was responsible for the 14-6 reverse registered by the Iowans against Coach Jimmy Conzelman's team, their only defeat to date. Delmege tackled Gunners all afternoon that day, held down the local team's score, and after his teammate, Miller, had run 60 yards after catching a punt to score a touchdown, Delmege intercepted a Battery A pass and paved the way for a second Des Moines score to make the margin decisive.

So the Gunners will be gunning for Delmege this afternoon, in a football way.

Gunners Are Strengthened.

There is much added strength in the Conzelman squad. Since the first Des Moines game, the team has gained Tony Kimmell, Ollie Kjar, Mayes McLain, Roy "Bullet" Baker and Dick "Tiny" Powell. Among those five names are All-America stars. McLain was All-America fullback, Powell was included on several All-America selections, and Baker gained all-star honors in his college days at Southern California.

Some new plays have been added to the Gunner attacking plans since the Nov. 15 game and the local team is expected to do a lot of passing this afternoon.

Coach Jimmy Conzelman declined to state whether he would start a "shock" backfield, but gave out a lineup listing his strongest combination. John Kyler, brilliant kicker, will be in action again.

This will be the seventh game for the Gunners, who have won four contests, tied one and lost only to Des Moines. They have scored one or more touchdowns each Sunday. Des Moines has won 10 out of 11 starts, scoring 201 points to 9 for opponents, the only defeat being a 3-2 score and the only touchdown counted against them having been made by the Gunners.

Kirkwood and Maplewood Play In Benefit Game

The charity football game between the Kirkwood High School Alumni Association and the Maplewood High School Alumni Association, postponed last Sunday because of rain, will be played at the Maplewood High School Stadium, Big Bend boulevard and Manchester, this afternoon, starting at 2:30 o'clock. This game is sponsored by the Lions Club of Kirkwood and the American Legion of Maplewood.

In the Maplewood line-up will be James McClanahan, a recent selection on the All-College team. Another is Al Bruno, at quarterback, the only county boy to make the All-County and All-St. Louis teams.

The following will be in the Maplewood line-up: Garrett, end; Miller, end; Brockman, end; Gusocky, tackle; Faris, tackle; Timm, center; Hoffman, center; Nelson, center; Barnes, guard; Crain, guard; Simpson, halfback; Wagner, halfback; Holbrook, end; Kruse, end; Blumer, fullback; Bagranoff, tackle; Rhyne, halfback, and Love, halfback.

Kirkwood players will include: Thompson, halfback; Pug, halfback; Kleib, quarterback; Cochran, quarterback; Brunk, halfback; Hahn, end; Ruhl, end; Irwin, end; Deutzer, center and guard; Hart, halfback and guard; Topper, guard; James, guard; Lindhoff, guard; Marvin, tackle; Bergland, tackle; Liberty, tackle, and Hager, tackle.

Haffner of Washington will referee, while Pothoff of Washington will umpire. Brockmueller of Cape Girardeau will act as field judge, and Callan of Michigan, linesman.

Boehmer Ranked No. 1 by District Tennis Officials; Brown Dropped to Second

By Davison Obear.

Gustave H. Boehmer Jr., Triple A and St. Louis University tennis star, succeeds Wray D. Brown, as No. 1 ranking men's singles player of the St. Louis District Tennis Association, according to the official 1931 list announced last night by J. Hutton Witherspoon, chairman of the Ranking Committee. Boehmer won the district men's singles title at Triple A last September, defeating Brown in the final round. The men's doubles honors again went to Wray Brown and Ted Eggmann, district champions.

During his competition as a junior here Boehmer won the singles title three times. He also made a good record in the national junior championship, receiving a No. 3 ranking one year. Boehmer moved into the first 10 among the men players in the St. Louis district in 1929 and was awarded second place to Brown that year and also last year.

The Ranking Committee placed Brown second in the singles list after he had held the No. 1 position in the district ranking since 1926. In the first official district ranking in 1921 Brown was second to Ted Drewes, local municipal champion. Brown gained first place in 1922 and held it again in 1923. Brian I. C. Norton, former South African star, took up his residence here in 1924 and was placed ahead of Brown that year and in 1925.

The 1931 men's singles ranking follows:

First Ten.

1. G. H. Boehmer Jr.
2. Wray D. Brown
3. Karl H. Hodge
4. Herbert Weinstock
5. Charles McMillin
6. Teddy Eggman
7. Sidney Smith
8. Herbert Steideman
9. Raymond Wiese
10. Edmund H. Serrano

As compared to last season, the first 10 shows Karl Hodge No. 3, the highest place he has ever reached. The same applies to Charles McMillin, No. 5 this year. Herbert Steideman and Ray Wiese also advanced this year. The veteran, Edmund Serrano, holder of the city title back in 1911, was awarded the tenth position this year.

The following players were not ranked on account of insufficient data: Charles Barnes, William Bell, Theodore Drewes, Bud Fisher, Charles Fox, C. E. Groerich, Dr. Arthur Ham, Henry Kaltenbach Jr., Talbot Murphy, Joyce Portnoy, Oscar Reid, Walter Rutnam, Gus Serrano, Vernon Tietjen and J. H. Witherspoon.

The 1931 men's doubles ranking follows:

1. Brown and Eggmann
2. Kammann and Barnes
3. Smith and Weinstock
4. Hodge and Ham
5. Wiese and Steideman

Not ranked on account of insufficient data: Drewes and Serrano, Kaltenbach and Lambert, McMillin and Reppert, Reide and Hereford, Rosbrough and Wright, Serrano and Serrano and Tietjen and Portnoy.

NEBRASKA WINS, 20 TO 7, OVER COLORADO AGGIES

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 5.—Scoring three touchdowns in a last-period drive, the University of Nebraska, Big Six champions, defeated the Colorado Aggies, 20 to 7, in a charity game here today.

The Aggies scored in the first period after completing two long passes. The Huskers tallied early in the fourth quarter on a 27-yard drive after Sauer had place a punt out of bounds on the Aggies' one-yard line. The second Nebraska touchdown came after recovery of a fumble on the Aggie 26-yard mark. Brown ended the scoring with an 82-yard return of a punt in the closing minutes of the game.

NEBRASKA PLAYED TO RECORD CROWDS IN 1931

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 5.—The University of Nebraska athletic department announced yesterday the Big Six champion Conhuskers played before the largest aggregate football crowd in Nebraska history during the 1931 season.

ST. LOUIS OPENS BASKET SEASON TUESDAY NIGHT

With the football season having closed with yesterday's Missouri game, St. Louis University will now turn its attention to basketball for the coming season. The 1931-32 card will open on Tuesday night when Coach Mike Nyikos' Billiken cagers meet the McKendree College quintet on the St. Louis floor.

Nyikos has a fine aggregation of basketball athletes on whom he can depend to carry out an unusually heavy season. He has encountered obstacles at the outset. Captain Frank Kennedy, who has been handling a football job this fall, will not be able to join the Nyikos ranks until tomorrow, which means he will not play with the cagers for another week or more.

Likewise, Arnold Arenz and Manuel Rapp, the husky Billiken fullbacks, are promising basketball candidates but will not be in shape to play the first few games. Coach Nyikos has four letter men returning to this year's quintet, including Kennedy, Owen McCarthy, forward; Leo Grandone, center, and Marty Gorman, a guard.

Tuesday's starting lineup against McKendree will find several of last year's freshmen cagers in Coach Nyikos' opening combination. Jim Shea, a reserve, is a leading forward choice, while Don Marr, former Covington (Ind.) High cager, is the other guard choice.

Coach Nyikos, a former Notre Dame athlete, is starting his fourth year as basketball coach at St. Louis University. Last year his team won 13 out of 19 games, including victories over leading teams in this vicinity. While his team did not play McKendree last year, it triumphed over the Lebanon five in 1927, 35 to 25, and again in 1928, 31 to 17.

The McKendree team, coached by Art Doolen, will be composed mostly of letter men.

A heavy program faces the St. Louis outfit before the Christmas holidays. Opening on Tuesday night, the Billikens engage Illinois at Champaign next Saturday. Missouri invades the St. Louis hard court on Dec. 14, while Southern California will be here on Dec. 17 and the Kansas Aggies on Dec. 19.

Whether McCarthy will be able to fit into the speedy forward wall of the Stix remains to be seen. If he does, then he will probably help, as he is regarded as a better goal getter than Rudge. However, if he is not able to keep up with Ahrens, Hart, McLean and Pastor, then he will be of little value. However, there is plenty of other power on the Stix front line and if the field is fast, the two elevens should engage in a spectacular match, with combination play as the feature, especially with the Stix.

Rudge With Millers.

With Rudge in his lineup and playing center forward, Will Foley will be able to send Tracy back to his regular position at center halfback. Kalbitz, the youngster who has shown well, might well be tried at Croak's position. Having won his last two matches, Kavanaugh plans no changes in his battle front. The Millers on the season hold the edge on the Kavanaughs, two matches to none, while the Stix and Andersons have split, the Andersons winning the first game, 2-1, and the Stix the second, 3-0.

Len Zarschel will referee the first game, with Ribby Murphy in charge of the second.

OVERLAND CLUB WILL HOLD AMATEUR BOXING SHOW TUESDAY NIGHT

The Overland A. C., sponsored by the Hardy Council Knights of Columbus of Overland, Mo., will inaugurate its third season of amateur boxing with a card of eight bouts under the auspices of the Mississippi Valley Amateur Association, Tuesday night at the Knights of Columbus Gym, 2409 Woodson road.

Herb Kranz of the Sherman Park Community Center and Jim McGinn, president of the Mississippi Valley Association, are acting as matchmakers.

Two special bouts have already been scheduled, and are as follows: Carl Schaefer, E. K. A. C., vs. Ed Stopke, Sherman Park, A. C., lightweights; Ray Larkins, Mound City A. C., vs. Ed Edson, National A. C., welterweights.

Entries have been received from Joe Huff, junior welterweight champion; Harold "Spider" Kaderbeck, star 112-pound fighter, who wants a return bout with Oole Merritt of the E. K. A. C. The matchmakers are trying to find opponents for the above amateurs to complete their list of special bouts.

THREE MUNY SOCCER ELEVENS PICKED TO KEEP CLEAR RECORDS

The Clearys, Spanish Sport Club and Universals, the three elevens in the Municipal Soccer League with clean records of six consecutive victories for the season, are favored to make it seven in a row in tomorrow's matches.

At Fairground No. 4 the Clearys oppose the Walnut Parks, one of the weaker elevens. The Spanish Sport Club is down to battle the German Sport Club in the feature at Carondelet, with the Spaniards favored to gain the decision after a hard match. The Universals tackle the St. Ambrose team at Forest Park. St. Ambrose turned in something of a surprise by routing the second-place Rock Church eleven.

The Macks, pace setters in the Sherman Park group, face a stiff fight in the meeting with St. Edwards No. 2, while the Russells of Fairground No. 2, defeated the first time last Sunday, oppose the Snipens. The Snipen eleven has not won a great many matches, but it has proved a tough customer, four of the eleven's six contests ending in draws. The Andersons, tied with the Russells for the group leadership, face the St. Matthews.

The Spick and Spans and Longos, pacemakers at Fairground No. 3, face the weather elevens. The Fairground No. 5 division should witness a pair of fine battles, with the St. Edwards No. 1 playing Bly-Moss and the Park Rats tackling Hellrung and Grimm.

In the junior group, the leading SS. Mary and Joseph eleven plays the Waverlys in the feature.

One suspension was handed out during the week, that going to R. Orf, a member of the Gebkens of the Carondelet division.

The schedule, with the first match starting at 2 o'clock, follows:

FAIRGROUND PARK NO. 2—St. Matthews H. N. S. vs. Andersons; Russells vs. Snipens. Referee—C. Brady.

FAIRGROUND PARK NO. 3.—Longos vs. Thomas Stars; Spick & Spans vs. Grand-Kossuth Business Men. Referee—M. McManus.

FAIRGROUND PARK NO. 4.—Walnut Park Business Men vs. Clearys; Franklins vs. St. Michaels. Referee—H. Ratican.

FAIRGROUND PARK NO. 5—St. Edwards No. 1 vs. Bly-Moss; Park Rats vs. Hellrung & Grimm. Referee—R. Wall.

SHERMAN PARK—St. Louis Hurling Club vs. Christian Brothers' C. A.; St. Edwards No. 2 vs. Macks. Referee—N. Reidy.

CARONDELET PARK NO. 1—Spanish Sport Club vs. German Sport Club; Gebkens vs. Eugene A. C.. Referee—L. Robbins.

FOREST PARK—Universals vs. St. Ambrose Y. M. S.; Rock Church vs. Grace Evangelical. Referee—W. Brady.

CARONDELET PARK NO. 2—Juniors: Christian Bros. High vs. Harolds; SS. Mary and Joseph vs. Waverlys.. Referee—D. Barnard.

"CATFISH" SMITH WITH GEORGIA ELEVEN ON TRIP TO THE COAST

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 5.—The University of Georgia football team, victor over Yale and New York University in its two intersectional games this year, entrained here today for Los Angeles to meet Southern California, Dec. 12.

Vernon "Catfish" Smith, who has been ill with influenza, and several other players suffering from slight injuries, accompanied the squad of 36 players. Smith is an All-America end.

Coach Harry Mehre plans a short stop and workout en route at El Paso, Tex.

JOHN BERGER'S WRESTLING SHOW HAS NO PLACE TO GO BUT OUT

By W. J. McGoogan.

Although all members of the Missouri Athletic Commission and apparently all the promoters in the State are for it, there is little likelihood of any meeting between wrestlers of rival groups here, this winter.

That was the impression given at a meeting of the entire commission held in Seneca Taylor's office, yesterday, at which Taylor, Harry Davis of Kansas City, Ben Harrison of Springfield, secretary, and Chester L. Brewer, director of athletics at Missouri University, chairman, were present.

The gathering was called principally to hear the complaint of John S. Berger, a wrestling promoter identified with a group hostile to the Londos troupe and who says he is unable to promote a match in St. Louis because Tom Packs has The Arena and the Coliseum tied up with leases.

Berger was told to present a card and request a date and he would be treated as are all other promoters. If the matches were satisfactory he would be granted a date. The commission also said it would co-operate with him in presenting the show.

Whether this co-operation would extend to helping him rent a building, Brewer wouldn't say, although the chairman stated that the commission was merely a supervisory body and was not interested in the promotional end of the game.

Would Match Rival Claimants.

Davis made a strong plea for a tournament of the five best wrestlers of three groups, in St. Louis; but his suggestion brought no favorable response from the other members, although Taylor said that he had been trying for months to get mixed matches without any result.

Brewer stated he did not know just what the possibilities of holding a tournament were but he was strongly in sympathy with the idea of having the different groups meet.

As has been mentioned before, none of the other groups besides the Londos faction wrestles here; while in Kansas City none of the Londos troupe ever appear.

Taylor is a member of the National Wrestling Association which recognizes Londos as champion; but the Missouri commission is not affiliated with that organization, according to Harrison, who stated that this State's commission had paid no dues to the N. W. A.

Davis declared he was in favor of forcing the outstanding wrestlers of the different groups to meet each other and bring out a real champion. For, as he expressed it, all of the champions today are "hippodrome champions." He declared that he had been authorized to challenge Londos on behalf of a Hindu named Daula and held a certified check for $5000.

Taylor said that he had a forfeit in his safe posted by Ray Steele a year ago for a match with Ed Lewis and it had never been covered.

All of which would seem to indicate that things will go on as before, or at least as long as Londos is able to draw packed houses at The Arena and the other groups are doing well in Kansas City.

The long-awaited new rules of the commission which are expected to authorize the many things which have been permitted in matches here, although they are specifically banned in the rules, were not acted upon. This is expected to be done at the next meeting of the commission to be held at Springfield within two weeks.

Jack De Mave, a boxer, who was suspended a year ago for running out of a match with Otto von Porat, was reinstated because the commission thought he had been punished sufficiently.

TULSA U. DEFEATS HASKELL ELEVEN, 6-0

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., Dec. 5.—Ishmael Pilkington, playing his last football game for Tulsa University, pounded across the Haskell Institute goal line for the only score of the fourteenth annual game between the two schools here today, and Tulsa won, 6 to 0.

The score came in the last minutes of play, and after a 64-yard drive down the field started by the entrance in the game of Billy Boehm, speedy Tulsa back, who was kept out the greater part of the game because of injuries.

Runs 102 Yards on Kickoff.

EAGLE LAKE, Tex., Dec. 5.—Catching the opening kickoff behind his own goal line, Harry Reading ran 102 yards for a touchdown in a game between Eagle Lake high and Smithville here.

Debts need not handicap the family's return to prosperity . . . . .

When the family's wage earner gets a job again he cannot start at scratch on his return to prosperity. His debts owed to the grocer, the merchant, the landlord may amount to several months income.

The family of moderate means may be only $300 or $200 behind, but whatever the amount, the handicap of debt worries must be removed before the starting line is reached on the return toward normal times.

Modern thinking and modern legislation recognize the family's need for borrowing power to meet emergencies like that now confronting thousands of families.

In this city and 89 others there are offices of Household, America's foremost family finance organization. To them families may come and borrow up to $300 on their signatures and the securities which are in almost every household, and repay their indebtedness at once.

Their credit is immediately restored. They return to the market as buyers without further delay. And they can repay the loan over a period as long as twenty months in sums so small that incomes are not crippled.

Two other factors speed the family in reaching the goal of prosperity. First, Household charges only the low rate provided by Missouri Small Loan Laws, 2½% a month, without extra charges of any kind.

Second, Household managers, through their experience with thousands, give sound advice in helping each family to expend its income wisely and get out of debt as rapidly as possible.

The Strange Adventure of "The Black Madonna"

Stolen While in the Process of Restoration, Its Owner, Dr. Gustave Lippmann, Chanced on the Painting's Trail and Brought It Back to St. Louis.

By M. W. CHILDS

Of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff

PAINTINGS, like people, have histories. In fact, outliving their owners often by centuries, they pass from hand to hand and country to country, looking down now on scenes of splendor in some great house, then gathering dust in a dealer's storeroom, and finally coming again under the auctioneer's hammer for another adventure. If "The Black Madonna," the painting reproduced on this page, could speak, the story of its wanderings would be intensely interesting.

It has just been hung over the fireplace in the studio living room of Dr. and Mrs. Gustave Lippmann, 6307 Alexander drive. But that is only the last episode in the recent history of the picture. And what happened to it before it came to America one can only guess.

Its later history is certainly romantic enough. "The Black Madonna" came to this country from the Philippine Islands at the close of the Spanish-American War. It was, to use plain language, part of the spoils of war. Americans had taken it from a Philippine church, where it had hung, in all probability, for two centuries or longer. The canvas must have been old and brittle. It may have been part of a trypitch or an altar screen. The soldiers who cut it down gravely damaged the ancient canvas. It was rolled up and brought across the Pacific.

After several obscure years, when it may have hung incongruously on the walls of some modest barracks room, it came into the possession of the late William Marion Reedy, St. Louis journalist. After a time Reedy gave it to his friend, Dr. Lippmann, with the remark, "You care more about this sort of thing than I do."

Plainly, the picture had to be restored by an expert before it could be hung. Dr. Lippman made arrangements with an acquaintance to have the restoration done in New York. While it was in the possession of this acquaintance the picture was stolen. Dr. Lippmann wrote this episode down as experience and forgot about the painting.

But he didn't quite forget about it. Numerous catalogues of art sales come to him. In one last year he saw, "Black Madonna; Spanish, Artist Unknown." It aroused his curiosity. Could it by any thousand to one chance be his painting? It was in a catalogue of the art objects of the estate of Edgar Mills. The Mills collection was soon to go under the hammer.

In New York on a visit, Dr. Lippmann thought this thousand to one chance—for he felt it was no more than that—was worth investigating. He saw the agent for the estate and was driven out to the Mills' home on Long Island. There, still in place, over the console of the organ in the great hall, was "The Black Madonna" that had once been his. He told the attorneys for the estate and the art dealer in charge of the impending sale the history of the picture. And after they had traced down the dealer who had sold it to Mr. Mills, Dr. Lippmann was allowed to buy it for a nominal price, which included the cost of the restoration.

So it hangs over the Lippmann fireplace in a room that is Spanish in feeling, with dove gray walls and a mezzanine along one wall. In its modest frame and with the smooth new surface that the restorer gave it, one would never suspect its long history.

DR. LIPPMANN—he says it is purely a layman's opinion—inclines to the view that it is a sixteenth century painting. It was, he believes, commissioned by some great nobleman, or even by royalty. The small portrait at the bottom is that of the donor, this being a customary practice when one presented a painting to a shrine or altar. He would like to think that it had been painted by Alonso Sanchez Coello (1515-1590), court painter to Philip II of Spain. Coello's portraits occupy honored places in numerous galleries in London and Madrid. Also, he decorated with religious subjects a well known church in Madrid.

Father Francis X. Mannhardt, who is lecturer on art at St. Louis University and a specialist in representations of the Madonna, would place the picture much later, in the period of the late baroque, at the end of the seventeenth century or the beginning of the eighteenth. One of the chief evidences of this, Father Mannhardt says, is the flamboyant arch over the Madonna's head. The rays of the nimbus radiating from this arch alternate with conventional ornaments that have no religious significance, a practice, Father Mannhardt says, that would never have been adopted prior to the baroque.

There were numerous such pictures painted and sent to Spain's colonial provinces to propagandize the faith. Similarly shrines were designed and made in Spain and sent to cheer the dark converts. This painting may even be the picture of a specific shrine. In such a shrine, particularly in Latin America, the figure of the Virgin had several costumes which could be changed. She is wearing in this figure her most glorious raiment, for some great feast day—a robe of cloth of gold, heavy with seed pearls and semi-precious stones. It is a curious fact that the small angels in the picture are really Negro angels, covered with a thick coating of white powder. They have Negro rather than white features.

Artists soon sprang up in Spain's colonies, of course, and then it was no longer necessary to send religious representations across the seas, according to Father Mannhardt. This colonial art is a great blank, there having been almost no research in the field. Often paintings by leading artists were sent out to the colonies. There is the story, printed recently in the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine, of the Greco discovered in an obscure Guatemalan chapel. To the priest of the church it had no more value than any other picture of the Virgin. And this attitude is common, according to Father Mannhardt. It is the subject, not the style or excellence of the painting, which makes it valuable. There are several fairly well known black Madonnas. The

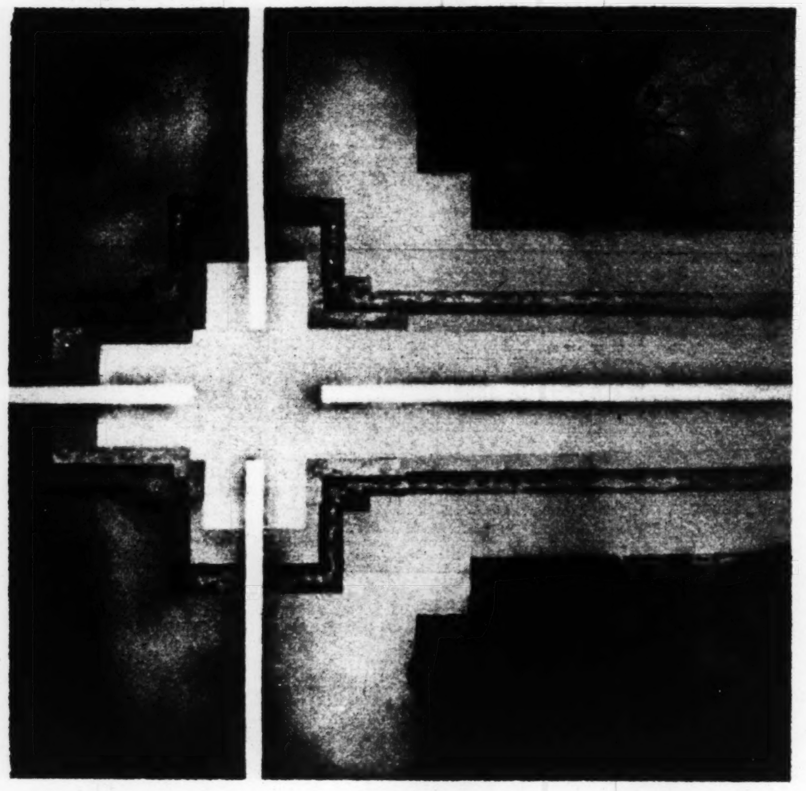
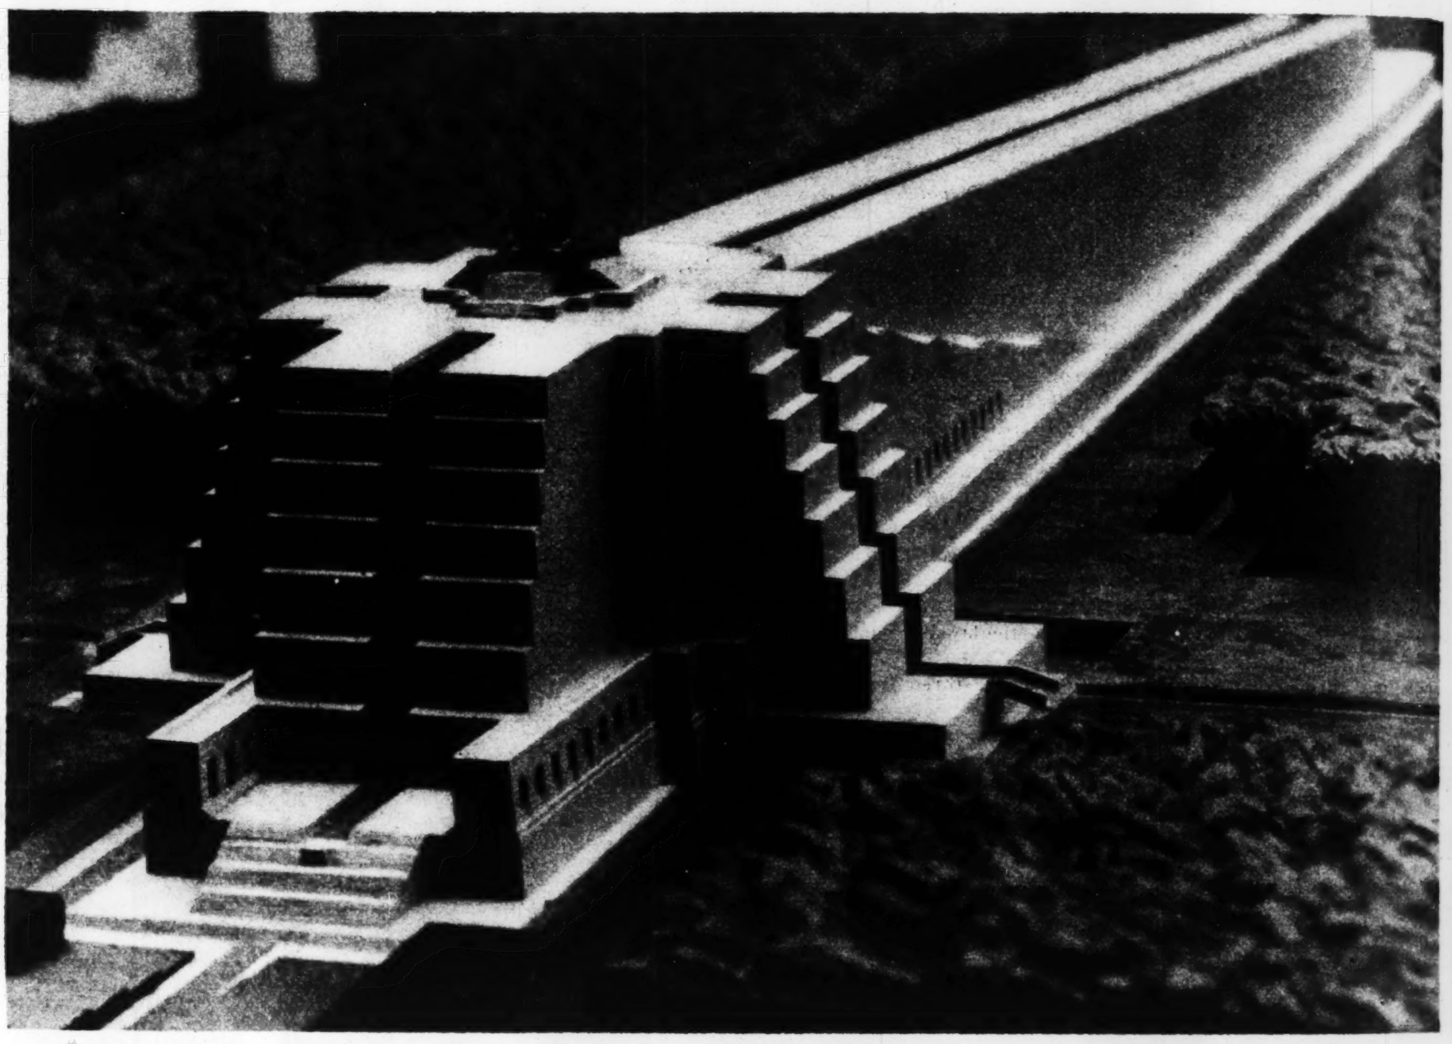
The Mammoth Monument to Christopher Columbus

Lighthouse for Airmen and Mariners on the Island of Santo Domingo — Designed by a Young Englishman in Competition With Architects From All Over the World— Will Mark the First Land Officially Occupied by the Discoverer of the New World.



Part of Gleave's cruciform design for the lighthouse.



The cruciform shape of the lighthouse carrying out the injunction laid down by Columbus to his crews as they went ashore—"Set up crosses on all roads and pathways."

By a Member of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff

FROM youth and obscurity have come two great monuments to Christopher Columbus. And, strangely enough, from all the ideas submitted by all the great architects of the world, these designs by youthful unknowns have been given the chief prizes. Strangely, because prize competitions ordinarily do not go that way.

The monument in question is to be erected by the Pan-American Union at Santo Domingo, in the Caribbean. It is in the form of a lighthouse and beacon, which is part of a project embodying also a chapel and a memorial library and museum. Not to mention the grave of Columbus, for the bones of the discoverer are reputed to be in Santo Domingo. Just as they are reputed to be in Seville, Spain, and two or three other cities.

It is perhaps fitting that the newest generation should create this tribute to the first American. Certainly, as will be seen from the photographs on this page, it has little in common with the old type of monument, burdened with detailed sculpture of the hero, surrounded by Truth, Justice, Wisdom and any other virtues that occurred to architect or sculptor. Here is the sheer, stark beauty of line and light.

The prize competition for designs for the Columbus monument was probably the greatest of modern times. It cost the Pan-American Union $350,000. There was a first competition open to all qualified architects everywhere. This was in 1928. There were 1100 entries, including designs from most of the great architects of the world. The judges for this first competition were Eliel Saarinen, the noted Finnish - American architect, now at Cranbrook Academy of Art in Detroit; Raymond Hood of New York and Acosta y Lara of Madrid, Spain. These men each represented separate juries, Hood for North America, Saarinen for Europe and Lara for Latin America. In this competition 20 prizes of $1000 each were awarded and the top 10 were allowed to enter a second competition.

Among the 10 who placed first were J. L. Gleave of Manchester, England. He was then 23 years old and had served for two years in the office of the Nottingham Corporation as an architect. Two other entrants without previous reputation were Donald Nelson, also 23, and Edgar Austin Lynch, 27. They had worked out and entered their project in partnership. Although Nelson and Lynch are both Chicagoans, they had done most of the work on the project in Paris, because it was cheaper to live there. They were associated with the firm of Bennett, Parsons and Frost, in Chicago.

Many of the old and established architects were somewhat patronizing about the presence of these newcomers in the lists. They were inclined to be condescending and assumed, of course, that this was merely a way of encouraging the young.

Nelson and Lynch returned to Chicago and at once set to work on the designs for their entry in the second and final competition. They sought out Chicago's leading modern sculptor, Oscar J. K. Hansen, and asked him to collaborate with them, since it was necessary to do a careful scale model of the project for entrance to the second competition.

The final awards were announced just the other day. In the place of Raymond Hood on the jury was Frank Lloyd Wright, America's most distinguished architect. The judging took place in Rio de Janeiro where all the designs and models, some of them weighing a ton or more, were taken. First award went to young architect Gleave, and second award to the young Chicagoans, Nelson and Lynch.

Gleave's prize is $10,000 and it is his monument that will be built at Santo Domingo. Nelson and Lynch got $7500, which is some consolation for the fact that they will never see their design executed. And of all the other eight architects competing, Wright remarks that not one was worthy of consideration for third or fourth place.

"No worthy third in line with the qualifications of the first two designs appears," he writes in the jury report. "Nor a fourth."

AND he then proceeds to dismiss the project of so noted a firm as Corbett, Harrison and MacMurray as "finely rendered scene-painting." "The plan, pretty and weak," he adds, "fails to correlate the several types. The fragment of a boat carrying an effigy of Columbus about to plunge down the rapids represented by the steps is one more exaggeration that begets no greatness. This type of ecclecticism expresses no modern thought."

Of Gleave's design Wright wrote:

"Seen from the air or from environment, the simple mass becomes a noble elemental feature of the ground in character worthy of the steadfast courage and faith of the great discoverer it commemorates. The cruciform canyon, emitting or receiving light, would be truly impressive from the interior and agreeably cool in a tropical climate. The whole has idea, unity and avoids by a certain rational force the dull craze for altitude and the per-

MARRIED ON A THREE-YEAR LEASE

Red-Headed Katharine Brush's Novel Matrimonial Experiment Has Worked So Well That She and Her Husband Have Renewed It for Another Three-Year Term.

H. Charles Winans.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

NEW YORK.

TO WHOM it may concern: Katharine Brush and H. Charles Winans have renewed a three-year lease on marriage! Miss Brush, as you doubtless know, is the author of such best sellers as "Young Man of Manhattan" and "Red-Headed Woman," and is a new literary figure of some consequence. H. Charles Winans is her husband, and something of a young financial magician.

What you may not know is: they have recently O K'd a unique marital arrangement which has turned out to be quite as practical as it is modern, one that is declared non-freakish and modeled to fit into the scheme of modern city life while allowing two persons to engage in their particular and completely different jobs.

They had agreed to give marriage a trial for three years and see what happened.

In the beginning there was doubtless a dispostion to be modern. And if Miss Brush may have approached marriage with qualified optimism, it was partially due to an intention to lock herself in from time to time while writing; and partially because she had tried marriage once before and it didn't work so well.

They were young, but they both knew the metropolitan demands on people who are determined to "do something."

Well, two years have gone by. And there's a new lease on love, as it were. They've renewed the three-year "plan" and celebrated it with a trip to Europe. But intimate friends will tell you that there really was no reason for bringing that matter up. Their scheme has worked.

Trial marriage and all of its variations are not new under the sun. And the "modern" marriage arrangements have had considerable publicity. Fannie Hurst, the well-known writer, was among the first to suggest separate menages. But the Winans-Brush idea was not without originality.

Miss Brush has a pride and interest in the financial problems of her husband; Winans has a pride and interest in the writing problems of his wife.

They are both busy people. They knew that when they started. And they realized they must be "modern" about things.

So home was to both of them home and business headquarters.

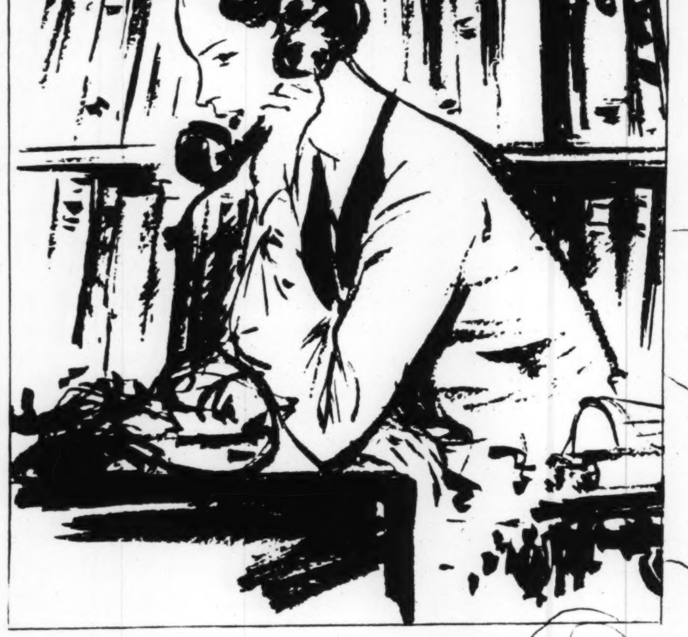
They married, figuring that three years was a fair period of time in which to try their marital experiment. They expected to have some general idea at the end of the first year. They could extend the "lease" as often as they wished; and it looks as though there would be innumerable renewals.

As the time for marriage neared, Winans went about New York looking for a place that would fit in with their plans. He decided on and purchased two costly and excellently located co-operative apartments: one for each of them. He would have his place. She would have hers. While the same decorators would furnish and adorn them, each would have an individual scheme of decoration. The places looked down upon the East River, with its ever shifting scenes and panoramas.

Winans had a bit of balcony where the sun hits in the morning, where he could sit down in a contemplative mood and figure out important financial schemes.

The Winans section has a definitely male touch. There is the den and shaving room, living room, et al.

Miss Brush's section has a definitely feminine touch. There are all the mirrors that a woman could possibly desire. She has her own study. She has her own pet library. She has her own workroom. She has her own place looking out on the river, where she can sit and think while preparing another story or novel.



"Sorry," she has been known to say, "I'm working tonight. Can't you make it Wednesday?"

There is a telephone connecting the two places.

If the husband wishes tea or dinner or an evening engagement, he gets on the phone:

"Dear, are you doing anything for dinner tonight?"

"Sorry, darling, but I've got two chapters to go on a book. Can't you make it Wednesday?"

"Wednesday—let me see. Yes, I can cancel that meeting of the board and drop an appointment. Let's make it lunch and have a day of it?"

It may not go exactly like that, but that's the general idea.

And then there's the matter of the upkeep of the two homes.

Sometimes the husband takes on all the responsibilities, and sometimes the wife does.

If Miss Brush happens to be in the midst of a creative effort, it's understood that she doesn't care to be bothered by such matters as running the house, bills and other extraneous things. So Winans becomes the head of the house and attends to all the various details that keep the wheels of a menage going round.

Then, one day, the wife assumes the responsibilities.

And the husband can sit back without a worry.

"I'll take care of everything for a while," she says.

And the husband may nod his head and sigh with relief.

When it comes to social matters, an attitude of non-resistance is assumed.

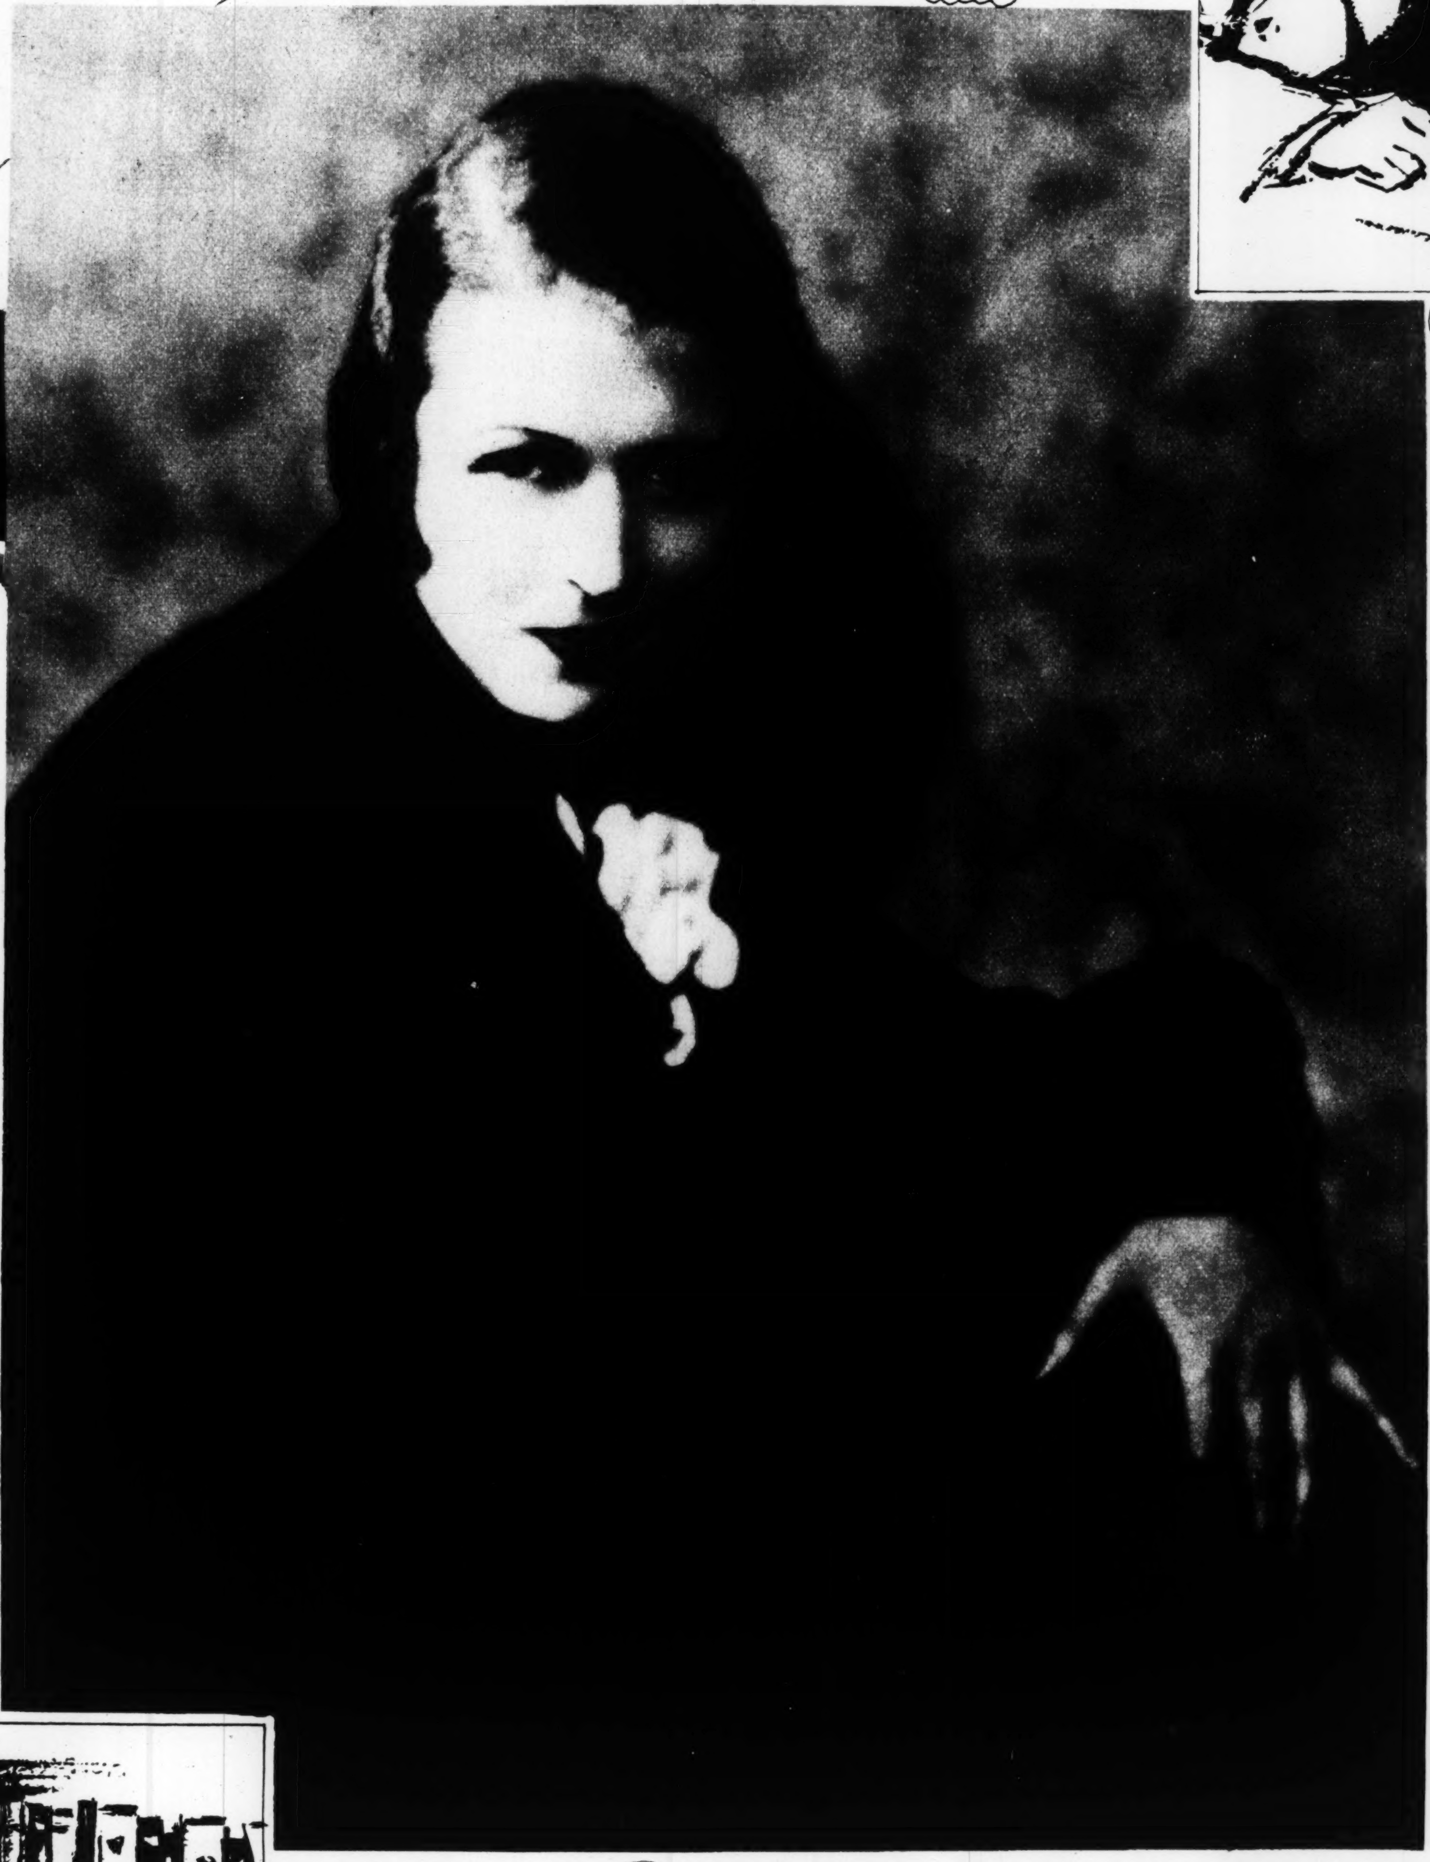
Some explanation of this attitude was volunteered by John Farrar, who, with Stanley Rinehart, is Miss Brush's publisher and close friend:

"If myself or Stanley or any of the friends want to go dancing or nightclubbing, we call up—and away we go," explained Farrar. "We're all so fond of Kay and Wy—and they're so fond of each other—that no one thinks anything about what either chooses to do."

Some time ago one of the gossip columnists heard the rumor of a breach, due to one or the other being seen out. They were terribly broken up when it was printed.

"Winans was called to Brazil on a big coffee deal," a friend recalled. "And Katharine was so lonely she booked passage on an Atlantic liner and just went back and forth."

So it would seem that there is something to this three-year plan.



Katharine Brush.

Insofar as finances are concerned, this is another mutual matter. It isn't so much that they believe in a 50-50 basis of economics as it is a problem of keeping one or the other from being bothered mentally with such domestic matters. Sometimes one has had a neat bank roll; sometimes the other.

At the time of their marriage the market was beginning to slip. Winans, in his role of financier and banker, was as hard hit as any.

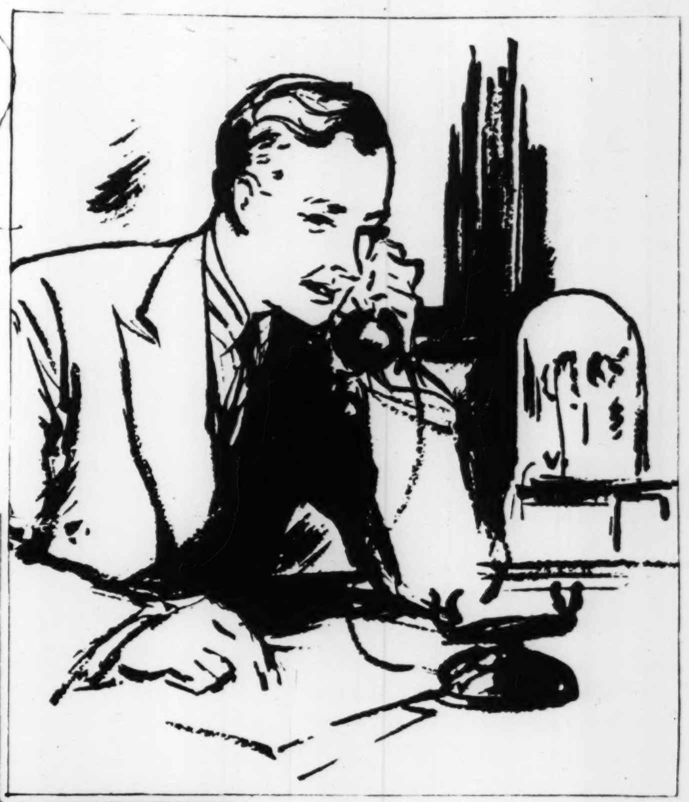
He was reported to have lost a considerable fortune. Later he made a spectacular new one through a South American coffee deal—which is another story.

MISS BRUSH was herself uncertain of the fate of a novel. But soon she had made something like $50,000 on "Young Man of Manhattan." The serial rights to "Red-Headed Woman" were said to be $10,000. The book is a big seller, and before it's all over she will have made about $100,000.

But it isn't so hard for her to remember that not far away day when $63.19 was the reward of a year's poems; when $50 was paid for a short story that passed through the hands of about 13 editors before it finally found a market. Today she can just about name her own figures.

By way of introduction: Miss Brush arrived in New York from East Liverpool, Ohio. She had married a young man who owned a string of Middle West newspapers.

Her immediate background included an erudite father, Dr. Charles D. Ingham, who for some years was a tutor and head master at Dummer Academy, Byfield, Massachusetts. He is now connected with the Latin department at Yale. Her native heath, therefore, is New England, although her novel scenes have inclined toward the Ohio sector.



When husband wants a date he gets his wife on the phone.

She came to Manhattan with a definite chip on her shoulder for a type of small town. But she denies that she used East Liverpool as the scene for the beginning of her novel, "Red-Headed Woman."

"It's any small town," she insists.

And because she has auburn hair which turns slightly golden in the sunlight, many have thought that she used herself as the "red-headed" heroine—up to a given point, of course. This she also denies.

AT ANY rate, once she had reached Gotham, Miss Brush found herself melting into the scene. Within a week she was wearing New Yorkish apparel, and within a month she was more smartly dressed than half the women who pride themselves on attire. Sophistication came easy to her; she appears to enjoy cocktails, preferring them to tea.

All of which is part of a surface parade, for while she enjoys the chic and the Continental, she also worries about her work, carries a sharp wit about with her, is quite sensitive, has a definite domestic sense, never goes without a manicure and is a terrific worker when on the job. Rarely is she seen in the same gown twice.

With the result that she has stated that she rarely has a cent, despite her income.

"But I had a lot of old debts," she once said laughingly to a friend.

As for Winans, he is quite as colorful in his approach to life. He is but 35 and has dealt in millions.

The Winans were on their honeymoon when the market began to collapse, and from his station on shipboard he could see his fortune slipping away. Then he got a grand "trade plan." The Wheat Stabilization Committee agreed to swap 25,000,000 bushels of wheat for 1,000,000 bags of Brazil coffee.

He went to Brazil—a change made possible only by the disorganized condition of trade in the world. This deal brought him back on his feet, although just a few years before he had floated a $30,000,000 loan for Brazil. It was this contact that made his later proposition possible.

JUST as impetuous was the "honeymoon." The Winans had been planning the decorations of their ultramodernistic separate apartments; had selected the furnishings and the color scheme, when Miss Brush turned to her husband and said: "Well, let's start for Europe and get away from this—let's forget it for the moment."

So off they went, leaving the finishing of their place to the mercy of the decorators.

But when she arrived in Europe, the new Mrs. Winans began to have feminine fears about the mirrors and similar details. She cabled the workers: "Don't hang mirror in my room until I return."

It so happens that the place selected as a residence was in the course of construction.

When she returned, Mrs. Winans phoned the decorator.

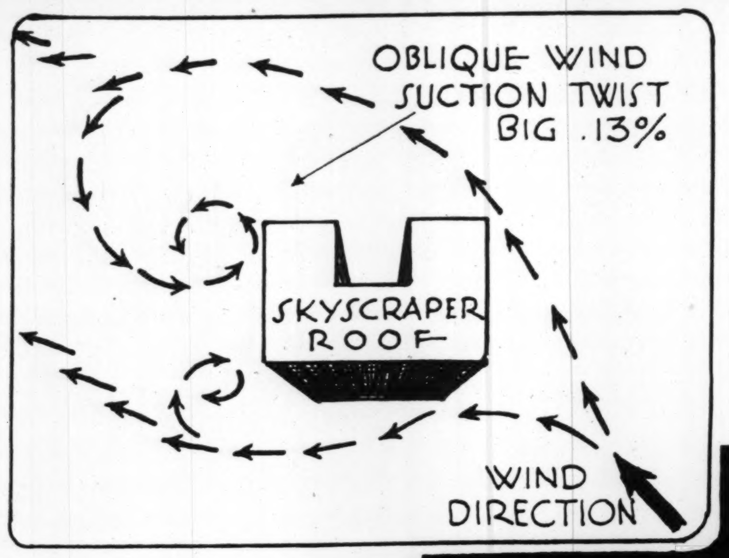
"You didn't hang that mirror, did you?" she inquired.

"I regret, madame," came the reply, "there is yet no wall to hang it on."

A few months later the new home was ready for occupancy.

And, as previously mentioned, Miss Brush has her own living room, servants' quarters and telephone.

"We make dates with each other and never make the tacit assumptions about each other that often prove so irksome to marriage," adds the petite writer. "Once I was sure I was through with marriage. I was free and it felt grand to be that way. But this is something else—I could scarcely have imagined such a perfect arrangement."



WINDS THAT MENACE SKYSCRAPERS

Purdue University Discovers Suction Twist, Against Which Structures Are Not Protected, Formed on Leeward Side of Tallest Buildings During Heavy Gales.

By a Member of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff

LAFAYETTE, Indiana.

MEASURING the exact nature of the devastating effect of storms which shake the ship at sea and the skyscraper that towers above the buildings about it, two engineering professors in a laboratory here at Purdue University have learned facts of far-reaching importance. Their researches have shown that the tallest buildings are subject to effects worse than the direct impact of the wind—that they actually can be twisted from floor to floor.

That is a crude but fairly accurate picture of what the startling discovery of Prof. S. C. Hollister and Prof. G. W. Haskins means. It would be qualified, and qualified again, for Hollister and Haskins are not alarmists. They do not advance a Wellsian sensation of crumbling towers that menace a trembling population of city dwellers. But they have discovered certain hitherto unknown facts about what happens to the skyscraper in a high wind and, interested only in the facts, they have not hesitated to put forward their discoveries.

The modern American city has come into being like a gold rush boom camp. Real estate values in New York and Chicago have soared and soared from month to month and the high buildings have kept pace. Science has never been able to catch up. For it takes time to carry out scientific research, and the skyscrapers always had to be finished by day after tomorrow. Now, in the present business lull, when there are few stupendous building projects under way, the two engineering professors have completed one phase of their study and made public their first findings.

The security of the skyscraper, with reference to wind velocity, has been based upon certain classic computations made many years ago. These computations were worked out prior to and upon completion of the Eiffel Tower in Paris, which is approximately 1000 feet high. These standard computations, in use for so many years, were based upon what is known as the flat-plate test. That is, the force of the wind was measured blowing directly against a flat surface.

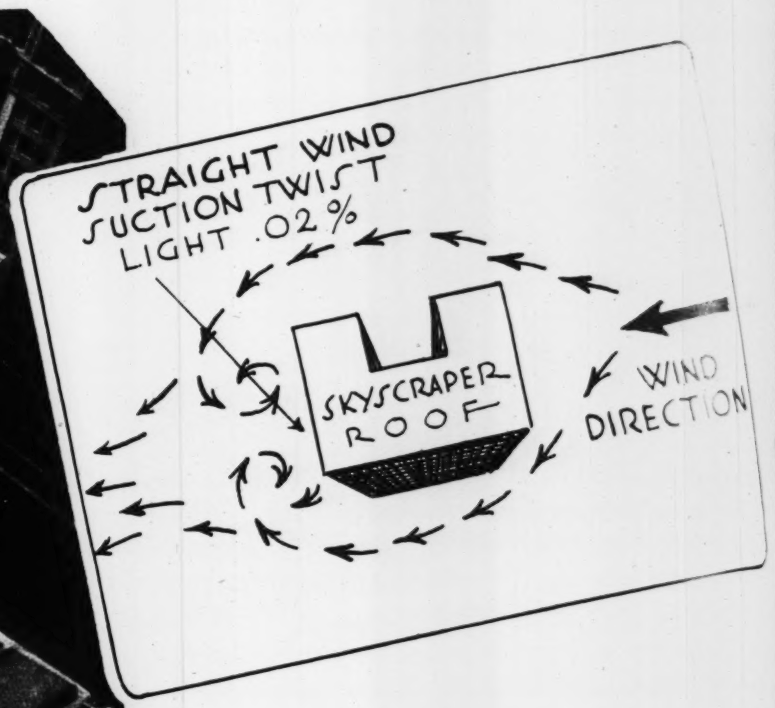
But within the past two years structural engineers have begun to doubt. Their towers were mounting literally into the clouds. The Empire State Building is taller than the Eiffel Tower. The American skyscraper had become a flexible cage of steel and concrete. It could sway with the wind to a slight degree. It was sufficiently flexible to allow for expansion and contraction from heat and cold. But did the wind always blow laterally against one or the other of the four sides of a perfectly symmetrical building?

THIS was the question that arose to trouble more thoughtful engineers. But it seemed that there was no one with sufficient experience and time to discover the answer. Hollister was at this time a highly successful consulting engineer in Philadelphia. He became more and more curious about wind efffect. Finally he gave up his business to accept a professorship at Purdue. One of the chief reasons for this move was the fact that he would have a chance to carry out certain research that might give an answer to the questions that disturbed him.

He began work almost at once with Haskins, who is professor of aero-dynamics. That was eight months ago. In the technical report they are now preparing they will say that certain kinds of skyscrapers over 30 stories in height may be seriously endangered by winds of a velocity of 80 miles or more. In the future structural engineers must take into account a whole new series of computations to allow for twisting.

A high wind cannot only sway a great building backward and forward and sideways—which movements are allowed for in the design—but also a high wind can twist the building around its axis. And this is a hitherto unknown effect which has never been taken into account. Eighty-mile winds are not unknown in many areas where the skyscraper has come up.

Typical city canyon formed by skyscrapers.



Such a wind, Prof. Hollister hastens to say, would not blow the building over. But it would undoubtedly strain it severely. In this ordeal it might even shear off some of its outer surface of stone. The end result would probably be more serious for passersby in the street than for the occupants of the building. But it takes no imagination to see that the latter would get a pretty serious fright, for it would be impossible to wrench a cage of steel and concrete 30 to 40 stories in height, and not cause something of an uproar. Cracks would appear in the interior and exterior walls. But these are guesses which do not interest the two scientists.

In Miami, Florida, at least one tall building went through such an ordeal, according to Prof. Hollister. Just what the velocity of the wind was in the hurricane there some years ago is not known, for the measuring device, the anemometer, was destroyed by the force of the gale, as it was also in great storms at Havana and St. Louis. But the effect on the Miami skyscraper was very similar to the theoretical effect worked out by Haskins and Hollister. A plumb line dropped from the top of the building dangled in space at the bottom, as it would from the leaning tower of Pisa. The building was twisted out of plumb.

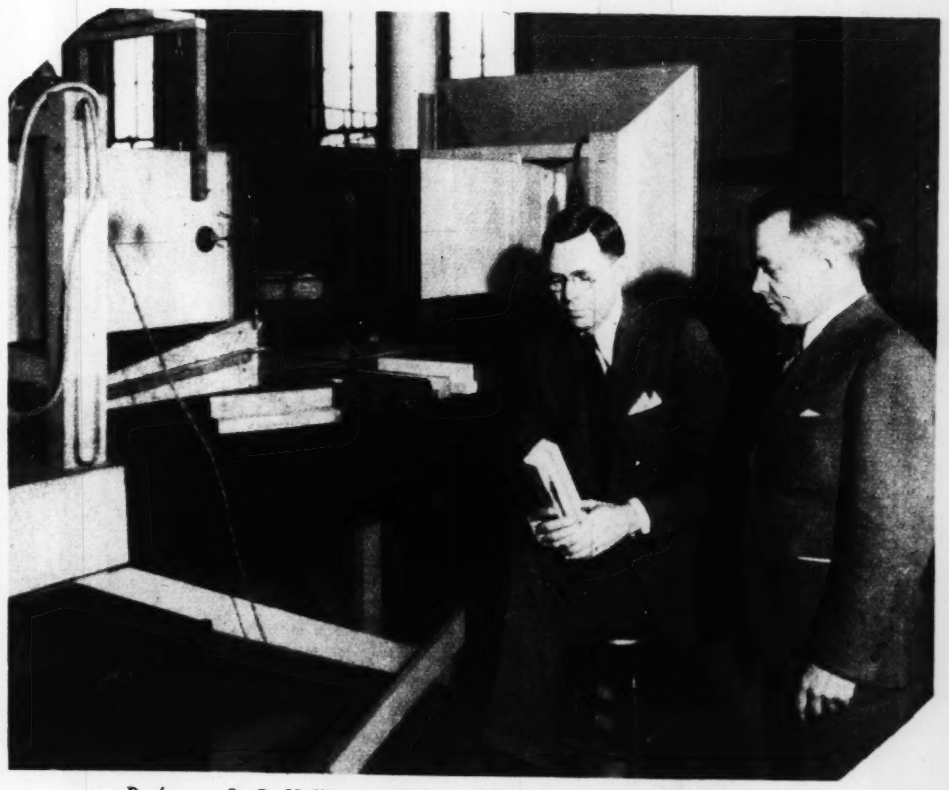
At whatever angle it struck or however high its velocity, the wind could not twist a building that was a perfect cylinder. But it so happens that there are almost no buildings which are perfect cylinders. Most of them are not symmetrical in structure. Nor is there any guarantee that the wind will always strike square in the middle of one side or the other. Even when this happens there is some slight twisting. The wind rushes around the corners of the structure and at both leeward sides forms eddies of air. These eddies exert such suction against the sides of the building as is shown in the diagram on this page. In a straight wind the suction twist is equal on both sides and comparatively light.

But when the wind strikes the building obliquely, as seen in the second diagram, then the suction twist may be very great, since the wind is concentrated on one side and the eddy on that side is correspondingly greater. Haskins and Hollister have measured this effect in inch-pounds, and it is upon the basis of these measurements that they have built their far-reaching conclusions. Since every building is different in shape and size, it is impossible, of course, to put down any rule of thumb for the measurement of twisting, or torque, as the engineers term it. This torque may add to the steel structure an extra strain, or load, of 20,000 pounds to the square inch.

THE outer surface of the building, the stone and masonry work, has a tendency to check this twisting. And thus, under present methods of construction, a building consisting largely of steel and glass would be more subject to twisting. For at present all bracing of the steel work is done to counteract lateral movement. The bracing is done at the joints of the columns and the crossbeams. It is plain that in the future the builder must brace for this newly discovered strain. Another safety factor is the size of the base of the building in relation to the height of the supertower.

Above all, Prof. Hollister doesn't want to frighten the city population. He thinks city dwellers have too many fears as it is. And he laughs at the ridiculous stories that have been current from time to time in New York about the extent of swaying in certain skyscrapers. There was a story that one building swayed so far from side to side that the elevator to the observation platform would never work in a high wind, frequently leaving sightseers marooned. The human sense of balance is so delicate that swaying of a quarter of an inch would probably be apparent on top of the Woolworth or Empire State towers.

Lafayette, and, for that matter, most of Indiana, is more innocent of skyscrapers than New York is of trees.



Professors S. C. Hollister and G. W. Haskins and their wind tunnel.

The question arises as to how the two professors made their discoveries, with no building of more than 10 stories to work on. The answer is the wind tunnel in the aero-dynamics laboratory.

It is a case of the newest science, aeronautics, teaching one of the oldest, building, a few tricks. Prof Haskins, before he came to Purdue, was a Captain in the air corps. He brought a wealth of practical experience and, like Hollister, the desire for leisure to carry out research. Together in the areo-dynamics laboratory they are working out new laws of construction that may eventually alter the appearance of the modern city. Because the airplane was not burdened with precedent and tradition centuries old, it could advance within a few years to the point at which it was almost perfectly streamlined. Now buildings must be more nearly streamlined.

The wind tunnel is essentially simple. It is a long, square tube with a suction fan at one end and a honeycomb device to straighten out the air currents at the other. In the middle is a long glass slide for putting in models that are to be tested. Models similar to the various forms of the modern skyscraper were placed in this tunnel in such a way as to record accurately the degree of twisting. A pulley wheel was put on top of the model and this was geared by a system of pulleys to a weight that rested upon a scale which could record hundredths of pounds. Taking the computations in this way was fairly simple. And because it was all done so accurately to scale the same ratios can be applied to any large building.

In addition Haskins and Hollister were able to chart the exact courses of the wind currents and the resulting eddies. They let the model rest upon a cardboard base that had been painted with lampblack and kerosene. The wind in the tunnel traced the path of its journey by blowing off the lampblack, leaving a perfect record to show where the suction is greatest and where the air is dead. By simply changing the position of the model from time to time it was as though the direction of the wind had changed.

While the wind tunnel here is a relatively small one, Prof. Haskins says that the margin of error is very slight when the scale is applied to large areas. At the Bureau of Standards in Washington, D. C., is a wind tunnel 1[illegible] feet in diameter. And in this tunnel there is now being tested an exact scale model, five feet high, of the Empire State Building. The National Advisory Council has a wind tunnel 2[illegible] feet in diameter.

Other discoveries have already come out of the Haskins-Hollister experiments. An investigation has been made of wind pressure against several types of factory structures, including the effect of wind on roofs of various forms, showing that the drag of a building with a quarter-pitch roof is less than half the drag of the same building with a flat-top roof.

WHAT may come next out of this magic wind tunnel no one can say. The experiments are continuing. Just at present the problem is to determine what happens in a high wind to a building that is on the leeward, or sheltered side of another building. This has hitherto been assumed to be a perfectly safe position. But Haskins and Hollister have come more and more to believe that nothing can be taken for granted. Not even the most solidly towering structure that looms over Chicago's lake front or New York's harbor.

What the final limits on the height or size of the future skyscraper are no one can say. Nor can they prophesy the ultimate effect they will have on city dwellers. The modern city has grown up with little or no thought of what its ultimate effect on human beings would be, whether they will all eventually die of carbon monoxide poisoning or be deafened and maddened by increasing noise. City dwellers have rushed in where even the hardiest angel might very well fear to tread.

What happened once in Los Angeles comes readily to mind. After a series of earth shocks the director of the national geo-physical laboratory made an address to one of the luncheon clubs. He said, in effect, that Los Angeles was an area subject to earthquakes and that the building code should be greatly strengthened to take this fact into consideration. The Chamber of Commerce was furious. Nothing of the kind, they said. You're just an old geo-physicist and what do you know about earthquakes. Haven't we lived here in this beautiful sunshine all our lives? And that was that.

The tendency today in many cities is to lower the restrictions. In Chicago an attempt is being made to reduce the required resistance to wind pressure from 25 pounds to the square foot to 15 pounds. Several legislatures have considered measures for reducing wind velocity itself, which makes Don Quixote's battle with the windmills seem brave and intelligent.

But facts, discoverable facts, are what interest Haskins and Hollister. Whatever the world does with these facts, whether it buries them in obscurity or not, they will go on seeking new truths.

THE HARROWING VOYAGE of the ARTHUR S. JAMES

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

Battered by Storms Into a Misshapen Hulk, This Two-Masted Packet Was Kept at Sea for 59 Days With Food Supplies Planned for Only 22.

NEW BEDFORD, Massachusetts.

ON THE end of a tow rope, her prow slicing the waters ahead, with all her old bravery, even if her rudder was useless and her rent and tattered canvas was rolled in bulging, clumsy rolls, the two-masted packet, Arthur S. James, came into the outer harbor of this old whaling port a few nights ago.

On her deck and down below were 24 men and one lone woman.

For 59 days they had tasted all the bitter trials which man knew only in the days when he was first learning to cross the Atlantic. Battered into a helpless hulk, during which the passengers and crew became like frenzied animals because of hunger and thirst, the story of the Arthur S. James reads more like a yarn of Herman Melville than a twentieth century tale of the ocean.

What should have been a 22-day voyage, from Fayal, Cape Verde Islands, to New Bedford, was converted into one long nightmare of horror of more than eight weeks.

For days on end the packet boat, one-time champion of the Boston mackerel fleet, was a plaything of the seas. As it headed across the Atlantic, bound for this port, it was lashed by bitter gales and storms. The human cargo of 25 was reduced to gnawing chunks of raw salt beef and to slaking parched and burning throats with mere drops of water. And then came the day when the skipper of the battered craft, Captain Fortunato Alves, announced that there was no more food in the galley larders and no more water in the tanks.

Ill-fortune dogged the packet boat from the outset. The boat's larder was stocked with only enough provisions to leave a comfortable margin for a voyage that usually takes a month at the most. When the craft sailed out of Fayal there were twelve pigs, six goats and two calves on board. There was also a dog, the mascot of the ship. And one of the passengers—the woman—had a monkey, which she was bringing to her son, a Cape Verder, living in Boston. After the slaughter of the pigs, goats and calves for food, the crew and passengers turned to the raw salt beef, which was soon exhausted. Then came the night when the passengers, driven almost mad with hunger, killed the ship's dog, which was cooked by the woman passenger, Mary Dantes, and ravenously devoured, as if it were the choicest morsel of food.

Hunger converted passengers and members of the crew into near-savages, and soon the pet monkey was to suffer the fate of the ship's dog.

The brave little packet came into the harbor with no flags flying. It was dark and the stars seemed to lend no light. There were seven grimy, stubble-bearded men on her deck when she let go her anchor. They blinked under the sharp scrutiny of the coast guard light, and their eyes stared at the lights in the harbor of New Bedford. They didn't seem to believe they had arrived in the United States—not after the tortures they had known.

The seven were joined by a dozen more within a few minutes. The faces of all were pinched and starved. Their eyes were sunken and bloodshot. Three of them were bleeding from the gums—scurvy had already gotten in its work.

Below decks were six humans, too utterly exhausted from lack of food and water to arise from their bunks in cubby-hole cabins, which were nothing else than the foulest of stench holes.

THERE was no questioning the fact that the little craft had been battered and pounded. Storm after storm shook the schooner, which is a little over 100 feet long and of about 135 tons, gross. The packet was a mere cockle shell in the grip of the gales.

While it became apparent during the early days of the journey that the voyage would be prolonged, passengers and crew were put on rations. In a terrific storm the rudder was disabled, and after several days of aimless drifting a jury rudder was rigged.

The Arthur S. James crawled at a snail's pace towards the American continent.

Fuel ran low and all aboard were forced to eat uncooked salt beef. Raw vegetables were soon exhausted — within four days the first case of scurvy was noted. A week later the number of scorbutics had increased to three. Everyone aboard, save the navigating officer, Elizeu Neves, was reduced to a weakened condition, owing to cold, thirst and hunger. The salt beef served to give the ill-fated lot scanty nourishment and to create a burning thirst. There were no water supplies to slake their thirst, for water was on strict ration.

After the salt beef and fresh water ran out, and then a dog and monkey, cooked with sea water, were next on the bill of fare. A few days later the fuel supply of the craft was at an end, and so was all cooking, even had there been food aboard.

At every turn fate dealt the company aboard the Arthur S. James another buffeting. Captain Alves and his disheartened crew worked their vessel to within 50 miles of Nantucket, where the craft's plight was noted by a passing fisherman. The ship was reported in distress. They had only to hold out a few hours longer and assistance would be at hand out of Boston, New Bedford or Newport.

And then a terrific northeast gale sprang up as the Coast Guard cutter, Acushnet, from Woods Hole, raced to the rescue of the packet. The Arthur S. James and her starving souls were driven southward before the gale. A sea anchor was rigged, and it parted under the strain. The decks were swept clear of all gear. Sails were ripped to tatters.

Throughout the day and throughout the night—for 26 hours—the packet was driven southward, and then the S. S. Denver of the Cities Service tanker fleet came upon the craft at a position about 135 miles east of New York and 105 miles south of Nantucket. The Denver sent a wireless call for aid for the helpless hulk to the Chatham, Mass., radio station.

The call was received, and the New London Coast Guard headquarters sent out a wireless call for all coast guard vessels to stand by. The Davis, a United States destroyer, out of New London, was now ordered to proceed immediately, at full speed, to the rescue of the packet.

The swift destroyer ranged alongside of the packet as night fell. The crew of the James and the passengers were at the rail. They implored their saviors to send food and fuel and water aboard. Bread, water, fresh vegetables and other edibles were put aboard the packet, though with much difficulty, for an angry sea was running at the time.

The ravenously hungry company seized the loaves and tore them apart, and gnawed the raw vegetables, and drank quantities of water. Fuel was put aboard the vessel, so that the first hot meal in over 35 days could be served.

The crew of the destroyer Davis, after an hour of perilous work, placed a bridle on the packet and took her in tow. The Davis towed the helpless craft to Block Island Sound, where she was turned over to the Coast Guard cutter Marion. All day long the Coast Guard craft plowed through placid seas with the doughty fisherman of the old days, finally dumping her at Quarantine. The crew of the cutter did not look back at the packet. There was no exchange of farewells. The packet had fallen into old age. She had become a broken down old-timer, gone into work that was too much for her strength.

But the adverse fortune that had roosted with the ship since her departure from Fayal 59 days previously was not yet at an end. United States immigration officials ruled that nine of the twelve passengers, aliens, would not be admitted to the United States because of the fact that the final date for the monthly quota under which they would have been admitted had expired. Had the craft made the voyage in the usual time, the nine alien passengers would have been allowed to join their relatives in Boston and New Bedford.

As the frail craft lay at Quarantine, under the watch of a Coast Guard cutter, newspaper men out of Boston aboard the CG-291 were shouting themselves hoarse to get members of the crew and passengers to tell their story.

"How long since you've had cigarettes?"

"FIVE weeks." They had lost all sense of time in the trip from Fayal. Time had come to mean but a succession of bitter days and nights.

"Are you hungry?" "Are you sick?"

The men on the deck dug their hands deeper into their pockets and shrank from the glare of the coast guardsman's searchlight.

Then a voice shouted:

"Three men bleed from mouth—they got scurvy and want to go to hospital in Boston."

Through the air went whizzing packages of cigarettes.

"Thanks for the smokes," cried a voice in broken English. Those on the deck seemed to fear that they had encountered some new and strange misfortune which had come to plague them, for there was no unleashing of tongues.

Then of a sudden out of the hold came a grim man. It must have been a man of this type that held the wheel for the packets of yesteryear. Elizeu Neves, navigating officer of the Arthur S. James, has a face like leather, cut deep with salty seams. His voice booms like a foghorn. He had guided the vessel through the awful weeks behind him, without a word of complaint, accepting the series of disasters as part of his job.

He stormed to the rail. "What do you want?" he asked. His was the first intelligible English that had come from the packet. "What did you go through?" he was asked. "I went through nothin'," was the reply. Then he gripped the rail and stared defiantly at the reporters.

HE SEEMED stunned. Why anybody should come out to meet his boat he could not understand. Hadn't he brought her in—even if she was on the end of a tow rope. He said he left Fayal September 12.

"What happened then?"

"We just sailed."

"Did you have any trouble?"

"Not 'till October 12."

"Then what?"

"We just ran into storms—storms—one right after another. A nor'easter she was, carryin' a sea cyclone."

The navigating officer did not have to go into the details of the voyage—the ship itself and the humans aboard its deck told the harrowing story in fashion true and grim.

Captain Fortunato Alves, master of the packet, did not come from below.

And below, too, was Mary Dantes, the sole woman aboard the cocky boat that was once the pride of Boston and Gloucester's Grand Banks fleet.

She was sick, the navigating officer explained. And then, to his amazement, a form came out of the darkness and announced that she was Mary Dantes.

She was a broken down Portuguese woman of middle age. Her face bore mute testimony to what she had gone through for 59 days. There was no bridling her tongue, despite the efforts of Neves. In broken English, she related the horrifying details of what had become of the ship's dog and her pet monkey.

"Men hungry—men kill dog. I cook dog for men."

And then she began to wail, for the memory of the monkey's fate, her own pet, which she was bringing to a son in Boston, was too much for her.

"Men kill my monkey—make me cook 'im for them.

"I buy monkey in island to bring my boy. I have no seen 'im for 18 years. He used to laugh at monkey. I buy Pedro for 'im. But men kill Pedro for eat."

On the following day the vessel came under the charge of the United States Public Health Service, the immigration officials and the heads of

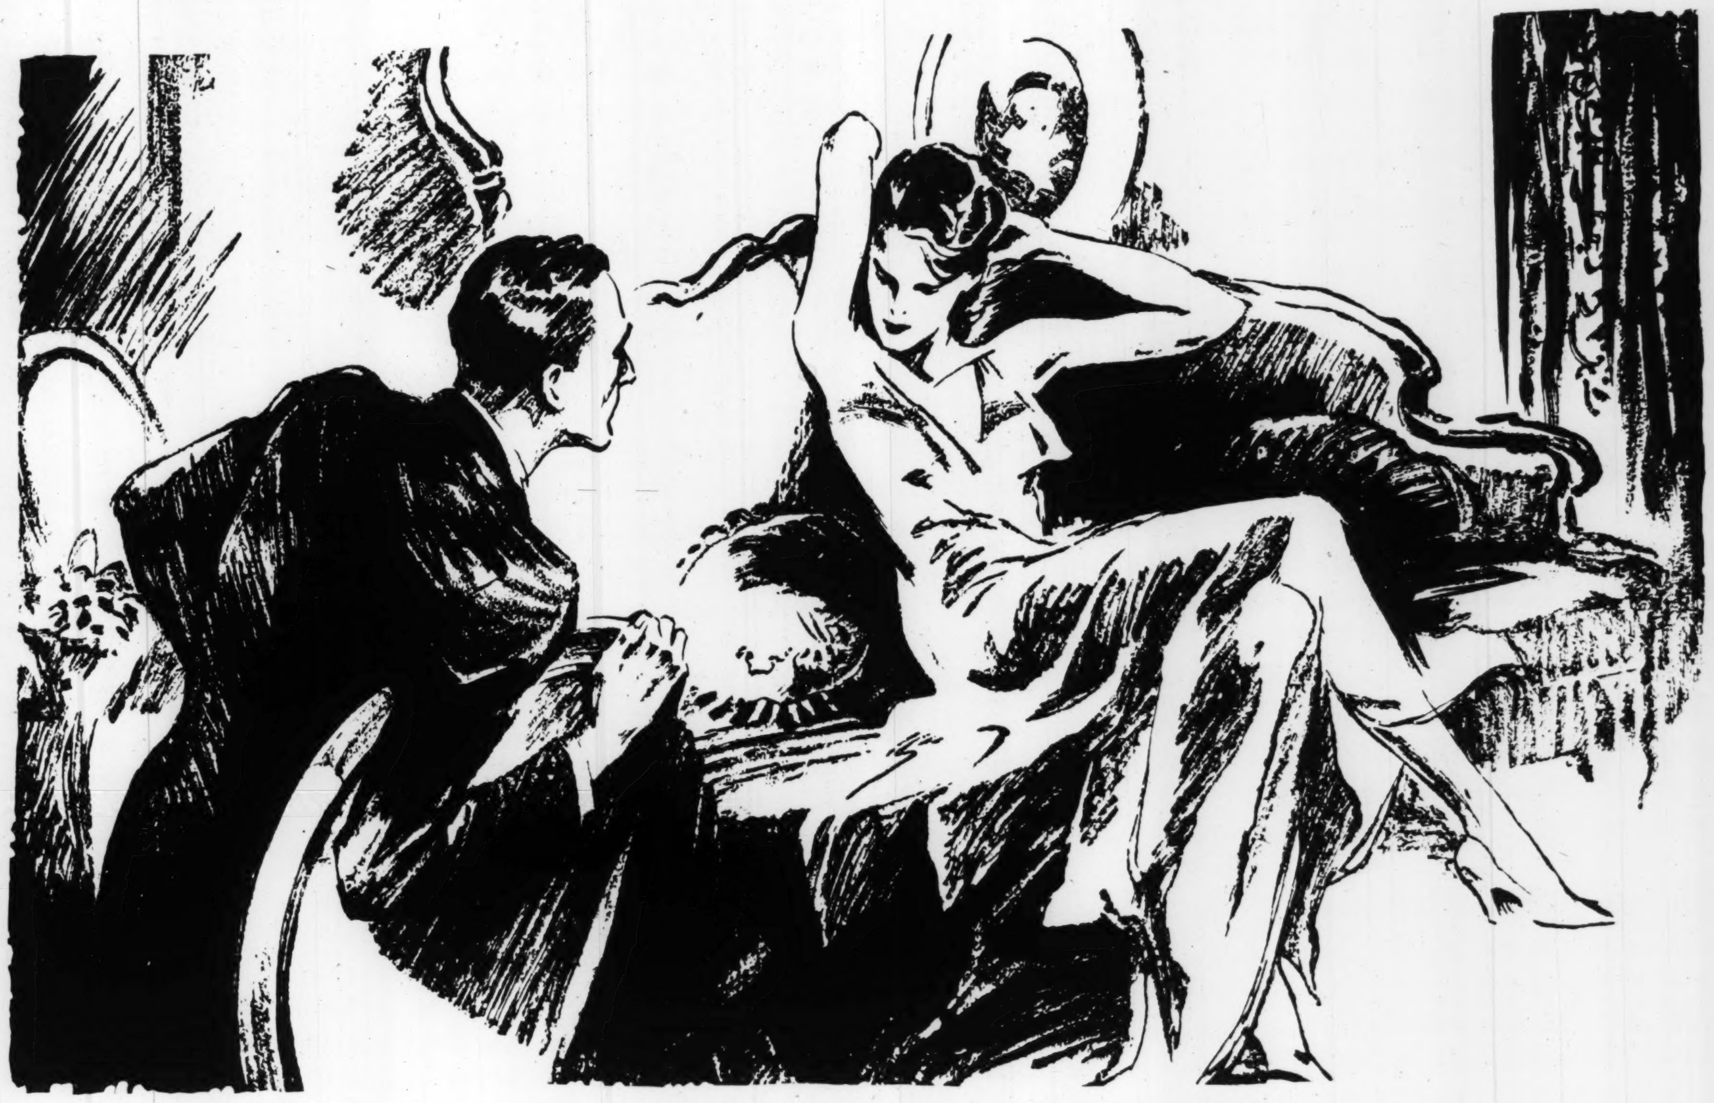
FREEDOM

By JULIET WILBOR TOMPKINS



"And all because I turned east instead of west!" he said. He was so sure of her that Maude felt a pang of shame.

MAUDE'S breakfast arrived at 8:30, just as the maid finished cleaning her tiny drawing room. The two rooms, immaculate now, were high and quiet, looking out on city walls and a strip of sky. Maude's cushions, books, piano made brave effort to dominate the impersonal hotel furniture, but it had a solid force that on gray mornings like this came up through any surface that a tenant might spread. She thought of trying ivies again. Every autumn she tried narcissus in pebbles, achieving green shoots, even buds, but never a blossom. Probably the furnace heat.

Mail and the paper, spread thin, occupied her until it was time to dress for her current events lecture. At 10 Carlton called up and wanted her to lunch with him. As she was engaged for today they arranged to meet tomorrow. Carlton was, as always, affectionate, caressing, there was a good deal of "my dear" and "my dear girl." He was off tomorrow afternoon for a week of duck shooting; he wished that she were going too. Maude responded gayly, easily, but when she had hung up the day seemed grayer than ever.

People used to believe that Maude and Carlton were engaged. There had been exquisite weeks when Maude herself had believed it. Then Carlton began saying things: "You're like me, Maude—you want your liberty," and "You've got your life so perfectly arranged—you know how to live, my dear!" It was after that that Maude had gone in for current events lectures and foreign affairs lunches.

She looked very smart and handsome in her slim thirties as she set out. Twelve flights of conversation about the weather lay between her and the street. On nervous days like this Maude would gladly have walked down the whole 12 flights and slipped out by the service door to avoid the incessant meteorology of hopeful attendants, but she answered pleasantly, with a gift of humorous brightness.

The lecture was about the power of oil in international relations. Maude listened intelligently and dropped it all down into a back corner of her mind, whence it could be retrieved if any dinner neighbor showed a desire to talk about nations and politics. She lunched luxuriously with the middle-aged friend who sat next to her at the lectures. Maude was amusing, always well worth having to lunch, and Mrs. Duane was planning a charity street fair and would need her executive abilities.

"I hate to ask you right over again when you were so wonderful about the concert," she said, and added with seeming irrelevance, "You must come up to Bar Harbor next summer."

Maude undertook the street fair with good grace.

A FINGER wave took nearly an hour, and still it was only 4 o'clock when Maude reached home. The day had grown grayer and the little rooms were almost dark.

"If one had a fire," Maude said uncertainly. But the place was too warm as it was, even with the heat turned off. She read for a while, going through every solid paragraph several times, because her mind always wandered off in the middle.

The telephone brought her up like a released spring, but it was only a wrong number. She could have gone to a tea, but she was miserable if she went out at this hour, when Carlton might drop in. The day so dragged that she took a second bath. Then she made herself very fine and dined at a restaurant with a pretty woman of her own vintage, her husband and a new man. Maude's business was to keep her husband diverted, and she did it with the ease of old habit; she never made the mistake of diverting the new man. Maude's life stretched her income rather thin, so that dinners and lunches were worth taking trouble for. She used to find it great fun—luxuries and parties bought at the easy price of being amusing. It was only when Carlton began telling her how admirably she lived that the gray had invaded her days.

The play they went to was interesting at the moment, but left nothing behind. Maude would not think of it again unless some neighbor at a dinner table should ask if she had seen it. They went on to supper. The husband's becoming sleepy made Maude's task harder. She had to turn to the last resort, an absorbed interest in concrete. He dealt in concrete. Concrete took them through crab meat salad and ices, none of which Maude wanted. Her hard slimness meant a good deal of tasting and letting go. When the motor stopped at her door she could have leaped from it and run, but she did her manners perfectly and felt future invitations in her hostess' appreciative embrace.

The doorman had an announcement: "Your brother came, Miss Baring. He's waiting for you."

Maude started, looked pleased because the news seemed to demand it. Her stepbrother lived in the West and they met seldom. As he was the only near relative she had, she ought to have been glad; but it meant more days of bright surface and Maude's power of presenting that bright surface to the world seemed for the moment almost worn through. The thirties had begun like a carnival; for two thrilling years her release from the family cares that had filled her twenties and the resurgence of youth had set every day to music, and then Carlton had taken to saying, "It's civilized, the way we live!" She opened her door with the smile of greeting installed, but not yet reaching to her eyes.

A cloud of cigarette smoke was the first shock. Hubert had never smoked. The second shock was a perfectly strange man stretched out on her couch. For a dazed moment she tried to see him as Hubert: but this man was built somewhat on the lines of Abraham Lincoln, while Hubert favored President Taft.

"Well, upon my word!" she said.

The man's eyes opened, but his spirit was slow in returning; they rested on her at first vacantly, then with a distinct smile of approval. They were so unmistakably friendly that she gave up her alarmed clutch on the doorknob and came forward.

"What are you doing here?" she asked, more in genuine interest than in hauteur.

He rose up, a good many feet of him, rather disheveled and unimpressed, his dark eyes resting on her with a solemnity of surprise.

"Why, I am waiting for my sister," he said, as though that were self-evident.

He looked about for the explanation. "She has lent the place to you?"

"No. She has never had it that I know of. I have lived here for four years."

Maude's amusement was evident and he smiled in response, a benignant, serene smile, as though he were dealing with someone very young. His perfect freedom from embarrassment in a situation that would have set Carlton stammering was refreshing.

"Well, now, that's funny." He took out a pocketbook and looked through its papers. "She sent me her new address."

"What is her name?"

"Barron. Olivia Barron."

"I see! You asked for Miss Barron at the door and they gave you Miss Baring."

He looked a little rueful. "And I have been smoking your cigarettes and . . . it's a wonder you didn't call for help."

Memory of the first moment made her laugh. "You looked so amiable—one couldn't be afraid."

"Here it is. What's wrong?"

The explanation was disappointingly easy. He had turned east instead of west. He would be going now and the little adventure was over. He gathered up his coat and hat and stood considering her, obviously turning over some idea. Maude leaned back in her chair, the silver brocade of her evening cloak falling away from the green velvet and silver of her gown, and let him think it out. She was glad of anything that kept him there between her and the grayness.

"You certainly don't look as though you wanted a job," he said at last, "but one can't always go by looks. Anyway, there's no harm in telling you about it. I am here to find a hostess."

"A what?"

HE SHIFTED his coat and sat down tentatively on the edge of a chair. "A hostess—though I'd like to get a better name for it. We've got 9000 employes, and more than half of them are women. We're a town in ourselves; not much there but the works and the railway station. We've built them baths and tennis courts and a library; now we're going on to a clubhouse and a theater and we need the right kind of woman." His gaze candidly measured Maude. "Young, but not a girl, attractive, executive, sympathetic, able to get up shows and to carry things off and make people feel at home, to do just what a good hostess does, and a lot more. To the right person we'd give $7000 a year and a house, to start with, and she would have $10,000 in time. Does that interest you?"

Maude's blood gave an absurd leap, but was quickly put down by her cool head. "That is very much what I do now," she observed.

"Would you consider it, then?"

"Probably not."

He thought that over, rose. "Suppose I come in the morning and tell you about it in detail?"

"I should like to hear about it if you can spare the time." Maude spoke as though it were a matter of academic interest, like oil in foreign relations. "Why doesn't your sister do it?"

Olivia was running a girls' school.

"She is looking out for someone for me, but I want to talk with you first," he said. "Now, shan't I say a few words to the doorman about letting strangers into your place?"

"I think, on the whole, I'd let it pass," she suggested.

He saw the clock, started. "Oh, good Lord!" he muttered and left.

Maude laughed herself to bed and firmly went on keeping her head, but she could not help seeing how funnily like her life it would be. Only she would be paid in large checks instead of parties. Before the grayness had set in, the exchange of her gayety and her executive ability for parties and visits had seemed like an amusing sport, but today, when Mrs. Duane had said, "You must come to Bar Harbor," for a moment she had felt restive, proud, even resentful. Something that had been innocent in the exchange was tarnished. And could any factory girl's party be as dull as that rich-looking evening had been? Eternally talking concrete!

"One would get interested in them; one could do something more real for them than amusing their husbands," she thought. "And the days would be full to the hilt." She remembered the weary peace of night when for 12 hours she had done everything that mortal could do to ease her father. To be used from head to foot—perhaps that was the only happiness after love was gone. And yet people were always envying her her freedom. It wasn't only Carlton who harped on that.

"Oh, well, I wouldn't do it, anyway," she said aloud, turning from the subject and setting herself to sleep.

Sleep would not come. Ideas for the clubhouse and the theater boiled up in an inspired rush. She had always wanted to get her hands on a little theater. And out there her performers would be eager, faithful; no more spoiled debutantes turning up or not, as their engagements permitted. Real talent would emerge. And at the year's end $7000! Think of being worth that!

"But one would be exiled, lonely for one's own kind," she objected. A mocking voice answered, "Concrete!"

And then, at last, she faced the real obstacle, the bond that made it all impossible: Carlton. Carlton might prefer his clubs and his trips, his civilized liberty, to the abnegation of marriage, but he was in every day, somewhere. A telephone talk, a note, roses, lunch or dinner, every event of his life had to be brought to her. Carlton loved her, not overwhelmingly, evidently, but there was no other love. He worked mildly, intermittently, having enough for comfortable bachelorhood, and he saw marriage as meaning an establishment, servants, motors. If he had only talked it out with her candidly two years ago, instead of taking fright, she could have shown him how very well they would do with their combined incomes and her skillful management. He could have kept the liberty that he was always thrusting upon her. Perhaps, faced with the prospects of losing her, he could at last talk about it. Even some sacrifice might seem better to him than not having her there. He must come to it absolutely of himself, but if he did . . . suddenly Maude was sobbing.

"Oh, why couldn't he have wanted it the way I did?" she cried. There would always be a residue of grayness in getting him like this.

Barron came at 10 o'clock, pressed and polished, oddly like an old friend. He had every kind of document to show her, from the company's balance sheet to a photograph of the pleasant cottage that would be hers. Maude told him of pantomimes and pageants that she had produced, of her good head for financing, of her long experience with sickness and responsibility. There was no limit to what they were ready to tell each other.

"I can play more or less; that would be useful," she said, and went to the piano as simply as a candidate trying to pass an examination. It was pleasant, playing to him. Carlton usually went on talking to her while she played, but Barron lay back in his chair and let her invade his open spirit. When she left the piano he was looking at her with solemn intensity from under his dark brows.

"And all because I turned east instead of west!" he said. He was so sure of her that Maude felt a pang of shame. She could not let him believe in it even for this one day.

"But there is—an obstacle," she began, hesitating for words.

"Something that might keep you here?"

Her color rose. "Yes, it might."

"Can't we meet it in some way?" He was frankly stricken. "You can't tell me?"

She almost could. She could see herself saying, "I am hoping that this will make Carlton want to marry me," and his saying simply, "Well, if it doesn't, will you come?" He would not even think, "Do you want so reluctant a lover?" He would know with uncritical understanding that one did.

"I will tell you about it tomorrow," she said. "But you must go ahead with other candidates. I don't want you to lose your time because of me."

That set a smile running in the creases of his lean face. "I shouldn't call this losing my time," he said, rising. "By the way, my sister wants you to have tea with her at 5. Will you?"

"If you will tell her that I am coming under false pretenses. I truly haven't an idea of taking your job."

HE LOOKED at her surroundings with an approving eye. The telephone had brought her three invitations while they talked.

"I suppose you like your freedom," he admitted, and went away downcast.

Carlton was waiting for her at the door of the restaurant. He was so dear about little things; never yet had she been the one to wait. He had a table reserved and a perfect lunch ordered. They had faced each other across little tables for four years, and never before had Maude's heart beat so wildly, so sickeningly. It took all her training in surfaces to go through with Carlton's news, plans, reflections. They were at salad before he was aware of something different.

"My dear girl, have you anything on your mind?" he asked, then bent a critical eye on the French dressing and sent for oil. Maude waited until he had stirred and tasted and was satisfied. "Now, that is something like," he said, and would have forgotten his question, but she brought him back to it.

"Yes, I have something on my mind," she began. "Carlton, I have been offered a position. Did you suspect I might be worth $7000 a year in the business world?"

He did not take her seriously. "Cloak model?" he asked.

"Hostess." She told him all about the position.

Carlton could not believe his ears. "My dear, you don't expect me to swallow this," he protested. "It was an impertinence to make you such an offer."

"I thought it a tremendous compliment. I'm taking it very seriously."

"You can't be!" He could have shaken her. "Look at your life! You have freedom, comfort, position—you know the right people"——

A protest sprang out: "Oh, don't say the right people, Carlton! There are no right people!"

He did not like that. "Call them what you please," he said sulkily. "You know very well what I mean."

She considered, nerves on edge. "You mean swells. Mr. Barron certainly is not a swell, but he is the rightest person I ever met." It seemed that they were almost quarreling.

"Big, open spaces," Carlton observed. "One of nature's noblemen."

Maude forcibly recaptured her temper. "Well, he went to college, fought through the war," she said mildly. "He wouldn't seem queer in any drawing room—only he wouldn't be there. He is a worker."

That sounded to Carlton like a dig, and he stiffened. "Marvelous," he said. "How old is the fellow?"

"On toward 40, I suppose. Long lanky thing, utterly natural—he is either very plain or rather beautiful. I can't decide which."

Carlton was glowering at her.

"He is taking me to tea with his sister this afternoon, to be looked over," she went on. "She runs a girls' school—full of the right young people!"

HER teasing met only wrath. "I never heard anything so stupid. You propose to cut yourself off from the world, and to work 14 hours a day. Maude, you're crazy! Why, the way you live, you've got freedom"——

It burst out at last: "If you knew how sick I am of this freedom!"

Everything was said in that cry, and his eyes were the first to fall away. Maude gathered up bag and gloves and made no pretense of talking on the way home, though Carlton made futile attempts to keep up appearances. A package had been left on her table, and because the strain was growing beyond bearing Maude opened it. A large box of cigarettes with a line of humorous apology from Barron gave her a fresh steadiness.

Carlton was standing miserably hunched, pretending to look out of her window. When he turned toward her his Rubicon had been crossed. It was coming at last; the news had done what she had dreamed it would, what she had used it for. And suddenly, inexplicably, she was stricken with a desolating sadness. It had no name, no reason, but it was like the death of a heart. She sat passive, waiting for it to go by and joy come in.

"What am I going to do without you, Maude?" he began. "Doesn't it mean anything to you, leaving me?"

She wanted to cry, "It means everything!" but heard herself saying, "You can write to me. And I will write to you all my adventures."

"Letters!" He took her hand, kissed it. "Maude, don't I count with you any more than that?"

She longed to tell him that he counted more than anything in life, but the words would not come. It was like a nightmare, her inability to speak what had been the truth for heartsick years. It had been the truth 15 minutes ago.

"I am not like you," she said with difficulty. "I think perhaps I have to work for something—for someone. All these little—oh, dinners, plays, visits—they leave me starved. At first it was—holiday. But that is over."

"Then why not work for me?" His arm was about her, but she sat inert within it. "My dear girl, I didn't want to offer you what won't be much of a life—it seemed selfish." His own words convinced him, put a glow into his face. "But if you're bent on having a hard time anyway" . . .

The desire of her life was there for the taking. Carlton told of the fun they would have, warmed himself up with the vision, and all the time the weight in her side grew heavier and heavier, her eyes more hopelessly cold. At last she broke from him and buried her face in her arms.

"OH, THIS is too cruel—it has gone by," she stammered. "Now you want me and it is too late. I have died. And I didn't know it! Oh, Carlton, I can't."

"My dear, this is a mood," he told her confidently. "Now I have to go off on this confounded shooting trip. But I shall be back on Monday"——

She let him leave it that way and hurry off for his train. It would always have been like that. Carlton would never let a party down for anything less than death. Maude saw him down there in the marshes, with plenty of time to think, and wondered with bitter insight in what mood he would come back.

"Well, he asked me, and I could have kept him glad of it," she said. "He asked me and I wouldn't do it. What has come over me?" She sat drearily burying her dead until she drifted into exhausted sleep.

When she awoke the room was nearly dark, but the dark was rich, warm—it did not seem gray. She turned on lights, and they flooded the place like sunlight. The whole world was a new color.

"Why, this is freedom! This is what they mean!" The discovery came like a burst of light. "Why, I've never had it for a minute! And now I know. I'm free!" She stretched like Gulliver in Lilliput and a thousand tiny bonds snapped. Free to go, free to work, free even for a new love—freedom!

The buzzer made her jump: "Mr. Barron calling."

"I'm coming!" she cried.

A THEATER for CHILDREN ONLY

Junior League Institution Which Specializes in Old-Fashioned Nonsense Aims Only to Amuse.

By a Member of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff

THE Junior League of St. Louis is engaged in an enterprise founded on the peculiar theory that children still are children. It is the quaint notion of this group of young women that even in this enlightened, money-and-machinery age, boys and girls like fanciful nonsense, the romance of enchanted princesses and magic carpets, improbable stories about giants, animals that talk and funny characters whose humor lies in absurdity rather than wisecracking. Youngsters are stimulated by this sort of thing and should have it in their theatrical fare, these young women think, and the Junior League Children's Theater represents an effort to give it to them. There's nothing utilitarian about it. From the commercial stage the little ones may learn what they need to know about off-color language and marital infidelities, and at the movies they may receive adequate instruction in machine-gunning and gin-drinking. The theatrical offerings of the Junior League are merely to entertain. Junior Leagues throughout the United States are carrying on this movement to give children plays designed for them. The St. Louis organization took up the idea two years ago and staged "Beauty and the Beast." Last year it presented two juvenile shows, "Racketty-Packetty House" and "The Land of Oz." Two plays have been planned also for this winter. The second one, not yet selected, will be given in March. The first, "Alice in Wonderland," began its run yesterday with a morning performance at which admission was charged, and a free performance in the afternoon for inmates of orphans' homes. It will be played again next Saturday morning and the following Saturday morning.

The current show is being given in the auditorium of the Wednesday Club, Taylor and Westminster avenues. Receipts are expected to cover merely the expenses; if there is any surplus it will be used for the league's charitable activities.

Janet Kauffman, who plays the lead in "Alice in Wonderland."

Preparing the costumes for "Alice."

About forty members of the organization have been working on the production of "Alice in Wonderland," with Mrs. Frank Boling as chairman. Twenty-five of them are in the cast, headed by Miss Janet Kauffman as Alice. They have designed and made the costumes, assembled the properties, and designed the scenery; not being sufficiently expert with hammer and saw they had to hire someone to make the stage settings.

Preparing one of these shows is a harder task than one might think. The fact that the play is "just for kids" doesn't mean it can be carelessly done. Experience has shown that the audience of youngsters is critical as well as appreciative. Many children know their fairy tales and Mother Goose and the other standard imaginative juveniles very well and are quick to note mistakes—in lines, action, costume or setting. And even a popular member of the Junior League is not indifferent to the opinion of these young theater-goers. She will take a deal of pains to escape the derision of a freckle-faced 8-year-old with two front teeth missing, and get a lot of satisfaction out of his whoops and whistles of approbation.

There were a good many difficulties in staging "Alice in Wonderland" — which, incidentally, was adapted from Lewis Carroll's story by a member of the Chicago Junior League and has a musical score including a number of "Nonsense Songs." The costumes, for one thing, taxed the ingenuity of the designers. Mrs. Lawrence Post, chairman for this work, and her assistants had to devise means of making a sightly young lady look like a caterpillar, another like a "mock turtle," another like a gryphon, and so on. Miss Louise Woodruff and her committee on properties had to search out many queer things; it's a bit difficult, for example, to find, in these parts, a mushroom large and sturdy enough to support the weight of a healthy young woman who happens to be impersonating a caterpillar. Miss Ruth Cornet's committee on scenery had a sizeable problem in making Alice appear to have shrunk to a fraction of her normal size after a magic drink: a problem of proportions.

Another matter of concern was the masks to be worn by some of the players. A considerable amount of thought and labor was expended in trying to devise masks which were lighter and more comfortable than the usual papier mache affairs and which would permit the feminine voice to carry more distinctly to the audience. And there was a long period of uncertainty as to whether the baby pig of the play should be a member of the cast or a "prop"—a real, live pig or a dummy.

Audiences which are witnessing the play these December Saturdays are seeing for themselves how successfully the difficulties have been met.

The various phases of the work on the production have been directed by the following, in addition to those previously mentioned: Miss Martha Love, vice chairman; Miss Ethel Dyer, coach; Mrs. John Burton Kennard Jr., stage manager; Mrs. Clinton Whittemore Jr., lighting; Mrs. Sam Gordon, programs; Miss Mary Thomas, tickets; Miss Emily Lewis, publicity; Mrs. John Franciscus, casting director; Mrs. F. L. Gros, makeup, and Mrs. William Kieffer, charity performance.

sistent erection of the 'post'."

Of the Nelson and Lynch project, he said, among other things; "The sculptural mass of the whole conception does honor to composition." And this is the source of an unfortunate dispute. Hansen, sculptor of the model, claims the origin of the present design is his. He points to the fact that the final drawings were made from photographs of his scale model. Hansen says he worked out the design entirely in clay. Nelson and Lynch say that Hansen did his work as directed.

The monument is to cost about $1,500,000. The various nations in the Pan-American Union are to put up the money in proportion to their population, the share of the United States being $800,000. Eventually the project at Santo Domingo is to cost $15,000,000 and will include one of the finest airports in the world. It is already an important port on the air line to South America. The promoters of the Columbus project look forward to the day when Santo Domingo, the lonely island Columbus discovered, will be a visiting point for all tourists.

the Steamboat Inspection Service out of Boston.

The James was really nothing but a throwback to the ships of the slave-carrying days. In the dark hold of the packet strips of boards served as bunks—bunks over the swishing, foul-smelling bilge water. Cabins, no, just the foulest of hell-holes. But, as one of the crew explained, "good enough to carry Cape Verders to the cranberry [illegible] of Cape Cod," where they are seasonally employed as pickers."

The packets which ply between New Bedford and the Cape Verde Islands [illegible] human cargoes are registered as carriers of rice, beans and mahogany. But $50 a head for a native is more profitable. [illegible] of the packets are former [illegible] schooners of Boston, converted.

The [illegible] craft carry chiefly [illegible] Cape Verde and the Azores. Many of them are citizens of the United States, and they use the packet as a cheap means of going to their former island homes for the Christmas holidays. Many of the Cape Cod cranberry pickers sail from New Bedford, after Thanksgiving and Christmas crops are gathered.

If the United States Public Health Service and the United States Steamboat Inspection Service have their way the packet Arthur James will have to undergo a lot of overhauling before she is ever again allowed to take to the high seas.

INLAID CABINET

The Tenth of a Series of Art Objects Being Given a Special Showing at the St. Louis Art Museum.

THIS cabinet is the tenth in a series of masterpieces which are being prominently displayed at the City Art Museum by Director Meyric Rogers. Each week one of the museum's rarest treasures is placed in the alcove to the left of the entrance. Each masterpiece will be reproduced in the Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch, with an account by museum authorities of its history. The complete series will serve as an excellent guide to the most precious possessions of the city's museum. The story of this unusual piece of furniture follows:

This rare and sumptuous piece of cabinet work is an illustration of the romance that sometimes attends the work of the collector. Several years ago a guest at an English country house, who also happened to be an expert in English furniture, was attracted by the curious shape and workmanship of a piece of cabinet work that was being used by the children of the house as a nesting place for their pet rabbits. A careful inspection revealed the fact that this improvised rabbit hutch was, in fact, one of the few fairly complete survivals of the earliest forms of English marquetry, and before long the cabinet, carefully restored, found a place as one of the most honored pieces in the famous collection of Sir George Donaldson.

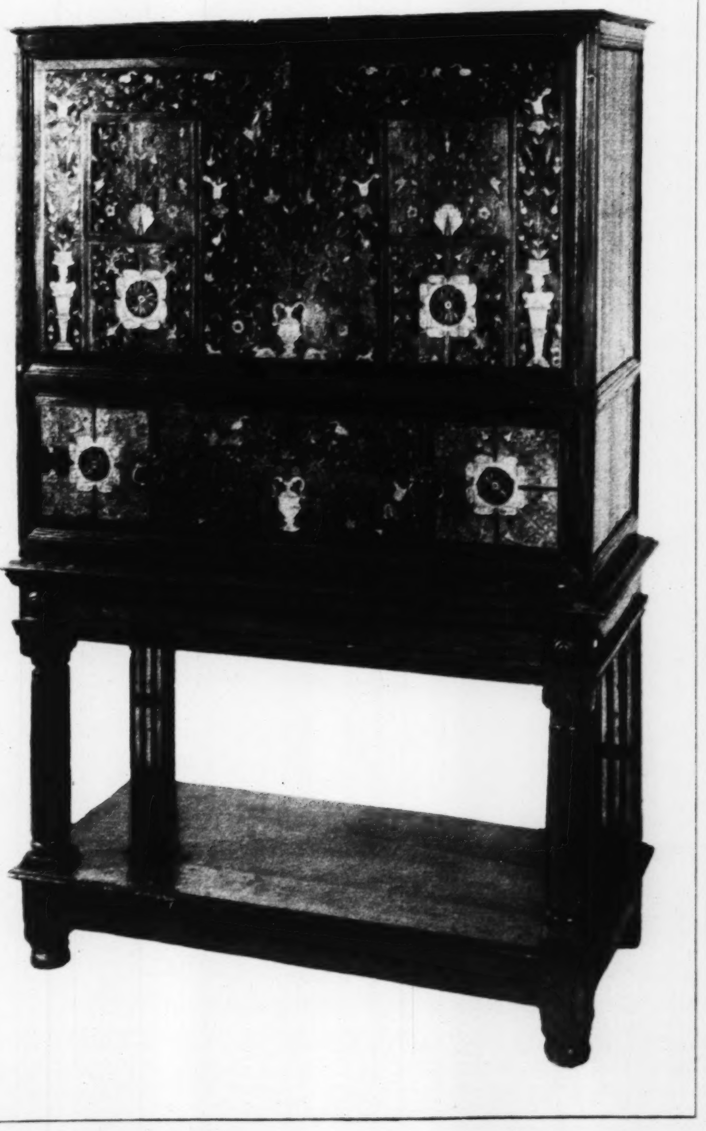
In form, this cabinet is closely related to a Spanish type known as a vargueno. It consists of a chest opening on the side, the lid falling into a horizontal position and usable as a desk. The interior is filled with a number of small drawers, in which papers or small objects of a precious nature could be kept. Quite often handles at either end of the outer case of such pieces indicate their portable character. For convenience in use a stand was generally provided which in the case of this particular example is of a somewhat later date, probably about the middle of the seventeenth century.

The un-English form of the cabinet itself and its decorative treatment would indicate a Continental origin, were it not for the fact that the inner structure of the piece is of English workmanship and English wood.

The piece is particularly remarkable for the extreme delicacy and beauty of the decorative inlay. Following foreign models, a number of exotic woods have been used to form the background for the decoration, which is based upon the gracefully scrolled stems of the gilly flower, accented and relieved here and there by playful designs of birds and dogs and rabbits. The motif of a plant arising out of vase forms and baskets is one commonly found in contemporary Italian design. Surmounting the vase motifs forming the center of the border designs at each side of the front are found the head and shoulders of a woman. The high flaring collar and hood-like cap of her costume further indicate a date of about 1550 for the piece. The front is held in place by an elaborate wrought-iron hasp lock similar in form to those found on Spanish pieces, but in this case said by experts to be of the best English workmanship. On the inside each drawer is decorated with patterns recalling those found on the front, the size of the various compartments being adjusted to make an interesting pattern. The structure of these inner divisions is of English oak, walnut being used for the outer frame in conjunction with strips of rosewood.

APART from its intrinsic beauty and rarity the cabinet is valuable as marking the brief duration of South European forms in the early English renaissance, a domination which, perhaps unfortunately for English design, was speedily replaced by influences from Germany and Flanders when the breach with the Church of Rome cut off friendly relations with the South of Europe.

The cabinet, as an article of furniture used for a variety of purposes and made in a variety of forms, rarely achieved in England the magnificent, almost monumental treatment that it was given in Italy, Spain and elsewhere. In Italy every skill, from that of woodcarver to painter, was lavished upon it.



"The Black Madonna"

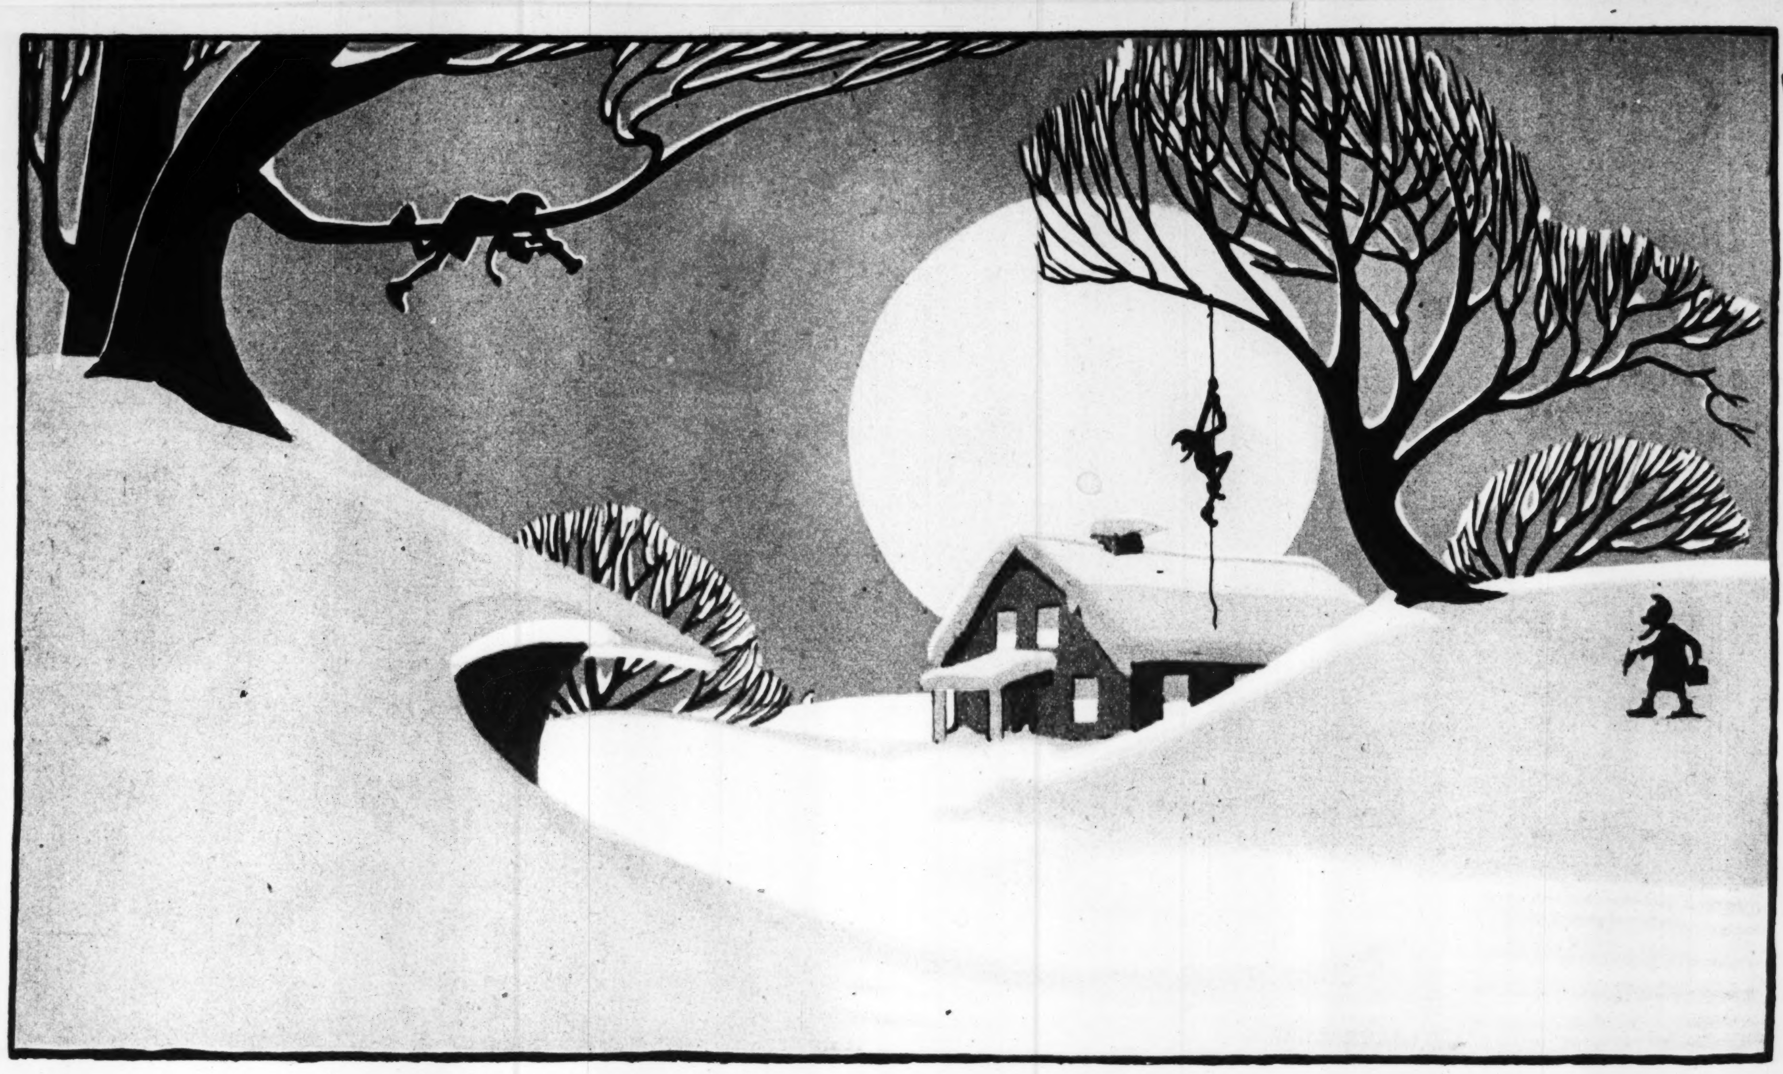
most famous of all was never intended as a black Madonna. It is at Chenstahova, in Poland. Chenstahova is a famous shrine, set on the summit of a hill 800 feet in height. The painting there of Madonna and child is almost equally famous. There is a tradition that it is the oldest painting in the world, the work of St. Luke. It was painted on cypress wood, which is now so ancient that the wood has turned a dark brown, and the effect is of a Negro Madinna and Christ child. Most of the very earliest representations of the Holy family portrayed them with dark skins—it was naturally assumed this would be so, since they came from the East.

Dr. Lippman plans some day to have his picture expertized—experts in the field of Spanish painting will pass final judgment on it and set a value. But he's not in a hurry. He is content to have it on his walls, whether it is by one of the masters of Spanish art or by some obscure and faithful colonial, wielding his brush in lifelong obscurity. For Dr. Lippman happens to like the picture, and that is all that matters to him.



TOY TALKIES

by

—Walter Quermann—

JOHNNIE MOUSE AND THE BROWNIES.

This is a game that can be played by any child. All that is needed are scissors, paste and some cardboard. The directions for playing "Toy Talkies" are given at the bottom of the game.

THE PLAYERS

JOHNNIE MOUSE—A wicked fellow who likes to put the blame on someone else.
TOM CAT—The victim of one of Johnnie Mouse's lies.
JOE BROWNIE—Who makes a report on Tom Cat.
BILL BROWNIE—One of Santa Claus' helpers.
BETTY BOW-WOW—A friend of Tom Cat.

THE PLAY BEGINS

Christmas approaches, Santa is getting ready for his yearly visit to all the good boys and girls, and to be sure that he only goes to the right children he has his little helpers, the Brownies, watch the little boys and girls to see how they behave. The play opens and we see three Brownies watching a little boy's house, as Johnnie Mouse walks on stage and stops to the right.

JOHNNIE MOUSE (Hatefully)—Look at those fool Brownies. Always poking their noses in other people's business. They make me sick.

Betty Bow-Wow now enters and passes Johnnie Mouse.

JOHNNIE MOUSE—Well, if it isn't Betty Bow-Wow. All the nosey people are out tonight, Eh-eh-eh?

BETTY BOW-WOW—Smarty. You're just mad because you know that the Brownies will tell Santa Claus who has been stealing cheese.

JOHNNIE MOUSE—No one ever saw me do that. It might have been Tom Cat.

BETTY BOW-WOW—But the Brownies know Tom Cat wouldn't steal cheese.

JOHNNIE MOUSE—Oh, they do, do they? We shall see.

(Betty Bow-Wow leaves and Joe Brownie enters and stops to the left of Johnnie Mouse.)

JOE BROWNIE—Naughty Mouse. You'll be sorry Christmas eve.

JOHNNIE MOUSE (Pretending surprise)—Who! Me? Why I have been very good.

(At this time Betty Bow-Wow peeps from behind the door at the right side of the stage and overhears what is being said.)

JOE BROWNIE—Then why do you steal cheese?

JOHNNIE MOUSE—Don't blame me. Tom Cat is the guilty one.

JOE BROWNIE—Hm-m-m. I would never have believed it of Tom Cat. (Leaves stage.)

JOHNNIE MOUSE—(Laughing nastily.) Eh-eh-eh. I told Betty Bow-Wow we would see. Eh-eh. (Leaving stage) I hate that cat.

(Betty Bow-Wow now comes to center of stage.)

BETTY BOW-WOW—That mean mouse. I'm going to tell Tom Cat. (She leaves the stage, there is a moment's pause and then you hear Tom Cat.)

TOM CAT—Honest. I never stole cheese.

(Bill Brownie enters, closely followed by Tom Cat.)

TOM CAT (pleading)—Listen to me, won't you?

BILL BROWNIE—I'm sorry, but I'm not the one who was to make a report on you. I can't do anything for you. (He leaves the stage).

TOM CAT—I'm going to get the truth to Santa Claus if I have to tell him myself. (He leaves stage and Joe Brownie and Betty Bow-Wow enter.)

JOE BROWNIE—I'm glad you told me how Johnnie Mouse lied.

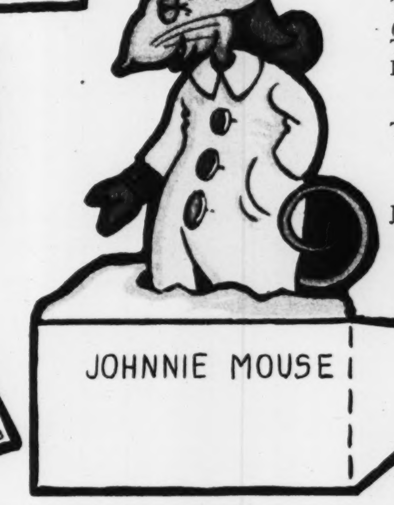
BETTY BOW-WOW—I'm glad I saw you before you reported to Santa.

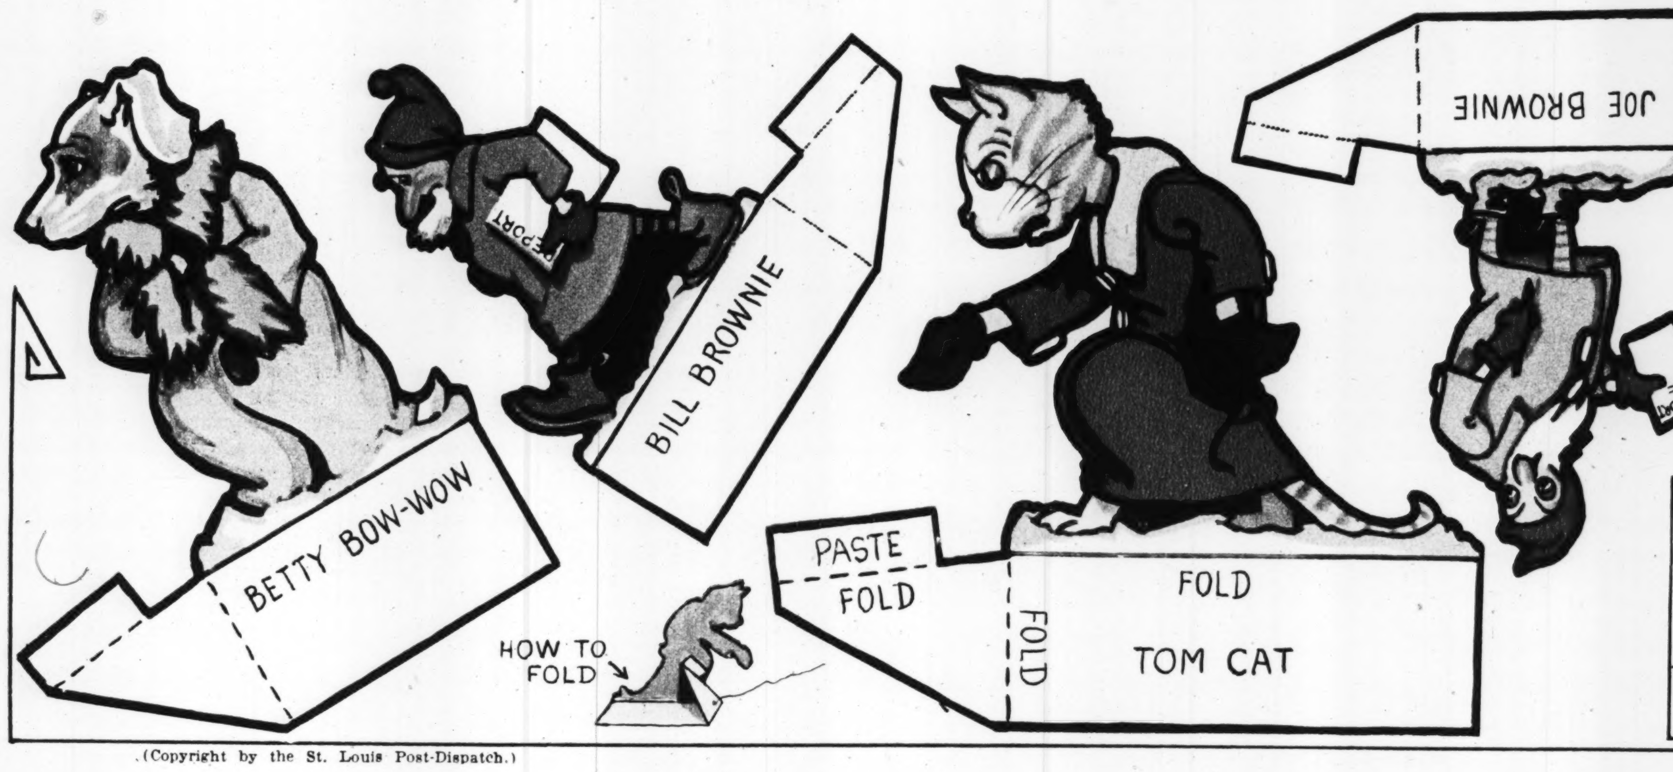
JOE BROWNIE—Tell Tom Cat not to worry and I will tell Santa Claus.

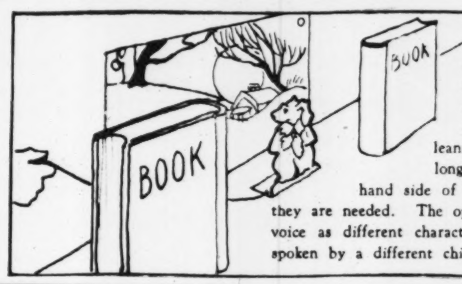
(He leaves stage.)

BETTY BOW-WOW—I'm so glad about Tom Cat. I must find him and tell him. Oh, Tom! Oh, Tom! (She leaves stage.)

CURTAIN







DIRECTIONS: Cut out back-drop and pin it on a wall near the floor. Next, take two books and stand them at each end and about 5 inches in front of back-drop. Then take characters, cut them out, and paste them on thin cardboard, folding flap at bottom so they will lean back a little. Attach a piece of thread about 15 inches long. Place the characters back of the book on the right-hand side of the stage and draw them on the stage with thread as they are needed. The operator may talk for the characters, changing his or her voice as different characters go on the stage, or each character's part may be spoken by a different child. A flashlight can be used as a spotlight.

GRETA GARBO.

A different movie star will make his or her appearance in this space every week. Accompanying will be three costumes this particular player wore in various roles she has played on the screen.

Cut out the player and paste on cardboard. Then cut out the costumes. Now dress the star in her proper outfits, being careful to assemble each costume correctly.

This week's star is Greta Garbo. The three sets of costumes shown here were worn by her in these roles in the following movies:

Helga Ohlin in "Susan Lenox;" Rita Cavallini in "Romance," and Yvonne in "Inspiration."

Next week: Charles Farrell.

DECEMBER 6, 1931

NEVER SEEN IN ANY ZOO—An unusual photograph of a true wild horse, photographed in Northern Arizona. It has never felt bridle or saddle. Once there roved over American plains great herds of these untamed horses, but gradually they were killed off until only here and there, remote from highways and villages, are specimens found.

FIRST FOX TERRIER SHOW IN ST. LOUIS—Miss June Wiegand with King Stampington, one of the wire haired breed in exhibit held at Hotel Gatesworth.

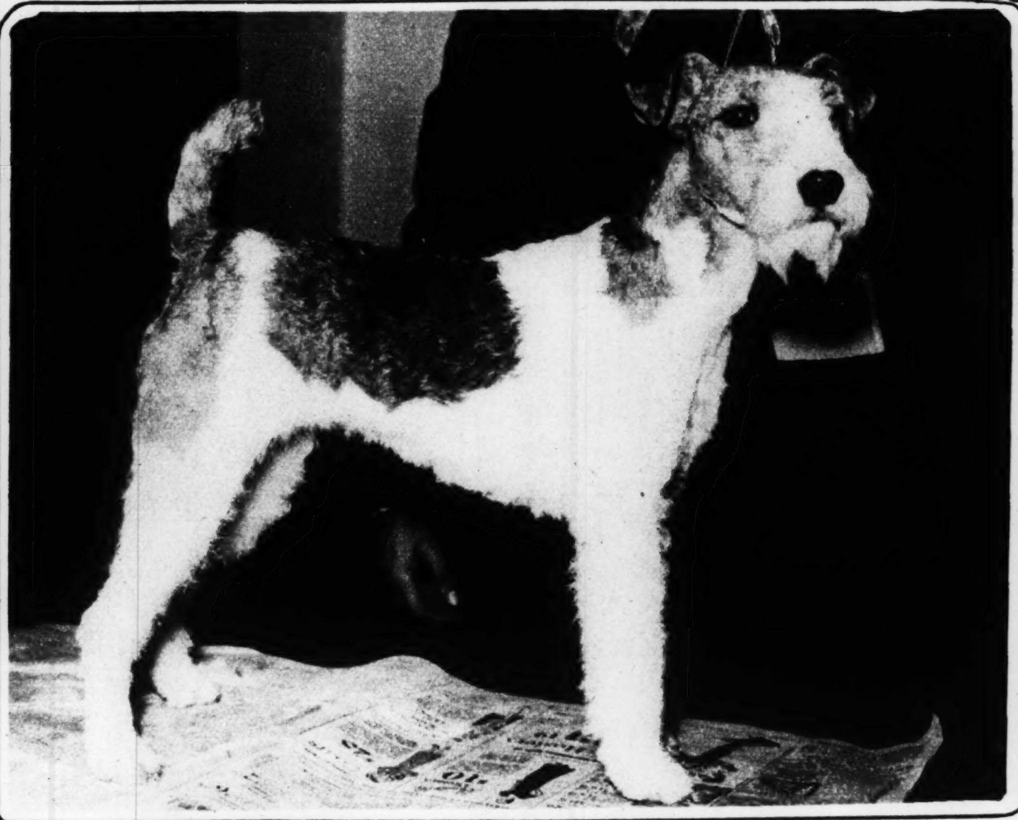
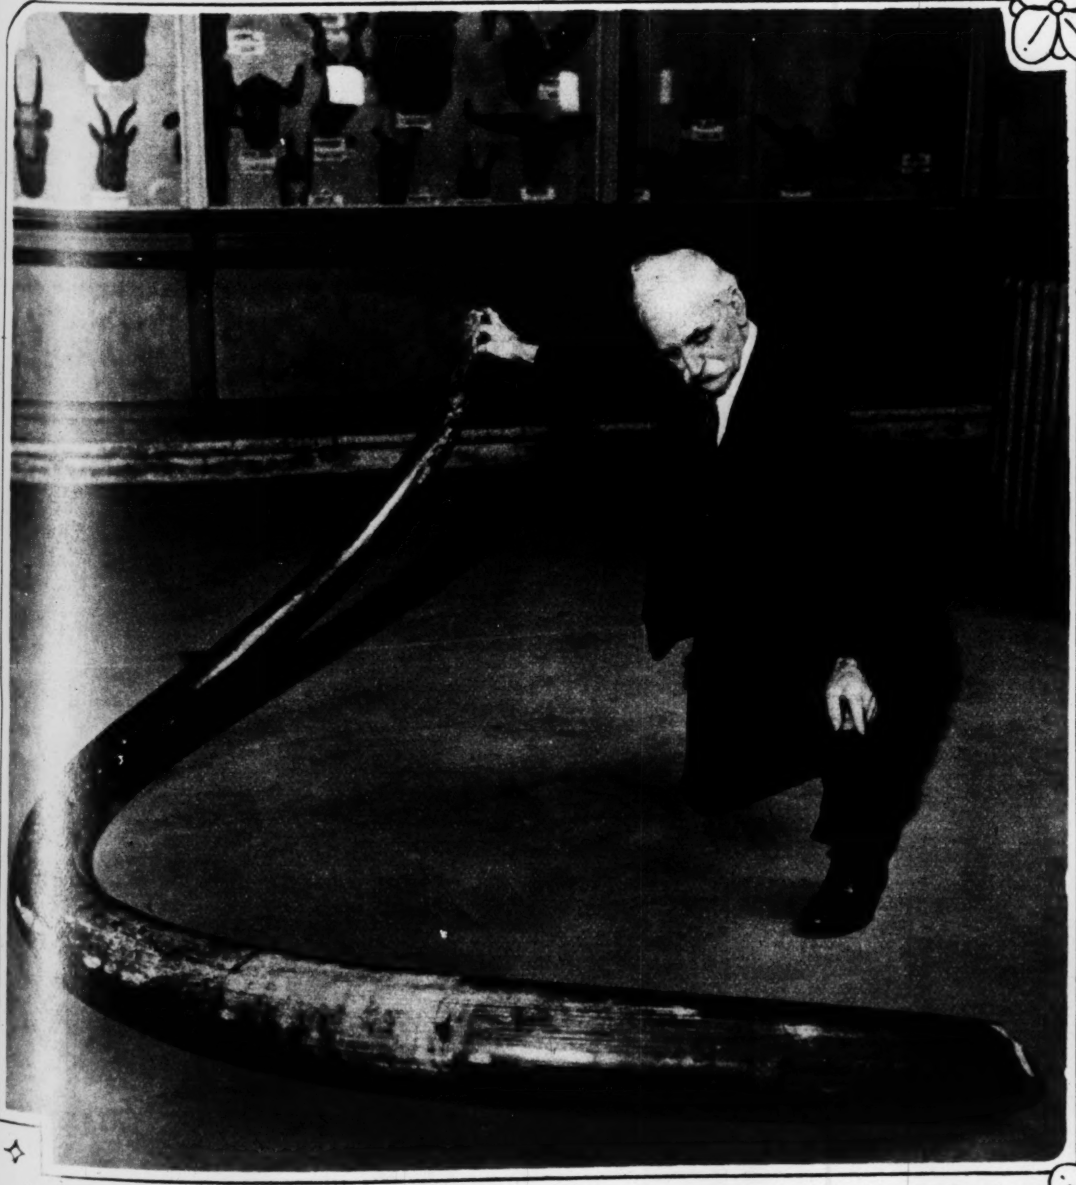
Mrs. Andrew Donnelly's Nancy Lee Glentworth.
—By Post-Dispatch staff photographer.

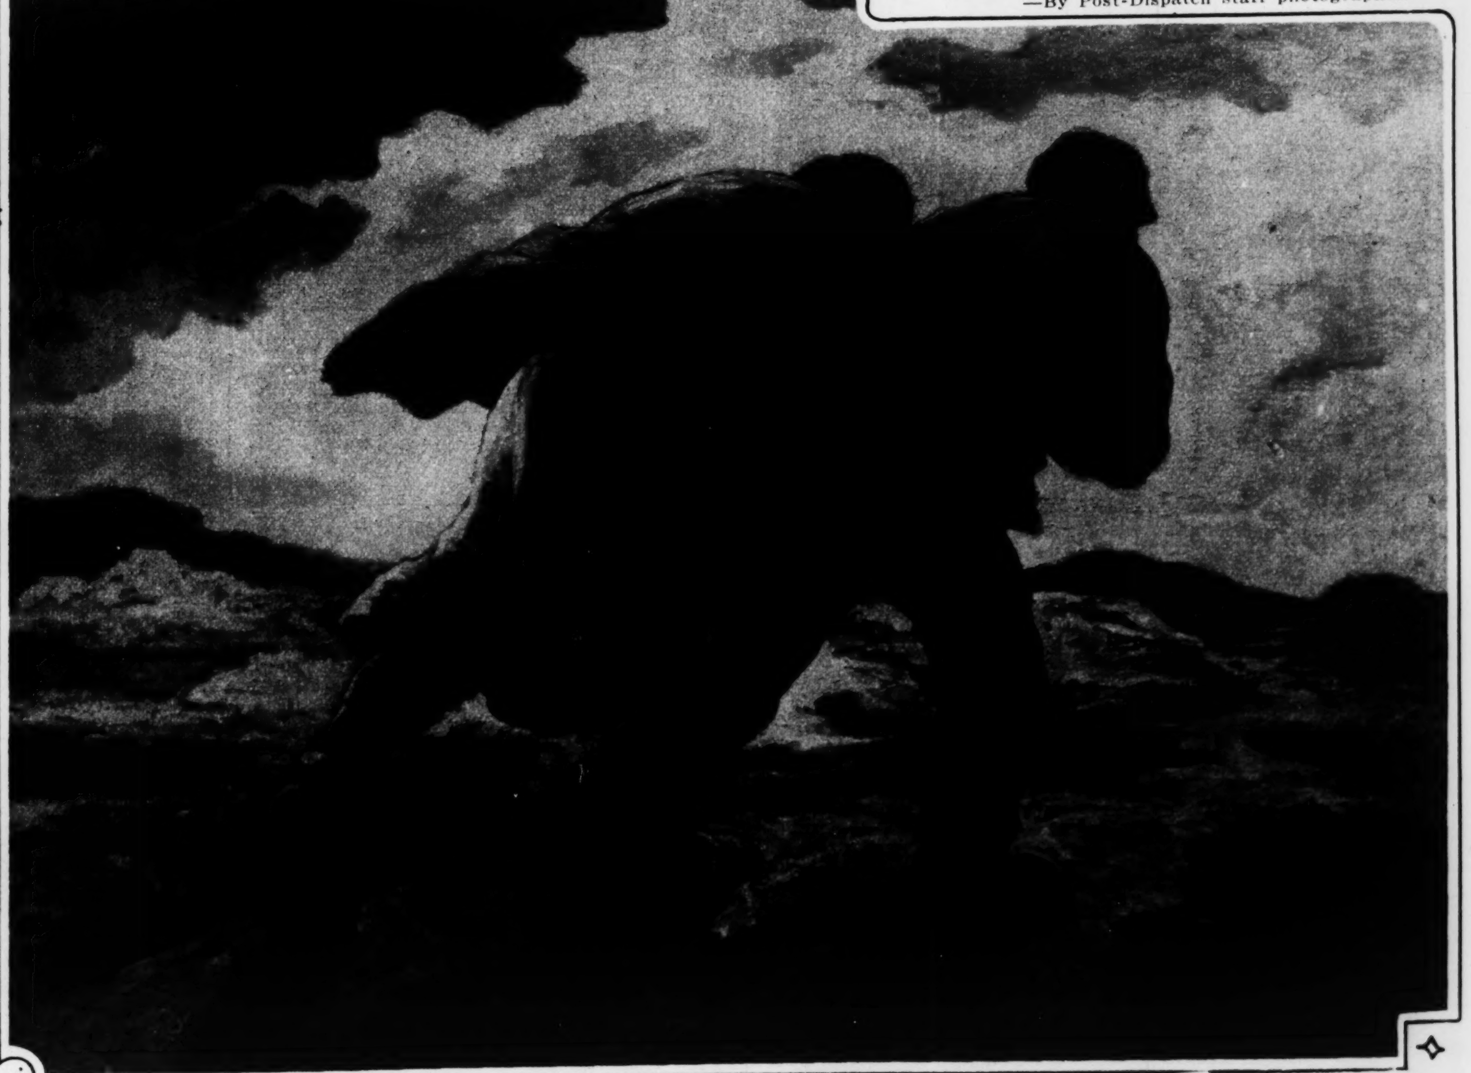


The best dog in the show—Fyldelands Margaret, owned by Reginald M. Lewis of Bedford Hills, N. Y.
—By Post-Dispatch staff photographer.

Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace Jr. and Spanish Dancer, best puppy in the show.
—By Post-Dispatch staff photographer.



LARGEST TUSK EVER FOUND—This huge bone tooth once came from the mouth of a woolly mammoth when it roamed the ice fields of Northern Siberia at least 15,000 years ago. It is more than 13 feet long, weighs 204 pounds, and is now in New York museum.



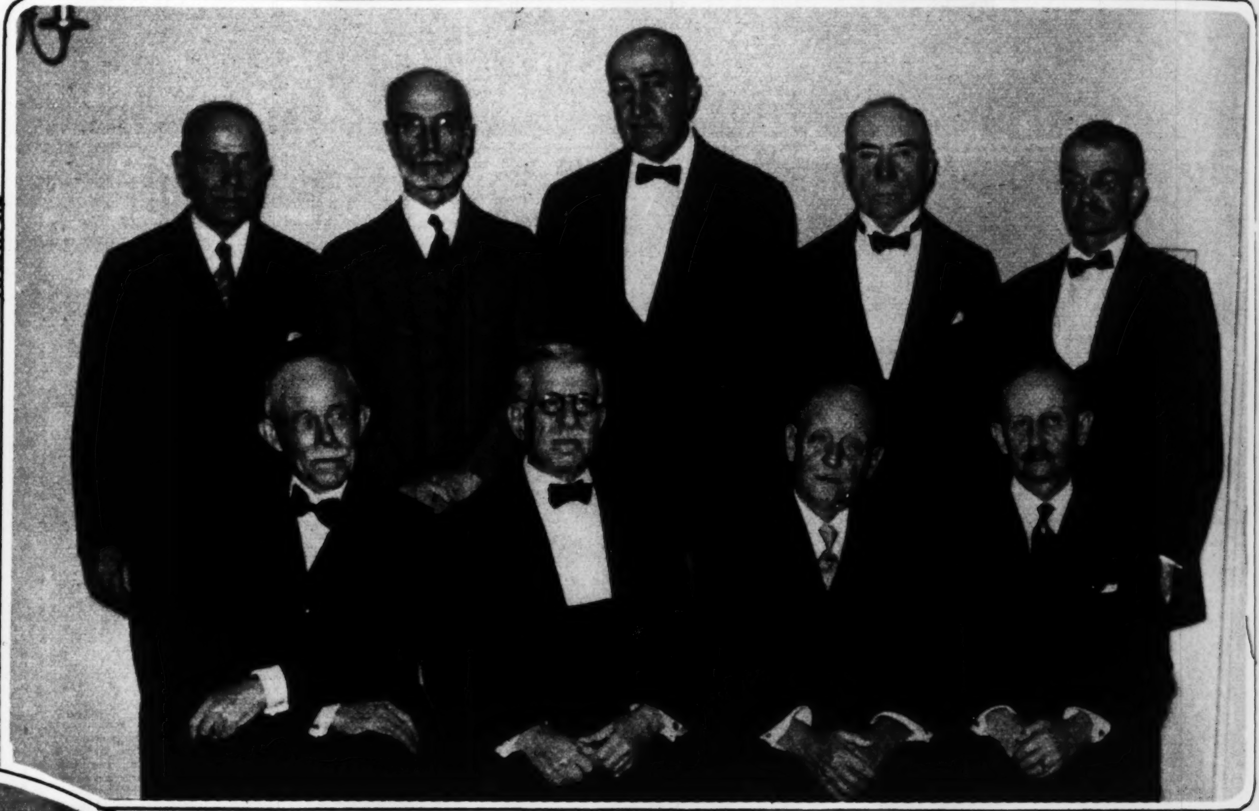
"THE BLACK CLOUD"—Painting by Eugene Higgins awarded the Altman prize of $1000 at the winter show of the National Academy of Design in New York City.

THE ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

DOWN THE STRETCH IN LADIES' RACE—Mrs. John Hay (Jock) Whitney, the former Mary Elizabeth Altemus, finishing first in the feature contest at meet held on the estate of William Ziegler Jr., at Middleburg, Va., recently. A horse show and trials of hunters preceded this event. The spectators were friends and farm workers.

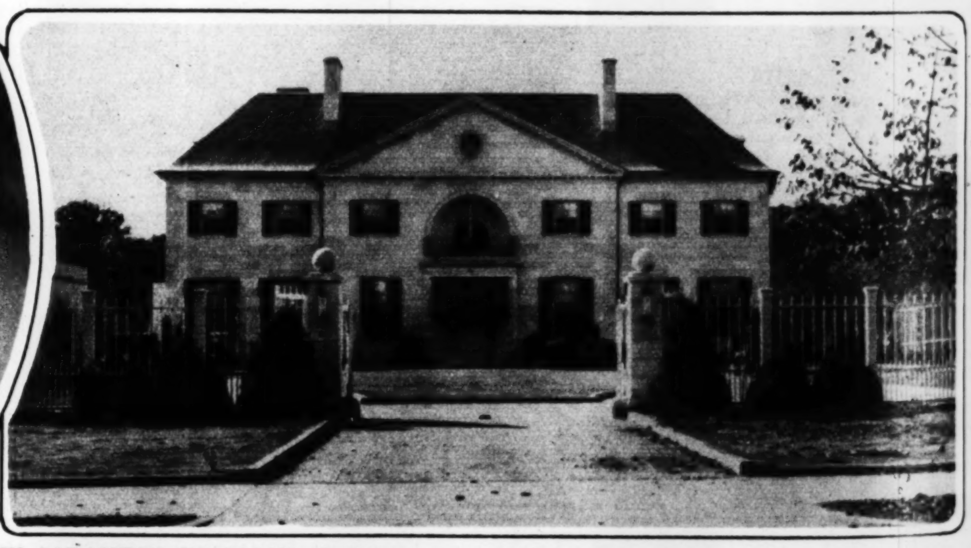
FOURTH MARRIAGE FOR ONE, THIRD FOR THE OTHER—Constance Bennett, film actress, and the Marquis Henri de la Falaise photographed just after their wedding in Hollywood Thanksgiving week. The Marquis was the third and divorced husband of Gloria Swanson.

ON THE PLACID WATERS OF THE GULF—Shrimp and oyster schooners back in Biloxi, Miss., at the end of a day's work, forming a composition like a Turner masterpiece.



ST. LOUIS PHYSICIANS HONORED—Nine members of the St. Louis Medical Society, each with a record of 50 or more years of service to the community, photographed at golden jubilee meeting held recently. They are, from left to right, seated: Henry J. Harnisch, Henry L. Wolfner, Eugene F. Hauck, Louis Hauck; standing, from left to right: Willis Hall, James A. Dickson, Harvey G. Mudd, Amand Ravold, Carl Barck.

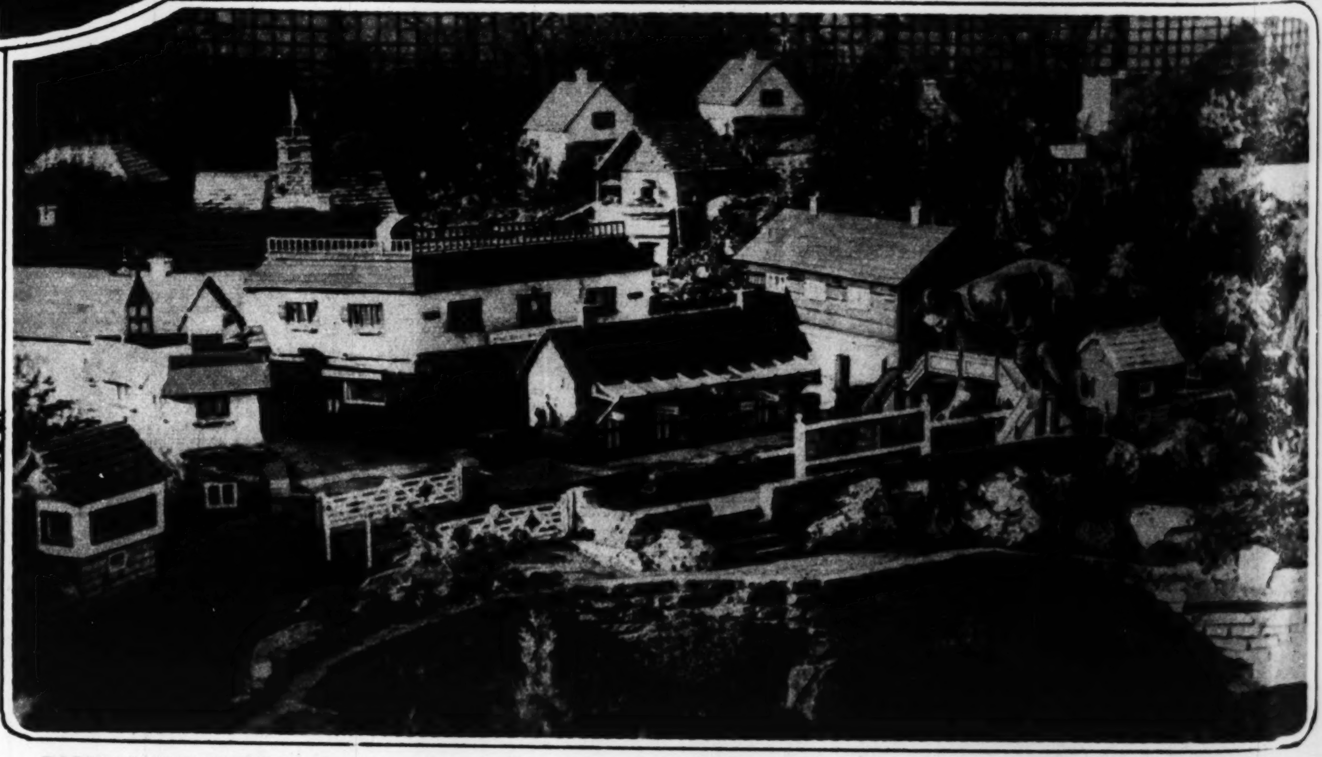
WHAT — BALLOON SLEEVES AGAIN?—The return of the leg-o-mutton design, so popular in grandmother's day, is forecast in this jacket worn by Lita Chevret. The bodice is of white crepe, decorated with narrow bands of velvet.



NEW JAPANESE EMBASSY—Building on Massachusetts avenue, in Washington, D. C., now occupied by the official representative of the Mikado and his staff.

A KING GOES HUNTING—Christian of Denmark, wearing sweater and soft hat, starting towards the forest near the Fredensberg Castle, accompanied by the chief forester.

FAMOUS MODEL—No German sculptor is better known, these days, than Epstein, and it is Terrainia Pancents, shown above, who most frequently poses for him.



RICH MAN'S HOBBY—General view of model village, with lake, church, business street and shops, railroad station and homes, built by retired London accountant at Chilton Lodge, Beaconsfield. Two years of labor were spent in its construction.

SIGNORA GRANDI VISITS A HOSPITAL—Wife of the Italian Foreign Minister, during her stay in New York, donned nurse's garb and went through the different wards of Columbus Hospital.

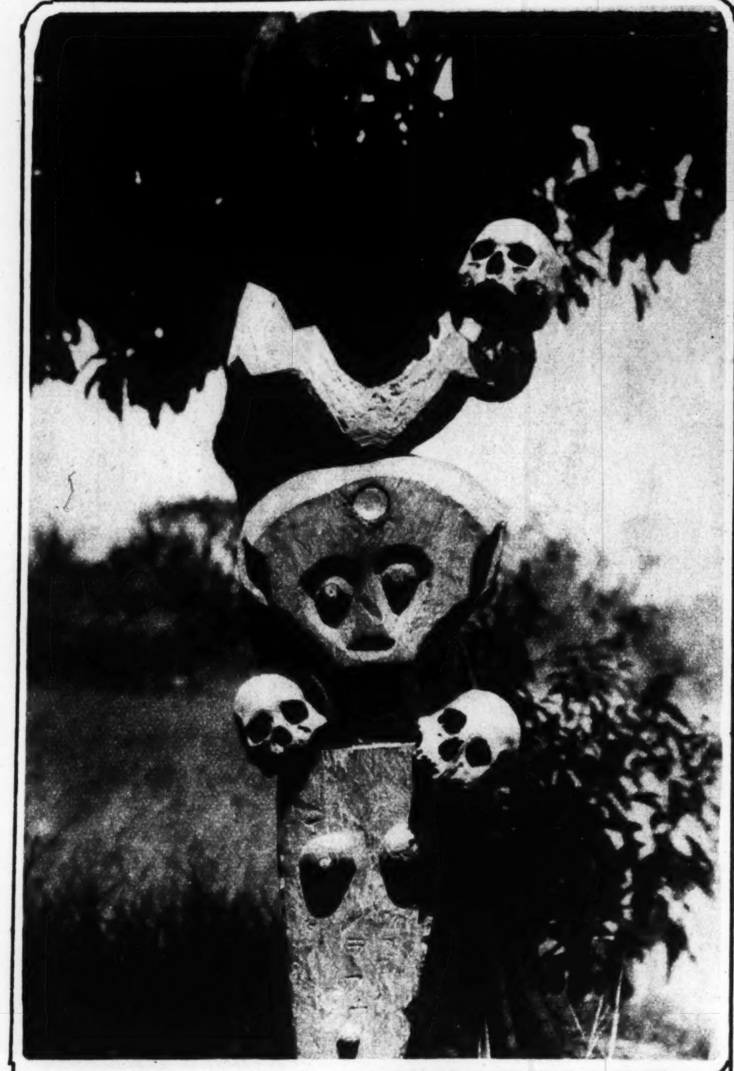
MR. MORGAN ARRIVES FOR LUNCHEON—A photograph of the noted New York financier, J. Pierpont Morgan, approaching the Lamont home, where a number of notables gathered to meet Signor Grandi of Italy.

THE ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

WHERE HEAD-HUNTERS STILL EXIST

Two photographs made by Capt. Carl von Hoffman, explorer and soldier, on the island of Formosa. which became territory of Japan after the war with China in 1895. This isle lies 1000 miles south of Japan, and in the interior still live savages who preserve the skulls of their slain adversaries, the number possessed by each family indicating its wealth and importance.

Two unlovely ladies of Formosa. The headdress on right is embroidered with silver coins. It is considered in Formosa quite cute for the women to smoke huge cigars.



A PAGAN GODDESS IN FORMOSA—Crude fetish of the Paiwan tribe. Here heads of slain enemies are allowed to dry, after which they are placed on the skull shelves in the owner's home.

NEW MAP OF THE MOON—It was made at the Mount Wilson observatory in California, and was exhibited at the annual meeting of the Academy of Sciences in New Haven, Conn., this fall.

THE STORK AT HOME—This unusual photograph won the $1000 prize in international kodak competition, in the class for birds, animals and pets. It was made by Max Seidel of Breslau, Germany.

The same thing happens to Coffee that happens to Ginger Ale

COUNTRY CLUB . . . A blend of the choicest coffees from noted plantations. Sealed in vacuum, immediately after roasting and grinding, to preserve its full strength, flavor and aroma.

FRENCH . . . The best coffees grown in four countries give this blend its rich, mellow character. Packed in the new lock-top can, ground for you when you buy it, to suit your needs.

HER GRACE . . . A new blend of coffees from Colombia and Brazil that produces an unusually fine flavored beverage. Sealed in a bag immediately after roasting, and ground for you at the time of purchase.

JEWEL . . . A mild, sweet-drinking coffee of unusual body and bouquet. Millions of pounds of this most popular Brazilian blend are sold every year.

JEWEL COFFEE
COFFEE
HER GRACE COFFEE
FRENCH BRAND COFFEE

SEE it sparkle and bubble—the ginger ale you've just poured into your glass. Delicious and refreshing—fresh from the bottle. But let it stand too long and you know what happens!

The very thing that happens to coffee when it lingers too long between roasting time and drinking time. For coffee, you know, gets its flavor from tiny beads of aromatic oil, sealed in hundreds of little cells. The minute the coffee comes from the roaster, these little beads of oil begin to seep away—slowly, slowly, day by day. Then, when the grinder crushes the cell walls, their escape is quick and easy. They leave the coffee flat, without flavor, without fragrance.

But Kroger does not give its coffee time to grow stale. Out of the roaster, into the packages, onto the shelves. Then ground for you as you buy it. (Or ground and packed in vacuum to keep the flavor in.) That's the Kroger way. That's why you're always sure of getting the finest, freshest coffee at Kroger's—at less cost.

That's why you'll want to try one of these four brands and taste what a difference freshness makes.

Rushed from the roaster to you

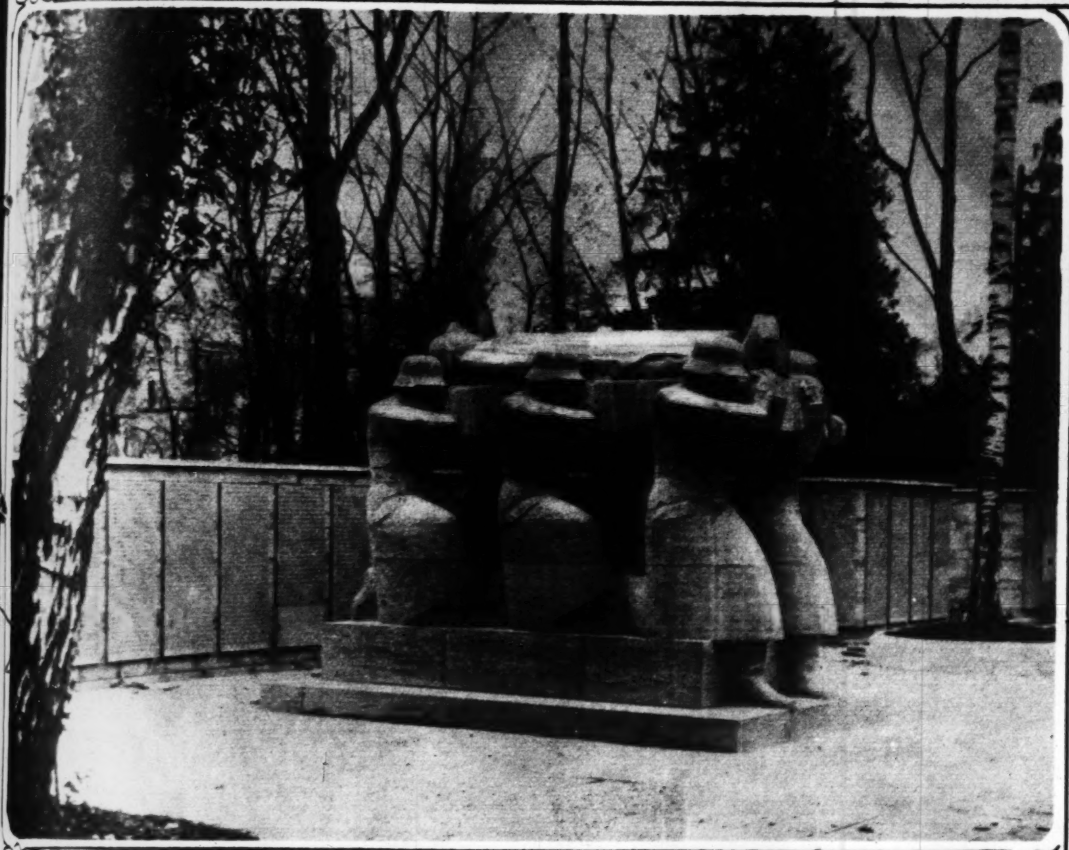
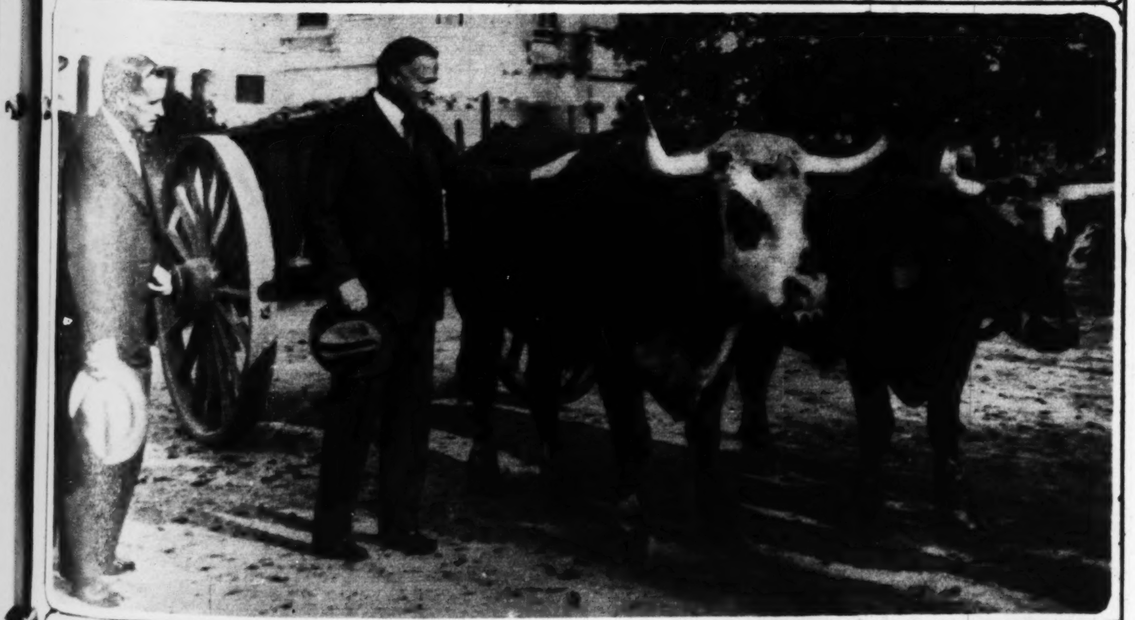
BLESSING THE HOUNDS BEFORE THE HUNT BEGINS—Following an ancient custom, the benediction of the church was bestowed upon this pack of dogs in the forest of Hallan, not far from Paris, before the huntsmen and a band of gallant riders went tearing off in the chase at the opening of the season this fall. The hunt club is one of the most fashionable in the French capital, being headed by Baron Henri Rothschild, the banker.



WAR'S GRIM REALITY SHOWN IN MEMORIAL—One of the most original among the many memorials in Germany to those who fell in the World War is the one just dedicated at Wurzburg and shown above. It is the design of Fried Heuler.

THE BEAUTY OF THE TRUE SILHOUETTE—A native fisherman, on the island of Bali, in the Dutch East Indies, casting his net in the shallow waters off the beach.



SOME POTATOES FOR THE WHITE HOUSE—Arrival in Washington of ox cart which came all the way from Maine with forty bushels of the "spuds" for which that State is famous—a gift from the Governor and a group of farmers.

For Christmas, only the newest ideas in fine writing instruments will do. Built-in quality holds Sheaffer's preeminently in the lead in fountain pen sales. So identify your gift with Sheaffer's white dot. It is the sign of the only genuine Lifetime° guarantee—more than a promise to pay repair bills, a guarantee against the need of repairs. Choose Sheaffer's and give for life.

Sheaffer's new Autograph pen has your own personal signature engraved on the 14-karat gold band. Its new Feathertouch pen point combines platinum with gold — magically increasing writing speed—sensitizing the flow to your lightest stroke. The platinum covering of the pen point channel "lubricates" the flow of writing fluid, giving you, with other Sheaffer advancements, the world's supreme writing instrument. Far more gold and more costly iridium are used in building this super point—the finest selected iridium is used, at three times the cost of that in ordinary pens. This pen point alone costs more to make than most entire pens. But a revolutionary new ease in writing is created. It could never be had by building down to a price. Matched writing equipment is the vogue of today, so Sheaffer presents the Autograph Ensemble set, embracing fine instruments for every writing need. In the $3 and $5 classes, Sheaffer pens and pencils are guaranteed to give best performance and are the finest in the world at these prices. Select Sheaffer's and be sure of the right gift.

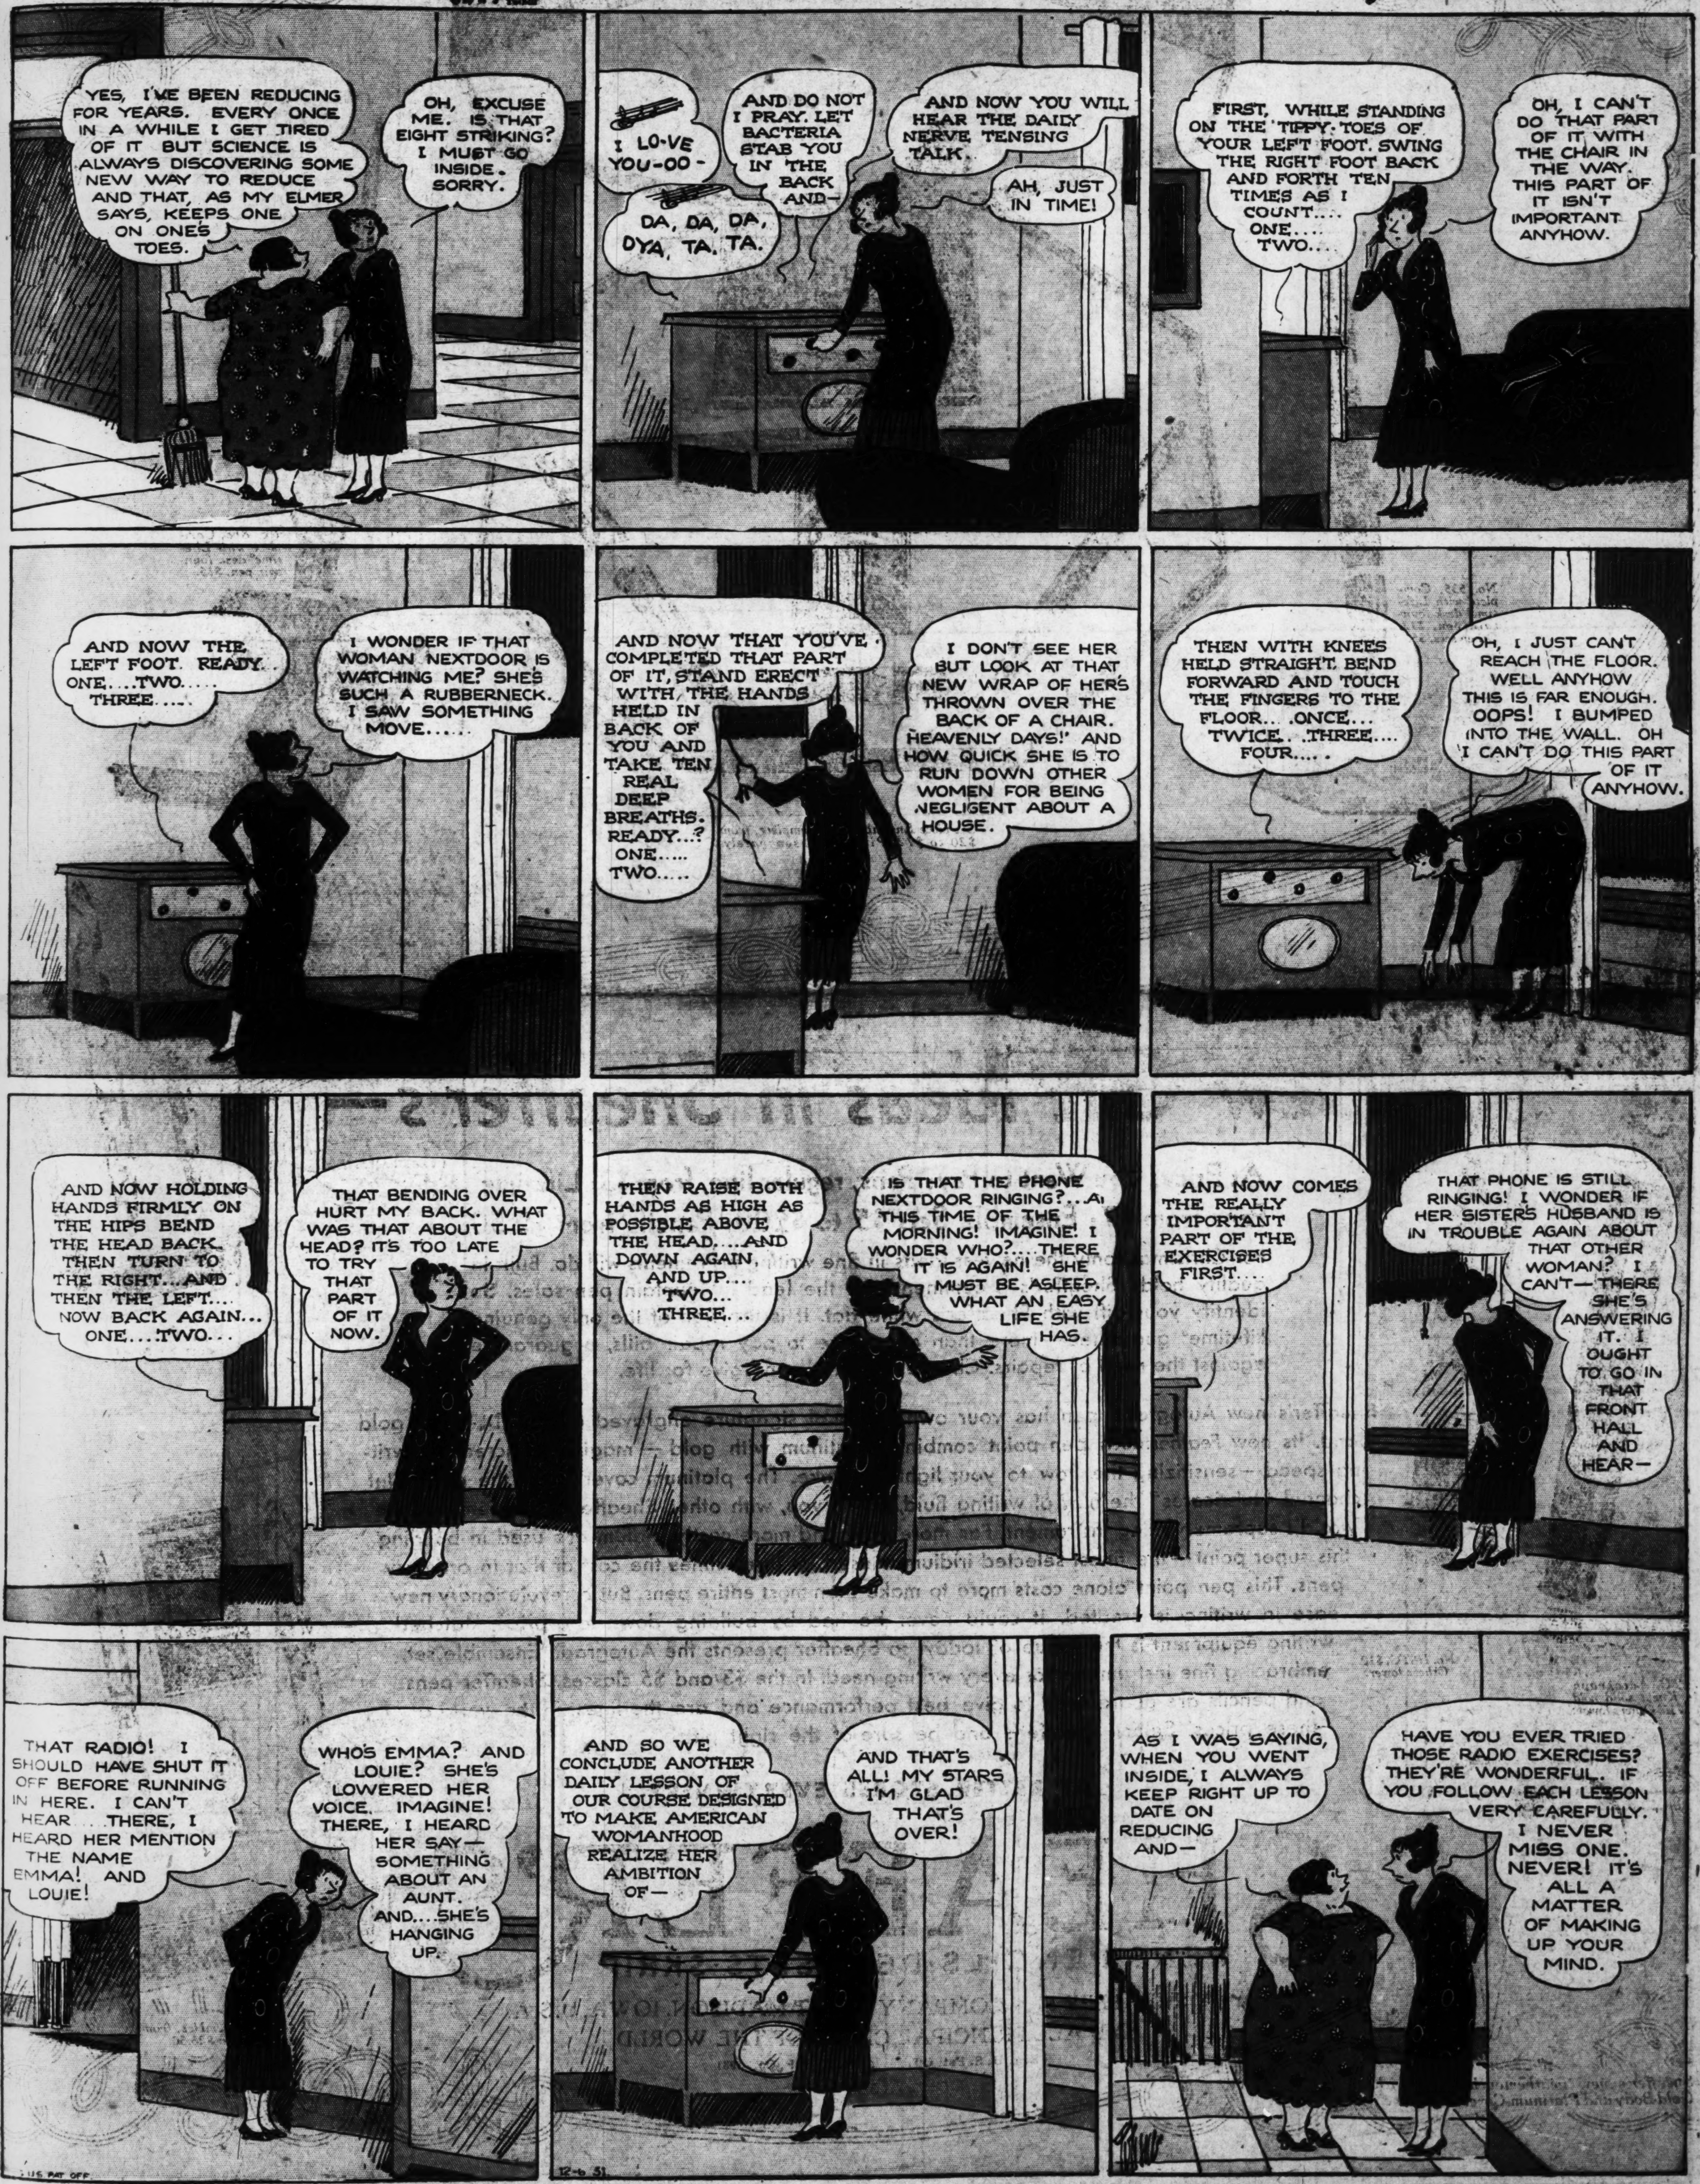
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

This comic appears every day in the daily Post-Dispatch

By H. J. TUTHILL



YES, I'VE BEEN REDUCING FOR YEARS. EVERY ONCE IN A WHILE I GET TIRED OF IT BUT SCIENCE IS ALWAYS DISCOVERING SOME NEW WAY TO REDUCE AND THAT, AS MY ELMER SAYS, KEEPS ONE ON ONE'S TOES.
OH, EXCUSE ME. IS THAT EIGHT STRIKING? I MUST GO INSIDE. SORRY.
I LO-VE YOU-OO-
DA, DA, DA, DYA, TA, TA.
AND DO NOT I PRAY. LET BACTERIA STAB YOU IN THE BACK AND—
AND NOW YOU WILL HEAR THE DAILY NERVE TENSING TALK.
AH, JUST IN TIME!
FIRST, WHILE STANDING ON THE TIPPY TOES OF YOUR LEFT FOOT, SWING THE RIGHT FOOT BACK AND FORTH TEN TIMES AS I COUNT.... ONE.... TWO...
OH, I CAN'T DO THAT PART OF IT WITH THE CHAIR IN THE WAY. THIS PART OF IT ISN'T IMPORTANT ANYHOW.
AND NOW THE LEFT FOOT. READY.. ONE....TWO..... THREE.....
I WONDER IF THAT WOMAN NEXTDOOR IS WATCHING ME? SHE'S SUCH A RUBBERNECK. I SAW SOMETHING MOVE......
AND NOW THAT YOU'VE COMPLETED THAT PART OF IT, STAND ERECT WITH THE HANDS HELD IN BACK OF YOU AND TAKE TEN REAL DEEP BREATHS. READY...? ONE..... TWO.....
I DON'T SEE HER BUT LOOK AT THAT NEW WRAP OF HER'S THROWN OVER THE BACK OF A CHAIR. 'HEAVENLY DAYS!' AND HOW QUICK SHE IS TO RUN DOWN OTHER WOMEN FOR BEING NEGLIGENT ABOUT A HOUSE.
THEN WITH KNEES HELD STRAIGHT, BEND FORWARD AND TOUCH THE FINGERS TO THE FLOOR... ONCE... TWICE... THREE.... FOUR.... .
OH, I JUST CAN'T REACH THE FLOOR. WELL ANYHOW THIS IS FAR ENOUGH. OOPS! I BUMPED INTO THE WALL. OH I CAN'T DO THIS PART OF IT ANYHOW.
AND NOW HOLDING HANDS FIRMLY ON THE HIPS BEND THE HEAD BACK. THEN TURN TO THE RIGHT...AND THEN THE LEFT.... NOW BACK AGAIN... ONE....TWO...
THAT BENDING OVER HURT MY BACK. WHAT WAS THAT ABOUT THE HEAD? IT'S TOO LATE TO TRY THAT PART OF IT NOW.
THEN RAISE BOTH HANDS AS HIGH AS POSSIBLE ABOVE THE HEAD....AND DOWN AGAIN, AND UP.... TWO... THREE...
IS THAT THE PHONE NEXTDOOR RINGING?...AT THIS TIME OF THE MORNING! IMAGINE! I WONDER WHO?....THERE IT IS AGAIN! SHE MUST BE ASLEEP. WHAT AN EASY LIFE SHE HAS.
AND NOW COMES THE REALLY IMPORTANT PART OF THE EXERCISES FIRST....
THAT PHONE IS STILL RINGING! I WONDER IF HER SISTER'S HUSBAND IS IN TROUBLE AGAIN ABOUT THAT OTHER WOMAN? I CAN'T— THERE SHE'S ANSWERING IT. I OUGHT TO GO IN THAT FRONT HALL AND HEAR—THAT RADIO! I SHOULD HAVE SHUT IT OFF BEFORE RUNNING IN HERE. I CAN'T HEAR ....THERE, I HEARD HER MENTION THE NAME EMMA! AND LOUIE!
WHO'S EMMA? AND LOUIE? SHE'S LOWERED HER VOICE. IMAGINE! THERE, I HEARD HER SAY— SOMETHING ABOUT AN AUNT. AND....SHE'S HANGING UP.
AND SO WE CONCLUDE ANOTHER DAILY LESSON OF OUR COURSE DESIGNED TO MAKE AMERICAN WOMANHOOD REALIZE HER AMBITION OF—
AND THAT'S ALL! MY STARS I'M GLAD THAT'S OVER!
AS I WAS SAYING, WHEN YOU WENT INSIDE, I ALWAYS KEEP RIGHT UP TO DATE ON REDUCING AND—
HAVE YOU EVER TRIED THOSE RADIO EXERCISES? THEY'RE WONDERFUL. IF YOU FOLLOW EACH LESSON VERY CAREFULLY. I NEVER MISS ONE. NEVER! IT'S ALL A MATTER OF MAKING UP YOUR MIND.

OH, GOLLY, OFFICER-- SNIFF-- I'M JUST A POOR WORKING GIRL, REALLY! DON'T CHARGE ME WITH TOO MANY THINGS!
WH-WHAT REASONS ARE YOU PUTTING DOWN ON THE TICKET? PLEASE DON'T BE TOO SEVERE!
THE REASONS FOR STOPPING YOU ARE WRITTEN ON THE REVERSE SIDE OF THIS TICKET! YOU CAN READ THEM LATER!
Next time you go driving, don't wear dark glasses! I bet my buddy five bucks that the next girl who passed us would have brown eyes. I'm sorry I had to make you cry to decide who won the bet. Don't forget to read the other side of this ticket!
THIS TICKET WILL ADMIT ONE TO THE POLICEMEN'S ANNUAL BALL TO BE HELD AT THE HOTEL MARDLEIGH
Gee, I hope you'll come! Look for me— I'll be the guy wearing a tuxedo!

SUSIE- I MUST GO OUT AND I EXPECT A STATUE TO BE DELIVERED TO-DAY- BE CAREFUL AND SEE THAT THE MEN UNPACK IT CAREFULLY- IT IS PRICELESS AND MUST NOT BE BROKEN-
YES MUM-
WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY DELIVERIN' A BROKEN STATUE?
DAT'S DE WAY I GOT IT FROM THE RAILROAD
MR. JIGGS- WILL YOUSE COME IN THE KITCHEN AN' TAKE A LOOK AT A STATUE THAT JUST CAME!
STATUE? WHERE DID IT COME FROM?
WHAT DID YOU LET 'EM LEAVE IT HERE FER WHEN YOU SEEN IT WUZ BROKEN?
THE EXPRESSMAN SAID THE RAILROAD COMPANY MUST HAVE BROKEN IT-
WHAT'S THIS? A BILL FER TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS?
THEM EXPRESSMEN CERTAINLY ARE TOUGH BOZOS-
I'LL TELL THAT RAILROAD COMPANY A FEW THINGS- I'LL SEE THE PRESIDENT PERSONALLY-
SO YOU ARE THE PRESIDENT OF THIS RAILROAD- EH? WELL- IT AIN'T A RAILROAD- IT'S A WRECKIN' COMPANY- I WANT TO SHOW YOU A STATUE THAT WUZ SENT TO ME HOUSE-
LOOK AT THAT, NOW- BOTH ARMS BROKEN OFF. WHAT KIND OF HANDLIN' DO YOU CALL THAT?
QUIET, PLEASE-
DID THE STATUE ARRIVE?
IT DID, BUT THE ARMS WUZ BUSTED OFF, SO I TOOK IT BACK AN' SHOWED IT TO THE RAILROAD PRESIDENT- AN' DID I BAWL HIM OUT? I'LL SAY I DID-
YOU IDIOT- YOU MADE A FOOL OUT OF YOURSELF- THE ARMS ARE SUPPOSED TO BE OFF- THAT IS A DUPLICATE OF "VENUS DE MILO" A FAMOUS OLD STATUE, YOU BIG IGNORAMUS- WHAT MUST THAT RAILROAD PRESIDENT THINK OF YOU?
I DON'T KNOW, BUT HE SAID HE WUZ SORRY HIS RAILROAD BUSTED IT AN' HE GAVE ME A CHECK FER THE DAMAGE-
BY GOLLY- THAT RAILROAD PRESIDENT DON'T KNOW ANY MORE THAN I DO- I SUPPOSE THAT'S THE REASON THE LADY IS LOSIN' HER CLOTHES- SHE HAS NO ARMS-

0 NEW BAI OR RICHARDS ENT TO JAI ENDING TRIA

rcuit Judge Ryan Deni Plea of Attorney Who Under Indictment for th Kidnaping of Alexand Berg for Ransom.

OLDS EVIDENCE "CLEAR AND STRON

erne Lacy, Defendant Lawyer, Says He Ha Not Decided Whether t Take an Appeal to th Supreme Court.

Paul A. Richards, attorney an f-declared agent for the ki pers of Alexander Berg, tod t his fight in Circuit Jud an's court for release on bo nding his trial on a charge dnaping for ransom, a capit fense.

Richards was in court, und ard, to hear the decision of t urt, which means that he mu main a prisoner in city jail u s he can obtain admission il from the Supreme Court.

Judge Ryan gave a long oral d ion in which he painstaking viewed the evidence placed b re him Friday and Saturday— tline by the State of its ca ainst Richards, on the one ha d the defense arguments vor of bond, on the other.

"Evidence Clear and Strong."

"In the Court's opinion," Jud an concluded, "the eviden ainst this defendant is clear a ong. Nothing has been broug rth in the evidence to indica y lessening of degree of guilt him in the crime charged—k ping for ransom.

"The charge is one of great gra . The part of the defendant, dicated by the evidence, was solutely essential one in carryi t the peculiar character of t me.

"It is not for this Court to p ct how a jury will receive t idence, nor to consider wheth not that jury would inflict t treme penalty (death by han g). The question in the case nply whether, as to this defe t, the proof of guilt is evide the presumption great."

Not Certain About Appeal.

He then announced that b ould be denied and told Ri ds' counsel, Verne Lacy, that ould arrange for an early setti the case should Lacy decide ke the matter before a hig urt. Normally this would ne by applying for a writ abeas corpus, and appealing fr e decision to the Supreme Co Lacy told reporters, howev at he had not determined w eps he would take, and made quest for an early setting.

Richards heard the decis ithout show of emotion, loung a chair in a characteristic a de. The courtroom was crowd rgely by lawyers and Munic ourts employes who had hea e decision was to be given at t ening of the afternoon session.

Court's Review of Evidence.

Reviewing the evidence, Jud yan went carefully over the t mony of Berg, a wealthy fur de ; Morris G. Levinson, his la r, and John T. Rogers, Post-D atch reporter, who were the o itnesses for the State.

He dwelt with particular e hasis on the testimony of Lev n and Rogers as to Richards' vities looking toward the col on of $50,000 ransom for Ber eturn, following his abduction ov. 6. It was upon this testimo at he based his conclusion t e evidence showed Richards e a principal in the kidnap d not a figure of lesser guilt, cy had contended.

The hearing on the motion dmit Richards to bail began F ay when he surrendered on 40,000 bond on which he had b eleased Nov. 13. In the inte e had been indicted. His ap ation for bail was resisted ircuit Attorney Miller. At lose of the hearing Judge R nnounced he would give the r careful study over the we nd, and Richards was lodged il where five other men un ndictment in the case also eld.
